The people will soon be through picking their big crop of cotton. Since the crop is so small it didn't take long to gather it.

We are glad to say that our Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. are still going. We don't have as large crowds as we would like to have. We urge all of the people to come to Sunday school at ten o'clock in the morning and to B. Y. P. U. at six o'clock. The B. Y. P. U. subject for next Sunday night is, "Christian Citizenship." We especially invite everybody to come next Sunday night. We will have with us Mr. J. D. Deason to give us a talk on Citizenship. We are sure he will deliver a good talk. Group 2 will be in charge next Sunday night. Following are the ones who will take part: Melda Sansom, captain, Miss Willie Colson, Carson Williams, Miss Minnie Colson, Garland Deason and Gladys Sansom.

We are glad to say that the people expect to go to work with full speed this week on the school building. We realize they will be late with school, but we will be glad to see the building ready.

Mothers and fathers, remember, we have B. Y. P. U. and prayer service every Sunday night. We would like to see more of you there.

Begin Taking Cardui Today If You Suffer Like This Lady Did

"WHEN I was a girl, I began taking Cardui," writes Mrs. Maggie Stanfield, of Crandall, Ga. "I was very irregular for twelve months. Nothing did me very much good until my mother began to give me this medicine. Then I got all right, stout and well.

"After I was married, I was in bad health. I began taking Cardui again. I was troubled with my back a lot. Was awfully restless. I could not sleep well. I just weighed 90 pounds when I began taking Cardui. I improved rapidly. Before long I weighed 126 pounds. I felt fine. I was able to do a good day's work."

Urge Voters Support Of Amendment 3

To the Voters of Chilton County:

There will be nine Amendments to the Constitution submitted to the Voters of Alabama at the general election to be held November the 8th, 1932 for their adoption or rejection. We wish to commend to your special attention Proposed Amendment No. 3.

A Few Facts Why Amendment No. 3 Should Be Ratified

The last Legislature passed an Act submitting the above Amendment to the voters o Alabama for their ratification or rejection, as they wish. This amendment if ratified makes a Sheriff eligible to succeed himself. It does not perpetuate a Sheriff on you nor extend his term o office, but allows you to re-elect or reject your Sheriff as you see fit. Under the present Constitution, no matter how efficient an officer your Sheriff has made and how much the people of his County would like to retain him, they cannot do so. If this Amendment is adopted they have the right to re-elect or reject him by voting for any other candidate of their choice. Amendment No. 3 does not increase your taxes a penny.

What Can Be Fairer?

Amendment No. 3. If adopted, as we see it, will be of great benefit to the State and Counties, because if a Sheriff knowing that he has the opportunity to succeed himself will give the public the highest standard of efficiency that he is capable of, as he knows, if he wishes to stand for re-election, he will be judged by the voters as to the manner in which he has conducted his office in giving service to the public.

Your Supreme Court Justices, Justices of Court of Appeal, Circuit Judges, Circuit and County Solicitors, Circuit Clerks, Tax Assessors, Tax Collectors, Judges of Probate, County Superintendent of Education and Justice of the Peace are allowed to succeed themselves.

Why Not the Sheriffs?

There are only 11 of the 48 states that do not allow a Sheriff to succeed himself.

Sheriffs can succeed themselves in every Southern State except Alabama and Mississippi.

Remember Our Amendment Is Proposed Amendment No. 3

We feel confident that the verdict of the people will be overwhelmingly for Amendment No. 3, if it can be properly presented to them showing the fairness of same, therefore we are asking you to help us by explaining same to your neighbors as it will be impossible for us to reach every one. By doing this you will not only be doing us a favor but will be doing your State and County a service.

Remember—make an X mark in Yes of Proposed Amendment No. 3 on November 8.

Respectfully submitted,
—Alabama Sheriff's Association.

Work Weary "NERVES"

Do they make you Restless, Cranky, Tired, Sleepless, Dyspeptic, Headachy? Do they spoil your pleasure and interfere with your work?

Tens of thousands have found a way to get relief from over-worked nerves—a way so simple, so pleasant, so low in cost, that we are constantly receiving letters that say, "If I had only found Effervescent Nervine Tablets sooner." Simon Brandt writes:

"I was very nervous from over-work. I couldn't sleep well, appetite was poor, and I felt weak for a long time.

"Used Dr. Miles' Nervine and now feel fifteen years younger and I am working the same as I did before—fourteen to fifteen hours daily.

"Sorry I did not learn about this wonderful medicine sooner as I had tried everything I could hear of, without results, until Dr. Miles' Nervine put me back on my feet."

When you are nervous, try this—put a Dr. Miles' Effervescent Nervine Tablet into a glass of water. Watch it bubble up like sparkling spring water—drink it—enjoy the feeling of calm and relaxation that follows.

In Dr. Miles' Effervescent Nervine Tablets a splendid formula for soothing overwrought nerves is combined with bicarbonate of soda and citric acid which tend to correct hyper-acidity—a frequent cause of nervousness.

QUICKER, BETTER RELIEF from use of Black-Draught

"I have taken Black-Draught, off and on when needed, for twenty-five years, for it is easy to take," writes Mr. George T. Wharton, of Petersburg, Va. "I take it for constipation and when I have that dull, tired feeling. I take it for colds and other complaints when a good laxative is needed, and I believe it gives me quicker and better relief than any other medicine I know. It certainly has been a help to me."

Famous Romance Is Coming To Screen

Having played to almost as many legitimate theatre audiences as "Uncle Tom's Cabin", Richard Walton Tully's famous play, "Bird of Paradise" has finally reached the talking screen and comes to the Wadesonian Theatre on Monday and Tuesday, October 24 and 25.

The lovely Dolores Del Rio will be seen in the exotic role of "Luana" created on the stage by Leonore Uuric. Joel McCrea, handsome hero of several of Constance Bennett's recent pictures, heads the supporting cast.

Filmed in Hawaii, this latest RKO-Radio picture is filled with the sensuous beauty of the tropics. and has been given a lavish production by King Vidor, creator of such outstanding pictures as "The Big Parade," "Street Scene" and "The Champ."

One of the episodes particularly praised by the critics in metropolitan cities where the film has been shown, is the first native marriage feast ever to be recorded by camera and microphone.

An underwater fight with a shark, the flight of an entire village from the deadly lava of an erupting volcano, and a daring version of the hula, are among the other highlights of "Bird of Paradise."

The love scenes between Dolores and McCrea are said to be especially enchanting, and a beautiful score of native music, running through the entire production, is an added appeal.

Trade In Your Worn Tires for Safe Gripping Non-Skid Firestone Tires

LIBERAL trade-in allowance—now—on all Firestone High Speed and Heavy Duty Tires!

Why take a chance on worn, smooth, uncertain tires when you can buy Firestone non-skid safe, proven tires at lowest prices.

Firestone Tires are designed to grip the road. The non-skid tread is thick, tough and gives 25% longer non-skid safety.

Glen Schultz only last month set a new world's record in climbing Pike's Peak, in 16 min. 47 sec. His top speed was 78 miles per hour—negotiating many hair-raising turns where a skid or a tire failure meant death.

The Firestone tread is designed with angles and projections to give the maximum traction and non-skid. Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires hold all world records on road and track for Safety—Speed—Mileage and Endurance.

It's that kind of stamina that makes Firestone Tires safe and economical for you.

That's why race drivers use Firestone Tires. They won't risk their lives on any other make.

No tire in the world has the Firestone endurance. That is because Gum-Dipping, the patented Firestone process, transforms the cotton cords into tough, sinewy units. It means that the liquid rubber penetrates every cord and coats every fiber, assuring protection against internal heat. Two Extra Gum-Dipped Cord Plies under the Tread, give 56% stronger bond between tread and cord body.

Don't buy cheap tires that are only made to sell. Don't risk your life on wet, slippery pavements these October days—Use the same precaution race drivers use. Trade in your old tires—We will give you a liberal allowance on Firestone Tires—the safest tires in the world.

KIWANIS CLUB OPPOSED TO FURTHER INCREASE IN STATE TAXES

Resolutions Adopted Stating That The Club Believes The State Should Reduce Its Expenses; Send Messages To Representative, Senator

A heated discussion on the increasing burden on citizens of Alabama by taxation came up at the last meeting of the Kiwanis Club of Clanton. A resolution was read and adopted. This resolution which is published here, was also adopted by similar clubs elsewhere.

Telegrams were sent last week from the Kiwanis Club to Percy M. Pitts, representative from this county and Senator Duncan of Prattville, stating to them that the club was opposed to any further increase in taxes of any kind. The resolution follows:

Resolution Adopted at Joint Meeting of The Civic Clubs of Gadsden

WHEREAS, the people of Alabama are now confronted with the gravest financial crisis and business depression since Reconstruction Days, men are out of employment, business is stagnant, industry is prostrate, new enterprises have been abandoned, the people are struggling for a mere existence, accumulations, large and small, procured after years of sacrifice have been wiped out; and

WHEREAS, the cost of government is the largest single factor now preventing any return to normal activities of our people, and contributing to continued depression of industry and low prices of commodities and farm products and the unemployment of idle men in productive labor; and

WHEREAS, we have watched with dismay and growing apprehension the cost of our State Government mount steadily from $7,832,000.00 in 1918 to in excess of $34,000,000.00 in 1931, and the bonded and floating debt of the State increase to $86,000,000.00 and the functions of State Government multiply, office holders increase, demands for public funds grow, and taxes levied until the burden has become unbearable and beyond the ability of the people of the State to pay; and

WHEREAS, it is our unanimous and unhesitating opinion that the adoption of the income tax amendment and further increase of taxes proposed by Governor Miller under present economic conditions would not only be another crushing burden on industry and development and upon every citizen, and on the tax payers of this State, but would be a death blow to economy in State Government; and

WHEREAS, we believe that the conditions of the State demand that its expenses be reduced and brought within the ability of the people to pay them and that the only solution that is being offered is further increase in taxes of all kinds.

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED: That we demand (1) that the expenses of the State be reduced, and intelligent efforts be made to bring the expenditures of the State Government within the ability of the people to pay them. (2) That the Legislature abandon the program to increase taxes and levy additional taxes and that this financial crisis of the State be now solved and that dratsic steps be taken to bring the State within its present income without increase of existing taxes and without the levy of new taxes. (3) That Governor Miller comply with his campaign promises and put into effect the reduction of State expenses, abolish useless offices, stop extravagant and wasteful distribution of State funds. (4) That the Legislature evidence some regard for the people of this State, reduce their own salaries, discharge all clerks and other employees not actually needed in the legitimate and proper work of the Legislature.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED: That we are opposed to and urge the people to vote against the proposed amendments to the Constitution levying an income tax and authorizing a bond issue of $20,000,000.00.

That we believe that an increase in taxes will destroy all opportunity in this State to make further industrial progress, will drive capital from the State and prevent further investments and discourage development, further lower the demand for labor, cause more unemployment and retard business recovery, and will result in the abandonment of necessary economy in State Government or efforts to this end by the present administration.

Unanimously adopted at a joint luncheon meeting with representation by the following organizations: The Gadsden Chamber of Commerce, Rotary Club, Kiwanis Club, Civitan Club, Lions Club, Woman's Club and the Business & Professional Women's Club, and Kiwanis Club of Clanton, Ala., October 13, 1932.

This the 29th day of September, 1932.

More About Election Of County Superintendent

Editor, Chilton County News:

Mr. S. J. M. Webb, nominee on the Republican ticket, stated in The Union-Banner that he believed that the people should rule. Now, dear voters, I am going to prove to you that he does not believe in the people ruling.

Mr. Webb had an invitation through both county papers to come to the mass meeting and I met the board on Friday before the mass meeting, October first and I gave the board a special invitation to be at the meeting in person or by proxy, to tell the people how they stood on the question of giving the people a referendum on the county superintendent of education.

Mr. W. L. Sanders was at the meeting and also stated that he was willing for the majority to rule. Mr. S. M. Yates stated that he was going to reserve that right to elect the superintendent. Mr. S. J. M. Webb was not there at all. I say if he was willing for the people to rule he sure would have been at the mass meeting and told the voters that he was willing for the people to rule. To prove to the voters of this county that Mr. S. J. M. Webb is not willing for the people to rule, I, R. J. Jackson, as chairman and D. S. Robinson, secretary, were appointed to go and see Mr. S. J. M. Webb as to how he stood on the question of giving the people a referendum on the county superintendent of education.

We went to see Mr. S. J. M. Webb on Tuesday evening, October fourth. I stopped in the front yard and ask Mr. S. J. M. Webb to come out to the car just for a moment that we wanted to talk with him on business. He came out and said that you all will have to get out of my yard. I said, "Yes sir, Mr. Webb. You get in the car and we will go down the road," and he did so.

After going down the road, I stopped and presented the resolutions that were adopted at the mass meeting. He said "I haven't got my glasses, just read it to me." After which I asked him was he in favor of the resolutions that were adopted by the people.

"No," he said. "I am against every one of your resolutions." Then he asked the question how did Brother Yates and Brother Conway stand on the question.

I read their statements to him. He made the reply that he stood the same way and he was going to [illegible] that right to elect the superintendent.

Now, dear voters, I ask that everyone of you just read between the lines for yourselves. Mr. S. J. M. Webb stated he was in favor of all officers who are responsible to the people, being elected by the people. I will ask Mr. Webb this question: Who is the superintendent of education subject to the people or the board? And who should the superintendent be subject to?

When we as taxpayers and citizens of Chilton county get in operation a machine or a steam roller that will eliminate this centralized and appointive power, then we will have reached our goal, and I will fight to that end.

Sincerely yours,
R. J. JACKSON.

How One Woman Lost 10 Lbs. in a Week

Mrs. Betty Luedeke of Dayton writes: "I am using Kruschen to reduce weight—I lost 10 pounds in one week and cannot say too much to recommend it."

To take off fat easily, SAFELY and HARMLESSLY—take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast go lighter on fatty meats, potatoes, butter, cream and pastries—it is the safe way to lose unsightly fat and one bottle that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle. Get it at any drugstore in America. If this first bottle fails to convince you this is the safest way to lose fat—money back.

But be sure and get Kruschen Salts—imitations are numerous and you must safeguard your health. adv.

Contestants Must Work Hard From Now To End

eral claiming the lead by a very small margin.

It is a neck and neck race, with nothing but a few hours work standing between first and last place. Because a contestant is low in the list today does not mean that he or she can not be the high contestant tomorrow. The vote at this time places the candidates very close together. As a matter of fact the difference is so small that the least slack of the leaders would allow them to be overtaken and passed.

The Crucial Test

The crucial test is now at hand. If you ever intend doing anything really BIG IN THIS RACE, DO IT NOW! Instead of waiting and being second or third, get up to the top and STAY THERE!

Never again after October 29th, will it be possible to secure the full voting power on subscriptions. This is final and FAIR WARNING. TO HOLD BACK NOW and rely on PROMISES to subscribe at a later date simply means that you will have to take less votes on such subscriptions. We are putting it up to you squarely. If you entertain any desire whatever of being declared the winner of the New Chevrolet or any of the other awards when the campaign closes, do not fail to get every available subscription and turn them in to this office on or before the 29th day of October 9:00 P. M. Not to do so means that you will have to do double work during the remainder of the race to make up for lost ground. A few long term subscriptions NOW WHILE THEY COUNT MOST, may be the very ones need to "CINCH" FIRST HONORS. LET'S GO!

Methodists Conclude A Splendid Revival Here

Haskew had laid his plans well in advance, and thoroughly prepared himself for the outstanding effort of his year's work here. His messages bore the imprint of deep thought in their application to the lives of his listeners. The earnestness and power of his delivery could not but carry to those who listened a conviction of sincerity and desire on his part to inspire and lift up.

Rev. W. O. Philips of Grove Hill was in charge of the singing during the week, through the Friday night service. As a leader of song, as a soloist, and as a pleasing personality, his presence did much to further the progress of the revival. Upon several occasions at the night services the audience was delighted with numbers by the Clanton Quartet. These splendid singers made a very real contribution to the meeting with their fine singing.

The concensus of opinion about this week of revival services at the Methodist church seems to be unanimous that it was a great meeting.

To The Republican Voters Of Chilton County

(AN EDITORIAL)

Many thinking citizens of Chilton county heard Col. Wm. C. Fitts of Birmingham deliver a message in Clanton last Saturday afternoon. A message full of sound reasoning and interesting facts regarding our present president and Franklin Roosevelt, the Democratic presidential nominee.

Col. Fitts hit a keynote when he stated that the Republicans of Chilton county, individually, belong to that long line of "forgotten men" under Republican administrations, misrule and unfilled promises of a "chicken in every pot."

It is not this newspaper's intention nor aim to open an attack on Republicans. Republican voters and Democrats together in Chilton county have suffered through the past four years of poverty, strife and reverse business conditions. We don't believe that there is one person in Chilton county who has voted the Republican ticket, can truthfully say he or she endorses the Republican administration's mis-rule of four long, dreary and soul-trying years. We do not want to find fault with you because you voted your belief and convictions in the past and found that you were wrong. It is the aim of this newspaper to try to tell you of brighter things ahead for us all, through the medium of voting the Democratic ticket in November, and giving Gov. Roosevelt an opportunity to give us a new deal, a new lease and a decent chance to live as decent people should live. If we do what we can to tell you, to try to enlighten you for your interest and the benefit of your families in the future, and then you see fit not to heed our advice and suggestion and cast your vote on November 8th, for four more years under the present national administration, endorsing what they have done for you, your neighbor and friends, then you have no one to blame but yourself.

Democratic victory is sweeping the entire nation. States that formerly went almost solidly Republican, have turned their backs to this form of government and are facing with brighter expressions, toward the Democratic ticket, realizing that the hope of the individual is now resting in a "new deal" under Democratic leadership.

We hear of many comments of the work done in our own county by your Republican administration and how our county has prospered, and yet if you will take time to check up, we dare say you will not find one single progressive step taken, nor any action made toward the uplifting of our people and the future of their children and your children under this administration. We all are in the same line, nothing to show for our labors in the past four years, and less than that facing us in the coming years unless this thing is changed.

It is not for this newspaper to criticise you for allowing yourself to be misled. There are millions of people who allowed themselves to be mislead in the election of 1928. Chilton county was simply in tune with the majority of the voters of the United States in that election that placed Herbert Hoover in the President's chair. But now the tune has changed and we wonder if you who vote the Republican ticket will allow yourself to be fooled again, and after the election find that you are out of tune with the millions of voters who are going to place Franklin Roosevelt in the President's chair this year.

To prove that we are not wrong in saying that those who have formerly voted the Republican ticket, fought for that party, and believed in it, are turning their backs on the Republican party now and have pledged their support to Gov. Roosevelt, we will give you the names of Republicans of national fame who have done this. They are such men as Senator Borah, Senator Norris, Senator LaFollette, Johnson and others, while Republican papers in the north and west are condemning Herbert Hoover and supporting the Democratic nominee.

We ask you Republican voters this question, "Why should Chilton county be a Republican county, when it is in the center of one of the states of the famous Solid South?" Alabama is Democratic, and we ask you if you realized that your Republican vote cast in this county amounted to absolutely nothing, due to the state giving the Democratic ticket a huge majority at all times. Did you know that by voting the Republican ticket in Chilton county, you have no choice in the government of your State. As citizens of Alabama, you should be one of those given the opportunity to vote in state Democratic elections, while as it is, your vote goes no farther than Chilton county. And another thing—did you know that Chilton county is known as a Republican county all over the country, and that those who hear of it are utterly surprised to know that thinking men and women in the center of Alabama vote against the party of their fathers, the party devoted to white supremacy, and the party that stands up for its Southern people.

Think this over—talk about it. You all should be broad enough and able to realize that although you have made mistakes, you are big enough to admit them and make a change. If anyone wants to blame you, and criticise you for leaving the Republican party, call their attention to those distinguished men named above, who have been big enough to publicly admit they were wrong, and are going to vote the Democratic ticket this year, and do something to help the masses of suffering, starving men, women and children. Republican voters and Democrats in Chilton county are all listed as "forgotten men" misled by a lot of campaign promises back in 1928. Your opportunity to come forward, unashamed, free to vote YOUR conviction and choice, presents itself November 8th. No man or woman can be blamed for turning his or her back on the present administration of the political party that has failed you and forgotten you. Are YOU big enough to follow the example of millions of others?

MORAL ECHOES

A man was sitting on the river bank whittling on a piece of white pine with his pocketknife. The knife slipped from his hand and fell over the rock ledge and lodged on a cliff. The man decided that he could reach it, but was warned that it was very dangerous. He said that he was aware of the danger, but he would be very cautions. For the knife he took the risk, lost his balance and was killed on the crags below. A pocket knife was not much to risk a life to possess, but the man did it. He sold his life mighty cheap. "Take a chance" is the cry of today. Risk passing the car on the highway, risk seling a little rum, risk a few drinks. It is very dangerous, but the one taking the chance says that he will be cautions. Many lose their lives reachings for things that are not worth possessing.

In the spring of the year my father had a deep ditch out through his plantation. The soil was dug up from many inches below the level of the ground and thrown out on the ditch bank. It was not long before the mound of dirt taken out of the bottom of the ditch was covered over with vegetation of various kinds. For many years the seed had been buried deep beneath the soil and was waiting to be touched by the warm rays of the sun. On being lifted from their buried state and being touched by the rays of the sun, the seed sprang into life and growth. In the breast of many of us there are hid out many fine sentiments, many fine thoughts, many fine virtues. They have been buried long enough. It is time to lift them into the sunlight and let the warmth of fellowship and love start them into life and growth. Dig up the soil of your soul and let it become warm with human interests and then it will become alive with growing virtues. Do not keep the fine things of your life buried.

It was a stormy day on our farm. All day the rain had fell and the wind had blown a gale. The cattle were in the pasture, and as night drew on we were afraid that they would not be able to make it to the barn and to shelter for the night. Many times we would go to the window and look out toward the slopes to see if they were coming. As darkness gathered over the hills we saw them slowly approaching. They were all bedrabbled and slowly, but surely battled their way up to the gate in the face of the gale. In spite of the storm they had found their way to the gate and to shelter. This is a stormy world. Wonder if there are not angels and redeemed spirits standing at the windows of heaven anxiously watching for our coming, and all the time wondering if we will be able to make it. Late in the evening of life may we not be able to come slowly but surely up the hill, battling against the gale and find our way to the gate and to shelter at last. In spite of the storms we must find our way to home and heaven. Many of us know nothing much but storms in this world, but in spite of the winds that blow we must find our way to the gate, to shelter and to life.

There was an old apple tree near our home on the farm. Many a time as a boy have I stood beneath this tree and feasted on its fruit. One day I noticed that a large limb had withered and climbing up to investigate I discovered that one of the boys had wound a strand of wire around the limb something like two years before, and that the wire had buried itself in the bark of the tree and had choked it to death. The other branches of the old apple tree were crowded full of ripening fruit, but on this limb there were no apples. The wire had gotten its work in the early spring, and no fruit came to the choked limb. While the other limbs of the tree were crowded with fruit, this choked limb was fruitless and was dying. To be honest my friend, I am wondering if you have not wound the wire of indifference, the wire of selfishness, the wire of the sin of ommission, around your church life, and now your soul is being choked to death. These wires will take the fruit out of your life and they will soon bring you down to death. If your life is not as fruitful as it should be, you had better look for some choking wires.

There was a man who sold a mule. The animal was represented as being all right in every way. In a few days the buyer brought the mule back, saying, "You sold this mule to me saying that he had two good eyes. I have found out that he is as blind as a bat. Why he will walk right into a ditch or a wire fence, or anything else that is before him." The man who sold the mule replied, "Brother, you have that mule down wrong. He has two good eyes and can see the ditch, he can see the wire fence, but that mule does not give a Continental if he does walk into them." We will acknowledge that the statement sounded mighty like a mule. He could see but he did not give a Continental. That also sounds like a lot of folks. They can see the pitfalls of life, they can see the hurts of sin, they can see the sorrows of those who follow the ways of the flesh, but they do not give a continental. It seems to me that some folks just do not care what the walk into.

Jackson Tells His Side Of Question Given S.J.M. Webb

—o—

Says Webb Was Wrong In His Statement To The Public In Newspapers

—o—

Editor, Chilton County News:

Will you please allow me space in your valuable paper to reply to the misrepresentation of the Hon. S. J. M. Webb in regard to the report of the committee appointed by the mass meeting to get a report from the members and candidates for members of the Board of Education on the resolutions adopted at the mass meeting by the people October first? Mr. Webb says we failed to give the whole truth of his statement. He says his statement began this way, "Are you all straight, upright and Christian men?"

I will have to say that is absolutely untrue. Here is his statement in full. You all will have to get out of my yard. I asked him why. He replied, "My wife said so.". I said, "Yes, sir, Mr. Webb, you get in the car and we will go down the road." These are the exact words that the gentleman said in his front yard. Now here is what happened down the road: I presented the resolutions to him. He said I haven't got my glasses, read them to me. I did so, after which I asked him how he stood on the resolutions that were adopted at the mass meeting by the people. He said I am against every one of them. I told him that was our business down there as a committee appointed by the people at the mass meeting. I, R. J. Jackson, D. S. Robinson. Mr. Tom Littlejohn was not one of the committee and he had nothing to say concerning this question at all.

I asked Mr. Webb how he stood on giving the people a referendum on the election of a county superintendent of Education. Then he asked the question how did Brother Conway and Brother Yates stand on that question. I read to him their statements. Brother Yates said the people knew at the time they elected him that the Board appointed the Superintendent of Education and he was going to reserve that right. Brother Conway said he would be for it if we elected the right man and if we didn't he would be against it. Then and there is when Mr. Webb made the statement that he stood the same way. This is what happened down the road.

Mr. Webb says we insisted and insisted. We never went there as a committee sent by the people to insist. We went to ask of him how he stood on the resolutions that were adopted and the question of giving the people a referendum on the County Superintendent of Education. So you see what he said. Mr. Webb said that he was not connected in any way with a law making body. We sure do agree with him there. As to the School Code Article 7, Section 138 on page 58, that wasn't mentioned at all during the conversation, and to make the story short there wasn't anything else mentioned other than what I have stated above.

Now as to being a defeated candidate I want you Mr. Webb to tell the voters of this county in what year I was a candidate and what election I was defeated in, sir.

I have never been a candidate and I have never asked for anything pertaining to an office.

Mr. Webb, you have made the statement that you were against our resolutions, and against the people having a referendum on the County Superintendent of Education. Now you say that you are in favor of a clerk of the commissioners court, county attorney and road supervisor being elected by popular vote, but you haven't yet said that you were willing for the Superintendent of Education to be elected by the popular vote and the board appoint our choice as we have asked for.

Now I want you to tell the voters of this county just what you do stand for whether anything or not, other than to get elected back on the school board.

I am a Republican when the man is right and when the man is wrong then I am for the man. I think that is the thing for any man to do. Are we going to cast aside the things we want in government simply because of party name? Are we going to forget the duty we owe to our homes and our fellow-men and think only of an evil party spirit which will lead us into a camp of organized wealth and special interests?

Yours truly,

R. J. JACKSON.

Hoover prosperity has affected ways of travel just as it has everything else. The once popular automobile has in many cases been stored under the shed or required to rattle on with one or two cylinders functioning. When the mechanical parts failed to perform hundreds have been converted into what is popularly known as "Hoover Buggies." It is a common scene to observe these conveyances on the city streets and highways. The picture here was caught a few days ago on one of the city's parking reserves. The people have accepted this means of Hooverizing as is seen from the wording painted on one of the buggies shown here, "Away With Hoover Prosperity—Vote for Roosevelt."

WHAT EDITORS ARE SAYING

"If President Hoover would call the five-day week a 'noble experiment' the vagueness with which he has handled its application to the government departments would be perfect. Instead of saying definitely 'yes' or 'no,' the President makes public a letter to him from Governor Thomas E. Out where Campbell comes from they call that 'passing the buck.'" —Washington, D. C., News (Ind.).

Dairy Cows Need More Feed In Fall

—o—

Auburn, Ala.—With the coming of fall there comes a demand for increasing the ration for dairy cows. This is caused by a decline in pastures; and also the necessity for maintaining milk production at a high level during the winter when prices are higher.

And explicit instructions about feeding dairy cows in fall and winter are given in a bulletin published by F. W. Burns, extension livestock specialist at Auburn. Mr. Burns advises feeding daily one pound of grain mixture for each 2½ to 3 pounds of milk produced and two pounds of hay daily for each 100 pounds of live weight of cow. If silage is available feed daily three lbs. of silage and one pound of hay for each 100 pounds of live weight.

Good grain mixtures to feed in accordance with this rule were named by Mr. Burns. Dairymen having legume hay, such as soybeans, cowpeas, alfalfa, and lespedeza, should feed either of the following grain mixtures: (1) 200 lbs. corn meal, 100 pounds ground oats, 100 pounds wheat bran, 100 pounds cottonseed meal, 5 pounds salt; (2) 300 lbs. corn and cob meal, 50 pounds velvet bean meal, 50 pounds wheat bran, 100 pounds cottonseed meal, 5 pounds salt.

Those who have silage and legume hay or a mixture of cowpeas and sorghum hay, or Johnson grass and alfalfa, or similar mixtures are advised to feed one of the following grain mixtures: (1) 200 pounds corn meal, 100 pounds ground oats, 100 pounds wheat bran, 150 pounds cottonseed meal, 5 pounds salt; (2) 100 pounds corn and cob meal, 100 pounds velvet bean meal, 100 pounds wheat bran, 100 pounds cottonseed meal, 5 pounds salt; (3) 150 pounds corn and cob meal, 100 pounds wheat bran, 100 pounds cottonseed meal, 4 pounds salt.

Livestock Reminders

By F. W. Burns, Auburn

Over the entire world, the most enlightened and progressive agricultural districts are found where livestock provides one of the chief sources of income.

The dairy cow giving a large flow of milk is working as hard as a horse ever does. Any grain given her should be ground for best results.

Pigs turned into a corn field make larger daily gains and require over 10 per cent less feed for 100 pounds of gain than those fed ear corn in a dry

The labor involved in grinding ear corn to corn and cob meal is more than wasted when feeding hogs. They will make larger and more economical gains on ear corn.

It is of the greatest importance to provide additional feed for dairy cows when pasture becomes short. Silage and legume hay are the best substitutes for pasture during the winter months.

Experimental work shows that a self-feeder is a practical method of feeding market hogs. Put shelled corn in one compartment, tankage in another, and equal parts of charcoal, lime, and salt in a third for best results.

Democrats Admit Things Might Be Worse

You can just feel it in the air. Everything points toward a Democratic victory on November 8.

Roosevelt has met every demand made upon him, has stood the acid test, has been "measured" and found not wanting.

It's just a good year for the Democrats, who are apparently riding the crest of the waves toward a mighty victory. And you can see this very real optimism as it is reflected by the leaders of both sides, the Democrats, who have gained much ground in debatable territory, generally, and Hoover and his cohorts, as they are fighting tenaciously a defensive fight.

In his ravings and pleadings for another trial at running the government, Hoover, has the temerity to undertake to scare the voters into another term. But the scare won't work. The threat of empty dinner pails doesn't register with millions of workmen already unemployed and hungry. The threat of unemployment doesn't register with labor already unemployed. The threat of economic destruction does not frighten in the midst of economic chaos.

Hoover pleads that as bad as things are they "might be worse." And Roosevelt and the Democrats are willing to admit it—they might be worse, but only by electing Hoover to another term in the White House.

The Foremost Issue

At the recent American Bankers' Association convention, excessive taxation and public expenditures were the leading subjects presented by nationally prominent speakers

It is literally amazing how many financial and industrial organizations are regarding the tax problem as the most important of all our difficulties at this time. We have reached a point in our afairs where the cost of government is becoming an impassable barrier in the way of the investment of capital, the development of industry, the creation of estates, and the employment of labor. Money that once flowed into productive enterprise, which sorely needs new funds now, is either hoarded or invested in tax-free government bonds. Millions of American investors have found a real and personal meaning in the old saying that "the power to tax is the power to destroy."

We have seen what expanded governmental activities with their resulting influence on the tax bill, have done in England, Germany, Australia and lesser powers. The dole, which was created to aid the unemployed and the distressed, has had precisely the opposite effect—it has created more unemployment and more distress by stifling industry. So with the rest of those governmental panaceas which have taken billions from the pockets of the taxpayers of the world. Whether America's tomorrow will be bright or clouded depends on what action we take in handling the tax problems now.

Corn Cheaper Than Coal

Western farmers are maintaining that they will use corn for fuel the coming winter, rather than sell the corn to buy the coal. A pound of corn is said to have practically two-thirds the fuel value of coal, and so they are not going to sell their corn for coal that will cost them more money than they will get for the corn. That's where old Henri Watterson's "money devil" gets in his work. The coal man cannot eat coal, but the corn man can burn corn. If they could get together, a nice trade arrangement could be made between them. They both need each other's products, but are held apart on account of money they don't possess.

Party Needs Funds

There has been little or no activity in this section toward raising funds for the democratic campaign. Our people consider Alabama safe, and so think their duty is all done voting the ticket, but the appeal comes from the democratic headquarters, and from the state chairman for funds to carry the fight on to victory. Alabama democrats have little to give, it is true, but it is important that whatever that little may be, to hurry it along now. It is not too late to do some good, even if it should have been sent in earlier.

Near Beer Disappointing

Since Near Beer has been legislated on tap in Alabama, it was thought that everyone would be happy, but the reports come in differently. In the first place, the fellows complain it does not hit the spot, and, in the second place the thirsty ones are unwilling to pay fifteen cents plus the tax, when they can get a better drink for a nickel. But, as an entering wedge for something stronger there is encouragement for the wets. Hope is a good thing, but hope deferred is the beer situation right now.

Is A Railroad A Good Citizen?

One of the best examples of what a railroad means to any community is given in the ollowing editorial from the Williston, North Dakota, Herald:

"The Great Northern sent a check Monday for its taxes. It was for $198,487. It is the biggest check for taxes annually received. It may always be depended upon. The Great Northern is never a delinquent taxpayer. Most of us never think of it as a citizen of this community. Few o us realize, until the matter is called to our attention, as in this case, what a part it has in keeping things going hereabouts. It helps pay for our schools, roads and bridges, and takes care of our needy. It discharges all the duties of citizenship on the paying end with little complaint. . . . .

"We can afford to be most patient with all our railroads. They face conditions of change that are not yet fully or clearly developed. In them is invested a lot of the money of plain everyday people. . . . What they mean in a community sense is perhaps best expressed for popular appreciation in a check for $198,487 in taxes. That will go a long way toward keeping schools open and cash in the treasury to pay the salaries of policemen, firemen, county officials and other public servants. . . ."

Thousands of American communities depend upon these railroad tax checks. What would happen to the small taxpayer if railroads were government-owned and tax-exempt? His taxes would probably be so high he could not pay them.

What Is The Answer

A few reasons why government should keep out of business:

1. Because government in business opens the flood gates of public expenditures at the taxpayers' expense; many of the expenditures being for special services to a limited number of persons from which services the general taxpayer, who must pay for them, can derive no benefit.

2. It creates new classes of political agencies and gives them unlimited power to incur debts, levy taxes and spend public money.

3. It discourages industry and prevents the investment of private capital in new enterprises because a private citizen cannot compete with tax-free, government-owned projects.

4. It invites the worst kind of political gerrymanding for promotional schemes at public expense.

5. Each time the government goes into business, it removes taxable property from the tax rolls and loads the taxes thus lost onto remaining taxable property, plus additional taxes for new governmental ventures into the field of industry.

The question of the government in business in competion with its private citizens should be considered from the standpoint of the principle involved, rather than from the interest of any particular line of business. The busines sitself is incidental to the principle. If we subscribe to the theory that public ownership is good fo rany business, even in a small degree, we should be honest enough to go all the way and sanction complete public ownership and control of the means of production and distribution. We should not single out one line of business to stand the brunt of such unfair and killing competition.

Government competition might better apply to the local meat market, grocery store, or clothing store, than to ocean shipping, insurance, public utilities, railroads and banking, for it is much more important that the average family get the first three items at cost than it is that they get the latter items at cost.

American Education Week Proclamation By B. M. Miller, Governor of Alabama

WHEREAS, it behooves all peoples now and then to rededicate themselves to those causes upon the promotion of which civilization depends, among which is the cause of education; and

WHEREAS, from the beginning the people of Alabama have shown deep and abiding interest in the cause of education, and for over seventy-five years have taxed themselves for the purpose of establishing, maintaining, and advancing educational services; and

WHEREAS, owing to the prevailing long continued, and worldwide economic depression, our entire educational system, along with that of practically every other state and nation, is suffering from lack of funds with which adequately to maintain its various branches; and

WHEREAS, the people of Alabama will be called upon at the election on November 8, 1932, to ratify two proposed constitutional amendments designed to relieve the State's distressing financial condition, one amendment providing for a twenty-million-dollar bond issue for the payment of outstanding debts long past due, three-fourths of which represents obligations incurred for teaching services or for other educational purposes, the other amendment authorizing the levy and collection of a tax on net incomes with which to finance the bond issue; and

WHEREAS, the enabling act already passed by the Legislature for the operation of the income tax amendment if adopted, fixes reasonable rates as follows: a flat rate of five per cent on the net incomes of corporations and graduated rate ranging from one to six per cent on net incomes above $1,500.00 for unmarried persons and above $3,000 for married persons, with an additional allowance to married persons of $300.00 for each dependent minor child; and

WHEREAS, the failure upon the part of our people to approve these two proposed amendments to the Constitution would be disastrous, not only to the State's standing in the financial world, but also to every educational and other humanitarian service in which the State is engaged, thereby rendering it necessary greatly to increase existing taxes or to resort to other forms of taxation permitted by the Constitution or to close the schools; and

WHEREAS, the adoption of the proposed bond and income tax amendments offers the easiest, quickest, and most equitable way out of the deplorable educational situation confronting our people; and

WHEREAS, owing to the existing emergency, it is desirable that, prior to the time set for this year's observance of American Education Week, opportunity should be provided for parents, teachers, pupils, school officials, and citizens generally to familiarize themselves more fully with our educational needs and the plan proposed for meeting those needs; now

THEREFORE, I, B. M. Miller, Governor of Alabama, do hereby designate the week of November 1-8, inclusive, as Education Week in Alabama, during which all citizens, both within and without the schools, are urged to make a careful study of pending problems as they relate to education. To the end that our people generally may be adequately informed regarding these problems, it is earnestly hoped that during the time indicated all schools, colleges, clubsb, churches, and other organizations will render appropriate programs. Good schools, individual efficiency, and economic prosperity go hand in hand. Children are the stepping-stone on which civilization climbs upward. Our childhood is a sacred trust. Let us not fail to protect it.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed at the Capitol, in the City of Montgomery, on this the 24th day of October, 1932.

B. M. MILLER, Governor.
Attest: PETE B. JARMAN,
Secretary of State.

IN MEMORY OF AUNT SALLIE

The Death Angel visited the home of Rev. W. S. Cox on October the 19th, and took away his loving wife. She was a devoted wife and mother to her children. She lived to the ripe age of 72 years and three days. She was a member of the Baptist church 47 years and was always active in any church service. Aunt Sallie was always ready to help anyone in need or distress. She was kind and loving and a devoted neighbor. To know Aunt Sallie was to love her. She was never called on for help by anyone but what she helped. If she was able to go. I believe if she could speak to the bereaved she would say do not grieve for I am at rest, dear husband and children. Let's not weep because she is gone, but prepare to meet her in that home where no sorrow or pain ever enters there. A voice is stilled which we can hear no more. A chair is vacant which can never be filled, but the Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away; blessed be the name of the Lord.

She leaves to mourn her loss a husband, two daughters, six sons, thirty grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren, two brothers, one sister and a host of other relatives and friends.

She was laid to rest in Concord cemetery east of Clanton Thursday, October the 20th, at one o'clock. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. W. P. Lowery, Rev. S. J. Ezell and Rev. M. J. Parrish. The pallbearers were Messrs. John McKee, Earl Robinson, J. D. Williams, Reedie Taylor, Crit Jones and W. T. Cox. Flower girls were Misses Ruth, Louise and Lucille, Mary Charles Willie B., Sallye Joe Cox, Evelyn McKee, Delene Owen, Mrs. W. T. Cox, Mrs. J. D. Williams. The love of her many friends was shown by the beautiful floral offerings which were many. Martin & Sons were in charge.

Thorsby Institute News

The class of 1932 was very generous to Thorsby Institute and is still giving. With some money left unexpended, this week it presented to the school a beautiful brass floor lamp to which is attached an electric clock.

November 12th will be the next Literary Socety and November 26th will be Stunt Night.

The school generally every other Friday will hold its chapel at 10 o'clock in order to enjoy the music appreciation Hour under the direction of Dr. Walter Damrosch. Two programs have been heard and have been much enjoyed.

On Thursday and Friday of this week the first term examinations will be given.

On October 21 the Philomathic and Pushmataha Clubs had their first progrom meetings for this year. These clubs meet once a month in the afternoon. All members of the school belong to one of the clubs.

Dolores Gafford of McKenzie, Ala., enrolled Friday as a member of the Institute Boarding Department.

Last Friday night Miss Helen Jenkins entertaned the members of the Public School Faculty and Institute Faculty. Various contest games were enjoyed by the guests. After the games delicious cake and sherbert were served. Miss Frances Wilson kept the evening study hall at the Institute Friday.

The Helen Keller Literary Society last Saturday night under the leadership of Miss Fairbank, put on a very unusual program. We have not heard of anyone present who ever before saw just such a program. And it was interesting.

The subject was, "Consider the Heavens." "The Ways of the Planets" were demonstrated by four boys, Earl Pate, Thomas Hayes, Jack Higgins and William Baggett, who carried above their heads four globes representing Mercury, Venus, the Earth and Mars. The boys walked in their orbits around the electric light bulb at the center of the stage, which bulb represented the sun. The orbits were at corresponding distances from the sun and the rate of speed at which the boys walked corresponded to the different speeds of the different planets. Carl Ekblad directed this demonstration.

S. E. Maddox similarly demonstrated the movements of Venus, our brilliant morning star, showing its various phases and the reasons for its varying brilliance.

Earl Pate, the Earth, and Leroy Peterson, the Moon, under direction of Conway Thornburgh, showed us how and why the sun and moon are sometimes in Eclipse. Louise Robinson recited "A Trip to the Moon." Kathryn Lenoir sang an appropriate number. Likewise the girls Glee Club. Helen Kendrick and Dorothy Franklin told mythological tales of different constellations. Conradine Pate presented and explained a map showing "the North Star and His Neighbors." Gladys Martin and Mary Reinhardt recited "A Group of Star Poems."

Altogether we went away feeling that it is worthwhile to know our heavenly neighbors better. Many thanks are due Miss Fairbank and her helpers for a delightful hour.

Many States Are Solid for Roosevelt

ONLY THREE STATES LEFT FOR HOOVER

All But Three Western States Going For Roosevelt Is Opinion

Washington, Oct. 26.—Senator Key Pittman, of Nevada, who has returned to Washington, after traveling on the Roosevelt train throughout the West, says in a public statement:

"Every State in the West is safely in the Roosevelt-Garner column except the States of Wyoming, Kansas and Colorado. . . . It is Senator Kendrick's opinion (the Senator from Wyoming) that Wyoming will go for Roosevelt and Garner."

Senator Pittman's personal opinion is that Colorado will also be for the Democratic candidates.

"In Kansas Governor Roosevelt's speech was received by the farmers with general approval," Senator Pittman continues, "the only distinction between that State and the others in that section is that a personal attachment for the Vice-President has a strong sentimental effect.

"I should say probably the most amazizng situation is in California. I think I know the political situation in California as well as I do in Nevada and I have never seen such a turnover as exists there.

"I traveled with Mr. Davis and Mr. Cox through that same terirtory and they had enthusiastic meetings. But when you realize that in Republican Sacramento 20,000 people came to hear a train platform speech, you can see how extraordinary the reception given Governor Roosevelt was. As a general thing the California registration is about two to one Republican. This year it is about even. That makes quite a difference.

"I don't think there is any question but that the Democrats will carry Utah."

Clanton Methodist Church

D. W. Haskew, Pastor

Last Sunday was a beautiful Sabbath and I heard a voice saying, "Where are the nine?" About one out of ten in Clanton attended Sunday school and church. When God gives to us a sure enough beautiful day, a day that should inspire the meanest to worship, we take it and run elsewhere. It seems that men worship more under the lash than they do under the blessings of life. Folks are curious things when we relate them to God. When God is good to us we swell up saying, "We do not need a God. We are getting along nice enough thank you." Oh when will we learn the lessons of love and loyalty.

We try again next Sunday with Sunday school at 9:45 A. M., preaching at 11 A. M. and again at 7 P. M. We have a place for you and a warm welcome for you. It is not the preacher, but it is the voice of God that calls you to worship.

FORMER CLANTON MAN RE-ENLISTS IN ARMY

According to information received here Private First Class Hugh A. Wheelus, son of Mrs. Annie Wilkerson of this city, has re-enlisted in the United States Army.

Private Wheelus first joined the army in 1929 and was sent to Fort Francis E. Warren, Wyoming, the second largest army post within the continental limits of the United States. Upon arrival at Fort Warren Wheelus was assigned to the Twentieth Infantry but transferred to Headquarters Company, Fourth Brigade after serving a little over a year with his regiment. He has been on clerical duty since the date of his transfer and his work has been of such uniform quality and neatness that he was promoted to the grade of First Class Private by his commanding officer, First Lieutenant Paul H. Mahoney, Infantry.

REPUBLICAN PAPER FLAYS PRES. HOOVER

Says Hoover No Longer Capable Of Effective Leadership

Washington, Oct. 26.—A critical analysis of Mr. Hoover's Des Moines speech by the Springfield (Mass.) Republican stresses Mr. Hoover's "public confession of the failure of one of the most distinctive features of his administration," in his attempt to check the Western agrarian revolt against him.

Of his statement that the price-fixing efforts of the Farm Board by large purchases of grain and cotton were opposed to his theory of government, the Springfield Republican says, "this amounts to treating his own experiment with disrespect," and adds, "few at this distance may measure the popular reaction in the grain states to such an avowal of misdirected interference by the government with the price structure."

Of the President's new twelve-point program, the paper says that "this will stop the prairie fire of agrarian discontent now raging seems highly improbable." After citing the twelve points the Springfield Republican declares the most definite one is "high or still higher tariff duties on farm products, which have been piled on for the past ten years."

This higher tariff proposal is offered in the face of the fact that "with tariff duties higher than ever in our history, wheat that sold for over $1.00 a bushel when Mr. Hoover first ran for President, now sells for about forty cents; and hogs, that in 1928 sold for $9.00 a hundred weight, now sell for about $4.00." Doubt is expressed that the farmers will find much to appease them in the new Hoover relief program, "for they realize that the President has already been tried out for four years, with the result that what he did now stands in large part, by his own admission, a failure. . . . If a realistic political appraisal of the present situation has to be made it compels one conclusion—that, so far as American agriculture is concerned, Mr. Hoover has largely exhausted his popular mandate and is no longer capable of effective leadership."

Article XXIII. The State is authorized to issue and sell negotiable interest bearing bonds in addition to all other bonds of the State, in an amount not to exceed the sum of Twenty Million Dollars ($20,000,000.00) to pay the indebtedness of the State outstanding on September 30, 1932. ARE DEMOCRATS TO BE TRUSTED?

Washington, Oct. 26.—Mr. Hoover's attempt to create the impression that it would be disastrous to the country to substitute a Democratic administration for his own is in strange conflict with some of the outstanding facts in connection with his belated attempt to carry out reconstruction plans. This is the way the Terre Haute (Ind.) Tribune and Gazette sees the situation:

"He (Mr. Hoover) warns the nation that the Democrats are to be shunned as public leaders and are dangerous, and he has just appointed Atlee Pomerene of Ohio head of the home loan bank, which he considers one of his triumphs in his struggle with the dragon, Depression. The Democrats are not to be trusted, yet Mr. Hoover has just named Alfred E. Smith, Owen D. Young and Bernard Baruch on the commission which is to attempt to cure the sick railroads. Mr. Hoover says the Democrats are not to be trusted, yet he gives credit to Senator Joseph T. Robinson and other Democratic leaders for their whole-hearted support in the projects he conceived would assuage the depression. Mr. Hoover says the Democrats are not to be trusted, yet he says that the past two years have shown symptoms of recovery, and the Democrats have been in power in Congress just two years."

EDITORIAL

THE FINAL COURT

Since man began living in communities with his fellows, there has been recorded the establishment of some final authority. At first it was the head of the family, then the tribal chief, the absolute monarch followed, tribunals were established, and during the height of the Roman Catholic Church the Pope was often considered the final authority on earth. But to avoid endless controversy and chaos, the peoples of every part of the world have seen fit to have some final court or authority from which there could be no appeal. In our civil and criminal courts of America for every type of case there is a final authority, specified by our national and state constitutions, beyond which there can be no appeal.

In the establishment of the democratic form of government under which we live today the founders realized the necessity of some final authority in government, but they broke past precedents and set up to determine policies of government, not a king, nor even a tribunal, as the final judge from which there could be no appeal, but the voting citizens of America. If you are a legal voter you are a member of this august body whose verdict is final. It carries with it both privileges and responsibilities.

It would be exceedingly impertinent to endeavor to tell you how to vote, but fitting that we urge you to discharge your full duty as a good citizen and impress upon you the responsibility which is yours:

1. TO VOTE. We would not long tolerate judges in our courts of law who refuse to weigh evidence and render a verdict in cases brought before them. Neither can our citizens rightfully expect the best in government unless they exercise their constitutional right to vote.

2. THAT YOU MAKE A CAREFUL, THOUGHTFUL SELECTION. Perhaps never before has the American citizen faced a more trying situation than he faces now. We elected our officials two, four and six years ago. All sorts of things have been happening to us since. Our beautiful air castles of prosperity, built upon the promises of those whom we elected to office, have fell thundering about our feet. We look at the wreckage and see no good. They, our officials have failed us, maybe we have failed ourselves,—it is at such times that we are susceptible to a sort of frenzied, mass hysteria. We see no way out, and there is danger of acting recklessly—and destroying the good along with the bad.

But they were wise men who laid the foundations of America. Thus was a plan set up to give us a new chance, a new opportunity at stated periods to elect new officials, determine new policies and straighten out the tangles of such times as these. That privilege comes to you November 8, 1932.

Without condemning or defending those who have been at the helm of government for the past few years, it is a positive fact that grave matters are to be decided on this election day. There are men to be selected as officials and amendments to be voted upon that demand careful choosing..

For our officials who must handle governmental affairs during the years just ahead it is the honest conviction of this newspaper that those whose names are under the Democratic rooster are best suited, because of their sterling character and training as individuals, and because they are in line with progress and in sympathy with the people as has been the policy of the Jeffersonian party through the history of our great country.

We urge you to learn about these men, and those other matters on which you must render judgment. Know, before you go to the polls, what the candidates stand for, what their policies are, and what you can expect from them and the party with which they are aligned. Know what the amendments to your state constitution will mean to Alabama if ratified. Then with a clear mind, suitable for fair judgment, make the best possible decision facing conditions squarely as they are and with a determination to do your part toward making them better from now on.

There has been much criticism of our officials in recent months. We have no doubt that you are qualified to determine in the light of the situation as it exists today, whether or not this has been justified. Those in office, whose term is about expired, have had their chance. Now, very soon, comes your time to act. Don't shirk, don't hesitate to pass judgment and remember that you are one of the justices in America's Final Court of Authority, from which there can be no appeal—and this newspaper feels no quiver of doubt that you will render a verdict which will put to shame those who have so miserably failed us in our time of need.

:-: Mt. Pleasant School News :-:

The Mt. Pleasant Jr. High school opened on Tuesday, October 11, with the heaviest opening day enrollment in its history. The school was highly pleased to have Rev. J. E. Metcalf, pastor of the Verbena Methodist Church, to conduct the opening exercises. Rev. Metcalf chose as his twenty-five minute talk the subject of "House-Cleaning." With a wide range of illustrations and beautiful phrases he delivered his subject in a very charming way. Quite a few patrons and friends were in attendance.

At the writing of these news items there has been an enrollment of two hundred and one. Seventy-three of these are doing Junior high school work. We trust that within the next few days additional help will be forthcoming.

The trustees have been busy the past week in completing several needy improvements, among which was the school water supply. By the addition of new joints of tiling, the curb and top has been made much more satisfactory. Through the recommendation and direction of the State Health Department the water supply is being purified through chemical process. We are justly proud of this new improvement, for our drinking water has been very unsatisfactory for the past year.

The boys and girls have been busy the past few days selling a candy deal through which to secure a basket ball. The sales have been completed and a prize is to be awarded to the following students for turning in the largest number of sales. Dorothy Jones is victor for the girls, while Leonard Burnett leaps far in the lead for the boys with 58 sales. A beautiful fountain pen will be presented to each of them at Chapel exercise next Thursday.

The faculty of our school formed a miniature book exchange through which second-hand books were bought, sold and exchanged. The results were gratifying in that over one hundred dollars was saved. Very few new books had to be purchased.

An interesting little program was staged at chapel time last Thursday morning. A variety of funny jokes, songs and stories along in connection with numerous juggling acts made up a most pleasing entertainment which was greatly enjoyed by both faculty and student-body.

The boys have been working the last few days getting their ball court in shape for the coming season. The goals were blown down by the wind last March, and as a result new nets, posts, etc., will have to be provided. Only two regular players are back from last year's team. These two are Curtis Traywick and Leonard Burnett. The team this year will have to be built up around these two players which means that the team will be much lighter and less experienced than the team of last season. A large number of boys have planned to come out for practice in an effort to fill the two vacant guard positions and the Center and substitute positions.

The girls, under the direction of Mrs Wright, will organize a Volley ball team. Plans are being made this week to get the necessary equipment.

This Woman Lost 45 Pounds of Fat

"Dear Sirs: For 3 months I've been using your salts and am very much pleased with results. I've lost 45 lbs., 6 inches in hips and bust measure. I've taken 3 bottles—one lasting 5 weeks. I had often tried to reduce by dieting but never could keep it up, but by cutting down and taking Kruschen I've had splendid results. I highly recommend it to my friends."—Mrs. Carl Wilson, Manton, Mich.

To lose fat SAFELY and HARMLESSLY, take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast — don't miss a morning. To hasten results go light on fatty meats, potatoes, cream and pastries—a bottle that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle — but don't take chances—be sure it's Kruschen—your health comes first—get it at any drugstore in America. If not joyfully satisfied after the first bottle—money back. adv

Jemison F.F.A. News

Our chapter of F. F. A. boys met last Tuesday, October 18th, and discussed the yearly program. After having been called to order by the president, Mr. Maurice Hodgens. Maurice as chairman of the yearly work program, discussed the major jobs being to improve the athletic building, school shrubbery, school house in general, inside and outside, to prevent washing of yards, etc. We decided to let a crew of six boys work each Thursday.

Next thing that took place was to find a way to raise money to pay the F. F. A. expenses. This was settled by a committee to see after this. The committee is composed of Lloyd Edwards, chairman, Ervin Beasley, John Busby, Mr. J. P. Montgomery, Maurice Hodgens and Obie Freeman.

We also had a report from Herbert Watson as a delegate that went to Auburn this past July 14-16. It was real interesting to all.

Next was to have someone to get up a program for the next meeting day. This was settled by appointing Lance Franklin.

We have added three new members to our chapter.

Dates Are Set For Speakings In County

March, Mr. Frasier left his office in Selma, cancelled several business engagements, and came to Chilton county that first night of horror, giving aid, advice and directing a great part of the emergency relief work here. He remained in this county several days, devoting his time to doing whatever he could for the suffering people in the storm stricken areas.

Mr. Frasier's speech tonight at Mineral Springs will not be an attack on the Republican party, but will be full of interesting data concerning matters of interest to every working man in the county. Every voter who can, owes it to himself or herself to hear Mr. Frasier, a man who has lived through hardships and fought the battle of life along with the farmer and working man. This speech tonight is not for Democrats only, but for every man or woman who has the ability to think for themselves and their children, and the public is invited to hear Mr. Frasier tonight at Mineral Springs at seven-thirty o'clock.

Several places in Chilton county are scheduled for speeches this week, and each place has one of the outstanding men of Alabama to fill the engagements.

It has been many years since the people of Chilton county have had such a rare opportunity to hear such brilliant and well educated men speak, and it will probably be many years before this opportunity will present itself again.

At Collins Chapel

Following the speaking at Mineral Springs tonight, the next engagement is at Collins Chapel school house tomorrow night, October 28th, at seven-thirty o'clock. The people of this community and surrounding communities will have the privilege of hearing a man known throughout the South, a statesman and a gentleman—Senator John H. Bankhead.

The people of the county in the section in and around Collins Chapel should make plans now to hear this distinguished man tomorrow (Friday) night at their school house at seven-thirty. Senator Bankhead was selected for this engagement due to his ready wit and his wide knowledge of the affairs of the country. Chilton county is indeed fortunate in having him here this week.

At Thorsby Saturday

On Saturday afternoon of this week, at two-thirty o'clock, comes Thorsby's opportunity to hear a brilliant speaker, a man who is well known in Chilton county and well liked—Hon. Jerome T. Fuller, of Centerville.

Mr. Fuller is chairman of the State Democratic Campaign headquarters in Birmingham, and returned Wednesday from Atlanta, and Warm Springs, Ga., where he has been since Sunday, conferring with Gov. Franklin Roosevelt, Democratic presidential candidate. He will come to Thorsby Saturday afternoon of this week with a message straight from his heart to every thinking man and woman of that section of the county.

It is not often that the people of this county have the privilege of hearing a man like Mr. Fuller, and everyone who can is urged to be present at the public school in Thorsby Saturday afternoon. Mr. Fuller will bring a message of interest.

Youth Is Shot In Turkey Haul Attempt

up near the Dennis home and the two men went to locate the turkeys, leaving the women in the cars. Kelly immediately woke Mr. Dennis, and when they returned, the women gave an alarm. The Blackburn men tried to make their get-away, and Mr. Dennis is reported to have ordered them to halt. They kept moving toward the two cars, and when told by Mr. Dennis or Mr. Kelly that if they did not stop, they would shoot, it was said. At this, the Blackburn boys are stated to have remarked, "If that's the way you feel about it, we'll shoot it out with you," and fired.

Dennis and Kelly opened fire and one of the men fell, the other making his get-away in one of the cars. Sheriff Gillespie was summoned and he and Dennis gave chase, leaving the wounded man and the two women there. The latter placed the wounded man in the car, stating they were taking him to a doctor.

They were captured in Bessemer following a story they gave about being held up and the boy shot. Officers from here brought the trio back to Clanton Monday, where they are held on a charge of grand larceny. The women and Blackburn gave their home as Bessemer.

Letter From Roosevelt Speaks Of Optimism

Grady Jones, resident of near Lomax, Ala., has received a personal letter from Gov. Franklin Roosevelt, Democratic presidential nominee, thanking him for a poem written by Jones. This is evidence of the human side of Gov. Roosevelt and that he is not too big to recognize a citizen of our county. The letter was written by Gov. Roosevelt in person, and is as follows:

October 6th, 1932.

Mr. Grady Jones
Lomax, Alabama
My dear Mr. Jones:

"Your letter was waiting for me upon my return to Albany.

"Rest assured that I appreciate your sending to me the verse which you have published. I have forwarded a copy of this to Mr. Charles Michelson of the publicity committee at national headquarters, Hotel Biltmore, New York City, and I am sure that if he can use it he will do so. I have retained, however, the original copy which you sent me to place it in a personal scrapbook that I am keeping.

"Indications from everywhere show that our splendid cause is being well received by all progressive Americans.

Yours very sincerely,
FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT."

The Literary societies of Isabella high school have been reorganized. It was suggested that we use the same names that we had last year, Epicurean and Sidney Lanier, and letting the members that were on these societies go to the society they were on last year. We found that more went to the Sidney Lanier society than to the Epecurian, but "a small army has better cooperation than a large army." ROOSEVELT IS ASSURED OF VICTORY

Voters Of Chilton County Are Urged To Fall In Victory Line

With reports coming from all sections of the United States, indicating strongly an overwhelming victory for Franklin Roosevelt for president and John N. Garner, vice-president, Democrats of Chilton county are appealing to the voters of this county to fall in line with the remainder of the nation.

These reports bring with them, names of outstanding men who have fought for the Republican party, but are now turning their back on this party of their past life and flocking to the Democratic ranks, giving their support in every way possible to the Democratic presidential nominee.

In 1928, Hoover smashed the "Solid South" but in this election year he will not carry a single Southern state, and may count the border states being lost as well, is the report gathered by those who are in a position to know these things. Roosevelt has been received with a warm and hearty welcome wherever he has been on his speaking tour of the nation, which is quite a contrast with the chilly reception given Hoover at many places, even in the north and west, including states that supported him in 1928.

Roosevelt, being confident of victory next month, has made plans to call a session of Congress immediately after March 4th to set in motion, machinery for restoring prosperity to the nation. With the assurance of the backing and support of all the Democrats, thousands of Republicans, including such outstanding and distinguished men as LaFollette, Senator Norris, Senator Johnson, and others, Roosevelt should have no difficulty in securing harmony in any move intended to bring normal conditions back to the United States.

The Democratic presidential nominee has pledged himself to a "new deal" for the "forgotten man" and he has let it be known that he intends to carry that pledge into action promptly after his inauguration.

A great Hallowe'en Festival is to be given by the Senior Class at C.C.H.S.

Endorses W. L. Smith For County Treasurer

Editor, Chilton County News:

Please give me space in your paper to state under our present conditions that we need a change in our political affairs.

I have seen several men that said they heard Henry Ford's speech over the radio. It made them still stronger for the Republican party.

Now you have Mr. Norris's statement and Mr. Hiram Johnson's from California. Their statement is that our Republican party controlled by Mr. Hoover is one of the worst that ever was known in this country.

Our United States Senate and Congress passed a law that Muscle Shoals was to be built by the Government. After the bill was passed and given to Mr. Hoover he vetoed it. Seven thousand to ten thousand men could have been at work there today and farmers could have gotten cheaper fertilizer.

Mr. Hoover sends one billion two million dollars over to Germany to help them and people over here starving.

We have in our neighborhood a young man by the name of W. L. Smith who is candidate for treasurer of our county. How can we Republicans help but cast our ballot for such a fine young man on November 8th?

I am like the majority of the peopple of Chilton County, I have decided to vote for the man and not the party.

Yours truly,
CHAS. H. ROBER.

Contestants Renew Effort To Win In Campaign

scriptions earn full voting power.

To hold back subscriptions now, or to rely on promises to subscribe at a later date simply means that you will have to take less on such orders. We are putting it up to you squarely. If you entertain any desire whatever to be a big prize winner, do not fail to turn in every available subscription to your credit Saturday night.

Not to do so means that you will have to redouble your efforts during the remainder of the race to make up for lost ground. A few long-term subscriptions now may be the very ones needed to cinch the prize you most desire. As a timely warning do not try to figure out just how many votes it will take to win, for you will surely fail to get enough. Don't be afraid of having too many votes. It would be better to win by a million than lose by a mere few.

Don't let this happen to you. You will never forgive yourself if you do, and for the fatal error. There will be no cause for regrets if you heed expert advice and back it up with a goodly number of subscriptions. At any rate Saturday will tell the tale. Your fate is in your hands, we can help you only by telling you NOW. You can sweeten or embitter yourself. REMEMBER, your own subscriptions count.

How "First Period" Closes

The "First Period" will end with the closing of the Campaign Department office Saturday night. The time is set for nine o'clock, and all candidates must report at the office by that time.

Candidates are requested to come to the office as early as possible. They will be waited on in turn—first come first served. The campaign department will close as soon as all candidates have reported and with the closing of the "first period" of the campaign ends and the big votes will be over and forgotten.

It's Some Race Folks!

Who will take advantage NOW, and put themselves ahead during the remaining hours of the BIG VOTES?

Only Two More Days Left

ONLY TWO MORE DAYS LEFT—for candidates to show the mettle within them and GET BIG RESULTS! Only two more days left for friends to show the mettle within them—and put their favorite in the lead, and LONG TERM subscriptions will do it NOW.

It means something to win in a race of this kind, and all contestants realize the value of the HIGH VOTES NOW. Contestants must make ONE report each week and should make three. Inactive workers will be dropped from the list.

CONTESTANTS, IT IS NOT WHERE YOU STAND NOW; it is WHAT YOU CAN DO NOW! Get those long term subscriptions and WIN.

MORE SPEAKING DATES ARE SET FOR THIS WEEK

At Maplesville Tonight; At Enterprise Friday Night; Here Saturday

Good crowds have been seen at the Democratic speakings throughout the county during the past week. At Mineral Springs last Thursday night, there was an exceptionally large crowd gathered to hear the message delivered by Hon. Hunt Frasier of Selma. Mr. Frasier spoke in no uncertain terms of the condition facing the people of the country at this time. He dwelt upon the "Seepage Theory" a belief of those in power that if they did enough for the rich, great good would come down to people in all classes.

Last Friday night at Collins Chapel, a crowded house greeted Hon. Wm. C. Fitts, Jr., of Birmingham, who delivered a masterful address in behalf of Gov. Roosevelt and the Democratic party. Mr. Fitts told the people in detail, why the country was in the throes of a financial crisis and growing worse. He also told in plain spoken words, how President Hoover has failed his people in this time of need.

Saturday afternoon a good crowd awaited Congressman George Huddleston, for eighteen years a congressman, and in touch with the existing conditions in Washington.

Monday morning at the court house in Clanton, Hon. Lamar Jeffers, congressman, and an outstanding citizen, spoke to a large crowd. His message was clear and dwelt on the future outlook of the people under the present Republican administration, stating that the people owe it to themselves to make a change for the better in their government on November 8th.

Monday night, Hon. Wm. C. Fitts,

NEW DEALER IN FIRESTONE TIRES & TUBES

R. W. Lowe of South Clanton To Handle Well Known Line Of Tires

The Firestone Tire & Rubber Company has announced a new dealer for their line of tires, tubes, batteries and accessories for Clanton. R. W. Lowe, prominent and well known merchant of South Clanton has been secured to handle this line, according to an announcement from the company which appears elsewhere in this issue of the News.

This change in dealership of the Firestone products is due to the retirement from business of Mr. G. M. (Mon) Wyatt, who has been the Firestone dealer here for a number of years.

The Firestone company should consider themselves fortunate in securing Mr. Lowe to handle and push their line of tires in this section. He has been handling automobile tires and accessories for sometime and has a wide experience in this line, and the addition of the Firestone line will add greatly to his business in South Clanton. See the advertisements from Mr. Lowe in this issue.

J. M. Mims Corrects Rumors About Jackson

Following is a statement from Mr. J. M. Mims, reliable citizen of Route 7, who denies rumors being circulated about Mr. J. H. Jackson, and speaks well of his character:

"The rumor that has been circulated over the county regarding Mr. J. H. Jackson, which is detrimental to his character, and is being used against him in his campaign for Commissioner, is not true.

"I understand from reliable sources that I have been accused of stating these rumors were correct. That is also not true. I have known Mr. Jackson for a number of years and have no knowledge of his doing anything that would reflect on his character. I know him to be a thorough gentleman in every way. I am sorry that those opposing Mr. Jackson in this campaign have took it upon themselves to spread such rumors about him."

J. H. JACKSON MAKES FINAL VOTERS APPEAL

Appeals To Voters In An Open And Frank Expression

October 31, 1932.

Editor, Chilton County News:

Will you please permit me to make my final appeal to the voters of Chilton County through your valuable paper?

First I want to say if I have hurt anyone's feelings during my campaign it was not my intention. If so I beg your pardon. Although I have heard many false reports on myself, but I feel assured that I have enough friends to take care of them for me, as they happened to know they were false. I have made no fight against my opponent. I have held him up as being a nice, clean man so far as I know, but so far he has not come out publicly and told the voters how he stands on the present assessed valuation on our farm lands. Well, someone may say, what can one do. All the voters want is for him to count one, and stick to his pledge. The voters should demand that of him.

I'm in favor of more permanent road building such as more graveling and less scraping in winter. First, prepare a good road bed, then gravel it and don't allow it to be scraped off in the ditches. I also believe that this work should be given to the people who are in needy circumstances as much as possible. I believe our assessed valuation on our farm lands are too high and should be reduced.

I want to say to the voters that our Alms House is being operated under

Hear Judge Louise Charlton

UNITED STATES COMMISSIONER

Speak In Clanton Saturday

For the first time in many years, the people of Chilton County will have the opportunity to hear one of the most outstanding women of the state speak on matters of the utmost importance, next Saturday afternoon, November 5th, in Clanton at two-thirty o'clock.

Judge Louise O. Charlton, United States Commissioner, of Birmingham, of charming personality, and very gifted as well as an able speaker, will deliver this message Saturday afternoon, and every citizen of the county should take advantage of this rare opportunity.

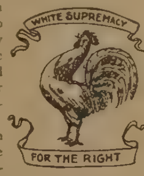
She will bring a message of facts heretofore untold in this county, being in a position to know of matters facing the people at this time, holding one of the highest Federal offices in the state. Don't miss this opportunity Saturday afternoon in Clanton. She will be accompanied to Clanton by Dr. Chas. Whelan, vice-chairman of the State Democratic Campaign Committee.

A CLEAN CAMPAIGN BY THE DEMOCRATS

At this time we think it nothing but proper to express our opinion of the campaign conducted by the Democratic candidates of the county, and the manner in which they have attempted to get their message and appeal over to the voters of the county.

There has been no mud-slinging from them against their Republican opponents. They have been open with their campaign and there has been no "whispering rumors" spread by them against their opponents. They have not tried to damage anyone's character. It has been solely based on merit and service. These Democratic candidates deserve and will get the applause and commendation of the people of this county for their clean campaign, and their efforts to uphold character.

At this time also, we deem it proper to warn the citizens of the county against last minute propaganda and "whispering rumors" that usually come out just before an election, and spread by enemies of the Democratic party. Politics, we realize, is conducted in almost any way possible, but it is the opinion of this newspaper that at this trying time, the people should not be open to these damaging, degrading falsehoods that are spread during the last few days of a political campaign.



Anything to win. But not so with the Democratic candidates. They come before the people with a past record, unblemished by any questionable act or character. They want your support and deserve it. They are clean, honest and upright men and not one single thing can be said against them that would show them not capable of handling the duties of the office which they seek. In all fairness to the people of Chilton county, their interest and welfare, the Democratic ticket should win this time.

Look carefully over the Democratic ticket published in this issue. There you have the men referred to above. They deserve your vote and support, and by rights, should get it.

DO YOUR OWN THINKING—DON'T BE MISLED

Every voter of Chilton County is capable of doing his or her own thinking, and if they will stop to think of what they have experienced in the past several years, they will have no trouble in saying, "I'm going to vote the Democratic ticket this time."

Just because your great-grandfather and your grandfather voted the Republican ticket before you, is no reason that you should vote it, while the welfare of your country is at stake.

The report has been circulated that Gov. Roosevelt has promised Al Smith a cabinet job, of appointing all Federal officers. It has been stated that if this is done, Roman Catholics will run the United States. In the first place, Roosevelt has not promised Al Smith a job, and in the second place, anyone with common sense should know that this country of ours has a Constitution to go by and that even if a Catholic is given a job, his religion does not enter into it. Even at that, we suggest that if the question of religion is bothering you about your presidents, look into the history of Herbert Hoover, his religion, past politics, and foreign business connections.

ONE CROSS UNDER THE ROOSTER

One cross mark in the circle under the Democratic Rooster on the ballots next Tuesday will mean that you have cast your ballot in behalf of Gov. Franklin Roosevelt, for president of the United States, and a new deal for the working man and the farmer, another chance to live as any thinking citizen of the United States should live.

There should be no argument about it, and no questions. Every white, thinking and voting citizen of Chilton County knows what we have been through with for the past four years, and we challenge any man or woman to truthfully say he or she is satisfied with conditions.

A vote for Hoover and the Republican ticket this time, means another four years under the present leadership of this country of ours, and a cross under the elephant on your ballot will mean that you endorse this Republican negligence of four years of continued and increasing distress in the country.

Vote the Democratic ticket this time. Give some men a chance to show you. Men who have suffered along with the rest of us, and have not been sitting in the throne with millions of dollars to spend, while you have been working your fingers to the bone to make ends meet.

Think—if any man had been running your business for four years and made it continually head toward ruin, what would you do about it? You would get rid of him immediately, as any sound, thinking person would do.

Campaign promises are a thing of the past. Not one promise has been made, except that Gov. Roosevelt will restore to the people their rightful voice in government.

Strawberry Inspection Is Urged Bv C.E. Stapp

County Agent Stapp makes the announcement that all strawberry growers who have good plants and are going to offer them for sale during the next six months should let him have their names at once. Mr. Stapp states that plants offered for sale have to be inspected by the State Plant Board and that the representative from there wants to make all inspections in Chitlon County at one trip in order to cut expenses.

Mr. Stapp states that he may not be able to get the inspector here more than once, and for that reason he requests that all growers who expect to sell strawberry plants to please let him have their name also the name of the association through which they will ship.

The inspector will be in the county the week of November 7th.

A ONE-TIME REPUBLICAN TELLS STORY

Good Letter From Shade Y. Dorminey Speaks Of Good Thinking

Jemison, Ala., Rt. 1.

Dear Editor, Friends and News Readers:

I wish to say a few words in regard to how you voted in 1928, and, how you are going to vote in this 1932 election. It is a serious question with me sometimes, and then again it is funny.

I broke away from my party four years ago and voted the straight Democratic ticket, and must say I'm not yet sorry of it. You know party lines were broken both ways in the last election, but take it from me, I believe this election will almost completely wreck the Republican party.

I am going to vote the Democratic ticket for two reasons, namely: I think the Democratic party possesses more and better political talent than the Republican party. Also, I think they have much better leadership at this much unrest particular time. With Mr. Hoover at the head of the Republican party—judging from the last three years—

BAKERY GETS NEW OWNERS AND MANAGER

Local Men Purchase Bakery And Plan Real Service For This Section

An announcement of interest is being made this week to the effect that the Sunlite Bakery in Clanton has been purchased by local men. J. H. (Harmon) Broadhead, Grady Taylor and Garland Foshee, have become joint owners of this concern and will operate it in the future.

These men are all well known citizens of the county. Mr. Broadhead will continue to operate his splendid grocery and meat market in West End and is known for his success in business. Mr. Taylor has had considerable experience along this line and will take an active part in the operation of the bakery, as will Mr. Foshee who has many friends who will be interested in this announcement.

A feature to be looked forward to is a cake to be given away each week by the bakery. Each week there will be placed in one of the bakery windows, a cake, with the name of some Clanton lady embossed on it. The cake will be given to the lady whose name appears on the top.

Plans are also being made to deliver bread, buns, rolls, cakes and other dainties from the bakery to all parts of the county, and success is assured for the bakery with this management behind it. They welcome the people of Clanton to visit the Sunlite Bakery.

Mrs. Stapp Not In Welfare Work Here

Clanton, Ala., Oct. 29, 1932.

Editor, Chilton County News:

Will you please give space for me to call to the attention of the people of Chilton County that I am no longer connected with welfare work in Chilton County. I feel that the majority of the people of the county know this, but I am still getting letters every day from people appealing for help.

I do not have time to answer these letters and I will appreciate it if my friends over the county will pass the word out that I am no longer connected with the welfare work. I will also appreciate my friends advising any who may criticize me for not answering their letters that I am no longer in the work and that I do not have time to answer their letters

I am always glad to do what I can to help people in distress, but I am teaching school now and practically all of my time is taken up with school work.

Thanking you for this space, I am

Yours very truly,

MRS. C. E. STAPP.

ALL SHOULD SUPPORT AMENDMENT NO. 8

Give Counties and Cities Right To Borrow R. F. C. Funds To Relieve Distress

Amendment Number 8, authorizing Alabama counties and cities to borrow funds for direct relief from the R. F. C. is one which every Alabama citizen should vote for on November 8th, regardless of their attitude towards other constitutional amendments which will be submitted at the general election.

Amendment Number 8 makes it possible for Alabama counties and municipalities to borrow money from the federal government for relief of destitution and suffering this coming winter. Without this authorization, the next few months could easily become the ghastliest experience in the history of the State, not excepting the reconstruction period.

For the information of our readers we are printing this amendment in full:

> Article XXV. Each municipality and each county in the State is hereby authorized to borrow money from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation under the Emergency Relief and Construction Act of 1932 (Approved July 21, 1932), and to use such funds in furnishing relief and work relief to needy and distressed people and in relieving the hardships resulting from unemployment, and to enter into an agreement or agreements with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for the repayment of the amount so borrowed with interest, and any agreement entered into by any municipality or county with the Governor or with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation with the approval of the Governor, is hereby ratified. The amount which each municipality and each county can borrow or has borrowed from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation is in addition to any other indebtedness now authorized by law, and any provision of the Constitution or of the Statutes with reference to limiting the amount which any county or any municipality can borrow shall mean an amount in addition to any amount borrowed from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. Each municipality and each county in the State is authorized to appropriate funds for furnishing relief and work relief to needy and distressed people and to relieve the hardships resulting from unemployment, and any appropriation that may have heretofore been made by any municipality or county for such purpose is hereby declared to be legal.

Let us resolve to see that this amendment Number 8 is adopted. It does not concern public policy but does concern private suffering and distress. We must all stand together when the blood of a great race is running thin from starvation.

A PROCLAMATION
GOVERNOR

WHEREAS, the Legislature of Alabama at its last session ordered an election by the qualified electors of the State of Alabama upon a certain proposed amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, which proposed amendment is herein set out, and ordered that the election be held at the General Election next succeeding the session of the Legislature at which the election was ordered, and

No tire in the world has the Firestone endurance. That is because Gum-Dipping, the patented Firestone process, transforms the cotton cords into tough, sinewy units. It means that the liquid rubber penetrates every cord and coats every fiber, assuring protection against internal heat. Two Extra Gum-Dipped Cord Plies under the Tread, give 56 percent. stronger bond between tread and cord body.

HANDSOME YOUTH IS SEEN AGAIN IN WESTERN, "CAUGHT" IS COMING TO WADESONIAN

Richard Arlen adds to his evergrowing fame as a portrayer of Western classic roles in "Caught," the Paramount talkie of life in the mining "boom" towns of the 80's which comes to the Wadesonian Theatre for Friday and Saturday, November 4 and 5.

This popular star, who was seen as the secret service agent in "The Conquering Horde," as "Steve" in "The Virginian" and as the mustang-hunter in "Gun Smoke," here plays the part of Lieut. Colton, the leader of a detachment of cavalry which is sent to the outlaw country to preserve order.

At the outset they run into difficulty with a gang of rustlers who are led by one of the most desperate women of that day — "Calamity." Gut-toting, stogey-smoking and more ruthless than any of the killers in her gang, this female terror runs things her way. She is the proprietress of the leading dance- and gambling-hall.

For a time it appears that the cavalrymen will have the upper hand, but before long the tables turn and Arlen finds himself a captive of "Calamity's" gang and due to be hanged in the morning.

Meanwhile he has fallen in love with Frances Dee, beautiful young Eastern girl who has taken a job as a dancer in "Calamity's" place in order to keep from starving to death.

A series of exciting events, attended by stirring gun-play and tense action sweeps down upon the lovers—but the picture ends happily.

Louise Dresser plays the part of "Calamity" with amazing and entertaining gusto.

Dr. Haskew Touches On Unusual Subject

Clanton Pastor Deals With Big Front Being Made By Those Who Are Wicked

An unusual subject was discussed at the Methodist church last Sunday morning by Dr. Haskew, and we take this privilege of passing some of the thoughts out to our readers. The preacher used as his text that passage in First Kings that tells of Rehoboam having lost the golden shields of his father, King Solomon, and to keep up his appearance he made shields of brass. It was said that the young king strutted behind those brass shields, and tried to make the onlookers think that they were gold. That was keeping up a "Big Front."

Rehoboam tried to make his subjects think that they saw gold when they were only seeing brass. The speaker said that the spirit of the king is still in the hearts of people today. In the business world many folks are riding in big cars, living in fine homes, conducting a business on "Main Street" and if the truth was known they would not be two jumps ahead of the sheriff. They strut behind shining shields, but the thing that produces the shine is brass. Just a "Big Front" with nothing to back it up.

In the Civic and Economic world the same thing is true. The speaker stated that there was not a nation on the face of the earth that had not lost its golden shields, but still all the nations alike were trying to keep up appearances. They were strutting behind a make believe valuation, trying to deceive the other nations. They were lashing and slashing everywhere for more money to keep up an artificial front. He stated that the shining shields in our own national life is nothing but brass. The government, along with the politicians, are strutting behind the brazen shields thinking to deceive the public. The sad part connected with this big front is that the people are just about to discover that all this show is nothing but brass. There is no gold back of all this national display. He feared that there was coming a terrific crash unless the government acknowledged its deception, and then adjusted its expenditures to balance with its income.

Dr. Haskew dealt with the deception that is going on among those who are wicked, saying that they put up a big front to make the outside world think that their way of living was the way to happiness. He said that the racketeers put up a brass display, saying that they had found the thing of real value. He also spoke of how many people tried to appear to know more than they really knew. He advised that it was far better to appear to know less than was known, than it was to appear wiser than we really are.

His last point was centered on the veneer that was about character. He said that many people are walking our streets with a big front, displaying a character that seemed to shine like gold and yet it was nothing but brass. He refused to point out any shields of character that were not gold, but said that he had seen them on display. He said that he had seen them strutting up and down the streets behind brass shields, thinking that the public was saying, "Look, there goes one with a noble, valuable character," when the thing on display was nothing but appearances. He warned his audience against being deceived. He repeated, "It is not all gold that glitters." He also warned the audience that "Seeing is often deceiving."

In his concluding remarks the pastor urged his audience to create gold for a shield in life. He said that it was not wrong for a man to create and walk behind a character that was made to glow with real value. He warned his people against the enemies that would come to rob them of the shining shields of gold that they had created. He asked that everyone present create a golden shield of character that would shine, and then behind it walk like a king up the way of life and into the city of God.

"THE DOOMED BATTALION" HERE SOON

Companion Picture To "All Quiet" Is Sponsored By Local Legion Post

When Universal decided to make a motion picture to rank alongside of "All Quiet on the Western Front," concerning the desperate conflict between the Italians and the Austrians on the Italian front, it was confronted with a major problem. Every nation, in addition to having its own language, has its own particular way of expressing itself as it talks. The Italians are particularly athletic in this respect. So are the Austrians.

The problem which presented itself was whether to make a picture in which the well-known placidity so characteristic of American acting, talking, deportment and social intercourse should be the standard, or whether to pick out American trained actors who were born abroad and who could simulate naturally the manner of speaking of the characters which they were cast to represent. The powers that be at Universal City soon decided to choose a cast which had been to the manner born.

"The Doomed Battalion," sponsored by the local Chilton County Post of the American Legion, which comes to the Wadesonian Theatre Friday and Saturday, November 11 and 12, is the title of this companion picture to "All Quiet." It presents the last word in World War pictures, a conflict of sonw-capped mountain tops where, in the Great War a heroic band of defenders was blown into perdition by a gigantic charge of dynamite which lifted off an entire mountain top. It is a story of love and heroism in a setting of grandeur with three people, two men and a woman, fighting their emotional battle amid the most terrific war scenes ever filmed. One of these men was an Italian, the other an Austrian. The Austrian had written this story and told it to Carl Laemmle, Jr. His name was Luis Trenker. He had virtually lived a scene which he saw as a great motion picture. Carl Laemmle entrusted the leading role to him.

All the other roles in this picture were cast with the same thought. Victor Varconi was an officer in the Hungarian Army, Tala Birell, Viennese. Henry Armetta was born in Palermo, Italy. Gustav von Seyffertitz was born in Innesbrook in the Austrian Tyrol. His brother was an Austrian field marshal. Albert Conti was born in Trieste, and was a captain in the Fifth Austrian Hussars.

Clanton Meets Isabella Next Friday Afternoon

Clanton won its third football game of the season on the local field last Friday afternoon. The Dallas County High team from Plantersville fell before the onslaught of the Chilton team by a score of twenty-five to nothing. The Plantersville eleven played good ball and fought all the way, but were outclassed by the Chilton team.

This marks the third win for Coach Walker's team in six starts. They have been beaten by Ramsey Tech, Selma and Centerville, and in turn have won games from Columbiana, Prattville and Plantersville.

On next Friday afternoon on the local field one of the best games of the season is promised. Clanton meets a strong and rejuvenated eleven from the Isabella High School. Isabella, which has always heretofore been a set up for the local boys is reported to have a much stronger team this year and should give the Clanton boys a stiff game.

The game will be called at three-thirty on the local field. Everyone should come out and see this game as it promises to be one of the best of the season.

Every Voter's Responsibility

Next Tuesday, for the fortieth time, the United States will elect a President. Thirty-one men have held this high office, nine having been twice elected. Only thirty-two of the Presidential elections, however, have been decided by popular vote, in our present fashion. For that matter, there is no provision in the Constitution of the United States under which the people are either required [illegible] to vote for Presidential electors.

In the early days of the republic the idea that everybody should have a vote for President never occurred to the gentlemen who conducted the Revolution and framed the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States. Those things were left to the states, and the Constitution reads that that "each state shall appoint, in such manner as its Legislature may direct," the required number of Presidential electors. If any state Legislature wished to, it could today pass a law repealing the privilege of its citizens to vote for Presidential electors, and have them appointed by the Governor or chosen by the Legislature.

Presidents Washington, Adams and Jefferson were all elected under the old provisions of the Constitution, changed in 1804, whereby the candidate who got the most votes was president, and the one who got the next highest number was Vice-President.

The present party convention system of nominating candidates and pledging Presidential electors to their support is only a little over a hundred years old. In that hundred years state after state has constantly extended the privilege of voting for President until it has become such a commonplace, everyday affair that few, especially of the younger voters, realize that it is not an inherent Constitutional right, but distinctly a privilege. It is an honor conferred upon the ordinary man and woman—an honor which carries with it a corresponding responsibility. It is not a privilege to be exercsed lightly. The presumption is that every voter will go to the polls with the feeling that he is discharging a solemn duty, for which he has prepared himself by intelligent thought and examination of the programs and policies of the opposing parties.

We fear that few voters in these days take their responsibility as seriously as they should. We urge everyone who goes to the polls next Tuesday to vote in the light of his or her own deepest and innermost convictions. Only if every voter does just that will the result reflect the intelligent judgment of the American people.

Useless Bureaus Continue In Washington

This is not an auspicious time of course to diminish the number of Government employees, and thereby adding to the unemployment which is the most appalling element in our business depression.

However, the rising cost of Government which has been so pontifically discussed in various statements from high officials is due perhaps more to the addition of unnecessary pay-roll people than to any other single item. Nobody knows the exact total of federal employees at the present day. But the Civil Service reports give us at least an accurate index because ever since the advent of the Harding administration there has been a steady nibbling at the Civil Service so that the proportions of the total as against the Civil Service employees have been distorted. However, the comparison between the days of Wilson and the days of Hoover are fairly enlightening. In 1916, the last fiscal year before the World War, there were 438,000 Civil Service employees. In the period ending June 30, of this current year, there were 617,000. In other words the payroll has increased 180,000. Assuming that the average wage of these employees is $1,500 a year it means that the United States Government is paying $270,000,000 more now than it did in the last year before the war for Civil Service employees alone. In the first year of Harding with of course a considerable holdover from the war, Civil Service accounted for 561,000. The figures did not change materially during the Coolidge period but under Hoover it has mounted to 617,000, an increase of 76,000 employees.

A reference to the Congressional Record shows that the bureaus established during the war are still functioning, though what they can find to do 13 years after the struggle it is difficult to imagine. Some of these like the War Finance Corporation are described as in process of liquidation, and have been so described for a decade. Others like the Alien Property Custodian's office, and the United States Railroad Administration apparently continue to give a haven of refuge to clerks, secretaries, directors, general and sub-counsels and to occupy extensive offices, though most people have forgotten that the Government ever administered the railroads and years have elapsed since the alien property was ordered restored to the enemy nationals from whom it was seized.

The net effect of all of these things must bear a very appreciable relationship to the treasury deficit which is now plaguing the administration and because the imminent increase of taxation to balance the budget is having its part in worrying our people. It must be remembered that these comparisons take no account of the terrific army of people who draw pay from the Government who are not under Civil Service—such as those in the legislative and judicial departments, Congressional employees, United States marshals and Federal Court supernumeraries, and thousands of others not on the classified lists.

Fess Blamed for G. O. P. Loss In New Jersey

(From the Philadelphia Public Ledger, Rep.)

In this off-year election the issue in New Jersey stressed by the Democrats and met by the Republican candidate was President Hoover's Administration and its policies.

The Democrats capitalized to the full the prevailing depression, as they did in the recent election for Governor. This being so, the Republican candidate had every right to expect aggressive support from the national management of his party. It was not forthcoming. The Republican National Committee sent two comparatively unknown speakers to New Jersey.

Notwithstanding the critical importance of this election as bearing both upon the question of House control and that of indorsing President Hoover's Administration, Chairman Fess and his associates at national headquarters seemed quite willing to allow it to go by default.

G. O. P. Half-Truth on Exports Exposed

Those favoring the present extreme protective policy dismiss foreign trade with the remark that it only amounts to an average of 8 per cent or 10 per cent of our total home production. This is scarcely a half-truth, though it has deceived millions of people. How does this claptrap impress the cotton grower, who must export and sell abroad from 50 to 60 per cent of his production? How does it impress our wheat grower, who must export 25 per cent of his production; our rye grower, who exports 53 per cent; our tobacco grower, who exports 40 per cent; our lard producer, who exports 30 per cent; our producer of petroleum products, who exports 30 to 35 per cent; our automobile manufacturer, who must export 500,000 and more cars; the coal industry, the machinery, leather, furniture, copper, oil, lumber, silk and woolen textiles, medium and coarser cotton textiles, shoes, cement, naval stores, paints, many chemicals, lead, rubber manufactures, electrical machinery, tools, books, and a long list of other great industries which produce surpluses on an increasing scale?—Cordell Hull, U. S. Senator from Tennessee, in the Nation.

GENERAL MEETING OF PEOPLES TELEPHON CO., ARMISTICE DAY

An enthusiastic meeting of a few patrons of the Peoples Telephone Company was held at the courthouse last Friday afternoon. It was decided by those present to have another general meeting on Friday afternoon, November 11th at two o'clock.

A resolution was passed urging all lines to hold meetings of their phoneholders between now and that time, and that a report be made from each line at that general meeting. All representatives of various lines present agreed to see that such meetings were held of their phoneholders, and an order was issued the secretary to mail out cards to directors of all lines calling their attention to these suggestions. It was also ordered that this notice be published in both the county papers, and that all phoneholders and any others interested in the company take notice. It is hoped that a large attendance be present at the meeting of November 11th.

There is a good chance for the Peoples Telephone Company being reclaimed and put back into service for the rural people of the county, and the people are beginning to realize what they will miss if the company is let to die. The way to keep it going is to lend it your support. You can best do that by meeting with the other patrons of your line and then attending the general meeting on the above date.

FARMERS AND SCHOOL BOYS ATTEND DEMONSTRATION

The evening school farmers of the Collins Chapel Community recently attended a demonstration in treating peach trees for the peach tree borer. The demonstration was held on the farm of Mr. T. K. Littleton. Many borers were found. Most of them were small one-eighth of an inch long. As many as a dozen small borers were found in one tree. Several large borers were found one-half inch in length. Crystal gas or paradichlorobenzene was used as recommended by the experiment station at Auburn.

The vocational students of the Jemison High School also attended demonstrations in treating the borer. These demonstrations were held on the farm of Mr. Sam Reynolds of Jemison.

This work is under the direction of J. P. Montgomery, teacher of Vocational Agriculture, Jemison High School.

MORAL ECHOES

D. W. Haskew

One day at noon the farmer completed the plowing of a ten acre cut of corn. The tall, rich stalks stood up as high as his head and the farmer was delighted. Everything pointed to a rich harvest. Late that afternoon there came up a heavy rain and much wind. The field of corn was left laying flat on the ground, like a log had rolled over the entire plot of ground. The farmer looked on with dismay. Bright and early the next morning the entire force of that farm was in that field of corn straightening it up as best they could. Many talks were broken off, many more were torn up by the roots, but the farmer lifted most of it and braced it with dirt. The yield was not what it would have been without the storm, but by putting forth an effort to save his crop he was able to fill his barn. As parents do you have a promising family? When your children are young your heart fills with gratitude. You may expect the storm of the world to sweep over them, and some of them will be laid low. When you find that your hopes have been blighted, do not give up. Without delay get among those fine boys and girls and straighten them up. Blessed is the family over which the storm of the world never blows.

I stood beside an old oak tree, and observed that the lichen that grow upon its body and limbs had no signs of life. A short time after this the rain was in abundance and this fugus plant growth was green and flourishing. There was moisture in the air and the dead had come back to life. We do not have to travel far to find church members who have forsaken the house of God. They never go where there is to be had the life giving power of the Spirit, and like the lichen, they die on the body of the church. The spirit of God moves thru his church to bring life and growth to all alike, but if we live in the blistering ways of sin, we are sure to die even if our names are on a church Register. The soul that shows signs of life is the soul that lives in the moist atmosphere of the spirit.

A countryman visited a ship yard where great ocean steamers were being constructed. For hours he looked on as the workmen toiled away at their task. He knew that something unusual was being built and finally he nudged his companion saying, "That tha thing is not being built for here." A few days later he returned to the ship yard to witness the launching of that ocean steamer. Everything was ready, the signal was given and the ship started to moving down the runway. As she glided down and settled into the water the same old countryman slapped his pal on the back saying, "I told you so, Sam, that thing was not made for here." This world is just God's ship yard where he is making men and women for another world. The Trinity is putting too much into human life for it to be made for this world alone. When the job is complete and we glide down into the ocean of eternity, then we will know that we are "Not made for here." This mortality will put on immortality. The reason why our loved ones leave us is because they are made for another world. Some day we are going to sail the eternal sea for we are not made for here.

When I was a boy I was playing with some mud and some wax that I had scraped from a bee gum. Out of the mud I made a ball and placed it in the blazing sun. I also made a ball out of the wax and placed it beside my mud ball. The hot sunshine beamed upon each ball alike. The rays of the sun made my mud ball almost as hard as a rock, while the same rays falling from the same sun melted the wax ball. Often we wonder why it is that some people grow hard and harder under the touch of Providence, while others melt and respond to the rays of God's sunlight. The same touch of Providence will melt one heart and harden another. Pharaoh's heart was made out of mud, while the heart of Israel was made out of wax, and that is why one was made harder and the other softer under the touch of God.

'I was in the home of a Christian woman a few days ago who was the humiliated owner of a modern bathing suit. She related to me her first venture before the public clad in her new garment. Said she, "I bought me one of those things and got into it and ventured into the water. I was never so shamed and humiliated in my life. After a period of misery and shame I got back to the clothes that I should never have discarded, and when I was properly clad I felt like I was due the world an apology. No sir, I'll never be caught in one of those things again as long as I live." How I do wish that we had more of that old time modesty. In these fast days there are things to be seen at public bathing places that no human eye should ever see, and yet the public is not only risking one eye upon the sights, but both eyes are wide open. Blessed is the woman, blessed is the man who has human modesty. This virtue is rarely even seen at public bathing places.

J. H. Jackson Makes Final Appeal To Voters

the wrong system and should be changed and put on a salary basis. I contend that it is on a speculatiive system because what they don't eat and wear is the employee's profit. Naturally he wants all the profit he can get out of it. Most any man would be the same way. It could be run on a salary basis much cheaper and very much more satisfactory than the present system. The above is with all due respect to Mr. Bean who now is in charge of the Alms House. Mr. Voter, it's in your hands to demand this change. If you want to. I am only offering my services to you to help make this change, and if you see fit to elect me you can bet on one for it.

Now I want to say in conclusion that we serve God by serving our fellowman, to prove this I beg to quote the following scripture in the 25th chapter of Matthew, beginning at the 32nd verse, which reads as follows: "And before him shall be gathered all nations: and he shall separate them one from another, as a shepherd divideth his sheep from the goats: And he shall set the sheep on his right hand, but the goats on the left. Then shall the King say unto them on his right hand, come, ye blessed of my Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world: For I was an hungered and ye gave me meat: I was thirsty and ye gave me drink: I was a stranger, and ye took me in: Naked and ye clothed me: I was sick, and ye visited me: I was in prison, and ye came unto me. Then shall the righteous answer him, saying, Lord, when saw we thee an hungered, and fed thee? or thirsty and gave thee drink? When saw we thee a stranger and took thee in? or naked, and clothed thee? or when saw we thee sick, or in prison, and came unto thee? And the King shall answer and say unto them, Verily I say unto you, inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these brethren, ye have done it unto me. Then shall he say also unto them on the left hand, Depart from me, ye cursed, into everlasting fire, prepared for the Devil and his angels:" Who refuses to do these things?

Now friends are we on the right or on the left? Shall we put party above principle. It's in your hands. We only have one life to live here, only one God to serve and to fear and to love, one time to die and that maybe tomorrow or next week or next year; also one time to be judged with no appeals to be taken to higher courts, no time to go back to straighten up our crooked political life. If a man is crooked in politics he is crooked in office he, is a crook anywhere you put him.

Now friends, if you want to visit the poor and oppressed vote for the men who advocate a change. Some people would have you to believe it would be awful to be disloyal to the party. May God help us to be loyal to sound principles, justice and to our God, if it sinks both parties into Hell.

Thanking you in advance for your vote and influence, I am

Yours very truly,
J. H. JACKSON.

Weekly Newspapers of United States Say Roosevelt Will Be Elected On Nov. 8th

Nation-Wide Poll Gives Democrats Big Majority

35 STATES TO ROOSEVELT; 7 TO HOOVER

Only Six Small States Are Not Heard From In Straw-Ballots

Directly in line with all other straw-ballot polls conducted during the closing weeks of the presidential campaign, The Weekly Newspaper Nation-wide poll, in its final returns give Franklin D. Roosevelt a substantial lead in popular vote sentiment to win the election next Tuesday, November 8th.

Approximately 2,000 weekly newspapers, located in all parts of the country, cooperated in taking this poll of small town and rural America political preference. The Publishers Autocaster Service, a newspaper editorial service, acted as national headquarters in tabulating the national vote.

Returns were received from 42 states of the 48. These 42 states represent 496 electoral votes of the 531 in the electoral college. 266 electoral votes are necessary for election.

Summed up, here are the pertinent facts as disclosed by this nation-wide weekly newspaper poll.

A total of 209,108 votes were cast in the 42 states.

Divided as follows: Roosevelt 125,155; Hoover 83,953.

Of the total vote cast, Roosevelt received 59.84%; Hoover 40.16%.

Roosevelt leads in 36 states; Hoover in 7.

Electoral votes: Roosevelt 414; Hoover, 82.

Of the six states from which no returns were received, the electoral votes are as follows: Alabama, 11; Arizona, 3; Delaware, 3; Nevada, 3; Oklahoma, 11; and Rhode Island, 4—Total 35.

The seven states in which Hoover leads are: Connecticut, Illinois, Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, and Vermont. Roosevelt leads in the other 35 states as shown in the tabulations below.

Wisconsin	1,229	2,429
TOTALS	83,953	125,155

The studious minded voter will find some very interesting figures in this nation-wide poll. For instance: It will be noted that the margin of majority for Roosevelt in this small vote in some states is far from being decisive. Eight of the 35 states which show Roosevelt leading might easily be won over to the Hoover column at the polls next Tuesday. Those eight states represent 128 electoral votes already considered safe for Hoover, would give him a total of 210 electoral votes—only 56 votes away from reelection. These states are Colorado, 6; Michigan, 9; Montana, 4; New York, 47; Oregon, 5; Pennsylvania, 36; Washington, 8; and Wyoming, 3.

Strong in Country

In general summing up, however, this weekly newspaper poll checks very accurately with the polls conducted by the Literary Digest and the Hearst Newspaper, so far as a division of the states between Hoover and Roosevelt in popular vote favor. This is the exception: The small town and country vote indicates a stronger swing to Roosevelt.

With returns in from all states for a total of 2,617,185 votes, the Digest shows 1,473,446 votes for Roosevelt, or a percentage of 56.30; to Hoover's 973,367 votes for a percentage of 37.19. Other candidates drew votes accounting for the remaining 6.51% of total votes cast in the Digest poll.

In comparison, this newspaper's nation-wide weekly poll gives Roosevelt 59.84% and Hoover 40.16% of its total vote cast.

The one big exception in our weekly newspaper poll to those of the Digest and all other straw votes taken is in the small town and country vote from Illinois. All through the weekly newspaper poll, Hoover has lead in the Illinois small town vote by a margin of about 7 to 5.

Throughout the tabulation of the votes from the various states in this weekly newspaper poll are some mighty interesting figures for careful perusal.

This straw vote has been most interesting to readers of weekly newspapers throughout the nation. It has supplied figures which indicate the political thought throughout the nation.

In the words which are beloved by all true sportsmen it can be said:

"—and may the best man win."

AFTER FOURTEEN YEARS

Armistice Day, marking the 14th anniversary of the end of the World War, again recalls the stern realities of that titanic struggle, which changed the map of the world.

The significance of the events which have occurred since November 11, 1918, may be variously interpreted, according to the viewpoint from which we see them. To some it will appear that great progress has been made toward universal peace, while to others the trend of events will imply grave danger for the future.

Even a single individual may reasonably waver between hope and fear—hopeful when some felicitious occurence seems to draw the nations closer together; fearful when an outbreak here or there threatens to undo all efforts for concord and understanding.

No one is wise enough to foretell the future. Was the "war to end war" the last great clash of nations, or was it only the prelude to more frightful slaughter and destruction yet to come?

Only time can give the answer, out in the meantime it behooves all right-thinking persons, and particularly those in positions of influence and responsibility, to exercise whatever they may possess of tolerance, forbearance and the will to do justice to their fellowmen.

E. W. Butler Expresses Views On Election

"DON'T THROW YOUR VOTE AWAY"

By E. W. Butler

That is good advice. It has been given to me often. But I have thought generally that the giver of the advice needed it as much or more than I did. A great many seem to think that the person who is planning to vote a third party ticket especially needs that advice.

In nearly every Presidential election in the last half century I have voted a third party ticket. I wish I might have space in your paper to tell those of my friends who may be interested why I believe my vote has counted more for the things we believe in than theirs have, if they have been voting the "straight old party ticket."

I began voting the Prohibition Party Ticket nearly or quite fifty years ago. I voted that way not because I expected or cared to see some certain man elected to some certain office, but because I wanted to see the overthrow of the liquor traffic. And we got Prohibition, and I have no doubt we got it because of the Prohibition Party vote.

In those days if a man said to us "You certainly can't expect to elect your candidate," our answer was, "No, but we do expect to elect our issue."

In 1884 Grover Cleveland was elected President of the United States, the first Democratic President for nearly 30 years. He carried the State of New York by a vote so close that a change of one vote in a thousand would have given New York's electoral vote to James G. Blaine, and if Blaine had carried New York he would have been President. But in that election in New York 20,000 former Republicans voted the Prohibition Party Ticket.

Up to that time the Republicans had turned a deaf ear to the Prohibitionists' plea. But now they said, "We must do something," the anti-saloon league was organized soon thereafter. The Prohibitionists believed that it was organized to save the Republican party. However, the league proved itself to be non-partisan. For many years its chief function was to advise interested voters just how every candidate for all the important offices stood on the question of the liquor traffic. They kept up that work until we got National Prohibition. (They will keep it. I have a letter today from the A.-S. League giving congressmen's record as to liquor.)

In my mind there is no doubt that the third party votes were responsible for the Anti-Saloon League and the League was chiefly responsible for the steps leading to national prohibition.

We didn't elect our President, but we got Prohiibtion, and we expect to keep it. Now another great issue must be faced. Shall the great businesses of our great nation continue to be conducted in the interest of our capitalists whose one thought is of the profits to be won and enjoyed?

Or shall we ask a new deal? Shall we demand that henceforth our nation's business be conducted in the interest of all the people? Practically all of our leading students of economic questions are agreed that our present capitalistic system has broken down.

A third party stands ready to show us the way out, away from our poverty in the midst of plenty, away from the awful contrasts in all our great cities between the very rich and the very poor, a way whereby every man who wants to work shall have work for himself and food for his children.

We can easily understand why the five per cent of the people, who own more than half the country's wealth, should advise us not to throw our votes away on a new party. We may expect the 75 per cent of the people who always expect someone else to tell them what to think and how to vote to stick this fall to the old parties.

And so, frankly, we don't expect to elect Norman Thomas this all. But this is what we may expect: If our candidate receives four million votes next month, and he may,—or even half that number, when Congress meets next year, whether it be a Democratic Congress or a Republican, they will say, We have got to do something to secure to the common people a fairer distribution of the great wealth of our great nation. On the other hand if the Socialist vote is small there is no reason to expect Mr. Hoover and his followers or Mr. Roosevelt and his friends to do anything more fundamental or more significant in the next four years than they have done in the last four at Washington or at Albany. Why should they?

I have no doubt that my Socialist vote one week hence is going to count at least five times as much in determining governmental policies in these years just at hand as an old Party vote will.

If you are a thinking man or woman, "don't throw your vote away," cast your vote so that it will be not only counted, but also weighed.

E. W. BUTLER.

Isabella F. F. A. News

The F. F. A. boys were visitors of Montgomery Thursday, October 27. The main purpose of this visit was to see the cattle exhibits at the Union Stock Yards in Montgomery. Although the capitol, the finest White House of the Confederacy, or the home of Jefferson Davis and many other places of interest were visited by the boys.

Some splendid exhibitions of beef cattle were seen including a group of northern fed animals exhibited by Swift & Co.

The apportunity for contrasting scrub cattle with purebred beef varieties was used by the boys and will no doubt help to bring about the improvement of livestock among these boys and therefore in this county in years to come.

It is the aim of this chapter to do its share in the improvement of agriculture and farming and to turn out real leaders who know how to grapple with the problems of American agriculture and as the getting rid of scrub livestock and the adopting of purebreds is one of the great problems of this section, we feel that the time for the visit to these livestock exhibits was well spent.

Less OUTGO—Not More INCOME Is Now Needed

BACK in 1917—just before the war—state government in Alabama cost $7,554,538.02. In 1931 under B. M. Miller's "economy" administration, state government in Alabama cost over $44,574,346.72. Taxes today are at the top. Business today is on the bottom.

State disbursements under B. M. Miller and William F. Feagin during 1931 were about SIX TIMES what they were when Chas. Henderson was governor in 1917; about FOUR times what they were when Thos. E. Kilby was governor in 1920; about TWO AND ONE-THIRD TIMES what they were when "Plain Bill" Brandon was governor in 1923 and about 35% MORE than when Bibb Graves was governor in 1927—a year of peak prosperity.

Are we getting any better government today in Alabama than we had these other years? If so, is it worth the price? Can we afford it? How can we stop the growing cost?

The time has come for citizens of Alabama to voice their views. That opportunity is offered on November 8th, when new tax-raising measures will be submitted for a vote of the people. A vote against these measures—the unlimited Miller-Feagin income tax and the $20,000,000 bond issue—is a vote for economy in government. A vote for these measures is a mandate to continue extravagance and waste. If we can't cut the cost of government today when everybody's broke, it's goodbye economy in government in Alabama for all time.

As long as we keep giving our government more to spend, our government will keep spending more. Our legislature did not make a move for fifteen months to cut down governmental costs and only then when new tax measures which would have added $8,000,000 more a year to Alabama's tax bill had been defeated by pressure from the folks back home.

On November 8th, you will be asked to ratify a Constitutional Amendment which grants to our legislature the right to levy a tax which is unlimited as to time, unlimited as to purposes and unlimited as to the rate of tax which can be imposed.

Like every other tax ever levied in our state, this Miller-Feagin unlimited income tax must and will be paid by every citizen of Alabama. It will be passed right down the line from the manufacturer to the wholesale merchant, from the wholesale merchant to the retail merchant and finally to you and me and every citizen who buys a pair of shoes or loaf of bread.

The Economy League of Alabama is composed of citizens in 66 Alabama counties, who are desperately tired of paying, paying, paying more and more each year in taxes to support more drones in governmental offices. With your help it has been fighting your battles. It fought the vicious Teasley sales tax to a finish. It fought against more taxes on gasoline. It fought all nuisance taxes. Yet, despite its opposition, new taxes voted at the special session of the legislature, have added ONE MILLION MORE to our tax load.

The League for Economy in Government has done its best. It now lies with you to give the final finish to the fight for economy in government in Alabama. It is time for a rebellion against added taxes—a peaceable rebellion—a rebellion whose volunteers are voters and whose bullets are ballots. It lies with you to stop the Miller-Feagin tax boosting spree. It lies with you to say to our governor and his appointees that: "The people of Alabama cannot and will not pay more".

IN MEMORY

On Wednesday afternoon, October 19, the death angel crept into the home of Mrs. Walter Poole and bore away the sweet spirit of a dear loving wife, mother and grandmother, Mrs. W. S. Cox, to that beautiful home above. Grandmother had suffered with heart trouble for the past several years, but during her years of suffering and pain she bore it with patience till October 19, when the dear Lord sweetly whispered; My loved one, come home.

Grandmother was the daughter of Mr. John McKee. She was born in 1860. In 1879 she was married to Rev. W. S. Cox. They have lived peacefully together for 53 years. Grandmother was one who loved home. She stayed at home, attended her business, molested no one, and was considered one of the community's mainstays for a long time. Her neighbors would ask for her advice and her opinion, knowing that her word would do to depend upon. She was an energetic worker, a highly reputable citizen, a true Christian, a woman without reproach and highly honored and respected woman among her neighbors. Grandmother was faithful and zealous. Even before her conversion she lived up to a high moral standard. She was true to her friends and church. Her friends were numberless, who bore testimony that a good true woman had passed away. Her last serious illness was of only a few days duration, but she was sustained by a Christian belief and seemed to have no doubt of her way being clear.

How lonely we feel since grandmother has left us. There is a vacant chair in her home that can never be filled. Her sweet smiles we will see here on earth no more, but how sweet it will be the day of Resurrection for grandmother to appear before us with snowy wings in the Beautiful Beyond. And what a consolation it is to know that grandmother is feasting on the manna and drinking at the fountain that never will run dry.

Lord help us all to live so that when our work is finished here, thou wilt say, "Well done, come up higher and live with grandmother and many other precious ones where there is no more heartaches or pain, but all is happiness.

Grandmother leaves to mourn her loss husband, Rev. W. S. Cox and eight living children, Messrs. C. B., Joe, John and William of Clanton, S. C. of Chavis, Clarence of Hackleburg, Mrs. Walter Poole of Clanton, Mrs. J. M. Roper of Deatsville; 32 grandchildren, 6 great-grandchildren and a host of friends and relatives.

The body of the deceased was buried at Concord Thursday, October 20. Her funeral was conducted by Rev. Ezell and Rev. Lowery. The pallbearers were Messrs. Earl Robinson, W. T. Cox, John McKee, Reedie Taylor, Crit Jones and J. D. Williams. Honorary pallbearers were Misses Ruth, Louise, Lucille, Willie B., Charles, Sallie Jo and June Cox, Gladys Roper, Mrs. W. T. Cox and Mrs. J. D. Williams.

Pork Curing Work Is Told In Bulletin

Auburn, Ala.—A report of experimental work at Auburn which resulted in discovering a method for curing pork in warm weather the same as in cold weather has been published by the Experiment Station of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute. The bulletin is now available for distribution upon request sent to the Experiment Station, or from county agents and home demonstration agents. The authors of the bulletin are Professors J. C. Grimes, W. E. Sewell, and John Cottier, who conducted the experiment.

A complete report of the work is contained in the bulletin in order that farmers may read it and obtain information which will enable them to kill their hogs whenever they want to and to cure the meat properly without loss. They can do this without waiting for cold weather. Ice is used to chill the meat and keep it cold. Hogs were killed at Auburn late in May and the meat cured properly.

Cost of curing pork this way was about one cent a pound. It was worth much more, however, in view of the fact that the quality of the meat was better, no losses were incurred, and it provided for killing hogs and curing the meat on the day preferred by the owner rather than feeding his hogs and waiting for cold weather.

It is expected that this experiment will lead to important changes in farm practices in producing pork and curing it on the farm. Instead of killing once or twice a year, hogs may be killed at different times, thus distributing the fresh meat part of the diet. This will result in better food practices and reduce costs of producing pork.

County agents, home demonstration agents, and teachers of vocational agriculture are giving instructions as to how to cure pork in accordance with the Auburn experiment, following the information as printed in this bulletin.

Article XXIII. The State is authorized to issue and sell negotiable interest bearing bonds in addition to all other bonds of the State, in an amount not to exceed the sum of Twenty Million Dollars ($20,000,000.00) to pay the indebtedness of the State outstanding on September 30, 1932. Said bonds to be issued under such denominations, numbers and series and to mature at such times as may be provided by law, all such bonds shall bear a rate of interest not exceeding six per cent (6%) per annum, payable semi-annually; shall be a direct obligation of the State and the full faith and credit of the State is pledged for the prompt payment of the interest and principal thereof. They shall not be sold at a price less than the par value thereof and they shall be exempt from all State, county and municipal taxes. To create a sinking fund for the prompt and faithful payment of the principal and interest on these bonds, there is pledged such portion of the income tax which may be collected in Alabama as will be necessary to pay the interest and principal as they mature, or any other tax paid to the State if an income tax is not levied or be insufficient. The Governor may borrow from time to time an amount not in excess of Twenty Million Dollars ($20,000,000.00) to be used in the payment of the indebtedness due September 30, 1932, or such portion thereof as he may be able to pay with money so borrowed, and may pledge as collateral security for said money so borrowed the bonds herein provided for, or any of them, and may use the interest coupons in payment of interest on the money so borrowed. The Governor of Alabama is authorized to negotiate temporary loans from time to time never to exceed Three Million Dollars ($3,000,000.00) to meet any deficiencies in the Treasury and to pay interest on the money so borrowed and until the same is paid no new loan shall be negotiated.

I further direct and proclaim that notice of the election, upon the above set forth amendment to the Constitution of Alabama, be given by publishing the same once a week for eight successive weeks prior to the 8th day of November, 1932, in each county of the State of Alabama in a newspaper published in said county.

Take a Pinch of BLACK-DRAUGHT For Distress After Meals

He had suffered distress after meals, but by taking Thedford's Black-Draught he was relieved of this trouble, writes Mr. Jess Higgins, of Dawsonville, Ga.

"I had sour stomach and gas," Mr. Higgins explains, "and often I would have billous spells. I read about Thedford's Black-Draught and began to take it. It relieved me of this trouble. I keep it all the time now. I consider it a fine medicine. I take a pinch of Black-Draught after meals when I need it. It helps to prevent sick headache and to keep the system in good order."

Now you can get Black-Draught in the form of a SYRUP, for CHILDREN.

A RAILROAD NICKNAME

How a chance remark may be perpetuated is illustrated by the nickname which has clung to the New York, Chicago & St. Louis Railroad for nearly half a century.

Opened to traffic in 1882, the road was only moderately successful in its early years. In 1885 the owners sought to sell it to the New York Central and named a price. As the story goes, when Commodore Vanderbilt was informed of the figure he roared: "I wouldn't pay that if the tracks were nickel plated."

Later a price was agreed upon, however, and Vanderbilt bought the New York, Chicago & St. Louis. But to this day the road is known as the Nickel Plate.

More Speaking Dates Are Set For This Week

Jr., spoke again to the people of the Verbena section, delivering another well posted address.

Keeping the evident trend toward victory for Roosevelt and other Democratic candidates rolling onward, giving the people of Chilton county information about their national government and its failure in the past four years to recognize the laboring man, other outstanding men of the state will speak in this county.

At Maplesville Tonight

The next speaking engagement is at Maplesville, Alabama tonight at seven-thirty o'clock. The man who will come to Maplesville to fill this engagement and tell the people of that section of the county of the conditions facing them, is a man widely known over the state, and a prominent attorney, Hon. Ed. W. Pettus, of Selma.

Mr. Pettus is chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee and a brilliant speaker. The speaking at Maplesville will be in the school auditorium. Everyone in the Maplesville district is urged to hear this man and his message of facts of interest to everyone who is able to think for themselves. The ladies especially are invited.

Enterprise Community

Those citizens of Chilton county who reside in and near the fine Enterprise Community are to have the opportunity to hear a man who is widely known for his interest in his fellowman. A man who is in a position to know the dire needs of the working man, a farmer and a successful business man—Hunt Frasier, of Selma.

Mr. Frasier spoke to a packed house in the Mineral Springs Community last Thursday night, and his message was received with hearty applause from time to time. He is known to those in the storm section of Chilton county as one of their benefactors. He came to this county without a request and gave his time and effort to this relief work. Mr. Frasier will speak at the schoolhouse in the Enterprise Community tomorrow night, (Friday) at seven-thirty o'clock. His message will be full of interesting facts and every man and woman who is free to think for themselves, is invited and urged to hear him.

In Clanton Saturday

One of the most important speakings in this campaign in this county is to be held Saturday afternoon, November 4th, at the courthouse in Clanton at two-thirty o'clock, when Judge Louise Charlton, Federal Commissioner of Birmingham will speak.

This is certainly a rare opportunity for the people of Chilton county, to hear such an outstanding woman and a Federal judge. Mrs. Charlton being outstanding in justice circles of the state, and in the position she holds, is fully capable of telling the people of Chilton county those facts they should know and consider before casting their ballots on November 8th.

Band Concert

Arrangements have been made with the fine Thorsby Band to come to Clanton Saturday afternoon and give a concert just before Judge Charlton speaks. The people of Chilton county are invited and urged to hear this outstanding woman of Alabama, whose husband is assisting greatly in the campaign opened in behalf of Gov. Roosevelt, by Senator Norris, progressive Republican, who is backing Roosevelt for President of the United States.

AT CONCORD MONDAY NIGHT

On next Monday night, November 7th, there will be a speaking at the Concord schoolhouse, east of Clanton. Several of the Democratic candidates will address a gathering on that night, provided proper arrangements can be made. These men have a message for the people of that section that will be worthwhile, and everyone who can, is urged to hear him.

A One-Time Republican Tells Interesting Story

they are almost without leadership. Am I right? or am I right?

Mr. Editor, now listen. We boys used to have lots of fun and sociality in these campaigns that have gone by in the past. It seems in this campaign that there is not much fun, jokes or stories. However, I would like to tell a little story the Republican boys had going on me after the wind-up of the last campaign as I think there is more truth than poetry in part of it. I campaigned for Alfred E. Smith and the entire ticket with all my power and influence at my command, but lost most of my men to my regret.

The Republican boys started a story going like this: That after the election I became missing and no one knew anything of my whereabouts. Finally a searching party was organized to hunt for me. They searched the county over and, finally located me way up in Stumps Hills near the old Glass Mill and that I had gone in a hole under a big clay-root and that they just could see my feet and that it took some time to dig me out.

Now, my end of the story goes like this: There are thousands of Republicans and Democrats alike that voted for Hoover that have gone in the hole—financially speaking—so deep that it is going to take a dickens of a long time to dig some of them out. How is it with you? Am I right? or am I right?

Now, take it from me, there is going to be a revolution in these United States and I predict that it will start on November the 8th in every balolt box throughout this land and country of ours.

I wonder sometimes if Mr. Hoover and his buddies think they can hold the majority of us over our coffins for three long years and that we will still vote for him. I say no. Now there is cause and effect to everything that happens. So, there is cause to this effect, and what do you think is the cause? If we differ, the cause is where we differ. I don't believe Mr. Roosevelt can cure the depression, but, he can go after the cause (which I believe he knows some of them) and then things will naturally get better. Some say the World War is the whole cause. I say, if it is, it took a dickens of a long time to have its effect.

Now here are some of the things I think are the cause:

1. Mr. Hoover was induced by the lobbyist to build the tariff walls a little higher—which he did—and that caused Europe to put up a tariff wall, which naturally they would do, which has caused us to lose most of our trade. We are just about to the point where we can't buy nor sell. Mr. Hoover or something has caused us to lose our market. There just simply ain't no sound market for anything. I believe Mr. Roosevelt will tear down some of the tariff wall.

2. I understand that about every seventh man or person in these United States has somehow or other got on the payroll. This alone, my friends, will eventually bleed any country to death. Mr. Roosevelt has promised to cut the cost of our government 25 per cent.

3. Our national prohibition law has done more damage to this country in my opinion than everything else put together. I could write for hours on this subject and then not tell all I know about it. However, I will say this, I believe it is an unjust law, and altogether a lost cause. I fear my letter it getting too lengthy now, so I must close by saying I will support the Democratic ticket, because the party believes in more genuine American principles than any other winning party I know of.

They believe in such principles as free speech, free press, personal rights, states rights, complete separation of church and state, a government by the people and for the people, and naturally, I like the words, "White Supremacy."

So, let's go to the polls on November 8th and give Franklin D. Roosevelt the biggest majority of votes any president ever got.

Yours very truly,
SHADE Y. DORMINEY.

The Roll Call campaign will open on Armistice Day, November 11th, and an intensive drive made for membership and contributions for the local chapter. People of Chilton county are asked to keep in mind the splendid work done in this county last March by the Nati Red Cross when help was needed for storm sufferers.

Two Homes Destroyed Here Friday Morning

Two homes in Clanton were completely destroyed by fire last Friday morning about eight-thirty o'clock. The flames are said to have originated in the home of Andrew Jones, and spread to a vacant house, formerly occupied by Daniel Hand.

The homes were located on the Maplesville highway, west of Clanton. Firemen were handicapped in fighting the flames due to the distance away from town of the homes and a shortage of hose. The loss sustained by Jones and his family was very very little of the household goods being saved.

ROOSEVELT CHOSEN PRESIDENT

THIS WEEK IN POLITICS

By E. BASKIN WRIGHT

NOW THAT IT'S ALL OVER—

By the time this column is printed the American people will know who is to occupy the White House for the next four years. In the column of last week, the prediction was made that Governor Roosevelt would be elected by a sizable majority. That prediction, by now, will have been proven true or false but at this writing there seems to be no reason to change the forecast.

Governor Roosevelt has waged an aggressive and clean campaign. Though he has attacked the Hoover administration in no uncertain terms, he has not attacked Herbert Hoover the man. Win or lose, he should feel no shame for the manner in which he has conducted himself, nor should his party regret its choice.

This cannot be said of Mr. Hoover. From his high position which many political observers call the most important position in the world, he has been frightened into stopping to attack the ability and intelligence of his opponent. This is to be regretted, not only for Mr. Hoover's sake but for the dignity of the office he occupies.

The Hoover campaign of the last few weeks has been distinctly beneath the dignity of a President. In the past Presidents who were running for reelection have remained at their desks in Washington and let someone else take care of the campaign. It is to be regretted that Mr. Hoover did not follow this precedent.

He went into office with the unqualified goodwill of the American people. His sad step downward to the policies of a demagogue can cause nothing but pain to millions of Americans who admired him regardless of difference in political opinions.

Mr. Hoover is too big a man to adopt the tactics which he has adopted in the closing days of the campaign. The most charitable thing that can be said of him is that he has been ill-advised.

When Mr. Hoover said that a Roosevelt victory would mean that grass would grow in the streets of thousands of American cities and towns he was making a ridiculous statement.

The American nation is bigger than Mr. Hoover or Mr. Roosevelt. It is bigger than any political party. It had existed for one hundred and forty years before Mr. Hoover became a tenant of the White House. It will be in existence many years from now when Hoover and Roosevelt are merely names in a history book.

Politics is a grand old game. It is fascinating. It is exciting. It has its good points and its bad points and above all things it is intensely human. Yet the greed for office should never blind any party or any politician to the fact that this government of ours, of which we are justly proud, is greater than any one man or any one party.

John Marshall, the Grand Old Man of the Supreme Court, once sad, "We must never forget that it is a constitution we are expounding." This is a government of laws and not of men. It must ever remain so. When political campaigning descends to mudslinging, it is an insult to the intelligence of the American citizen.

The campaign is over. Another election has become history. There is work to be done, and regardless of the outcome of the campaign, it is the duty of every American citizen to loyally support the candidates chosen at the polls. We expect no miracles from anyone. Prosperity will not suddenly return by rubbing Aladdin's lamp.

Many promises have been made in this campaign which will be kept; others will not. It is the way of politics and politicians. If your candidate lost, just grin and remember that 1936 is only four years off. We will be four years older; maybe four years wiser. There will be more ballyhoo, more speeches, more promises, more fanfare. It's just a great old game. That's all.

Red Cross Drive Opens Here

TO OUR READERS

For several reasons that have been taken under consideration by the publisher of the Chilton County News and the manager of the Big Circulation and Prize Campaign, it has been decided to reduce the price of the subscription to the News to one dollar per year, new or renewals.

The reason for this is the prevailing business conditions, and due to the fact that the closing date of the campaign is fast drawing near, contestants will be given an opportunity to cover as much territory in the short period before the closing, as possible, and be able to cover this territory much faster.

Those persons who have subscribed or renewed their subscriptions during this Big Campaign at the price of one dollar and fifty cents, will be given full credit for the fifty cents. In other words, their subscription will be marked up that much more. All contestants have been advised of this change. This offer of one dollar per year, is good only during the News Big Prize Campaign which ends in a very short time now.

The object of this campaign is to place the News in every home in Chilton County, and this objective will no doubt be reached by the end of the campaign. It has been pleasing to note the fine response given in this campaign by both new and renewal subscriptions, and at the reduced price of one dollar per year, it is expected that the outcome will be beyond expectations.

EXTRA VOTES FOR CONTESTANTS CAUSE A FLURRY OF WORK

Miss Cleo Broadhead Holds The Lead By A Very Small Margin As Time Is Fast Drawing To End Of The Campaign

Fired with ambition to grasp one of the splendid prizes that are daily coming closer, and at the same time gain a lead over their competitors, candidates in the CHILTON COUNTY NEWS Big Circulation Campaign are preparing to travel at a fast pace between now and the time this campaign closes.

The Race is exceedingly close and getting closer. As predicted, there are some changes this week and from all indications there will be many changes before the end of the drive, because there are several candidates that are really working and say they are going to gain the lead and are after the GRAND PRIZE. Among these are Miss Gertie Fiquette who has been doing steady hard work since the opening of the campaign. While Miss Fiquette has not gained the lead she is a very close contender and we warn the leader to look out for her. Miss Zella Mae Bell and Mrs. Claude Reynolds are two more hard working contestants that are reaching for the leading position and bear watching for the coming weeks.

Mrs. Evelyn Christ of Thorsby and Miss Edna Howard of Verbena are another team that will be heard from in the coming days of the campaign, they are both working with renewed interest and are out after the subscriptions. Miss Annie Culp of Maplesville is steadily climbing upward and will bear watching. We need not say anything about the two leading contestants as their reports speak for them, Miss Cleo Broadhead and Miss Leila Belle Smith. They are both fighting mighty hard and it is a neck and neck race and a Mighty SMALL margin separates them.

It is up to every candidate to put every minute possible to the best advantage, and to collect up every PROMISE that has been given you. There is not any one candidate that has enough votes to win or any one that has an advantage over the others. But if you expect to be a prize winner you will have to hustle during the remaining days of the campaign, and prepare for a fast pace on the part of the other contestants.

150,000 Extra Votes

This week there is an extra vote offer of 150,000 votes given on each club of subscriptions. Who knows but what the extra votes given this week will make you a winner of the automobile or one of the other prizes.

As said before the votes are getting less and less and will continue to do so until the end. There will not be near as many votes given the last week of the campaign as you get now. So do not put off your winning work until the last minute of the campaign. The time is getting shorter and shorter so GET BUSY.

W.M.U. Meeting Here Last Week Was Fine

According to information furnished the News the two-day meeting held at the Baptist Church here last week, Thursday and Friday, was a very good one. This was a W. M. U. District Convention of the Eastern District, and eleven associations were represented.

All committees did excellent work, and the program, from beginning to end went along smoothly, indicating a wonderful spirit of cooperation. The ladies of Clanton Baptist Church were gracious in their hospitality to the visiting delegates, opening their homes to these visitors, and thus contributing greatly to the spirit of the occasion.

Outstanding speakers were on program each day. Deserving of special mention are Miss Susan Anderson, who is a wonderful speaker and of charming personality, and Dr. Jacob Gartenhaus, who is a Missionary for the Jews.

As a climax to this event the ladies of the missionary societies of Unity Association provided a luncheon for all delegates Friday at noon. This was known as the "Launching Out Luncheon," and symbolic of determination of these fine ladies of Eastern District to go far with the great work they have planned.

4 Legs, 3 Arms, 20 Toes For One Baby

What's coming next? A young man visited the News office Saturday morning and left a story that, had it not been for some vouching done, we wouldn't have believed it.

He stated that there was on exhibition in Brewton, Ala., a negro baby girl, nine months old, with four legs, three arms, 20 toes and thirteen fingers. The third and extra arm has only three fingers.

He also stated that he saw the baby and that it was in good health, perfectly normal mentally. It was born in a small town in Georgia. Seems that the climate or something has had something to do with causing this deformity, or is it a deformity?

REPUBLICANS AGAIN SWEEP INTO OFFICE

Unofficial Returns Of Part Of Boxes Give County To Roosevelt

The people of the United States have voiced their wishes for a change in the Presidency at Washington—Franklin D. Roosevelt, the Democratic presidential nominee was elected by a great landslide over the entire nation, so the unofficial returns showed Tuesday night. Herbert Hoover sent his message of congratulations to Gov. Roosevelt.

Unofficial returns from all boxes in this county except six, that were not heard from at the time the News goes to press, show that this county gave a majority to the Democratic presidential nominee and did its part in electing him.

On the county Democratic ticket, C. R. Foss of Thorsby, candidate for member of the county school board, led the ticket, although defeated by his opponent on the Republican ticket, S. J. M. Webb.

The unofficial returns here, with the exception of four boxes give Foss a total of 1220 and Webb 1477. W. Louie Smith, Democratic candidate for treasurer of the county was defeated by his opponent on the Republican ticket from the boxes heard from with Mrs. Gertrude Calloway receiving 1[illegible] and Smith 1117. Other candidates and the unofficial returns from all boxes except four are as follows:

J. L. Davis	1138
J. C. Atchison	1647
J. H. Jackson	1146
Charley Duke	1621
C. L. Wilkins	1589

In Beat Four, returns from three boxes give T. W. Bryan, Democratic candidate for Justice of the Peace, of Beat Four, 398 votes. R. E. Popwell, for Constable had no opposition in the election. J. Mell Martin, Democratic candidate for Coroner, was without opposition also.

There were several votes cast for the presidential nominee on the Socialist ticket in this county. The boxes heard from gave that ticket 22 votes.

The press reports from over the nation state that 33 of the 42 states gave a big majority for Gov. Roosevelt, and that Democrats will be in control of Congress in Washington.

State press reports also state that the proposed income tax and bond issue of the state were trailing far behind.

DR. EZELL WRITES CITIZENS

Some days ago I reluctantly accepted the Chairmanship for putting on the Roll Call for the Red Cross in our County November 11-24th. State Red Cross Headquarters has asked our county for 750 memberships. In view of what the Red Cross did for our stricken county last March it seems to me this is a modest request, and one that every citizen should lend his efforts to securing. The Red Cross motherd our destitute in the hour of our greatest need, and spent approximately $40,000.00 in the relief of our storm sufferers. Surely gratitude calls for our hearty support in this hour of universal need and destitution.

Of each dollar membership, fifty cents goes to National Headquarters and fifty cents to our local county chapter for relief in our county. If five, ten or twenty-five dollars is given for a membership only fifty cents goes to National Headquarters and all the rest goes to our local county chapter for relief in our county. Many of us should give at least $5.00. It is all the fund we have to care for the great need in our county. In the name of our poor and suffering, and in His name I beg you to do your best in these trying times. Let there be no slackers in this noble and needed work.

Yours for the needy,
S. J. EZELL, Chairman Roll Call.

HELP THOSE WHO ARE IN NEED - JOIN THE RED CROSS

CAN YOU REFUSE AND FEEL RIGHT?

When all around you there are women and children suffering for lack of food and clothing, and you are enjoying three square meals a day and comfortable clothing, can you refuse to heed the call of the Red Cross this time?

Join!

When in March of this year, four terrible tornadoes twisted their way through Chilton county, causing death, pain, unhappiness, demolishing homes, farms, and crops, hundreds of our people were left homeless, unclothed, unfed and with their life savings swept away. The most terrible thing that has happened to Chilton county in its history.

When the people of this county gave and gave of their time, money and goods to help these unfortunate and yet fine substantial families of Chilton county, who was it that came on a moment's notice and spent thousands of dollars in our county taking care of the sick, injured and hungry people? The National Red Cross, is the answer.

Chilton county had not thought anything so terrible could happen to its people, and so consequently no provision had been made to cope wth such a situation. With all these facts, can you, as a citizen of Chilton county refuse to heed the Roll Call of the Red Cross of Chilton county this year?

This county has been given a quota of 750 members. Come on, let's go over this number and show that the people of Chilton county are appreciative. Let's go over this quota and build up a local Red Cross treasury that we can use to administer to the needs of the hungry, sick and unclothed families in our county. Do your part, GIVE, and receive your reward in the feeling that you have helped some unfortunate person through the Red Cross. Wear the official Red Cross button, which shows that you have helped. In this time of trying conditions, it is a distinction to wear the Red Cross button.

All contributions will be turned over to the Treasurer of the local Chapter of the Red Cross. Only fifty cents of each contribution of one dollar or more, goes to the National Red Cross Headquarters for their extensive work over the country. The remainder of any contribution remains in the county chapter.

Chilton county is going to need this help. It needs it now. We can't let people go hungry, unclothed and without needed medical attention in our county. Let's put this thing over this time.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

by Charles E. Dunn

Making a Living

Lesson for November 13, Luke 19:12-26.

Golden Text: Romans 12:11

The parable of the pounds, to which our lesson is devoted, is an admonition to be faithful in entrusted responsibilities. There were ten servants, each of whom received the equivalent of twenty dollars for investment during the absence of their master. Upon his return, three made a report. The first said that his money had increased tenfold, and received the authority over ten towns as a reward for his business skill. The second revealed a five-fold yield, and was given authority over five towns. The third declared he had wrapt his money in fear in a cloth. The master, in anger, took the pound from him and gave it to him who had ten.

Plainly our Lord here sounds a caution against indolence. He applauds, as He so often does, energy and resourcefulness. How necessary are these virtues in this day of keen competition in all fields. The easy days for the business or professional man have long since passed.

Note now that the third man was guilty of negative rather than positive wrong. He had not wasted the money in dissipation. There is no reason to believe that he was extravagant. Apparently he was quite respectable. His failure was one of neglect. He might have put his money to use. Instead he wrapt it in a napkin.

How many there are like him, men and women who will not serve on committees, or promote the higher life of the community, who resist every appeal for help with a clear indication that they cannot be bothered.

On the other hand, there are those whom Arnold Bennett called "the passionate few," who put their talents to full use. With Edward Everett Hale they say, "I am only one, but I AM one. I cannot do everything, but I CAN do something." Because of their fidelity business is saved from collapse, government is kept clean, and the Church is maintained to nourish the souls of men with saving ideals.

Bankers Want More Livestock On Farms

Auburn, Ala.—Alabama bankers — through the Alabama Bankers Association with M. L. Robertson, Cullman, as chairman of the committee on agriculture, are now emphasizing two projects in agriculture. They are livestock and soil building.

This program, said Mr. Robertson, is based upon the fact that Alabama farmers need richer soil and more livestock. More emphasis is now being placed upon livestock because the season for planting winter legumes for enriching land is almost at an end.

Bankers have cooperated during the year in improving the staple of Alabama cotton. This work has been done in conjunction with other groups and individuals, especially the county demonstration agents, the cotton spinners, and the Alabama Industrial Development Board.

Work with 4-H club boys and girls is an old project with bankers. More attention will be given to it in the spring when boys and girls are enrolling and getting started with their projects for the year.

"Bankers throughout Alabama," continued Mr. Robertson, "realize that a prosperous agriculture is essential to prosperous business and banking. Consequently, we are cooperating with the agricultural forces of the State for a sound development of agriculture."

The agricultural committee of the Alabama Bankers Association has six members, in addition to Mr. Robertson. They are P. O. Thomas, Selma; H. J. Whitfield, Demopolis; W. L. Dumos, Talladega; Harris Moriarty, Fairfield; G. I. Weatherly, Fort Payne; and B. M. Rains, Atmore.

KILL CORN ENEMIES

After a farmer works hard in the spring and summer to make his crop and then harvests it in the fall, W. A. Ruffin, extension entomologist at Auburn, is unable to see why he will permit rats, mice and weevils to eat it up. Mr. Ruffin is especially anxious about this in view of the fact that these destroyers can be destroyed, thereby preventing enormous losses.

If better times are really in sight we may soon be able to go in debt for some more things we don't need.

A TAX ILLUSTRATION

Everyone knows that taxes of all kinds have enormously increased during the last few years, but few realize just what the extent of that increase has been, or how it affects the producer and consumer of every commodity.

A concrete and striking illustration of what excessive taxation means was given in a recent advertisement of the Alabama Power Company, which stated that it had paid out for taxes last year approximately two million dollars, or 11 cents of each dollar of gross revenue collected from its customers.

It was further shown that inasmuch as the revenue received from the average home was $37 a year, it took the entire receipts from 55,000 homes for a whole year to pay the company's taxes.

This looks like an unreasonable burden to place upon any industrial enterprise, yet proposals to place additional taxes upon the company have been made recently by legislators seeking more funds to feed the insatiable appetite of the tax-eaters.

No doubt a similar situation exists in many other states besides Alabama, where extravagance in government expenditures are seriously crippling business, industry and agriculture. But the people are aroused and seem determined to call a halt on the orgy of tax-spending which has brought upon them these intolerable burdens. They can only do it at the ballot box, where wasteful officials may be relegated to private life.

MORE ABOUT TIMBER

During normal times farmers of the United States consume annually almost thirteen billion board feet of lumber, or one-third the total amount produced. Lyle Brown, extension forester at Auburn, says that the average farm uses each year about 2,000 board feet in addition to fence posts and cord wood. He uses these figures in support of his argument for more timber in Alabama, declaring that a little care and attention will increase it enormously from year to year.

IN MEMORY

On Monday morning, Oceober the twenty-fourth at 7:15 o'clock the Death Angel visited our community and bore away the beautiful spirit of Mr. Dock Broadhead. Uncle Dock, as he was better known, was born July 24, 1856. In December, 1878 he was married to Miss Elizabeth Headley and to this union was born two sons and two daughters. One daughter, Mrs. Dora Galmond, preceded him to the grave several years ago. During these fifty-three years of married life he has been a faithful husband and father, ever doing his duty toward his home and family.

About fifty years ago Uncle Dock united with the church and has been a faithful Christian man ever since. For the last several years he has been an active member of Mt. Nebo church.

He is survived by his aged wife, two sons, Sammie and Luther Broadhead, one daughter, Mrs. J. C. Culp, two grandsons, S. L. and Zolan Broadhead, all of Clanton, another grandson, Dewie Galmond, of Sylacauga; two brothers, L. B. Broadhead of Maplesville and Joe Broadhead of Oklahoma, besides a host of other friends and relatives.

Weep not dear wife and children, our loss is surely Heaven's gain. It does seem that when death comes to claim its own it always picks for those nearest and dearest to us, but we must remember that when we go to gather flowers we pick for the prettiest, so it is with God. We are all flowers of God and he wants the prettiest and best so as to make Heaven a prettier place day by day. God knows that with those so near and dear to our hearts up there we will strive to reach that beautiful home, after we have filled our mission here. So let's not grieve because Uncle Dock is gone but strive harder to meet him at the Golden Gate of Heaven.

A FRIEND, Loyd Culp.

IN MEMORY

On October 12, 1932, the Angel of Death visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Best and carried home their little daughter, Peggy. She was one among the pleasantest children it has ever been my privilege to meet, but as we remember the countenance of this little four-year-old girl we think with Longfellow in his beautiful poem, "Resignation":

"She is not dead—the child of our affection
But gone unto that School where she no longer needs our poor protection.
And Christ himself doth rule in that great cloister's stillness and seclusion.
By guardian angels led
Safe from temptation, safe from sin's pollution
She lives whom we call dead.

Day after day we think what she is doing
In those bright realms of air
Year after year her tender steps pursuing,
Behold her grown more fair.
Thus do we walk with her and keep unbroken
The bond which nature gives
Thinking that our remembrance tho unspoken
May reach her where she lives."

Armistice Day Tribute To Our Hero Soldier, Dead and Our Mothers

By Andy Gerber, Clanton, Ala.

Who is it can smile, with hearts breaking the while
When the soldier bids loved ones "Farewell"?
Whose heart is it grieves, when the patriot leaves
With an anguish that no tongue can tell?

It's only the Mother, for man knows no other Whose soul feels the weight of such woe.
Who can smile and look brave and for lonely hours save
The torrent of tears that must flow?

Whose heart is it knows, that where-ever he goes
He'll be true to his country and flag.
That he'll fight the good fight, and die serving the right
With never a boast or a brag?

It's the mother whose breast as a babe he caressed,
And who watched o'er his childhood with joy.
Though the years may have flown and to manhood he has grown,
Yet to Mother he's always "My Boy."

Who is it can yearn for the soldiers' return
When the trumpet of war calls no more,
When victorious he see's his proud flag kiss the breeze
Of his own, his beloved native shore?

It's the Mother whose face like a Halo of Grace
Hovered near him to cheer him afar.
Angels envy her joy as she welcomes "Her Boy"
Triumphant, returned from the war.

Who is it shall kneel at the grave-side and feel
The full woe of a soldier boy dead?
Who shall measure such loss, who shall carry the cross,
And yet live when his spirit is fled?

It's the Mother who'll wait at Death's Golden Gate
Where sorrow and parting shall cease
And she. evermore with her boy as of yore,
Shall be crowned in the Kingdom of Peace.

Amen.

"I Told You So"

Now that the election is over a lot of people who would like to be regarded as prophets are going around saying "I told you so." There is something in human nature which makes a lot of us want to be regarded as smarter than our neighbors. And there is no cheaper or easier way to gratify that sort of personal vanity than, after an event has occurred, to lay claim to having predicted it. Nobody is going to bother much to remember whether the self-appointed prophet really did make the right prediction or not, but if he struts enough and boasts enough he can make simple-minded folk think that he really is quite a smart fellow.

Of course, a good many people did actually predict the result of the election. It was a good deal easier than picking the winner in a horse race, because there were only two possible chances, and no prophet could be more than 50 percent wrong, whereas in a horse race there are usually anywhere from half a dozen to a dozen possible winners.

Anyway, election is over and the country can settle down to business again. If half of the campaign promises are kept, which is a higher percentage than are usually kept, we can look forward to lower taxes, reduced costs of government and better times generally.

Armistice Day

On November 11th the people of the whole world will celebrate the fourteenth anniversary of the end of the greatest catastrophe in the history of the world. When the order to cease firing was given at 11 o'clock in the morning on the eleventh day of November, 1918, there was hardly a human being on the face of the earth who did not join in the universal rejoicing. For there was no single human being in the world at that time and none who has been born since, whose life and whose future was not affected by the war.

We have called it the greatest catastrophe in the history of the world, and that is not an exaggeration. Who could have believed that the firing of a single shot in an obscure Serbian village eighteen years ago last August could have precipated a tragedy that would involve the entire human race, and from the effects of which we have not yet recovered? For there is no possible question that the world-wide economic depression, the internal and international maladjustments and financial difficulties from which every nation in the world is suffering today, are all directly traceable to the Great War.

More than 65,000,000 young men, the best of their respective nations, were taken from their homes and occupations and sent into the battlefields to kill each other. More than eight and one-half million of them were killed or died of wounds; another twenty-one million were wounded or incapacitated. At the end of the war the survivors returned, most of them, to almost hopelessly impoverished homelands, burdened with impossible debts and crushed by unbearable taxes.

We cannot destroy millions of lives, billions upon billions of accumulated wealth, without paying for it. That we have made as much progress as has been made toward economic recovery in fourteen years is little less than miraculous. But let us not delude ourselves. We, the people of the United States, although our economic losses in the war, both in men and in money must continue for another generation and even longer to pay for the war with our labor and our gold

It seems to us that those are the things to remember on Armistice Day. It seems to us that the eleventh of November should be the occasion for a solemn resolve on the part of every American that we and our nation shall use our commanding position and influence in the world to help the peoples and governments of the whole world find means for lasting peace and security.

Your Duty To Public Safety

The local fire department is obviously a community affair. But it's every citizen's affair as well.

The fire department is all that stands between him and the potential destruction of his home or place of business —worse than that, the destruction of irreplaceable lives. The quality of that department is as personally important as the safety of his savings.

It would be a fine thing if every person looked on the local department in the light of a hobby. He should, as best he can, investigate it, determine whether it is efficient or inefficient, whether its personnel is properly trained and directed, whether water and alarm facilities are of the best, and whether apparatus is of high grade standard make.

—o-o-o-o—

Give Credit Where Due

In a recent address, a prominent public official who has never been a friend of the private power industry—spoke glowing of tax reduction in the town of Wilson, Wisconsin, where taxes were lowered 77 per cent in a year—from $29,980 to $6,717.

How did Wilson do this, at a time when municipal, county, state and national taxes are zooming to new heights? As a matter of fact Wilson deserves no credit for the reduction as it did nothing to bring it about.

In 1930 the Wisconsin Power and Light Company paid $300 in taxes to the town of Wilson. Then it built a $5,000,000 power plant—and last year its tax bill came to $27,472.76—considerably more than the drop in taxes in the town.

There is nothing unique about this case. All over the United States town taxes have been held down because of higher utility taxes—and also because towns have sold deficit-creating municipal plants to private systems which not only pay taxes, whether business is good or bad, but stand any loss sustained, instead of the taxpayer.

When a private utility pays so much in taxes to support government it raises another major obstacle for government ownership advocates, with their tax free projects, to overcome.

—o-o-o-o—

Think It Over

Between 1913 and 1931 the average price of residential electricity went down 33 per cent. In the same period cost of living went up 46 per cent. Taxes paid by the electric industry per dollar of net revenue jumped 104 percent.

There is a comparison worth thinking about. A cut in the cost of government of only 5 per cent would mean a saving to the people of an amount greater than the entire domestic electric bill. The so-called "high cost of power" isn't in the same class with the very real high cost of government.

Employment And The Cost Of Government

Some persons argue that drastic cuts in the cost of government will make the unemployment problem still more intense. They reason that the dismissal of employes now drawing a living from the public treasury, would still further contract purchasing power, and cause additional retrenchment.

The effect should be just the opposite. Burnard Baruch points out that an orgy of spending by the government impairs credit and makes the future of money uncertain. Investors are frightened, and those who can afford to spend, hoard what they have. Domestic trade declines and, inevitably, more unemployment results. It is a vicious circle to which there can be no end until we have genuine government economy.

It is self-evident that reasonable and inexpensive government is the friend of employment—excessively expensive government is its enemy.

There can be no question that many industries, which would now be employing men and laying plans for expansion, are retarded by a dread of still higher taxes. They have reached the point where increased tax rates mean bankruptcy. Taxation is the foremost economic issue of the day—because it regulates employment, investment and industrial development.

JUDGE REYNOLDS URGES RED CROSS MEMBERSHIP

To the People of Chilton County:

I welcome the opportunity of urging each and every person who can do so to enlist as a member of the Red Cross during the Roll Call campaign from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving.

In view of what our people have seen done by the Red Cross here in our county since the storm last spring, I do not feel that it is necessary to present any argument setting up reasons why the Red Cross is worthy of our fullest and sincerest support. That is obvious to every citizen of our county. We have seen it with our own eyes.

I wish only to call to your attention the fact that when our people were in sore distress, the Red Cross was the first to come to the rescue. Emergency relief measures were instituted and carried out fully and systematically. Permanent rehabilitation was followed to a full culmination that brought restoration of many homes that had been destroyed. Over forty thousand dollars was spent by the Red Cross in administering its program of relief to our people.

This was the answer of the Red Cross to our call of distress. Now the Red Cross asks Chilton County to enroll 750 members in teh organization. Can we afford to fall short of their request? I say we must respond fully and wholeheartedly.

The Red Cross did not fail us. It has never failed to respond to the emergency call of distressed people everywhere. If we should have another disaster, the Red Cross would be the job to help us out. The relief program of the Red Cross depends upon and is financed by memberships of the people of the country.

I want to urge every man, woman and child in Chilton County who can possibly do so, to enroll as a Red Cross member.

L. H. REYNOLDS,
Probate Judge.

THE FAMILY DOCTOR

By JOHN JOSEPH GAINES, M.D.

AFTER THE OPERATION

An operation for diseased ovary? Removal of tumor? Of the appendix? Or, for hernia? If you have had any of these operations, yours is a "surgical abdomen," or has been. And, the nerves within that wonderful structure may not function for a good while as they did before you had the disease requiring the surgery.

I often tell my patients that have had operations: "Let a mechanic stoop down before your piano and saw a hole in its "abdomen," let him go inside the instrument and remove part of the wires and twist the others here and there. Then let him fill the wound in the wooden wall and varnish it anew, so that all evidence of the job is hidden. Would you expect the piano to play, after the internal damage to its strings?"

So it is with the surgical abdomen, whose nerves have been originally adjusted far more perfectly than any piano strings. You may have had the best surgeon on earth, for a most malignant condition—the operation may have been done in the highest skill of perfection,—yet the damaged nerves may not perform naturally for a long time, until the parts have become adjusted to the new order of things. Give yourself a few months time to get over the effects of your possibly, life-saving, operation.

If you have had a capital operation and yet have a quarrelsome belly, fo goodness sake let up on your carpe tack diet of "roughage." Eat s easily-assimilable, nourishing food—the kind that builds up wounded tissue and nerves. Let your bowel rest from the rough stuff; try smooth stuff.

Famous Star, Badly Wounded Was Captured by Enemy, Escaped Later, Coming Here

When Armistice Day comes around, Maurice Chevalier thanks God that he is alive after his harrowing war experiences.

He nearly died from a serious wound, was captured by the enemy and finally escaped back across the lines.

The Frenchman, now starring in Paramount's "One Hour With You," was one of the first on the firing line when war broke out in France.

During an enemy attack at Outry, in the east of France, he fell, blood pouring from his mouth, from a shell wound in the lung.

He regained consciousness in a German hospital and when he could be moved he was sent to the prison camp at Alten Grabow near Magdeburg.

He suffered terribly from the effects of his wound, but his gaiety was unimpaired. With some congenial fellow-prisoners he organied concerts in the camp and one night the camp commandant with several German generals came to the show. Chevalier amused them immensely and his popularity gave him the freedom of the camp.

Chevalier was invalided home to Paris. His wound was such that he could not continue in military service. He was decorated with the Croix de Guerre for gallant conduct at Outry.

Chevalier again has Jeanette MacDonald as his leading lady in "One Hour With You," which comes to the Wadesonian theatre for two days, starting on Wednesday, November 16, of next week. Miss MacDonald played opposite the famous star in "The Love Parade" two years ago.

MORAL ECHOES

D. W. Haskew

During the Civil War two brothers enlisted together and went away to fight for the stars and stripes. In one of the battles the younger brother fell mortally wounded. A minie ball had torn its way through his body and he fell at his brother's side. They were in a charge together, but the living brother dropped by the side of his dying brother and kissed him. He fixed him in a comfortable position and as he rose to go he kissed him again. The dying brother and soldier then spoke clearly, "This is glorious." Bending over his brother he asked, "What is glorious?" The dying boy, with a smile playing over his face replied, "It is glorious to die looking up." The brother tarried a moment while tears fell from his eyes, and then his brother added, "I see Jesus and Heaven." Surely it is glorious to die looking up, but if we are to have that joy, we must live looking up. It is the upward look that counts in life and in death.

Well do I remember those olden days when we had "Log Rollings." Their precious memory will linger until the setting of the sun of my life. The new ground would be cleared, and all of the fallen timbers on the cultivated fields would be cut into lengths. Then the invitation would go out to all the neighbors, "We are rolling logs on Thursday, we want you to come and help us." Early Thursday morning the strong men of the community would gather, each man carrying a hickory handstick on his shoulder. With a "Whoop" the men would tackle the job, and all day long there was the sound of a song and the echo of piling logs. The handsticks would go under a heavy log and the youngest and the strongest men would line up on each side. At a given word bending back would slowly pull the horseshoe out, and then slowly the men would walk away to the heap. In those old time Log Rollings every man had his hand on the stick and carried his load. His load was all that he could carry. That is the kind of dedication that we need in the church today. We wonder why it is that things are dragging in church life, it is because too many church members are out whooping, yelling and criticising, while only a few have their hands on the stick. If you want to see things move in your church, or in your community, select the end of a handstick, put a horse-shoe in your back, and then lift with all your strength. You are not required to carry more than you can, but you are required to carry all you can. I heard my father say at a Log Rolling, "Idle hands will roll no logs today."

On a large plantation all available help was summoned to gather the harvest. I rode up to the farm house near the noon hour and found the overseer in a rage. He had two fine mules hitched to a Jersey wagon and the team came to the barn just as I drove up. The body of the wagon was filled with ears of corn, all that the mules were able to pull, but on top of that corn were perched five big negro men. The overseer did not even try to control his temper, when he saw those lazy negroes riding an over loaded team. He swept the top of the wagon clean with his horse whip, and with language that could be understood he informed those negro bucks that if he ever caught them riding an over loaded team again that death might be in the air. I saw a sight that day that I have seen repeated in church life over and over again. In all of our churches we have members who have "Hopped" the church for a ride to heaven. They are too lazy to even walk along and do nothing but walk, and so they have piled up on the load that others are carrying. Before this old gospel wagon rolls up to the heavenly gate, St. Peter is going to ride up, and the devil's chaff will be whipped from the harvest load. You are deceiving yourself if you think that you can "Hop" the church for a ride up to heaven. Only the members who are pulling in the harness will be admitted into the Gate.

A Negro boy of eighteen years was employed as janitor and delivery boy in a drug store. He had all the characteristics of his race. One morning his Boss came in an spoke to Rastus in a gruff manner. All the morning the boss was glum and cross, and about mid-afternoon, Rastus decided that he was about to lose his job. He was given a package to deliver. Two blocks away he went into another Drug store and asked if he might use the phone. Having permission, he called up the Boss and this one sided conversation was heard, "Is dis you Mr. Jones? Mr. Jones, don't you needs a good colored boy to work for you, to carry bundles, sweep floors, wash windows and sich? You says, you is got a good boy. Yassah. Goodbye." On leaving the store the owner having heard the conversation and needing a boy, stopped him saying, "Rastus you are just the boy I need, and I will hire you." Rastus laughed and said, "Why Boss I'se got a job." "Why, I thought that I heard you phoning Mr. Jones about a job?" said the proprietor. "I did Boss, but I works for Mr. Jones and I was kinder checking up on myself." Then with a big grin he added, "Mr. Jones says dat I am giving perfec satisfacton." It is time for some folks in this section to "Check up on yourself" in your church life. Better call up heaven, the Great Boss, and see if you are giving perfect satisfaction.

Mt. Pleasant Jr. High School News

By Junior III Class

Our school is justly proud of its recent addition to the faculty. Mr. Carl G. Glasscock comes to help us in a most needful time. Our enrollment has long justified the fifth teacher, and for this reason we feel that Mr. Glasscock can greatly assist the other members of the faculty in putting over a most constructive program. He will take charge of the fifth and sixth grades and assume all coaching responsibilities for the boys athletic club. Mr. Glasscock is a capable young man, well versed in athletics, having starred in both baseball and basketball in his high school and college career. He is a graduate of Jemison High School, 1930 Class, and has done his college work in Jacksonville and Troy State Normals. Mr. Johnson and Mrs. Wright are now doing departmental work in the Junior High grades.

Miss Gertie Lee Lowery spent the week end at Sylacauga.

Beginning next month an Honor Roll system will be in effect. All students making first and second honor roll will have their records published in both county papers.

Mr. Johnson and Mr. Glasscock are sponsoring an entertainment which will be given at the school building next Saturday night at 7:30. A small admission of ten cents will be charged for everyone participating. A number of games and contests will be offered—plenty of music, fun and frolic will add to the evening's festivities.

The purpose of the entertainment is to raise money by which new athletic equipment can be purchased for the school. A large crowd is expected to share the evening's pleasures. A fine cake is to be given to some pretty girl who happens to be lucky enough to poll the largest number of votes.

The Parent - Teachers organization will be called to meet soon, to discuss ways and means of adding more new working material to the class rooms. The unusually heavy enrollment has demanded most of the teachers time,—but now that the County Board has furnished us with additional help, the P.-T. A. can resume activities and earnestly devote more time to making our school rate higher in attendance, added equipment, school loyalty and general community welfare.

Our principal, Mr. Johnson, spent last Saturday with Messrs. J. A. Culp, Dewey Oates, Lee Caton on an all-day squirrel hunt in Mulberry Swamp. They reported fairly good luck and a day of real recreation and good sport.

Mrs. Wright has the larger girls completing the sales of a candy deal. She plans to organize a volley ball team as soon as the necessary playing material can be purchased.

We are glad to see Hubert Duke back in school after being absent, due to illness. He is a member of the Junior One Class and plays the guard position on the basket ball team.

Cecil Traywick, popular member of the Junior 3 Class has re-entered school.

Miss Gracie Smith, charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Smith of Thorsby, paid the school a pleasant visit last week.

The Thorsby Institute basket ball team suffered a crushing defeat at the hands of the Mt. Pleasant team last Friday evening on the local court. The game was rather one-sided throughout—although the Institute boys rallied several times during the last half to pull the count closer, but the home team had rung up such a large lead during the first half that the Thorsby boys could not register enough to tie the score, which stood 28 to 19 at the final whistle.

On next Friday, November 11, the Mt. Pleasant boys go to Baker Junior High for their first Junior High match game. Coach Vernon Baker has molded a swift little team to represent the Baker school, and this game should prove highly interesting. Be there and pull for your favorite team. Mr. Glasscock and Mr. Baker were rivals on the Jemison High School and Chilton County High School teams respectively several years ago. Now they are both coaching junior high teams. You should see this game and note their ability to turn out a winning team.

We regret very much to learn of our old school mate, J. P. Culp, being sick. He was a popular member of the Junior III Class last year, also the basket ball team which won the county championship. He is a member of the Senior I Class at Isabella where he was establishing a good mark until he became ill several days ago. His school mates and teachers unite their wishes for a speedy recovery for him.

Our attendance for the first month, which closed last Friday, was very good. The rating was over 92%.

Mrs. J. E. Minor was a visitor to our school last Friday. Quite a large number of parents visit our school from time to time. The principal and teachers extend to everyone interested a most cordial invitation at any time most convenient for them to visit. We hope every parent can pay us at least one visit this year.

Wofford Oil Company Announces New Motor Fuel

Top Cylinder Lubrication Added to Woco Pep New Economy Feature in Motor Fuel.

D. L. GILLAND
V. Pres. Wofford Oil Co.

Birmingham, Ala.—Speaking of the new Top Cylinder Lubricating improved WOCO PEP announced by the Wofford Oil Company of Alabama this week, D. L. Gilland, Vice President of the Company brought out the fact that in the past 14 years the Wofford Oil Company has pioneered many features that are today standard practices among leading gasoline marketers. He recalled the days when WOCO PEP instituted the higher type station service rather than merely filling gasoline tanks. He cited the fact that Mr. G. T. Wofford, President of the Wofford Oil Company, was a pioneer years ahead in the motor fuel field in presenting a Benzol Blend, anti-knock motor fuel at regular prices. He stated the fact that the Company is constantly searching for new and better products and types of service. In this connection the Wofford Oil Company has been conducting a survey for months to determine trends in motorists needs and wants. Among other things discovered was the need for better lubricating of motors. This led to an investigation, experimentation and a decision to market a lubricating motor fuel.

Mr. Gilland stated that the anti-knock rating of the improved WOCO PEP is so high thousands of motorists in Alabama will prefer it to a premium priced motor fuel, both for their cars and their pocketbooks since this improved WOCO PEP will be sold in the Alabama territory at no advance over regular prices.

"In order that this new Top Cylinder Lubricating improved WOCO PEP may be easily and quickly identified by the motoring public, it has been given a new color—GOLDEN—which distinctly symbolizes its greater value.

"The Alabama motoring public has depended on the Wofford Oil Company for these many years for an economical motor fuel with the premium qualities, such as WOCO PEP has always had, and in announcing this new improved WOCO PEP we feel that our friends in Alabama will not only appreciate this step forward but will accept it in the same fine spirit that they have accepted all other of our improvements in the past.

Wofford Conservative

"Through the thorough and effective coverage afforded by Alabama newspapers the message about this new motor fuel will reach practically every motorist in the State over-night. Backing up this tremendous advertising campaign the hundreds of Blue and White Service Station Operators will be on the alert to give information about the new improved WOCO PEP. Each Station Operator has been supplied with a brief outline of the advantages of this new product in the form of a "Quick Fact" card, which will be given to interested automobile owners.

"The Wofford Oil Company is fully appreciative and grateful to the Alabama Motoring Public for the splendid patronage accorded in the past and cordially invites a call from you at one of our many Service Stations to learn first hand more about this improved Motor Fuel," concluded Mr. Gilland.

Is Alabama Company

The Wofford Oil Company, an Alabama concern employing approximately 1,500 heads of Alabama families, is one of the largest tax payers in the State and a major purchaser of Alabama Products.

This Company, it was stated, follows the policy of Mr. G. T. Wofford, its President, and buys each year several millions of gallons of Benzol produced by the Steel and Iron Industry in Alabama, for use in WOCO PEP motor fuel.

Work Weary "NERVES"

Do they make you Restless, Cranky, Tired, Sleepless, Dyspeptic, Headachy? Do they spoil your pleasure and interfere with your work?

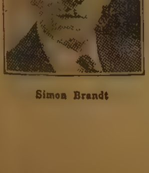
Tens of thousands have found a way to get relief from overworked nerves—a way so simple, so pleasant, so low in cost, that we are constantly receiving letters that say, "If I had only found Effervescent Nervine Tablets sooner." Simon Brandt writes:

"I was very nervous from over-work. I couldn't sleep well, appetite was poor, and I felt weak for a long time.

"Used Dr. Miles' Nervine and now feel fifteen years younger and I am working the same as I did before—fourteen to fifteen hours daily.

"Sorry I did not learn about this wonderful medicine sooner as I had tried everything I could hear of, without results, until Dr. Miles' Nervine put me back on my feet."

When you are nervous, try this—put a Dr. Miles' Effervescent Nervine Tablet into a glass of water. Watch it bubble up like sparkling spring water—drink it—enjoy the feeling of calm and relaxation that follows.



Simon Brandt

In Dr. Miles' Effervescent Nervine Tablets a splendid formula for soothing overwrought nerves is combined with bicarbonate of soda and citric acid which tend to correct hyper-acidity—a frequent cause of nervousness.

A TONIC Laxative

CONSTIPATION, with the annoying symptoms that usually come with it, cuts down organic force and disturbs normal health and well-being. A thorough cleansing of the digestive tract is of great assistance in the removal of sickening constipation symptoms.

When excessive accumulated waste matter disturbs and strains the muscles of the large intestines, rendering them temporarily unable to perform their wave-like evacuating movements, Thedford's Black-Draught is useful in stimulating them to activity, which, again started, should continue regularly until some future disturbance interferes. In this way, Thedford's Black-Draught is one of the TONIC laxatives, tending, as it does, to establish a regular habit of evacuation.

Auto Races Sunday Afternoon, Montg'm'y

BILL CHESTERFIELD

Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 9.—What gives every indication of being the greatest auto race meet ever conducted in the state of Alabama will be run at the Alabama State Fairgrounds half-mile track Sunday afternoon, November 13, when nearly a score of outstanding race drivers will compete in a seven-event program totalling 100 laps of motor madness.

From far-off California to the Carolina coast, from Canada to Florida the race stars have entered for the only big-time races held in the state this year.

The splendid field of drivers is topped by Sig Haughdahl, world's dirt track champon of Daytona Beach, Fla and that sterling Italian pilot, Roberti Saulti of Pennsylvania; Bill Chesterfield of Hamilton, Ontario, Canada; Lew Wallace of Indianapolis and Ted Cunningham of St. Petersburg, Fla.

Others in the benzine battles will be Al Brown, Hal Hartz, Lee Sarles, Leon De Voo, Red Burman, Billy Jones, Crash Walker, Speedy Gough, Freddie Fraquar, Billy Winnae, Harper Clancy, Wesley Argyle and Chick Smith.

Montgomery will become the autumn Indianapolis of the South and should the races meet the expected success, it is likely two additional races will be run during the winter season.

Events will start shortly after two o'clock with real competition slated at two-thirty P. M. The 25-lap feature race will be the longest event ever run on the Montgomery track, conceded to be the fastest auto race course in the South.

Nominal admission charge of 50 cents to adults and 25 cents to children will be charged, said to be the lowest gate admissions ever listed for "big-tme" auto racing.

Bill Breitenstein, former Birmingham newspaperman and winter resident of Greenville, Alabama is promoting the affair in cooperation with the state fair and the city of Montgomery.

Chilton Co. High Wins Over Isabella 37 to 0

Chilton County High School flashed a strong offensive in trouncing Isabella High School here Friday in a game that proved a one-sided affair.

In the first quarter Jarrel Burdette, alternate captain and quarterback, snagged an Isabella pass and raced fifty yards for the first counter of the game. The next score came when "Gabby" Tiffin ploughed through Isabella's line for 25 yards and a touchdown. James Arnold, flashy half and safety for Chilton County, on a fake off tackle play swept the Isabella right end for a beautiful scintillating run of fifty-five yards to goaldom for the longest run of the game. Nearly every Isabella player made an attempt to stop this spinning mass of humanity, but to no avail.

The next score came from an inspired lineman, Jesse Frank Foshee, slashing off tackle for 50 yards for his first touchdown of the game and not satisfied, he repeated the feat of scoring 6 additional points. James Arnold added another 6 points from Isabella's 15-yard line to end the affray. The right end and quarterback were the stars for Isabella in their defensive stand.

of their towns every day throughout the Red Cross Roll Call which begins Friday, November 11th, and continues through November 24th. People will be given an opportunity to enroll for membership and receive the official Red Cross membership card and button, at these booths.

Rural Sections Organize

Outside of Clanton and the towns named above, rural communities over the county are also to open active campaigns in this Roll Call. Official workers, named to solicit and receive contributions to the Red Cross in these communities are as follows:

Mitchell Dam, John Hollis; Lay Dam, Sam R. Powers; Collins Chapel, Perry Gore; Enterprise, C. L. Wilkins; Coopers, Hugh Taylor; Isabella, Earl Thomas; Union Grove, P. R. Robinson; Stanton, Mrs. Mildred Burnett; Shoults and Lawley, Charley Walker and Paul Oden; New Cedron, Charley Foshee and Bob Owens; Sardis, Rev. J. D. Deason; Providence Beat 13, Willie Shaw.

These persons are authorized to receive contributions and they ask for the cooperation of all residents of their communities.

The Red Cross memberships are: Annual, $1; Contributing, $5; Sustaining, $10; Supporting, $25. Fifty cents of each membership goes to the support of national Red Cross service; the balance is retained by the Chilton County Chapter.

The person who joins for one dollar is just as much a member as the person who pays a higher membership fee, but those who pay the higher fees, provide more money for support of local Red Cross. A dollar will make you a member, but this year if possible join at a higher membership fee and give a contribution in addition to your membership. Millions of destitute—the hungry, the jobless, the friendless—look this day to you for help.

The National Red Cross expended something over $42,000.00 right in Chilton county last March, aiding those families who lost their homes and property when this county was swept by the devastating tornadoes. Very little of this amount, hardly $1,000 came from the local Chapter of the Red Cross, as the amount in the treasury at that time was very small.

The Roll Call campaign, beginning tomorrow, November 11th, Armistice Day, and carrying on for several days here, should get a splendid start. Dr. Ezell has been busy making these plans and organizing his committees.

Only a part of the money given in this campaign goes to the National Red Cross headquarters. If a person contributes one dollar, only fifty cents of that goes to the National Headquarters to help out in their extensive work over the country. Even if someone should give five dollars, ten dollars or more, only fifty cents of each contribution will go to the National headquarters, and the remainder stays in the local treasury, with C. Fenn Jones of Clanton as treasurer of the local chapter.

The people of Chilton county by all rights, should rally full-strong to this appeal for funds for the local chapter of the Red Cross. It does not take a full investigation to show the people here that with winter coming on, there is going to be a wide appeal in this county for help. Even today, there are numerous cases right at our doors, cases that unless something is done right away for them, death will probably be the result. And if not death, considerable suffering on the part of many residents, that could be easily averted with a small amount of aid.

The Red Cross Button

Each person contributing to the campaign here will be given a Red Cross Button, signifying that he or she has done her part toward aiding the helpless and needy of our county. Wear the Red Cross button. Help the needy of your county through an agency that is thorough and painstaking in its work.

Never before, until last March, has Chilton County been forced to call on the National Red Cross for help. But when the call did go out, help came immediately, and the more fortunate people of the county were spared much worry and trouble. Now is your opportunity to show your appreciation to this great organization. Heed the call for funds in the campaign which opens tomorrow.

Mayor's Proclamation Calls Attention To Importance Of Coming Red Cross Roll Call

"This year the economic emergency lends special importance to the annual Roll Call, or membership campaign of the American Red Cross.

"The Red Cross is the recognized relief agency throughout the Nation. It is chartered by Congress, headed by the President of the United States, and accorded the cooperation of the Federal government. In the unemployment crisis it has borne a great relief responsibility. It has been the authorized medium for distribution of Farm Board wheat and cotton to those in need of flour, livestock feed and clothing. Its volunteers have been unstinting in devotion to the task of collecting and distributing supplies, and in production of finished goods from materials. Hundreds of thousands of gardens have been planted from Red Cross seed. In 2,200 communities Red Cross Chapters have participated in unemployment relief work.

"To unemployment have been added 95 disasters calling for Red Cross assistance in the period of one year. Drought in the Northwest, tornadoes in the Southeast, floods in the central South and a variety of other catastrophes have entailed mighty burdens on the organization.

"Notwithstanding all the manifold special calls, such regular Red Cross services as life saving, first aid, public health nursing and home hygiene, assistance to veterans, and Junior Red Cross have been carried steadily forward.

"Our debt of gratitude is great. Our present and prospective dependance is impressive. Everyone who is able to take out membership, as a good citizen and a patriot should do.

"As mayor of Clanton, I, therefore, proclaim the Red Cross Roll Call, November 11 to 24, a matter of prime civic duty, and urge our citizenship to lend its heartiest support.

(Signed)
J. LEE SMITH, Mayor."

Campaign Entering On Its Final Period

ONLY A SHORT TIME IS LEFT FOR WORKERS

Miss Leila Belle Smith Is In The Lead Now With A Small Margin

Candidates in the CHILTON COUNTY NEWS Big "Everybody Wins" Prize Campaign are working at top speed these final few days of the race. They realize they have just a few more days to gain the big votes and to win one of the splendid prizes for which they are working. Every day is of importance in the fast closing gap that separates the awards from the winners. Saturday, November 19th, and Saturday, November 26th, are two all important days on the horizon.

One of the candidates called at campaign headquarters the other day and made the statement that she had "gotten" everybody in her locality. A little later another candidate came in and produced a lot of subscriptions from the same locality. All of which goes to show that no matter how certain one may be that nothing is left, some real worker will go over the same field with gratifying results. Sincere effort is a prime requisite of results to be obtained. No one who tries will fail to be awarded—as sincere efforts never go unrewarded—but those who expect to win must prepare for a fast pace on the part of the other candidates.

125,000 Extra Votes

Who knows but the extra votes earned by your subscriptions which you turn in this week may be the very ones needed to make you a winner at the close of the race. One can never tell how small a margin of votes will do the real big winning at the close. But you know this much, it makes no difference if you have just a few more votes than anyone else at the close of the race, or a million more than you need just as long as you have the largest total of votes at the finish, the NEW CHEVROLET WILL BE YOURS.

By all means do not put off your winning work until the last minute of the campaign. Extra votes will be given in smaller numbers during the last and final week of the campaign and it will not be so easy to get in the lead as is the case now.

Think of the difference between votes now and several thousand less for the final week of the campaign. At present time $5.00 worth of subscriptions will earn only 100,000 extra votes.

There is precious little time left of the campaign—just a few more days—then WHO WILL BE THE WINNER. THE FINAL TEST IS AT HAND, WHO WILL BE THE MASTER OF THE SITUATION? LONG TERM SUBSCRIPTIONS — AND HARD WORK ARE YOUR LAST HOPE. YOUR FAVORITE CAN WIN WITH YOUR HELP.

WRITER TAKEN TO TASK ON HIS CRITICISM

A. A. Jackson Defends The Right Of Woman Who Spoke Here

Editor, Chilton County News:

As the election has come and the results were so wonderful, will you give me space in your good paper for a few comments. It makes me feel good and happy to know that millions and millions of good Republicans did as I did, jumped out of that old Republican frying pan and landed the Democratic ship, which I feel will give us freedom and prosperity.

It is also gratifying to know that there were enough good Republicans in Chilton county to join in with the Democrats of our county and put their disapproval on the Hoover slavery and poverty administration.

I am sorry to know that the majority of the Republican party of Chilton county did put their approval on the present administration of slavery, poverty and destruction. There is a serious cause for such conditions in our county and if our leaders are not responsible I want someone to tell me what is.

Now, just a word in regard to an article that appeared on the editorial

BUSINESS GOOD FOR MERCHANTS HERE SATURDAY

Streets And Stores Crowded With Shoppers Really Buying Goods

Business was good in Clanton last Saturday, say many of the progressive merchants of the town. There was an unusually large crowd of people here Saturday, lining the streets and crowding the stores, buying needed articles and looking for bargains.

A representative of the News, calling on several of the leading merchants and business men, found them all in the best of spirits and looking for an upward turn in business during the coming weeks.

The stores of Clanton are crowded with bargains for the thrifty people who are anxious to save money on everything they buy. Clanton merchants offer the high quality of goods at the low price found in cities.

A much busier day is expected here next Saturday, according to the merchants who commented on the fine amount of business enjoyed last Saturday. Visit the stores in Clanton when you are seeking bargains.

Littlefield Given Ten Years On First Degree Manslaughter Charge

The Criminal Docket of Circuit Court of Chilton county came to a close last week. Many cases were disposed of, several were continued and sentences passed by Judge F. Loyd Tate, judge of the 19th judicial circuit.

The case of Ernest Garner, charged with the murder of William Franklin on July 2nd, was continued. Mrs. Franklin, widow of the murdered man, took the stand as the first witness in the case for the prosecution, and fainted while seated in the stand.

Attorney for the defense claimed that this action on the part of Mrs. Franklin would prejudice the jury, and Judge Tate recognizing the motion for a mistrial, withdrew the case from the jury and continued the court. The case will come up again at the next term of court, it was stated.

CHILTON GAVE ROOSEVELT A GOOD MARGIN

First Time In Many Years Chilton Gave Democrat Majority

The official count of the election here shows that Chilton county gave Gov. Franklin Roosevelt a comfortable majority over Hoover, for president. Counting the lowest figures for both nominees, Roosevelt was given 130 votes over his opponent. This is the first time in many years that Chilton county has given a Democratic nominee for president, the majority.

Splitting of tickets made this possible in view of the fact that the Democratic candidates for county offices fell short in polling as many as the president-elect. The trend all over the county was for Roosevelt, however, there were a few boxes that gave the majority to Hoover.

Mrs. Gertrude Calloway, Republican candidate for county treasurer, led the Republican ticket in the county, the official returns show. Elsewhere in this issue will be found tabulated accounts of the official returns.

Democrats Take G.O.P. Counties In Final Tally

Complete and official returns from 42 of the 67 Alabama counties in Tuesday's general election Thursday afternoon indicated that for the first time since Reconstruction Days a Democratic presidential nominee has carried Alabama's few fundamentally Republican counties.

Chilton, DeKalb, Franklin and St. Clair all gave Gov. Roosevelt comfortable majorities and in Winston County, the most solid Republican stronghold in the state, the county polled 1,006 votes for the Democratic nominee and 1,005 for President Hoover.

ALA. POWER CO. COMES TO AID OF TEACHERS

Approximately $16,000 Paid To Chilton Teachers Last Week

The Alabama Power Company will no doubt find a warm thought in the minds of the school teachers of this county since they came to the aid of the schools in Chilton county recently.

Approximately $27,000 in school taxes were paid in to Chilton county by the Alabama Power Company last week, according to information given the News this week. Approximately $16,000 of this money was paid out to school teachers of this county last week by the county board, and constitutes the first full months salary received by the teachers in something like a year.

Another bright point in this is that these taxes are not usually paid in by the power company until sometime in December, it was stated. The power company was called on, and this favor granted by them. This $27,000 constitutes only a small part of the money paid by the Alabama Power Company to Chilton county. The remainder will be paid at the usual time, the information stated, which came from the office of the superintendent of education, who requested the favor of the power company.

SHIPMENT OF FISH RELEASED IN WATER HERE

Local Men Succeed In Getting A Large Number Fingerling Bass

A shipment of fingerling bass and bream from the State Fish Hatchery was liberated in the streams of Chilton County during the last few days. Many local sportsmen were present and assisted, the planting being under the direction of the district game warden and an assistant from the State Hatchery.

One of the considerations in making consignments is the promise by local sportsmen to help protect streams in this vicinity from seining, dynamiting, poisoning and other llegal methods of taking fish.

The fish were received from the State Fish Hatchery at Eastaboga near Anniston, through efforts of E. E. Upchurch and J. Mell Martin, being brought in by truck. The hatchery consists of eleven ponds, five of which are 100 feet wide by 600 feet long. The other six ponds vary in size and shape.

PEOPLE URGED TO HEED CALL OF WORKERS

Will Accept Corn And Syrup If Farmers Are Short Of Ready Cash

Although a complete report from all the working centers and the communities of the county, could not be had in time for publication this week, it is being shown by what is in, that the people of Chilton county are showing their appreciation of the Red Cross by becoming member.

The Red Cross Roll Call of Chilton county opened last Friday, with Dr. S. J. Ezell as chairman of the campaign, and C. E. Stapp as chairman of the local chapter

An intensive drive is being conducted throughout the county, with workers busy every day n Clanton, Maplesville Thorsby, Jemison, and Verbena seeking members.

Chilton County has been given a quota of 750 members by the National Red Cross, that organization that gave this county such a helping hand last March. Chilton county must reach that goal.

Accept Corn, Syrup

Mr. Stapp advised a representative of the News Tuesday that the Red Cross will accept corn, syrup or any staple produce from farmers who are not able to contribute money. Memberships are one dollar, but a person may give more. If corn is given it will take two and one-half bushels, and three gallons of syrup. These should be brought to the office of the Farm Bureau, on main street.

In next week's issue of the News there will be published a list of those who have become members in this Roll Call. There will be noted that several families have become one hundred per cent members, meaning that every member of the family is a member of the Red Cross

Workers Not Paid

Some questions have been asked about the ladies who are soliciting memberships. It must be clearly understood that these ladies are not being paid one cent for their work. They are giving their time and effort to this cause, realizing that Chilton county owes it to the Red Cross. These workers over the county are to be commended for the unselfish spirit in which they have entered this work.

Ends November 24th

The Roll Call will end Thursday, November 27th. Farmers, merchants, business men, professional men and in fact everyone should become a member of the Red Cross in Chilton county. Give a dollar, or more.

SELMA GREEK TRAVELS
7,500 MILES TO VOTE

Selma, Ala., Nov. 10.—Nick Caridas, a naturalized citizen of this country, came 7,500 miles from the Island of Patmos in Greece to cast his ballot for Roosevelt in the national election Tuesday, it was learned here today.

Although naturalized several years ago, Mr. Caridas did not have an opportunity to vote in a presidential election until the present time.

His son, George Caridas here, wrote him and told him of the depression and of the importance of Roosevelt winning. So the father braved the Winter storms on the ocean to make the voyage to America to do his bit to elect Roosevelt.

MORAL ECHOES

D. W. Haskew

Not long since it was discovered in Connecticutt that the State was sown down with bootleg Sweatshops. The owners of these establishments would set up shop over night, and haul in cut goods from New York, and then employ women and girls at the rate of from sixty cents to one dollar and forty cents per week. The finished products would then be trucked back to New York and sold at extremely low prices, but the operators were filling their pockets at the expense of the health and brawn of young women. On discovering this form of injustice, every newspaper in the State set up a howl, and the next Legislature of Connecticutt will be flooded with bills to regulate the wages to be paid workers in Sweatshops. It is strange to see how readily the big dailies snapped up that form of injustice and cried it down and yet how reluctantly they take issue with the whiskey business, whether it be legal or illegal. No sweatshop ever produced half as much injustice to womanhood, and brought half so much suffering to our women, as the whiskey dealers and drinkers. We would have no prohibition problem if our big dailies would cry down its evils with as much spirit as they cry down the evils of the sweatshop. There must be a "Negro In The Wood Pile" that keeps them from doing it.

It was a clear and a cool night and the radio was at its best. At one of the broadcasting stations an artist sang these words, "How I wish that I could bring back the color to the hair of that old Daddy of mine. How I wish that I could take the heartaches from his soul." Doubtless that song set in motion many a heart throb. In the room where I listened was a person in middle life and with a quivering voice he said, "Thank God, I have never caused my father to grieve, and my way of living has never brought to him one hurt of the heart." Talk about treasures, but there is no treasure of more value than to have an assurance that you have never grieved your parents. We have seen fathers and mothers with gray hair and we have seen them with hurting hearts, and all because of the troubles caused by the conduct of their children. If a young man reads this, if a young lady should see these words, let me ask you, "Are you turning the hairs on your parents head gray, are you hurting their hearts by the way you live?" Blessed is the child who causes his parents no trouble. Good children are a blessing from the Lord.

I went into the office of a public official. Hard by his place of business there were other rooms for rent. My voice rang out in greeting to my friend and it was heard by the inmates of another room where a game of pool was being played. There was a general scuffle and flurry and silence followed. A solid wall was between the rooms, but still the men engaged in the pool room preferred not to play while my voice could be heard in the next room. Can you tell me why that was? Why is it that men will slap their hands over their mouths to keep from using a "Cuss" word where a preacher can hear? Why is it that women will blush and apologize when the pastor "Butts into a Bridge Party?" Why do the wicked flee when no man pursueth? I believe that some folks are ashamed of some things they do. That makes them hopeful.

When one man reported that he had missed his big turkey gobbler and had gone in search of him and had found him sitting on a nest full of eggs, another person came forward with a story that put it over the first gobbler. Said this person, "I was on my back porch and seeing my big gobbler sitting down and standing up in a briar patch a short distance away, I decided to investigate what he had in mind. On coming near I discovered that he had made him a nest and had collected a dozen gourds into it and was doing his dead level best to cover all of them." Both stories are true "Turkey Tales" and they go to prove that we are near a new age. Our women are coming to the front and there is just no telling what is going to happen. The gobblers have caught the spirit of the new age, and it will not be long now.

There was the grinding of wheels and the roaring of a sliding train and soon our coach was still on the track. We climbed to the ground and walked ahead to see what had stopped us in the night hours. Down the track was a big freight mogul stretched by the side of the track like a crippled greyhound, while its box cars littered up the way of travel. That mogul was a thing of power, but it was off the track and it was as helpless as a boulder on the hillside. It was made for a track and off of that track it was useless. Man is made for a track. He fits into the straight and narrow way, but if he gets off that way he is useless. Remember that you belong on the road that runs toward heaven and that you are a thing of power as long as you stay on the right track, but when you get off that track, you become useless to yourself and useless to the world.

Promise Boys Rare Thrills

AMERICAN BOY-YOUTH'S COMPANION readers are due for a rare adventure thrill in 1933, according to word just received from America's favorite boy's magazine. Boys will welcome the news that a modern Robinson Crusoe story, in which two boys and a man battle with savages and build a civilization with their bare hands, is on the way!

In this story the three heroes escape into the depths of the Amazon jungles; there they are stripped and left to die by hostile natives; and there, from the natural abundance of the jungle, they build their fortress. From advance notices, it's a story readers will never forget.

Other good things, we learn, are on the way in THE AMERICAN BOY-YOUTH'S COMPANION for 1933. Adventures in all parts of the world; stories of school and college; helpful stories of the professions; sports interviews with famous coaches and players; vivid articles on travel and science.

THOMAS LEE MATTHEWS

Thomas Lee Matthews was born in the State of Georgia April the 30, 1866, died November the 2nd, 1932. He was united in matrimony to Miss Ida Jane Northcutt January the 22nd, 1887. To this union was born ten children, six sons and four daughters, two having preceded him to their reward, and at the time of his death he had 26 grandchildren and 3 great-grandchildren. He leaves a devoted wife, one brother and two sisters and a host of friends and relatives to mourn their loss, but God saw fit to send the heavenly messenger to his bedside, who said, it is enough, come up higher, where the angelic host sings redeeming love throughout the passing years of eternity.

He will be greatly missed in the community as well as in his home for his seat is vacant and his voice is stilled. We keenly feel our loss, and it is so sad for us to have to realize that we cannot meet this dear one on earth again, and no more hear his feeble but gentle footsteps and kind words. Let us all pray and look toward the home of the soul and when the end of life is drawing near and the shadows of evening fall about us, we too, can fall asleep in the arms of Jesus and meet our loved ones in the City of God. Our hearts ache when we come in to behold the vacant chair. We look through tears to Calvary in humble submission to God's will, and in triumph say, "Oh grave, where is thy victory; oh death, where is thy sting?" He is not dead just sweetly resting from pain and labor and care and if we live as the Bible teaches us we will meet him over there. for we are sure he is at the beautiful gate waiting and looking this way and beckoning us to come up to the land where there is no parting or pain for he suffered greatly, but bore it patiently. Sleep on, dear Daddy, take thy rest. God has called thee home, and he knew best.

After an appropriate service at the church conducted by Rev. R. M. Honeycutt and while the sweet strains of music from the choir still floated out on the air the remains were gently borne out and laid to rest in the Oak Grove cemetery. Softly and kindly were the words spoken at the grove and loving friends encircled him as he was laid in his last resting place in mother earth where he sleeps beneath a flower covered mound to await the Resurrection of the dead in Christ at His second coming.

Mr. Matthews is survived by his widow, Mrs. Ida Matthews, one brother, two sisters, five sons and three daughters. The sons are O. C. of Mt. Dora, Fla., J. M. of Lay Dam, C. C., J. L. and Ivy of Jemison. The daughters are Mrs. A. L. Glasscock of Chattanooga, Tenn., Mrs. J. C. Bice and Miss Lorene, all of Jemison.

Now, let us as friends, relatives and loved ones, bow in humble submission to the will of God and say like one of old, "The Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away, blessed be the name of the Lord."

LETTER OF THANKS

Editor, Chilton County News:

Please give us space in your paper to say to our neighbors and friends that we most heartily thank them for their great kindness to us during the sickness and death of our little son, Roy, whose passing occurred November 7th.

We thank them for the beautiful and abundant floral offerings. We heartily thank Dr. Franklin and the people of Thorsby for their interest in our welfare. Their kindness was unbounded. We know not how to thank them enough. They have our best wishes while we live.

OSCAR DePRIEST, NEGRO REPUBLICAN, RE-ELECTED CHICAGO CONGRESSMAN

Chicago, Nov. 9.—Oscar DePriest, Republican negro, will represent once more the congressional district often called the nation's richest.

Trailing his Democratic opponent, Harry Baker, in the early returns by a ratio that would have defeated DePriest by 20,000 votes, he turned the tide in the last few precincts and emerged winner by better than 5,000 votes. Baker is white.

De Priest's congressional district, the first Illinois, includes the Chicago "Loop" and extends down into the thickly populated negro section of the Southside.

With only three precincts uncounted the vote stood: De Priest 32,822; Baker 26,903.

Mt. Pleasant Jr. High School News

The entertainment given at the school building last Saturday night was declared highly successful. Over thirteen dollars was raised which will be applied to the Boys Athletic Club. New suits will be flashed on the court next Friday when the Baker Junior High team will play the locals. The new suits will be quite a contrast with the present black and gold. The jerseys will be scarlet red while the trousers will be black with red stripe.

Miss Everee Smith, attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Smith, won the pretty girl cake at the recent school social. She won over her closest competitor, Miss Merle Aldridge, by a two thousand majority. A very lively contest was staged between the school boys who were backing Miss Smith, and outside boys who were supporting Miss Aldridge. The victor was not known until the last ten seconds—up until that time the lead was constantly shifting from one to the other. The cake, which was baked by Mrs. George Adams of Jemison, was very beautiful and brought over nine dollars.

A very interesting and instructive program was presented at Chapel exercise last Friday morning by the third and fourth grades featuring Armistice Day. Songs and recitations were dedicated to the memory of those brave American boys who so willingly gave their lives that the world might be made safe for Democracy. Several visitors were present to witness the program. Mr. Glasscock will have charge of chapel next Tuesday.

Examinations covering the first months work were completed last week. Report cards will be given out the latter part of this week.

The Parent-Teacher Association will be called for next Tuesday afternoon, November 22, for their initial meeting. We want all the old members to be present and for each one to bring at least one new member. The P.-T. A. has done a wonderful work for this school, even though the membership has been small. This school covers such a wide range of territory and we are aware of the fact that many of the parents who live on the outer rim of the district are handicapped in not being convenient to the meetings, but this does not eliminate them from joining. They can possibly send someone to represent them, send in their dues, and can make arrangements to attend at least one or two of the regular meetings. This work is vital to the best welfare of the school and community and we fervently wish to see it continue.

On last Friday evening Coach Glasscock lined up his basketball boys and drove down to Baker Jr. High where his team won a sweeping victory from the Baker team. Burnett, who is alternate Captain, led his mates in turning back the home team 49 to 7. The game started off as though it was going to develop into a 'nip and tuck' affair, but after about six minutes of play the visitors began to clip off some fast pass-work which seemed to throw the Baker boys off balance. The game was far more interesting than the score indicates, for Coach Baker's team just kept on hammering and driving at the Mt. Pleasant defense until the final whistle. We frankly admit that they are a game little bunch and deserve our commendation for their real sportsmanship. The team is quite an improvement over last year's team. They come to Mt. Pleasant next Friday afternoon, 3:10, and we wish to have a large crowd out pulling for the home team, for we feel that this game will be far closer in score than that of last Friday. The Mt. Pleasant team is mostly new players this year, namely: Julius Traywick, Hubert Duke, Lige Turner, Chester Jones, Earl Melton, Vernon Collins and John Edmond Childress.

On next Thursday morning, at eight o'clock the Liberty Hill Quartet, composed of Messrs. Zackie Lowery, Hiram Littlejohn, Leonard Culp and Herschel Lowery will present a song program of Sacred, classical, popular and negro spiritual songs. These boys are really good, for they have been with us before, and we know a tip top program is in store for next Thursday. A cordial invitation is extended to everyone who wishes to hear these popular singers.

We are sorry to learn of Mr. Charles Edward Wilson being ill. The school hopes he will soon be well again.

Miss May Frances Bruce was guest of Miss Mary-Will Smith the past week end.

A birthday dinner was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sloan Parker last Sunday. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Traywick, Jack Parker, Miss Mary-Will Smith and Mr. Fletcher Parker.

If plans materialize the Mt. Pleasant Jr. High basket ball team will go to Calera next Saturday night, November 19, to meet the swift dribblers from Helena, Alabama. Announcements will be made definite later.

Mr. Johnson and Mr. Glasscock went to Clanton last Monday afternoon on business.

PEOPLES TELEPHONE COMPANY ELECTS OFFICERS LAST FRIDAY

Central Fees Remain Same As Last Year. Now Due And Payable

At the meeting of the phoneholders of the Peoples Telephone Company at the courthouse last Friday, officers were elected for the coming year. All of the present officers were retained and two additional members of the Board of Directors were elected namely, R. E. L. Ward of Lomax and C. B. Huett of Enterprise. Jesse Baker is president, T. E. Wyatt, secretary, and other members of the board are E. H. Mims, John Jackson and James M. Robinson.

It was decided at the meeting to continue to operate the central, inasmuch as quite a bit of encouragement was offered toward payment of central fees. The interest in the system generally seems to be picking up as compared with a year ago. The meeting went on record as strongly recommending the rebuilding and repairing of lines, putting in new batteries, etc. If all phoneholders will do these two things, then 95 per cent of the hinderance to getting service will be removed. The way to go at this is for some influential man on each line to go around and notify the other people on that line that they will meet a certain day and work the line. And make the thing imperative; don't ask them "Will you come?" but tell them to be there; and everyone be there and with the determination to work. Don't be afraid that you will do more than the other fellow, but try to do more than your part. The central operators are going to do their part of the work and more too if the people will only half way do theirs. Now, people, show your colors by jumping into this telephone business and let's get it back on its feet again. Seven years ago the Peoples Telephone Company was the best thing of its kind in Chilton county. A man could go to his phone and talk to nearly anybody in the county. A system like that is really worth something to a county. Well, we can have it back if everybody will do their part.

The Board of Directors met Monday afternoon and considered bids for the operation of the central another year It was decided to keep the same operators—Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Copelan. These people have done fine work since they have been here, and we believe they will continue to do good work. The central fee was set the same as last year—$2.50 for residence phones and $3.00 for business phones.

The Board of Directors has decided that in case a residence phoneholder desires to pay less than a full year, he may pay $1 and get his receipt for four months service. At the end of that four months he may pay another dollar and get another four months receipt. This of course will have to be done three times a year and will amount to $3; but there are very likely some who had rather pay one dollar three times a year than to pay $2.50 once a year. And still there are those who had rather pay all at once and save fifty cents. This only applies to residence phones. Business phones are straight $3 a year and must be paid all at once.

November 1st was the beginning of the phone year, therefore central fees are due now. The directors on all lines are asked to urge payment of dues as hastily as possible.—T.E. Wyatt, Sec.

GOV. ROOSEVELT CARRIES WINSTON BY SINGLE VOTE

Haleyville, Ala., Nov. 11. — Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic president-elect, shattered another precedent—he carried Winston County, traditionally Republican as most of Alabama is Democratic Official canvass of Tuesday's vote today showed Roosevelt 1,006, President Hoover, 1,005, a majority of one for the Democrat.

Previous returns had indicated that Winston alone went Republican this year, and unless there is an upset in some other county, Gov. Roosevelt carried every county in Alabama.

The Great Opportunity

The Associated Press says that "few Presidents in the history of the county" have entered the White House through "so wide a door of opportunity" as has Mr. Roosevelt.

"Not only the task ahead, but the instruments at hand are impressive," says the AP. The millions of his supporters represent every section and every political party, and "servng with him will be a Congress highly sympathetic with his political purposes."

Moreover he has come through the campaign "pledged only to broad principles, and fettered by a minimum of promises as to specific enactments."

All agree that the country is in revolt against the type of leadership represented by Mr. Hoover and his immediate predecessors, and that the country expects "bold, independent" leadership by the new President.

Undoubtedly Mr. Roosevelt's opportunity is extraordinary. The problems awaiting his touch are so complex, so acute that once solved, the country will indeed know that "happy days" have come again.

The new administration will take up where the present one leaves off in trying to do something about unemployment and human distress.

As destitution has haunted the dreams of Mr. Hoover, so will it haunt the dreams of Mr. Roosevelt.

Mr. Hoover had no panacea for the pestilence, neither will Mr. Roosevelt have.

But he must and will tackle the job with a clear head and a brave heart.

The liquor question has got to be settled and settled along broad, statesmanlike lines.

The people have definitely repudiated the prohibition experiment. They are tired of it. They want something else but they do not quite know what it is.

They do know that they would like to see the evils of the old saloon system avoided and the evils of prohibition avoided.

They want liquor sold legally and put definitely under social control.

They will not condone radical and extreme measures, neither will they condone delay and dalliance in getting rid of the present system.

Mr. Roosevelt's next task will be to prod Uncle Sam into taking a fresh grip on international affairs.

Our country must sit down with the nations to talk over any and all problems that concern the nations.

We must not be afraid to discuss any question of international concern, we must not be afraid to assume our full responsibility as a much-favored unit in the human family.

We ought to recognize Russia and establish full trade relations with that country at the earliest possible moment.

We ought to give a new meaning and a new force to the American leadership of arms reduction by mutual agreement, and the tightening of the laws against war.

We ought to bring about an international economic conference from which will NOT be excluded such vital subjects as debts and tariffs.

For if we do not discuss these there is nothing else, with the possible exception of silver for our delegates to discuss.

We ought to make an entirely new approach to the debt question and do it promptly. Whatever settlement is made that benefits the largest number of people in the world will benefit the American people most.

We ought to take a fresh start in the Orient and rewin the confidence of the Japanese, if we can do so without contributing to the further degradation of the Chinese.

Mr. Roosevelt is prepared in his own mind, we have no doubt, to approach all of these questions in the manner suggested.

He understands the nature of the world's and his own country's great need.

He is free. No man before him has gone into the White House with fewer private obligations to discharge. He is beholden to no private interest.

Mr. Roosevelt knows the country believes in him. He has been given adequate working majorities in both houses of Congress.

Available to him is cabinet material of exceptionally high quality — Smith, Young, Baker, Ritchie, Traylor, James M. Cox, Harry Flood Byrd, Norman Davis, John W. Davis, and numerous others.

Mr. Roosevelt is not afraid to surround himself with big men, and we have no doubt that he will select a cabinet which will command admiration and confidence.

The opportunity is without precedent in our political hstory.

The country not only wants practical, constructive, enlightened legislation and administration, but it is tired of ponderous statisticians who do not clear ther throats while speaking—it craves a winsome, bold, silver-voiced Prince Charming.

The people are tired, O so tired, Mr. Roosevelt! Revive their flagging spirits and lead them toward greener pastures and fairer days! You can do it.

"ROUND TOWN"

---by Doug

The ed has let me come back now, that the election is over. He never did tell you why I haven't been writing this column for the past several weeks, did he? Well, I will tell you. He says that I am forever writing things that get him into trouble, and that with my decided ideas about politics and being a hard Democrat, he wasn't going to let me go writing a lot of things during that campaign. He said he wanted to keep the Democratic campaign as clean as possible in this county this time.

Now, can you beat that. I've been trying to figure out whether he was trying to tell me in a nice way that I don't write things that are clean, or that I was dirty myself. Well, there's one thing about it. If I had been given a chance, I would have told some certain writers some things about manners and how to conduct themselves as gentlemen, even if they were afraid that their political party was headed toward defeat. But after all, I suppose it is best the ed didn't let me enter into that campaign.

Did you ever hear of a man who would compare a woman with a skunk, or a polecat? Understand me—I said MAN. Nope, neither did I until recently when I read something a fellow wrote, comparing a white, well thought of and brilliant woman with a skunk.

But before I get onto something else besides the election, I want to say a few words about the voters of this county giving a majority for Gov. Roosevelt for president. It was splendid. I have heard some of the old-timers talking about it and they say that it was very, very unusual. The Republicans of this county haven't given a Democrat presidential nominee a majority before in about twenty years. And to me it seems that the worm has turned, and the Republicans of Chilton county are on the losing side this time. Everything, everywhere except in dear old Chilton, went Democratic this time with a landslide. In fact the Democratic victory over the entire nation turned into a rout. But Chilton couldn't see all the light and just elected the Democratic president. Well, that ain't so bad after all.

I don't know what to write about this week. I've been out so long, and the election is over. I'd like to crow out loud about Roosevelt being elected, but the ed is such a modest fellow, he won't even let me brag about it. I asked him why he didn't put the newly elected president's picture on the front page last week. He said, "Ah, that's all right, he's elected, and I'm glad. Now I can get back into harness and go to giving the people some news about every day things."

I think the ed is kind of glad that the campaign end election are over. But he has something going now that is sure taking the cake. That is the circulation and prize campaign. Saw the new Chevrolet out again last Saturday, and a crowd of people looking at it. The young ladies who are after that automobile, are sure working, too. The campaign is going on in full swing again this week. and with the reduction in price of the subscription, the contestants are covering a lot of territory now, and covering it fast. It won't be long now until there will be a Chilton County News going into every home in the county, and then some. But there aren't any going outside of the county to amount to anything.

Some of the contestants say they are running upon several people who don't know the editor and publisher of the News. Well, I'll tell you who he is, if he don't. The owner, editor and publisher is one fellow, Billy Smith. He has been with the News for almost six years now. He is the fellow who is responsible for the things that go into the paper, with the exception of this column, and he don't want to have any connection with it at all. He was born about a mile north of Thorsby, and then lived in Thorsby for a number of years. He is the son of P. C. Smith, who operated a store in Thorsby, and was agent there at the depot for a long time, and when they moved to Clanton, Mr. Smith operated the picture show, and the store known as the "candy store."

If you don't know him, why not drop in the News office sometime and get acquainted?

Have you noticed the large number of communities over the county that are represented in the News each week? There were about fourteen of them in last week's paper. Think of it—fourteen communities sending in news about their people, your friends and neighbors. Where can you get more for your money?

What about the Red Cross in Chilton County? Foolish question, if anyone should stop to think about it. By all means become a member of the Red Cross. Memberships are only one dollar, but smaller contributions will be accepted. Chilton county owes a debt of gratitude to the Red Cross, and must pay it.

Those people who thought that the Red Cross was an organization active only in times of war, learned different when Chilton county was struck by the tornadoes last March. They learned that the Red Cross came to our aid when they were first called, established headquarters in the county, and went to work. Over forty thousand dollars were spent in helping the distressed people of this county at that time, and that forty thousand dollars didn't come out of Chilton county either. Now—the Red Cross has asked this county for only 750 members. Can the people of Chilton county close their ears to this small request? I should smile and say NO.

The ed was telling me the other day about receiving a letter from a good friend of his out of the state. The friend wanted to know what had become of "Doug's" Column and the Ed's personal column. He said he enjoyed those two columns more than anything else in the paper. Well, dear friend of the Ed, I hope you read this, and I want to tell you that I'm much obliged for the compliment. Now maybe the ed won't be so hard on me, and criticise me so much for some of the things I write sometimes, or something.

National Book Week Observed At C. C. H. S.

The National Fourteenth Book Week will be fittingly observed this year, November 13 to 19 inclusive. The week has made a permanent place for itself on the educational calendar. Throughout the country, parents, teachers, and the children themselves, recognize in the Book Week an opportunity each year to discover new pleasures and new rewards which come from reading and owning books.

Present day educators realize the great importance of cultivating in young people the habit of reading as a definite contribution to happiness as they grow up. They emphasize the school library as a valuable part of school life and encourage children to build library collections of their own. The special [illegible]nts and programs for Book Week merely serve to point the way to new book discoveries and emphasize the fun of year-around reading.

Book Week originated in 1919 when our great organizations: American Book Sellers Association, Boy Scouts of America, and National Association of Book publishers combined their efforts in the interest of children's reading material. This week is supported by such educational bodies as the National Congress of Parents-Teachers Association, General Federation of Women's Clubs, and the National Education Association of America.

Young America's Book Parade

A program presenting some of the most familiar characters in literature has been planned for C. C. H. S. This program will be presented in the auditorium Thursday, November 17. Pupils from the various classes will be appropriately costumed to represent the various characters. One scene from Mark Twain's "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer," will be dramatized by the boys from the junior one class. This program will be presented with the purpose of creating and stimulating interest in good reading material.

Armistice Day Observed Last Friday at Chapel

In memory of Armistice Day, November 11, 1932, the school came together in the form of a chapel program to celebrate this national event. The students sang in unison, "Keep the Home Fires Burning." The next number was an appropriate selection from the Bible after which the National Prayer was offered. Mr. Little gave a short talk on "Why We Went To War." Two poems were contributed: "In Flanders Fields" by Hayes Marcus, and America's answer by Joe Hall Johnson. The Glee Club sang, "Old Glory" as a conclusion to the program.

Chilton Tigers Defeat Montevallo

The fighting tigers of Chilton County High School crushed a heavier team of Montevallo High School last Friday 27 to 0. The local boys gained a twenty-one to 0 lead by the half and only tallied six points in the second half.

The Montevallo boys tried fiercely to get going, and only once did they get closer than the 30-yard line. A pass that was knocked into another Montevallo player's hand resulted in their reaching the fifteen yard line. But the Tigers began to sharpen their claws and the advancing failed. The whole Clanton team played heads-up football and one could hardly pick the stars in the game. The Chilton team did not have to open any tricks, only using line playing with Foshee, Tiffin, Arnold and Burdette alternating for the yardage. The Chilton team showed some good blocking and line charging. The locals will close a very successful season Friday, November 18, when they meet one of the hardest teams n the State from Holtville. Coach "Tubby" Williams has the best team ever produced at Holtville High, and a battle is expected when these Tigers and Bull Dogs meet. The game last year ended in a scoreless tie. The locals are playing inspired football, and are determined to make the last game another victory. This will close the season for Chilton High and a record-breaking crowd is expected to be present. Holtville is bringing quite a number of fans.

Poems

IN ALABAMA

The sun shine bright
  In Alabama.
There are men of might
  In Alabama.
The cotton is trim and neat;
The sugar cane is sweet
  In Alabama.

The rivers give aid
  In Alabama.
The trees provide shade
  In Alabama.
Cattle roam the hills;
Water turns the mills
  In Alabama.

Coal and iron are found
  In Alabama.
Indians left mounds
  In Alabama.
Marble quarries are here
To make things more dear
  In Alabama.

—Sam Johnson.

ALABAMA

Alabama, you're my State.
Indians roamed you much of late,
Now, when I your beauty see,
I know I must be true to thee.

Beautiful flowers from you grow,
Beautiful rivers through you flow,
Wonderful minerals of every kind
Within your borders we freely find.

Forests of hickory, cedar and pine,
Oaks and magnolia your surface line.
Golden fruits and harvests rare
Are found thruout my State so fair.

—Blanche Thomas.

A POEM ON ALABAMA

Alabama, my southern home,
Where I love so much to roam.
I love each flower, bird, and bee,
And every little forest tree.

Alabama has great wealth,
And places for better health.
Its advantages are great,
And it's a grand old state.

—Annie Cordelia Smith.

Mount Pleasant Jr. High School

History Of Mount Pleasant Jr. High School Is Interesting

Written by Jr. III Class

In 1904 a one-room school building was erected three miles north of Clanton on the old Birmingham and Montgomery highway. The oldest man in the community, Mr. Jesse Culp, named the school Mt. Pleasant. Miss Bessie Ellis taught the first two terms: Mr. Houston Massey, John Thomas and Walter Foshee were the first trustees.

Mr. Wiley Foshee donated one acre of land for playground and such games as Batter-cat, Bom, Bom, Bom, London Bridge is Falling Down, and Town Ball were enjoyed by the pupils and spelling matches were also enjoyed by all.

The first school enrolled approximately thirty-five pupils and only five grades were taught.

In 1906 Miss Naomie Williams was principal.

From 1907 to 1909 Mr. R. A. Smith was principal.

In 1910 Mr. Jim Daniel was elected principal of the school and served until 1914. During his first term, the school was made a two-teacher school by stretching a curtain across the center of one room. His sister, Amy, was his assistant.

From 1914 to 1917 Mr. John Dye was principal and Herbert Lowery was the assistant teacher. In 1917 Mr. George Lewis was principal and his sister, Lela, was his assistant.

In 1922-23 Mr. Walter Martin was principal. Pearl Owen was his assistant and the third room was added during his session. Eight grades were taught.

From 1924 to 1926 Mr. Ellie Daniel was principal. During his principalship the fourth room was added and the Littlejohn School, a one-teacher school, was consolidated, making Mt. Pleasant a Junior High School.

From 1926 to 1927 Mr. Harlem Daniel served as principal.

In 1928 Mr. R. B. Johnson was elected Principal and is still serving.

On December 28, 1928 the building was destroyed by fire. The people came together and appointed the following citizens to draw up plans for replacing it with the new, modern building that we now have. The committee was composed of the following: Monroe Foshee, Chairman; W. B. Crowe, J. D. Price and C. N. Eiland. It was through their untiring efforts that the beautiful building was made possible. It is electrically equipped to receive the rural electrical service which the Alabama Power Company will soon make available.

Mrs. Katie Eiland donated five acres for the present site and playground.

A Parent-Teacher organization was created in 1928. It has, for the last four years, contributed generously toward making the building attractive and fully equipped with maps, globe, pictures and charts. Through the efforts of the P.-T. A. over one hundred dollars worth of new equipment was added to the school last year.

Since the establishment of this school many prominent families have moved into this community. About eighteen families were represented when the first school was held, which is quite a contrast to the eighty-two families represented now.

The first school enrolled approximately thirty-five pupils; since that time, the enrollment has grown to two hundred and twenty-five. Three busses transport about one hundred and twenty pupils to the school each day.

The present Board of Trustees is composed of the following outstanding citizens: Lee A. Popwell, J. E. Minor and Joe A. Logan.

The faculty for the present session is as follows: Mr. R. B. Johnson, Principal; Mrs. M. A. Wright, Carl G. Glasscock, Miss Celia Baldwin and Miss Lera Bean.

Carl G. Glasscock was recently added to the faculty and has been placed in charge of the boys' athletics and is teacher of the fifth and sixth grades.

The Senior Class of the Jemison High School has the largest enrollment ever before. The enrollment is twenty-one.

We have planned to raise money by a school supply store, a play, and a tie party. We are going to leave a set of books for the school library.

On Thanksgiving, we are going to give a special program, also one on Washington's birthday.

Our class is looking forward to two parties and a banquet in the school auditorium.

Senior Class History

Six years ago we entered Miss Haynes' room, feeling very important, having become Junior I's. The class consisted of twenty-five, eleven of whom are Seniors. Others have dropped out of school or have fallen behind.

The second year Miss Haynes was still our home room teacher. Our main subject was Social Studies which we did not digest so easily. Two new students entered our class as Junior II's.

When we were Junior III's we were in Miss Gerald's room. During this year we gained our knowledge of algebra. Two other students came to us as Junior III's.

In September, 1930, we entered Senior High School and Miss Newell was our home room teacher. Geometry was the obstacle, but we enjoyed the work with Mr. Vaughn.

During this year some of the boys and girls made the basket ball teams. Six students entered our class this year.

In 1931, we entered our Senior II Class becoming more dignified and set in our ways as we were now in the Senior Room with Miss Harvey as our home room teacher. Our class remained the same in number this year. Our minds were dominated by English Literature—especially Chaucer through the teaching of Miss Jessee. During this year our boys and girls helped gain for the school a name in athletics.

This brings us to our dignified year in Senior III Class with Miss Harvey as our teacher. We lost one senior which made us number twenty-one. In our English we studied "Idylls of the King" until we felt as though we had become knights or ladies of the Chivalric Age. We will surely not forget about the force pump which Mr. Peterson so faithfully explained in physics.

Our hearts are both glad and sad when we think of leaving our high school. We are sad because we had to leave the things we loved behind, but we are glad because we will now be able to do something in a bigger way for our Alma Mater.

In next month's School Page there will be a report from the Senior III Class of the Verbena High School.

Geography Means Much To The Fifth Grade in the Clanton Grammar School

On Saturday, November 12, the Chilton County teachers who are enrolled in the Alabama College extension class spent a day of intensive study of classroom instruction. The pupils seemed to get much enjoyment a well as information from the study o the pictures in the geography textboo

SYNTHETOC WONDERS

Scientific research, whereby new and useful materials are produced from substances hitherto of little or no value goes on apace in spite of the depression. In fact, a recent survey showed that of 350 industrial companies questioned more than one-half had invested more money in research in 1931 than in 1929.

One of the most noteworthy accomplishments of chemistry is seen in the long list of products now made from ordinary coal tar. It is the basic ingredient of aspirin, of which 3,700,000 pounds were produced in a single year. It is also used in the synthetic production of many other medicines, dyes, flavoring extracts, perfumes and molded plastic materials.

The odor of practically every flower may be simulated by artificial means. Thus a combination of citral and acetone gives the fragrance of violets; oil if citronella is treated to produce lily-of-the-valley; the odor of lilacs is derived from turpentine, and so on.

Cellulose, derived from cornstalks, peanut hulls, straw, wood, or sugarcane refuse known as bagasse, is further treated to produce rayon and cellophane. It is also used in the manufacture of synthetic resins for lacquers and plastic materials, and even for the generation of gas.

Chemical acids and sugar for animal feeds are extracted from sawdust. Casein derived from skimmed milk is a principal ingredient of buttons, fountain pens, electric light fixtures, and other molded products, and is also used in soap, shoe polish, photographic plates, paints and in textile printing.

The list of synthetic wonders might be extended to a great length, and new ones are being constantly added. Future developments along these lines can not be foreseen, but it is safe to say that they will be of tremendous importance.

"My mother had used Cardui with beneficial result, so I decided to take it. I surely am glad I did, for it stopped the pain in my side and built up my general health. I took seven bottles in all."

Livestock Reminders

Three-cent hogs will pay $24 per ton for peanuts in the field and will eliminate the cost of harvesting them.

Breed your sows to purebred boars this month for March litters. By pushing March pigs you can have them ready for market in September.

You will need fertilizer for your crop next spring. Begin getting it now by bedding your stables with straw or leaves and saving the manure produced by your livestock.

You should keep only enough livestock on your farm to market the surplus hay and grain you produce. Don't overstock your farm as you cannot starve profit into livestock.

Every cow in the next generation of cows will carry 50 per cent of the blood of the sire, and upon the sire you choose today depends the kind of herd you will have tomorrow.

More than 200 dairy cows in the United States have produced 1,000 lbs. or more of butterfat each in one year. Alabama's average production is less than 125 pounds, which is too low for profitable dairying.

A dairy cow will consume two tons of legume hay, 15 bushels of corn, 15 bushels of oats or 500 pounds of wheat bran and 500 pounds of cottonseed meal during the year. In addition, she will need two acres of good permanent pasture during the summer months.

GOV. MILLER'S MESSAGE ON AMENDMENTS

Governor Gives Out Statement To Papers On Income Tax

Governor Miller made the following comment to the papers on the result of the election on the Income Tax and Bond Amendments:

The income tax and bond amendments were lost in the election Tuesday.

Considering the great contest against it, waged so continuously and so long, with unlimited finances, by some of the Federal income tax payers, the result of the election is not surprising.

We are not discouraged. The defeat is to be greatly regretted, because the closing of the schools and the payment of the honest debts of Alabama were involved.

The schools cannot be kept open and the debts cannot be paid by current revenue. If the amendments had been adopted, this would have arranged for the debts and the schools could continue under current revenue.

Under our present revenue and Constitution these debts can be paid at this time only by bonds, warrants or notes payable in future when ratified by the voters at the polls.

Their vote Tuesday might be considered as a repudiation of Alabama's current debts, and as a willingness for schools to close. I believe it was not so intended. They did not fully understand it.

The amendments, in my judgment were lost for the lack of proper information on the part of the voters. There was no organization to support them. The best proof of this is that in those Counties where local leaders were active for the amendments, they were carried by notable majorities.

Alabama debts must be paid. Alabama cannot, Alabama must not, Alabama will not finally repudiate them The schools and colleges of Alabama should not close.

Alabama's debts will be paid in whole or in part, in my opinion, by an income tax written in the Constitution to remain there forever. Such a fair, just and equitable principle of taxation will never die. It will grow stronger and stronger as the days, months and years roll by. You cannot kill it. It will live forever.

The contest for it has just commenced in Alabama. The income tax principle has come to Alabama to stay. Income will not escape taxation in Alabama much longer. The large income makers must bear their just part of the tax burden by a levy o ntheir incomes for State debts, State and school expenses, and escape a fair taxation no longer.

The large incomes made in Alabama must be taxed to aid in paying debts, current expense of government and keeping up our school system.

IN MEMORY OF MRS MAMIE SANDERS

On November 12 as the sun was rising in the sky the death angel took our dear wife and mother to a better home where she will never have no more pain or sorrow. She leaves to mourn her loss a husband and six children. Her husband, John Sanders, Gladys and Hugh and Ottis of Clanton Route 7; Mrs. Nora Coggins of Clanton Route 7; Charlie Sanders of Louisiana; Walter Sanders of Fayetteville; eleven grandchildren. She has four sisters and four brothers, Mrs. Ada Mims of Clanton Rt. 7, Joe Ray of Clanton, Horace Ray of Birmingham, Will Ray of Dadeville, Lonnie Ray, gone on to yonder shining shore.

We want to thank the good people of Pleasant Grove for their kindness toward us during her sickness and death. We cannot thank them like we wish to. We also thank Dr. Gragg for what he did.

She was laid to rest at Shiloh cemetery. Pallbearers were Jim, Arthur, Claudie and Elbert Mims, Johnson Maddox, Albert Headley, Jack Jones. Spigener was in charge. Funeral was conducted by Rev. A. C. Nelson.

May Gol bless each and everyone who lent a helping hand toward us is our prayer.

O, how we miss her, no tongue can tell. So, let's all be ready to meet her where we'll part no more.

Thanks for all kindnesses shown us from her Husband and Children.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

by Charles E. Dunn

By Charles E. Dunn

Stewardship of Money

Lesson for November 20, 2nd Corinthians 9:6-15

Golden Text: Luke 12:15

We have much to learn with respect to the Christian distribution of wealth. It has been estimated that out of every $100 of income here in America, $22 is spent for luxuries, and only $.75 is donated to the Churches. In a recent year our people spent $1,847,000,000 for tobacco, more than was set aside for education and religion combined. If each of us would make a definte record of what we spend for the creature comforts of life, in comparison with what we give to those institutions that permanently enrich life, the figures would be very revealing.

In this day of acute distress Christ is calling upon us to live simply, that we may make genuine sacrifices for those in need. No longer must our wealth remain undedicated. As stewards of God's free bounty, entrusted to us for the highest, most generous uses, we must realize our imperative obligation to cut from our belongings all excess baggage, that we may effectively extend a helping hand.

This giving, moreover, must be methodical. "On the first day of the week," wrote Paul, "let each of you put aside a sum from his weekly gains." The ancient Hebrews gave one-tenth of their substance to the Lord. Not everyone can give a tithe today. But all can give systematically.

Then, too, the giving should be blessed with good cheer. "God loveth a cheerful giver" is the good news of our lesson text. People complain over appeals for funds, all unmindful of the privilege and joy of Christian giving. The whole of the gospel, indeed, the world's most precious treasure, can be summed up in the word "Give."

To the rich young ruler the Master said, "Go and sell, and give." This command was a puzzle to this lovable youth. As Dr. Charles R. Brown has pointed out, he knew the meaning of "Sell and get," "Sell and save," "Sell and spend." But the slogan "Sell and GIVE" was novel. He could not accept it. Yet these words, in their broadest interpretation, are the substance of the gospel, God's news to men. To him that gives comes the grace of heaven in unstinted measure.

FARMERS CURE MEAT

Bay Minette, Ala.—Baldwin County farmers are enthusiastic about using artificial ice for refrigerating and curing pork as recommended by the Experiment Station at Auburn, following successful experiments. County Agent E. E. Hale has given several demonstrations in this and farmers are putting it into practice. "It means much to the County," said Mr. Hale, "because our winters are very warm and we can't depend upon cold weather."

ALABAMA COTTON CROP IS SMALLEST SINCE 1923

The United States cotton crop is forecast by the U. S. Department of Agriculture at 11,947,000 bales, which is an increase of 522,000 bales over the forecast of a month ago, reports F. W. Gist, statistician for the Department of Agriculture.

Alabama's crop is forecast at 860,000 bales which compares with 1,420,000 bales last year and 1,475,000 in 1930. "This will be the smallest total crop produced in this State since 1923 when slightly less than 600,000 bales were produced," Gist said.

"The probable yield per acre in Alabama is forecast at 136 pounds which compared with 200 pounds of last year and a ten year average at 158 pounds. This yield is the smallest since 1923 and is due to the very small amount of fertilizer used this year and to the weevil damage which was heavier than the state has experienced in recent years," he said.

FIVE 4-H CLUB GIRLS WILL GO TO CHICAGO

Auburn, Ala.—Five Alabama 4-H club girls have been selected to attend the National 4-H Club Congress to be held in Chicago, November 27 to December 3. They are: Dolly Meadows, Lee County, state health champion; Dorothy James, Tuscaloosa County, clothing champion; Lanella McLain, Elmore County, clothing champion; Albena Pierce, Macon County, canning champion; Gladys Sawyer, Monroe County, baking champion.

Miss Bess Fleming, state club leader, in announcing these winners said that each one has made an outstanding record, the best in the State, this year. She has excelled all other in her particular project. They will compete at the National 4-H Club Congress with state champions from the other 47 states.

Miss Fleming will accompany the girls to Chicago and be in charge of them while they are there. She has agreed to serve also on some of the important committees which will be active during the Club Congress. "This high honor," said Miss Fleming, "was not conferred but earned. Study and work have won as they always do. The trip will be an experience which they will never forget."

And thousands of other 4-H club girls in Alabama are already working for the 1933 trips. Competition will be keen as it has been this year

The cupboard is their home

POULTRY, butter and eggs must never be without cupboards to go to. Behind the daily activity of Swift & Company's organization lie the simple ambitions of 55,000 employes and 48,000 stockholders — to live modestly, but well, and to deal fairly with each other and the rest of the world.

They understand the company's task. A most important part of that task is to buy produce from farmers at more than 100 produce plants, put it into attractive form for consumption and pass it along, without delay and with a minimum of cost, to retailers.

Employes and stockholders understand also the limitations of the job. They realize: (1) that Swift & Company must buy produce in competition with all other dealers and pay what any one else will offer; (2) that Swift & Company must sell whatever it buys at a price which consumers, through their retailers, are able and willing to pay; (3) that the little profit aimed at can be obtained only by keeping down every expense.

Our workers are spread over most of the United States; they are local residents wherever Swift & Company has a produce plant, a packing plant or a branch selling house. They are people just like the farm men and women who have produce to sell, with the same desire to give honest value and to get on in the world by performing real service.

Of our stockholders, more than 40 per cent are women. Their funds are invested in the company because they hope to receive at least moderate dividends. Over a period of years, profits have averaged less than half a cent a pound on all products sold.

Through good times and bad Swift & Company continues to maintain its national market for produce, working near capacity, paying cash to producers and, with the hearty cooperation of employes and stockholders, cutting every operating and selling expense over which it has control.

The Swift & Company national market was made by digging up demand wherever it exists in the United States, by advertising brands of high quality, Swift's Meats, Swift's Premium Milk-Fed Chicken, Golden West Fowl, Swift's Brookfield Butter, Eggs, Cheese and many other products.

J. H. Jackson Writes To Voters of County

Clanton, Ala., Rt. 1, Nov. 14, 1932.
Editor, Chilton County News:

Will you please give me a small space to thank the people who supported me in the race for Commissioner. Although I was defeated, yet I felt that we were more than victorious in the nation. Listen, friends, if you remember, I undertook to interpret some prophecy the first of this year. I predicted this prophecy to fulfill the last of October. After investigating the length of our Solar year I find it expires on or near election day. Now friends, if you remember that I said I did not look for Christ to come back in person, but would come in power and in glory, and would take from the hands of the oppressor the kingdom and establish righteousness.

So if this election be the fulfillment of this prophecy there remains a little work yet to be done in Chilton county.

Hoping to meet you at the political battlefield two years hence, and remain until all this prophecy be fulfilled.

Yours for a new Heaven and new earth wherein dwelleth righteousness.

J. H. JACKSON.

Writer Is Taken To Task For Criticism

page of the Republican organ, The Union-Banner, of last week, which came under the caption of the Man in the Moon. The article referred to the speech of the lady, Judge Louise Charlton, who spoke on the streets of Clanton November 5th. The article or editorial, just which you might call it, said anyone who could stand all of that stuff she had to say and get a kick out of it wouldn't mind a little trick like cleaning out a polecat den; and also said he had never been able to find a single person, a Republican or a Democrat, who was able to stand all of the lady's speech, and also charged the lady of being an avowed Catholic. Of course the lady has the same right to be a Catholic as we do to be a Protestant.

Now, Mr. Man in the Moon, I want to make a short reply to part of the above that you said. I have been informed by a friend who is personally acquainted with the lady who says she is not a Catholic, and to my own knowledge there were more than 300 men and women that heard all of the lady's speech. What you have said about the lady and all that heard her speech is an insult to the lady and all who heard her. My arm is too short to reach low enough to get hold of a man like you. Anyone who will make such a black statement as you have is not due any respect, and has no place in respectable society.

I do not know where you live, but will guess you live out somewhere near where I heard that a good Republican went out one night to a political gathering and the conduct at that place by a bunch of boys,inside and outside the building during the speaking was so bad that he changed his vote from the Republicans to the Democrats. I could say much more about the uncalled for disrespect that you have shown, but do not want to condescend so low as it would take to give you what you should justly have.

Respectfully,
A. A. JACKSON.

Shipment Of Fish Is Released In Water Here

In addition to this plant, the Department of Game and Fisheries has control of Oxford Lake, from which it secures both bass and bream. A total of 750,000 fingerling were produced and distributed last year, these fish going into every county of Alabama, according to a statement by I. T. Quinn, Commissioner of Game and Fisheries of Alabama.

While this is an exceptional production, it is not nearly sufficient for restocking the numerous streams of the State. As a comparison, Wisconsin last year produced 377,746,000 fish. Wisconsin, however, like most other states, has many hatcheries, while Alabama has only one.

Fishermen hope the day is not far distant when Alabama will have many more hatcheries. With the natural fishing advantages offered in this State, Alabama should be one of the most important fishing state in the Union.

The following local sportsmen were present and assisted in the planting: Dr. E. E. Upchurch, J. Mell Martin, V. J. Gragg, Red Rutherford.

LEGION GIVES NEW THOUGHT ON DISABLED

Local Post Defends Rights Of Disabled Veterans In Message

Publicity is being given to the National Economy League and its attempt to organize business men of the country in a drive in the coming session of congress to curtail by some $450,000,000 the benefits now being paid veterans of the World War. and other wars.

"We wonder if the business men of this community have given thought to the amount of money that is brought into this community each month as a result of the sums paid to World War veterans," R. D. Woodson, Post Commander of the American Legion here said today. "We will let the others answer for themselves, but for the World War, the disability compensation amounts to $204,620,000 and disability allowance $104,277,000. The difference is that the larger figure is for disability connected directly with the veteran's war service, and the smaller sum is not. The total for these two items is $308,897,000 per year, which amount is what is received by veterans and spent by them the necessities of life, etc.

"The population of the United States is 122,775,046, according to the census. Therefore, for every man, woman and child in America the above sum of $308,897,000 means if properly divided down, about 20 cents per capita. Now, this is not what it cost them—far from it. It is what they receive indirectly through these veterans. The cost comes out of the federal taxes, largely from the federal income tax paid by 42,000 persons who have annual NET incomes of more than $6,000,000,000 per year. In 1928, their net income, or profits, totaled $6,309,000,000.

"In a city of 10,000 this 20 cents per month per capita, means, on an average that the World War disabled veterans of that community received from the government $2,000 per month, or $24,000 for the year. In a city of 5,000 it would be $1,000 per month.

"As a matter of cold fact, the amount is much larger, because such disabled veterans naturally reside in the towns and cities. A careful survey made recently of a typical American City of about 20,000 population (Inglewood, Calif.) revealed that the disabled veterans residing there receive approximately $10,000 per month. If that ration would hold good throughout all towns and cities, then the one of 10,000 population would get $5,000 per month, or $60,000 per year.

"Does this money mean anything to the merchants, to the doctors, the dentists—yes, and to the bankers, school teachers, taxpayers and laborers? Of course it does, because they would miss that money each month and each year. It could easily be the difference between profit and bankruptcy for many firms.

"Then there is another side to the story. Many of these veterans have no other means of supporting their families than the small sum they receive from the government. Take this support away from these veterans and what is going to happen?

"They are almost certain to become wards of the city and county. Remember, the veterans are paid out of federal taxes, and not from local and state taxes. Their pay comes out of the huge profits of federal income tax payers. But if they become burdens on their local communities, then they affect the average American home owner and business man.

"Besides, they fought for the federal government and it is a federal problem, not a state or local liability."

MOTHER OF B. LAWRENCE DIED LAST THURSDAY

Mrs. Mary Rossie Lawrence, age 69, died at her home near Clanton last Thursday, November 17th, following a short illness. She was a devoted member of the Baptist church, and the mother of Buford Lawrence, county superintendent of education.

Funeral services were held on the following Saturday at Jemison, with the Rev. J. W. Jones of Thorsby officiating, assisted by the Rev. G. G. Williams, and Dr. S. J. Ezell. The services were very impressive with the Christian life of the deceased being pictured by those officiating. The many and beautiful floral offerings and the large crowd of people attending the funeral, attested to the love and esteem held for this woman. Martin & Sons of Clanton were in charge of burial.

BAKERY HERE ENTERTAINS FOR MERCHANTS

Brilliant Affair Takes Place Last Thursday; Speakers Praise Products

A gala and long to be remembered event took place in Clanton last Thursday night, when the managers of the Sunlite Bakery, of Clanton, entertained merchants and business men and their wives at an oyster supper at the bakery.

Seven-thirty was the hour set, and there came from the doors of the bright clean bake shop, strains of music made by the boys in the Clanton Orchestra.

Are You Getting Your Paper?

That is a question the News is anxious about. During the Circulation Campaign, there have been hundreds of new names added to our list. Please notify the News immediately if we have your name, initials or address wrong, or if you have not been given proper credit. This is very important to you as well as us, and your cooperation will be appreciated.

CLANTON MERCHANTS ASK YOU FOR YOUR PATRONAGE

Bargains, bargains. Everybody is looking for bargains, everywhere, all the time. But the search for bargains should not lead anyone very far. In fact no farther than Clanton where Clanton merchants are asking for your trade.

Don't scan through the pages in this issue of the News, but look over them carefully. Read the ads from the grocery stores, the dry goods stores and other places.

Spend your money with the men who are here, day in and day out. Those men who give and give to your charity organizations when they are called on. But that is not the only reason you should trade at home with these merchants. They are offering you your money's worth. If it's bargains you want—they are here.

OFFICIAL STATE ELECTION COUNT IS COMPLETED

Democratic Total In State Is Shown At 207,910 As Official

Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 20.—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic nominee for President of the United States, received exactly 173,235 more votes in Alabama than his opponent, President Herbert Hoover, Republican nominee for re-election, it is shown by the official count of ballots cast at the election of Nov. 8, in Alabama, completed yesterday by the State Canvassing Board composed of Gov. Miller, Atty.-Gen. Thomas E. Knight, Jr., and Secretary of State Pete B. Jarman, Jr.

The vote for President is recorded in the balloting for presidential electors for the participating parties. The Democratil candidate for elector to receive the highest total of votes, was L. R Tucker, with a total of 207,910. Frank H. Lathrop, with 34,675, got the largest total of votes cast for elector for the Republican party.

In Montgomery-County 10,066 votes were cast for Roosevelt, and 441 for Hoover.

The high-water mark reached by a communist candidate was 406; while the biggest total for the Socialist party was 2,030.

Though the prohibition party failed to qualify for participation in the general election in this State, the name of that party's nominee was written on two ballots cast in Houston County.

The same count showed the defeat by heavy margins of all of the nine proposed constitutional amendments. The vote on the income tax and bond issue amendments, showed the following: Income tax, for 73,718; against, 145,689. Bond issue, for, 58,139; against 157,884.

Extra Vote Offer Now In Effect Spurs Contestants To Heights

Final Count Of Votes Will Be Made Saturday Night, December The Third By Four Selected Judges

Just a few more days for contestants in the Chilton County NEWS Big Circulation Drive to collect up their PROMISES and get the subscriptions that will make them winners. We will venture to say that most every part of the county has been worked by one or more of the contestants, and that there has been subscriptions secured in every community. But at that there are plenty of subscriptions left and the hard working contestant that keeps working up to the last minute and gets every subscription possible is the one that is going to be best rewarded for her efforts in the end.

Who Will Win?

WHO will win is the question that is on hundreds of tongues, and will be the question to be decided by the count of votes by the judges on the closing night of the campaign. The winner will be the person having the greater total of votes in the ballot box on Saturday night December 3rd, at eight o'clock P. M. In next week's issue full instructions and rules and regulations will be published. The judges will be announced and all will be ready for the final closing.

100,000 Extra Votes

From now until the end of the campaign candidates will receive 100,000 extra votes for each club of subscriptions turned in. These may be the deciding votes at the end, who knows? This is just half the amount of votes that were given at the beginning of the campaign. Every contestant should get every subscription possible between now and the close regardless of how many they have gotten previously. It will be better to win by a million than to lose by a mere few. One club of subscriptions will make a great difference and might be the winning or losing of the NEW Chevrolet. So as a final fair warning to contestants get every possible subscription in between now and December 3rd; as it might be the very subscription or subscriptions needed to win.

The race is really close and there are several contestants that have made considerable gains in the last few days. They will bear watching from now on. In next weeks issue will be the last count of votes and the last standing of contestants published. Next Tuesday night at eight o'clock will be the last chance to turn subscriptions in to this office. The campaign manager will make his count then and will have nothing to do with the campaign from then on to the final close. So if you want your standing high next week just before the closing do not fail to get every available subscription in to the office. Long term subscriptions and HARD WORK FROM NOW ON WILL HELP TO WIN.

Let
Give
Thanks

On this day of Thanksgiving, November 24, 1932, let us take time to recall this same day, three hundred and eleven years ago, as our history tells us about the hardships suffered by those staunch men and women who came to this land and fought the hardships and dangers we know nothing of.

Today, these many years ago, the Pilgrims came together and in utter simplicity, gave sincere thanks to The Great Giver of all gifts for the blessings they had received, thankful for their homes, their families and their crops.

We, the more fortunate inhabitants of this wonderful land, first settled by the Pilgrims, certainly have more to be thankful for, and our thanks should go up to Him on this day During periods of adversity there awakens within our breasts a deeper appreciation of the countless blessings we have received, one of which is the example set before us by these Pilgrims so many years ago, whose homely virtues of self-discipline and perseverance are still the unfailing source of abundant prosperity today.

At this time, the News gives thanks for the patronage and goodwill of its friends and readers. We feel that we have been blessed with the friendship of hundreds of people through the years of our existence, and as we look back over past years, we raise our voice in thanks.

NOW IS THE TIME TO BECOME A SUBSCRIBER

MORE MEMBERS ARE NEEDED IN RED CROSS HERE

Will Accept Syrup, Corn As Payment Of Membership During Roll Call

It is going to take several more memberships in the Red Cross Roll Call for this county, and they are needed now, according to Chairman C. E. Stapp. The Roll Call opened here the first of this month, and while workers have been diligently seeking members, the desired number has not been reached.

Chilton County is to secure 750 members. That is the number given them by the National Red Cross, the organization that spent several thousands of dollars right in Chilton county this year.

Those who are not able to give any cash to become members, can become members by bringing in syrup or corn. These products can be used by the local Chapter of the Red Cross to relieve the suffering in the county this winter "Bring it in" says Chairman Stapp, "we can use it to a good advantage."

Polk Brothers Say Wait For Surprise

"Wait and see the new 1933 Chevrolet," say Polk Brothers Motor Co., of Clanton, local Chevrolet dealers. There is not much information out at present on the new Chevrolet, but W. M. Polk and George Polk say that it is to be one of the most modern cars out in its price range.

Many new and mystifying features have been added to this new model, they stated, and the latest improvements in comfort and safety are there. New body features can be seen already in the new 1933 Chevrolet. Polk Brothers stated they expected to make a full announcement in the very near future. In the meantime, they tell the people, "Wait and see the new 1933 Chevrolet that will be here soon."

CLANTON GETS A NEW PASTOR FOR METHODIST

Haskew Will Go To Dothan; R. P. Cochran Will Be Sent Here

Many changes were made in Methodist pulpits at the close of the centennial session of the Alabama Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in Troy last Sunday.

One of Clanton's beloved pastors, Dr. Dan W. Haskew, will be sent to Dothan, where he will fill the pulpit of the Lafayette Street Methodist church. He is to be succeeded here by the Rev. R. P. Cochran, according to press reports received by the News Monday morning.

Dr. Haskew is completing his second year as pastor of the Clanton Methodist church, filled admirably by him. He with Mrs. Haskew, and their charming personalities have added greatly to their long list of life-long friends during their stay in Clanton, where they have served their people to the best of their ability.

The column carried in local papers headed "Moral Echoes" is written by this splendid man who is to leave Clanton to take up his pastorate in Dothan. Through this column, Dr. Haskew has made many friends, who do not even know him. The readers of the local papers sincerely wish that they may continue reading his splendid column here. Dr. Haskew returns to Clanton this week, from the conference in Troy, and will no doubt make announcement of his final sermon as pastor of the local Methodist church.

Of interest to the people of Chilton county is the announcement that the Rev. Ernest A. Childs [illegible] at Troy.

For Merchants Who Do Not Advertise

Merchants who do not advertise are invited to read the following from the American Bankers Magazine, as it might give them a new slant on business—your own business—as well as the matter of building up your town.

"No business man in any town should allow a newspaper published in his town to go without his name and business being mentioned somewhere in its columns. This does not mean you should have a whole, half or even a quarter page ad in each issue of the paper, but your name and business should be mentioned, if you do not use more than a 2-line space. A stranger picking up a newspaper should be able to tell what business is represented in a town by looking at the paper. This is the best possible town advertiser. The man who does not advertise his business does an injustice to himself and the town. The man who insists on sharing the business that comes to town, but refuses to advertise his own is not a valuable addition to any town. The life of a town depends on the live wide-awake and liberal advertising business men."

Letter From G. W. Edwards

Clanton, Ala., Nov. 18, 1932.

Editor, Chilton County News:

Will you please give me space to thank the people who voted for me November 8th? I hope my life in the future will be such that they will never regret voting for me. I have no ill will for those that voted against me.

When the truth hurts a politician he resorts to abuse and bad names, but I thank the Lord that I have none of that to do. We know that a majority of the voters are satisfied with the way our county has been managed.

I am ever for the success of the Democratic party.

IN MEMORY OF OUR DEAR AUNT, MRS. MAMIE SANDERS

It was on November the twelfth, just before the sunrise of day when the Lord called our dear aunt away. Her delicate body was laid to rest in the cold, cold ground. But from the life she lived, her prelious soul was heaven bound. Auntie certainly lived a life that would surely stand the test, and I do believe that Auntie Dear, went to rest. Sickness and sorrow it seems that Auntie had her share, but now I believe she's in a home where things are bright and fair. Dear Aunt, to see you leave us we could not help but cry, but we hope to meet our aunt in the sweet bye and bye. Weep not, dear loved ones, for she's at rest.

MORAL ECHOES

D. W. Haskew

Two neighbors lived side by side and often talked to each other from open doors. One of the women was a loyal church goer, and on Sunday morning she called to her good friend, "Is Willie going with me this morning to Sunday school?" The lady next door had a bright son the age of seven, and she replied to the question, "I do not know. Just wait until I ask him." She asked Willie and he said "No," and he did not go. On Monday morning the Grammar school opened at eight-thirty, but Willie was not asked if he was going to the day school. Mother knew that long before Willie opened his eyes. He might say, "No," but Mother and Dad said "Yes." It looks strange to me why sensible parents will let their children have their own way about church life, and then demand obedience on educational lines. It does not show that the child is as much wrong as are the parents. Leave a child out of Sunday school and his chances for the chain gang have been multiplied many times.

An eccentric bachelor lived alone in his cottage. The glass window by which he sat looking out over his garden, became soiled. He would fret much because the dust gathered on the window pane and obstructed his view. The dust grew thicker and thicker, until the eye could see but little on the outside. The old man became angry because he could not see, and to make it possible for him to see, he struck the window pane with a lightwood knot, knocking it out. Then the old man sat there looking through the broken pane, while the frosty windy gave to him his death cold. Why did he not wash the window and make it clean so that he could see? That would have answered every purpose and that would have saved his life. Laziness and lack of judgment are producing like results in the world today. Why not live the clean life, and have our hearts washed and made clean, and then we will preserve ourselves from many chilling winds that bring about soul death. That old bachelor was no more foolish than the young man who breaks and ruins his health in the ways of the flesh. It is the washed soul, the clean life, that gives a clear vision and that protects living.

Not long since a Negro man was shot while up a tree pilfering the hen roost. The owner of the chickens heard a disturbance among his fowls, and carrying his gun he hurried into the back yard. Seeing a bulk among the limbs he shot, thinking that he saw a large raccoon. At the crack of the gun the Negro tumbled out. On finding out what he had done the man rushed the Negro to the hospital and had everything done within the skill of man to save his life. Just before dying the Negro made this confession, "For thirty years I have made my living by stealing chickens, and this is the first time I ever got into trouble." That goes to show that you can not play with sin and get away with it. "Be sure your sins will find you out. Whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap." You may make rum for twenty years, but it is coming out on you. You may be untrue to your companion for ten years, but it will not always be hid. It may take thirty years for your sin to create trouble for you, but be assured, trouble is on the way, and it will find you.

At Jacksonville, Ala., two men made a bet. It was mule against mule. The bet was on the election of Hoover and Roosevelt. The day of the election the two mules were put into the lot of a third party. On election day the Roosevelt man won a mule. In one of the Carolina's a man and a lady made a bet. The man bet his house against the lady's hen that Roosevelt would be elected. He won a hen. What fools we mortals are. Am I right when I sa that no one but a fool will go into th gambling business?

A story is told as to how Dr. George Stewart of First Church, Birmingham tested out the sincerity of begg They would come to him by the sc asking for help and assuring him that they wanted to work. The good old Doctor had a large pile of loose brick dumped on the rear of the church yard. When a man would come to him with his hard luck story, he would be given the job of moving those brick and stacking them at another place. The wage was one dollar per day. If the man stuck to his job and worked all day he was paid a dollar at night. If he refused to work, or worked a few minutes and then quit, he was given thing. About one out of every ten stu to the job and collected the dollar. We need something like that in this time when loafing and begging are in the air. If a man is out begging for a l ing, he is not worthy of being helped. If a strong, healthy man asks for f at your door, do not give him a cru of bread until he has earned it. If you have nothing else that he can do, tell him to go into the back yard and dig a hole waist deep and then fill it up and you will feed him. If he refuses, then call the police. Promiscuous fee of hobos pauperizes them. Stop feeding the drifters and they will stop d ing.

S. Y. Dorminey Writes Another Good Letter

Jemison, Ala., Route 1.

Editor, Chilton County News:

I want to express to you and your honorable staff my many thanks in which you carried my earnest appeal to the people and voters of this county.

Now there are lots of things I would like to say, but I will not take up much of your valuable time now. You may call it a landslide, a revolution in the ballot box, or what not, we just simply won practically everything except the county, and these boys made a No. 1 good showing and they did most of it by themselves. Their voters up here, or most of them, had to walk, while the others found a way to ride.

Now, Mr. Editor, if you and your very able staff will stay with me I promise you that we will all be riding or we will all be walking two years hence, and I don't mean maybe. I want to say that I certainly like the principle and very able spirit in which you are fighting our battles. If you keep this system up we will surely win.

The Union-Banner or better known as the "Republican Organ" seems to be a little out of tune or else they are playing in the wrong key. I don't know which, but I do know the people are not dancing to the music like they used to.

Will close by saying, I am,

Yours for the best,
SHADE Y. DORMINEY.

THE TEMPLE CHURCH AND CONCORD SCHOOL NEWS

The people of this community have been very busy this week, eating the scraps of their fat hogs and saving the remainder for the last of the Hoover administration, looking for better prosperity.

Our school is progressing nicely. We are now building a new room which will be completed in the next few days.

Bro. Willie Thurman and wife from Illinois have been campaigning this week with much interest at the Temple Church. Many hearts have been encouraged, and we cordially invite them back. The Sunday school is progressing nicely.

Rev. Thurman's message for Sunday at eleven o'clock was found in 2nd Cor. first chapter and second verse. His subject was "Deliverance." Many hearts were made glad for the great deliverance through our Lord.

Again the message for seven o'clock Sunday night was found in Gal. 6 chapter and 7th verse. A deceived world and a Christly message. God is not mocked: whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap. Many hearts were crushed. They will be with us this week. Everybody invited to come and hear them.

The Best Friend of Hard Times

The best friend of "hard times" is a high tax rate.

Reasonable taxes encourage the investment of capital, the development and expansion of industry, the employment of labor. They encourage home building, savings and business activity of all kinds.

Excessive taxes, on the other hand, have precisely the opposite effect. They drive money into hoarding or into tax-free government bonds, thus depriving industry of revenue it sorely needs. They make for unemployment and for widespread economic distress. They discourage the home builder. They cause property to be taken over by the county or state for unpaid taxes, where it at once becomes unproductive.

Make no mistake about it, high taxation, whether by the federal government, or states, counties or municipalities, has had much to do with creating and prolonging hard times. Every business man in the United States knows that. So does every investor. So should every worker. The best influence in favor of good times would be a decisive cut in the cost of government and the elimination of bureaucratic waste, red tape and inefficiency. And the best place to begin is right in your own home town, county or state. The tax bill is fast becoming the barometer of economic conditions.

The Rubbish Peddlers

In a recent article in the Atlantic Monthly, John Maynard Keynes, one of the foremost economists of the world, said that "in the United States it is almost inconceivable what rubbish a public man has to utter today. . . . "

The reason for that is that most public men, particularly those in high office, minimize the intelligence of the public. They have seen themselves and others swept into office on platforms consisting mainly or solely of ancient platitudes, sonorous evasions, polysyllabic misrepresentations, and appeals to local prejudices. They have then acted accordingly.

The public is largely to blame for this condition, not because of lack of intelligence, not because of a laissez faire attitude toward the business of government. If the average well-informed citizen paid as little critical attention to his own busness as he does to the public business he would be bankrupt.

There are grounds for hope that present conditions have awakened the voter. They have tended to make us think—to look at government and government officers with new eyes. If they have done that, the depression has been worth its great cost. And the result will be that a good many officeholders, whose stock in trade is bunk, will be looking for new jobs in the near future.

Campaign For Wholesome Fiction

The cause of the American Fiction Guild in its program for the improvement of the American story and the sweeping from the news stand of all objectionable material, has been distinctly advanced by the recent enrollment of H. Bedford Jones, the chief exponent of clean love, detective, adventure and western stories. He has been writing stirring fiction for more years than many of the current crop of writers can remember.

The American Fiction Guild also has such members as Albert Richard Wetjan, hailed as the "new Jack London" almost from the moment when he first began to appear in print; Sewell Peaslee Wright, who appears in many of America's best magazines, including the leading "smooth paper" magazines; James Stevens and many others. The membership will be constantly added to as soon as writers all over the country begin to realize its purpose.

But even these are names with which to conjure. Seeing them on any news stand is a guarantee of excellence. It is their kind of wholesome writing which the American Fiction Guild wshes to encourage for the benefit of people of all ages.

A Step Toward Recovery

In August, 1926, the railroads of the country employed 1,793,067 persons.

In August, 1929, they employed 1,681,252 persons.

In August, 1932, they employed 996,319—the smallest number since 1899.

In addition, reduced purchases by railroads from coal mines and other industries have caused even larger reduction in employment.

The railroads are not employing 797,000 less people now than they did in 1926 because they do not want to provide employment. They are employing less because gigantic decreases in railroad earnings have made it impossible for them to take any other course than decisive retrenchment. Had the decreases been the result of depression alone, they would seem much less important than they are. But the principal cause of transportation difficulties is, and has been, the inequalities in our transportation policy.

The railroads make no unreasonable requests. Here is what they do ask: That they be given fair treatment and that all forms of commercial transportation be placed on an equitable basis before the law. This means that the government must stop subsidizing waterways and that highway competitors must receive regulation similar to that now exerted over the railroads. When that is done, hundreds of thousands of railroad men will return to their jobs, a multitude of other industries will be stimulated—and we will have taken a long step toward recovery.

"ROUND TOWN"

---by Doug

Bought me some wool socks the other day, and have a pair on now. And you know, it's the hardest thing in the world to make up my mind every night, to pull these socks off, before going to bed. Boy they are dandies, and warm too. Did you ever sleep with your socks on? Try it sometime, but not too often. I've found that it pays to change now and then. It's not so tough on the socks. That is provided you have more than one pair.

Speaking of going to bed at night in cold weather, when I slid into bed the other night—I say slid, because that is what I did—the sheets were so cold, I immediately thought of the idea that somebody ought to invent some heaters for sheets or something. Maybe heat them with electricity, or something. And if you pardon my saying so, that invention would no doubt cause a decrease in the sale of marriage licenses, cut down on the incomes of preachers, judges and justices of the peace. So you see, every time there is a new invention, it injures some kind of business. And of course in the summer time, there could be some way of having a cooling system for bed sheets. Now, that invention would no doubt cause an increase in the sale of marriage licenses in the summer time offsetting the decrease in the winter time with heated sheets. Not a bad idea at that is it?

While writing this column (it's Saturday) I haven't heard whether the Methodists are going to send Dr. Haskew back to Clanton or not. But I can say right here and now, that I certainly hope he will be returned to Clanton for another session. If he is not, I think the Ed is planning on getting him to continue to write his popular column "Moral Echoes."

The Ed got all steamed up about the oysters the Sunlite Bakery served last Thursday night to the merchants of Clanton at the big blow out. Those oysters must have been good, and he must have got a lot of 'em, because he said he wasn't hungry all day Friday. I passed by the bakery while they were having that affair Thursday night, and things certainly looked busy in there. Well, I've already made up my mind that Clanton has a bakery and is to continue to have one, since the Sunlite Bakery has three such efficient managers now.

And another thing that added in a great way to the bakery's coming out party Thursday night, was the Clanton Orchestra. These boys, all of Clanton, are certainly the berries, or something. They've been practicing for only a short time, and are very good. I'm for them, one hundred percent. The people of Clanton ought to keep these boys in mind now and give them a hand every chance they can.

I suppose you noticed that you received your News a day earlier this week. Well, as a matter of explanation, I wanted to get off Thursday, to take Thanksgiving, so the Ed decided the only thing to do was to publish the paper a day earlier so I could get off for the day.

I saw a lot of fellows smoking pipes last Monday instead of the usual Camel, Chesterfield, Lucky or other cigarettes. And at the same time while I was wandering round town I saw clerks in the stores that sell cigarettes and tobacco, busy sticking tax stamps on cigarettes, cigars and smoking tobacco. Cigarettes have become something of a luxury now, unless some means can be devised to get around the new tax on them. We'll just wait and see what stores in Clanton are going to fix this up first. I notice that the Ed has pulled out his old trusty pipe, purchased himself a five cent bag of tobacco, and there are no cigarettes around the office for him.

There is a story about a boy, a man and a little yellow dog. The man and the little boy were walking down the street. The yellow dog ran out and began barking at them. The little boy picked up some stones and was throwing them at the dog. The man corrected the boy, tellng him never to throw rocks at a dog, when he is barking. That the dog then understands he is disturbing you and he will keep up his barking—exactly what he wants. Do you get the moral?

Have you joined the Red Cross? They got my dollar the other day, and I lost my button. Ever since, I have been beseiged on every hand for another membership. I've been looking everywhere for another button as a matter of protection, and if I can't find a button, it's going to be too bad for me and I can see myself departing with a lot of dollars.

Thanksgiving is just around the corner, so to speak. And while I'm sitting in a nice warm room, eating turkey with all the necessary and unnecessary trimming, and a nice fire to sit by when I have filled that cavity part of my anatomy, or something, I'll be wondering how many families around here who won't even have a piece of bread to eat. If they do even have bread, it will be old and possibly stale. Nope, I'll not splurge so much as to have that turkey and trimmings. Instead I'll have an ordinary dinner, and give any extra money I would have spent, to someone who needs it. There is never a day passes that I am not furnishing someone with something to eat, or something. I wonder how many of you people will think about the hungry people of Clanton and Chilton county while you are enjoying your Thanksgiving feast.

Due to there being no rural mail delivered on Thursday, Thanksgiving, the News will come to you a day earlier this week. That is, I mean it has come to you a day earlier.

Are you a regular reader of the comic strip known as "Orphan Annie" that appears in The Birmingham-Age-Herald every day and Sunday? I am and I'm sure going to see that picture coming to the Wadesonian Theatre on Monday and Tuesday, November 28th and 29th. It is "Orphan Annie" in person with her famous dog "Sandy." This picture is being sponsored by the Pilot Club of Clanton, and proceeds will go toward Red Cross work here. This picture is for grown-ups as wel las kids, and you should see it. Take the family if you have one. If not, take someone else's family, or something.

While I'm thinking about it, the Wadesonian Theatre is certainly showing some good pictures these days. Last Friday and Saturday they showed that great picture, "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde." Boy, that was a wonder of a picture. I was almost afraid to go home by myself after seeing it. To keep up with the program, see it in the News each week.

MY PERSONAL COLUMN

Billy Smith

—o—

It is a pleasure to know that I can have time this week to write this column. Last week I was delighted to receive two letters from friends of the News, both inquiring about this column. I quote from one of the letters, "I miss very much, 'My Personal Column' and wish you would continue to write it, for through it I keep in touch with you in a more personal manner. In fact the editorial page is one of the first things I look for."

* * *

Such comments from a person makes one feel very good and willing to write again, and I take this means of thanking you two for your kind letters.

On my return from Rockford last Thursday morning, I stopped at the shingle mill of Ira Hardy, in Coosa County, on the Rockford highway. There is a most interesting sight. Mr. Hardy has a large boiler, furnishing power for the shingle mill, saw mill, grist mill, and feed crusher. It was the first time I had even seen a shingle mill making shingles.

While I am writing about Coosa County, I might mention that Coosa will soon reach the ripe old age of 100 years. Mr. John K. McEwen, of Rockford, has the time down to the minute. On December 18th, 1932, Coosa county will celebrate its 100th anniversary. This will be of interest to those many persons in Chilton county who came over here from Coosa.

* * *

My attention was called the other day to the fact that undoubtedly the voters of Chilton county certainly know how to split their tickets. That has been demonstrated in the past two general elections.

It is very pleasing to note that a great amount of interest is being taken in the Red Cross Drive now on in this county. My hat is off to the ladies of the county who are so faithfully filling their posts of duty on the streets, seeking members for the Red Cross. These ladies are giving their time and effort, without pay, in order that this county may prepare for any future disasters, and may take care of the needy this winter.

Several of the contestants in the News Circulation Drive bring in reports that they find people who want to know who I am. I would certainly like to know all of you. I realize that there are hundreds of readers of the News I have never met, but as time goes on, I hope to become personally acquainted with you. I have extended this invitation before, and will do it again—when you are in Clanton, drop in the News office and get acquainted.

I appreciate the comment from Mr. Shade Y. Dorminey this week about the principles on which the Democratic campaign in Chilton county was conducted this year.

Disregarding my modesty, I am quoting a clipping from the Montgomery Advertiser of a recent date, written by that widely known and well read writer, Mr. Atticus Mullin. Mr. Mullin is well versed in conditions over the state and his column "The Passing Throng" is read and studied. Thank you Mr. Mullin, for these comments:

"Now Here Comes Billy Smith With Democratic News From Chilton—

"When Montgomery County goes Democratic it is not news. When the City of Montgomery elects Bill Gunter Mayor it is not news. But it would be news if Montgomery County went Republican. And it would be bigger and sadder news to all "us boys" if Bill Gunter was beaten at any time for Mayor.

"This gets us to Chilton County. It is not news when Chilton County goes Republican. But it is news when Chilton County goes Democratic. And that is just what Chilton County did Tuesday, a majority of the voters marking their tickets for Roosevelt. The news about Chilton was brought to the writer today by Billy Smith, of Clanton. Billy is one of the youngest, one of the most vigorous and one of the most successful weekly paper editors in Alabama. And in addition to this Billy managed the Democratic campaign in Chilton which resulted in that county going for the Democratic nominee for President. While Chilton did not elect Democrats to county office, Mr. Smith is firmly convinced that in the not distant future this little irregularity in Chilton will be remedied. We do not share Billy's beliefs in this regard because we know the resourcefulness of Judge Louis Reynolds, Percy Pitts, et al. But maybe Billy is right at that.

"It has been twenty years or more since Chilton County voted the Democratic ticket, if we remember our politics correctly. And we think we are pretty close to right at that."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

by Charles E. Dunn

Stewardship of Life

Lesson for Nov. 27th. Acts 26:12-19

Golden Text: 2nd Corinthians 8:5.

The Bible is the story of men who, in response to a divine call, gave themselves to God. Abraham was called to enlarge his horizons, "and he went out, not knowing whither he went." The crestfallen Gideon heard the Lord's command to save Israel, and he obeyed. Amos, a herdsman of Tekoa, left his desert sheep, at the behest of the Most High, to defy the luxurious immorality of Bethel. Isaiah in the temple heard the Lord ask, "Whom shall I send?" and he answered, "Here am I; send me." The shrinking Jeremiah also responded to God's appointment.

Then think of the many who surrendered themselves to God's Will under the spell of the Master's influence! James and John forsook the mending of their nets that they might become fishers of men. In like manner Andrew and Peter left their boats, and Matthew his Toll Office. And in our lesson we read of that amazing revelation that came to Paul on the Damascus road, cutting his life in two like a hatchet. There he saw a blazing light from heaven.

To that heavenly vision, as he told King Agrippa, he was not disobedient, giving himself, with unwearied devotion to the gospel ministry. Though bowlegged, round-shouldered and bald, with a hook-nose, and a painful infirmity, possibly epilepsy, he accomplished, thru God's grace, a prodigious work.

In our Golden Text Paul praises the Macedonian Churches because "they gave their own selves to the Lord." They donated money for the relief of the poor in Jerusalem.

Only through the giving of self can the world be redeemed from its present bitter plight. We do not lack good ideas and programs. But we conspicuously fail to generate that character that can alone make thees real.

Too many submit to the forces of futility and despair. Last year there were in this country as many as 20,000 suicides. Fortunately, there is a host of another mood, men and women fired with the elation of self-surrender to that Eternal Spirit Who is the Fountain of Life, Light, and Love.

Everywhere candidates are swarming in eager and anxious quest for subscriptions and votes that will win for them one of the greatest list of valuable awards ever given in CHILTON County or surrounding territory

Civic pride is playing an important part in this campaign. Towns and communities throughout this section are rallying to the support of their favorite sons and daughters, vieing with each other for the honor of claiming the winner. She served a four-course dinner and in the center of the table were beautiful white chrysanthemums. The day was a very enjoyable one to those present and it was spent in sewing.

H. B. Oliver Defends The School Teachers

November 21, 1932.

Editor, Chilton County News:

The teachers of this county—perhaps other counties of the State—have been ordered dismissed Wednesday evening next until the following Monday and no pay will be allowed for Thursday and Friday, the former a legal holiday throughout the United States.

If the County Superintendents and their office force as well as the State Superintendent and his army of employees would voluntarily do as much as the teachers are ordered to do it would be worth while and in line with the principle of real economy—not the "Economy League" that has attempted to prevent the State of Alabama from paying its debt and stopped the public schools throughout the State

It is all right to speak of the loyalty and sacrifices of the teachers—which sometimes looks like pure flattery but demands continue—it is unfair and unjust.

Yours truly,
H. B. OLIVER.

IN MEMORY OF OUR DEAR MOTHER, MRS. LAURA WEBB

It was on October the thirty-first, when the Lord called our dear mother away. Her delicate body was laid to rest in the cold ground, but her soul was Heaven bound. Mother lived a life that stood the test, and now her soul is sweetly at rest. Her heart was full of love, for she told us she was going above.

She taught her children to do what was right and just, and in Jesus to always trust. In body she had to suffer an awful lot of pain, but it was for some noble purpose, and we know it was not in vain. Sickness and sorrow, it seemed that mother had more than her share, but her reward is a home where everything is bright and fair. Our part now, is to prepare to meet her there.

Dear mother, to see you go, we could not help but cry, but there is a blessed hope that we may meet you in the sweet by and by.

A true mother's love is one of the purest ever known, so you have a wonderful friend if you only have a living mother.

We read of a city of Jasper and gold that stands by a beautiful sea, but half of its wonders have never been told. How wonderful Heaven must be. Our mother has gone to that beautiful land, and waiting for you and for me, with angels she sings on the glittering strand How wonderful Heaven must be.

If any of you have flowers to give your mother, give them while she lives. When she has passed away, roses she cannot see, and praises she cannot hear. Give her flowers while she lives, trying to cheer her on; useless the flowers that you give after the soul has gone.

—By Daughter, Avoleen.

Monroe Jones, a farmer living out from Double Springs in Winston county has built a brooder house with a capacity of 1,000 chickens. He is now brooding this number to sell as broilers. County Agent W.P. Whitlock furnished plans and is assisting in the work. Other poultrymen in the county are conducting improvement demonstrations in raising poultry and also egg production, Mr. Whitlock said.

One of the largest, if not the largest, crop of sweet potatoes ever made in Jefferson County has been made this year, according to County Agent J. L. Liles. They are bringing very little on the market and most of them will be consumed by the producers.

Better Business Is Present Forecast

Auburn, Ala.—Belief that business has "touched bottom" and that gradual improvement may be expected were expressed by James D. Pope, economist for the College of Agriculture and the Experiment Station of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn, after attending a convention of economists of the United States Department of Agriculture and economists from the Southern States who met recently in Atlanta for the purpose of considering the present situation and its outlook.

It was the first time during the current depression that these economists have expressed confidence that the low point has been reached and that improvement should occur, said Mr. Pope. A year ago there was much concern over European conditions, the belief being that the European situation would get worse before improving, which it has done during the year. Consequently, world conditions now point to stability and improvement, he added.

Turning to different products, Mr. Pope said that no sharp advance in the price of cotton is expected but that some improvement is probable, depending on the rate of consumption and next year's crop. The feeling is, therefore, that during the next twelve months the price of cotton should fluctuate within narrow limits with the gradual tendency upward.

The outlook for livestock and livestock products presents a spotted picture, with cattle and poultry in the best position. Cheap feed is boosting livestock production because this is the best way to market such feed. With the price of corn in the Corn Belt down on a fuel basis there s nothing left for farmers to do but feed it as best they con. This will probably result in large hog supplies and continued low prices.

The information which was assembled at this conference will be distributed later for the benefit of business and agriculture. Farmers will use it in planning, planting, and making their crops next year.

HELP THE RED CROSS TO HELP THE NEEDY!

YOUR RED CROSS NEEDS YOU

The 1932 poster of the American Red Cross Roll Call for members.

EVERY year, beginning with the World War, the Red Cross has issued a poster calling attention to its roll call for membership, which is held, traditionally, from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving Day. Many famous artists have painted these posters. Usually they center about the figure of a Red Cross nurse, which carries sentimental recollections of her service during the war, and of her service in disasters in peace-time, as well as in the paths of public health.

The poster this year is a timely reminder that the Red Cross needs help, if it is to carry on helping others. Every one who joins as a member of the Red Cross chapter in his community will be helping this humanitarian organization to help the needy throughout the nation.

How Thankful I Am

By Mrs. Newton Cooper

I thank the Lord that He has gone
To prepare for me a home
In that sweet land of peace and rest
Where no more pain or sorrow comes.

I thank Him for the Bible;
It tells me how to watch and pray;
Tells me how to live and be prepared
To reach that home some day.

I thank Him for all He's done for me
Through all my earthly days.
I thank Him that His loving eye
Is over me — always.

I thank Him for the little birds
That sing to me so sweetly;
It makes me feel that He is near,
And His child He will keep safely.

I'm thankful that my Lord will soon
Come back to earth again,
To dwell with us forevermore,
And cleanse this world of sin.

Lord, help us all to be prepared
To meet Thee on that day
When Satan and his evil works
Will have to flee away.

How To Save Farm Manure Is Told

Auburn, Ala.,—Plants, like animals, must be fed if they grow as they should and a good way to feed them is to save all manure on the farm adding to it as much material as can be used to advantage. On this subject J. C. Lowery, extension agronomist at Auburn, said:

"Supply bedding of leaves, pine needles, or grain straw for comfort of animals and to absorb the valuable liquid manure, thus keeping the manure wet. The animals, by tramping, keep the manure packed thereby reducing to a minimum loss from 'fire-fanging,' a process occurring in loosely-packed dry manure. As soon as manure is removed from stables, scatter it over the fields. Do not place it in small heaps in the field to be scattered later. This may result in almost complete loss of nitrogen.

"By keeping halls in the barns, the sheds, and the barnlot well covered with litter, leaves or straw, much valuable manure can be saved in addition to keeping the lot from being unpleasant for walking.

"If the barnlot is too large to cover with bedding, build a pen of rails or logs and cover the bottom with 12 to 15 inches of litter. Use sufficient litter to absorb the water from the usual rainfall to prevent loss from leaching. Rake up the droppings in the lot and throw them into this pen until almost one foot deed. Then add another layer of litter. Build up in alternate layers until about 6 feet high. Build pen in open so that rainfall will keep manure wet. Keep sides of pile straight and top flat.

"If manure is being applied for cotton, supplement it with 80 to 100 lbs. of superphosphate to eac hton of manure used. A two-horse wagon load of stable manure should weigh almost one ton. Do not mix either lime or basic slag with manure."

L & N Agent Is Shot By Hobo Thursday

Hoboes, attempting to rob a box car on the L & N railroad tracks near Minooka, last Thursday night, shot and fatally wounded C. B. Graves, a special agent of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad.

The report states that Mr. Graves was sent to Minooka to investigate robberies of cars there, and was just on the point of leaving when he discovered someone trying to break a seal on one of the cars. It was stated that Graves called to the man, who immediately opened fire, two shots taking effect in Graves' body. The latter opened fire on the hobo, missing him.

A Martin's ambulance from Clanton was summoned at once, and Graves was rushed to Birmingham, where he died in the St. Vincents Hospital a few hours later. Graves will be remembered by many pople in Clanton. He was stationed here for several days, and played a big hand in breaking up robberies of stores in Clanton, near the railroad. Several hoboes were taken from trains in Montgomery following the shooting.

Bakery Here Entertains Merchants Thurs. Night

The bakery with its brilliant lights, appetizing odors of fresh bread and cake, soon became a place of gaiety.

Long tables were arranged in the rear of the building and soon the many guests had arrived and were seated. Before them there were plates bearing oysters fried in the unexcelled style the bakery cooks its products, potatoes, pickle, hot rolls and coffee.

Cohen E. Stapp acted as toastmaster at this affair, and after a few preliminary remarks, called on Mack Wyatt, who arose to the occasion and pictured the Clanton bakery as a business establishment long needed in Clanton, boosting Sunlite Bakery products, and urging that everyone demand Clanton baked products at all grocery stores, when buying bread or cakes. He paid a well deserved tribute to the new managers of the concern, Harmon Broadhead, Garland Foshee and Grady Taylor.

The toastmaster then called on Mayor J. Lee Smith, who in a few well chosen words praised the new management of the bakery for their enterprising spirit and urged the people to support this Clanton concern, and boost it from every angle. Percy M. Pitts was asked to say a few words and his statement as to the need of a bakery in Clanton and the importance of the cooperation of all the county was splendid.

W. W. Fox, one of Clanton's oldest and most outstanding citizens was called on and his talk, full of wit and common sense was enjoyed. The toastmaster then called on Billy Smith, editor of the News who took each of the managers and touched lightly of their former success in business, predicting for them a success in their new undertaking in Clanton.

There could be no question in anyone's mind, whether these guests enjoyed this affair. The managers were swamped with congratulations, and Sunlite Bakery products, baked in Clanton received loud applause by those fortunate enough to enjoy the hospitality of this concern.

Miss Sarah Colley, a member of the local high school faculty was awarded the beautiful cake given away by the bakery last Saturday. Watch the News for the name of the winner next week.

Mr. L. L. Lauderdale of Clanton Route Five, was in Clanton on business last Monday.

"Merrily We Go To Hell" Coming Here

Frederic March and Sylvia Sidney are playing opposite each other for the second time.

Yet "Merrily We Go To Hell" is the first film in which they have played together. This picture is the Wadesonian Theatre's attraction for Wednesday and Thursday November 30 and December 1.

Their previous experiences at make-believe love-making took place in Denver several seasons ago. At that time, March was moving across the country from stock company to stock company and Miss Sidney, discouraged by Broadway conditions, signed with the same troupe. March was the leading man and Miss Sidney the ingenue for a season.

March then went to Los Angeles where he played in "The Royal Family" and won a screen contract. Miss Sidney returned to New York and after several shows scored a success in "Bad Girl" which likewise brought her a Paramount contract.

CENTRAL SINGING SOCIETY

One of the best singings in this section for several months was held at Maples Springs last Sunday afternoon. The class was exceptionally large, in fact there were more people singing than there were listening. Prof. J. B. Hammonds of Elmore county was present, and he with his wife and daughter sung two special numbers. O. L. Devaughn presided. Not all of the directors could be used.

The society meets next Sunday afternoon at Friendship. It is hope that a large crowd will attend at this place, and let's have another good singing.

Clanton Banker Weds Montgomery Girl

A wedding announcement that carries interest in many sections of the state is that of Miss Elizabeth Parmer of Montgomery to Mr. Otto Jones of Clanton which took place last Thursday, Thanksgiving Day, in Montgomery.

The ceremony, simple and quiet, was performed by Dr. D. C. McQuire, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Montgomery, at his residence, in the presence of only a few friends of the couple.

The bride is the charming daughter of Mrs. Florence Parmer of Montgomery. Occupying a high place in Montgomery social circles where she is considered one of the most attractive young ladies, she has many friends over the state, and has visited in Clanton several times.

Mr. Jones, the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Jones of Clanton, is one of Clanton's most prominent young business men, being assistant cashier of the First National Bank of Clanton and well known in the insurance business here.

After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Jones returned to Clanton, where they will make ther home. The News joins with the many friends of this couple, in wishing them many happy years together.

SEVERAL SUFFER EFFECTS OF PTOMAINE POISON RECENTLY

Dr. Napoleon Johnson was called out to a home near the Concord Community, east of Clanton, last Thursday night to administer treatment to several persons suffering from effects of ptomaine poisoning.

None were suffering seriously and after being given treatment by Dr. Johnson, they were reported as completely out of danger. The attack was a mild one.

COTTON REPORT

There were 11.487 bales of cotton, counting round as half bales, ginned in Chilton County, from the crop of 1932 prior to November 14, 1932, as compared with 18,893 bales ginned to November 14, 1931.

Thanks To Volunteer Workers In Red Cross Roll Call

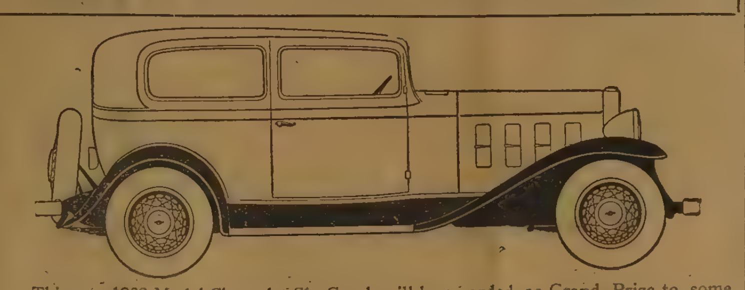
C. E. Stapp, chapter chairman, and Sam Ezell, roll call chairman, wish to thank all the voluntary workers in the recent Red Cross Roll Call for their splendid work.

Mr. Stapp states that he is unable to report the complete results before next week, but indications are that Chilton County fell far short of its quota of 750 members. We all regret this, he says, because we were so anxious to show our appreciation to National Red Cross for their help of approximately $40,800.00 in our distress following the storm last March.

All workers in the Roll Call are urged to turn in their membership cards and money this week, in order that a complete list of members and account of money received may be reported through the county papers next week.

CONTEST ENDS SATURDAY NIGHT

WHO WILL DRIVE AWAY IN THIS SATURDAY ?



This new 1932 Model Chevrolet Six Coach will be awarded as Grand Prize to some hard-working contestant Saturday night, December 3rd, by the Chilton County News. There are five other valuable prizes to be awarded that night at the News office. The New Chevrolet is on display at Polk Brothers Motor Co., Inc., in Clanton.

MUCH WORK IS NEEDED TO BE DONE IN WAY OF RELIEF HERE

C. E. Stapp Gives Out Some Important Information To Every Citizen of This County In An Open Letter

Mr. C. E. Stapp, chairman of the Chilton County Chapter of the American Red Cross, announces that he will devote the first ten days of December exclusively to relief work among the needy and destitute people of the county.

Last week Mr. Stapp mailed the following letter to 120 committeemen representing every Beat in the county:

"Dear Sir:

"The job of administering relief to the needy is a big one. It is my desire to help in this time of distress, but I want to help in a way that helping some will not hurt others.

"I am writing to the hundred or more whose names appear on the attached list asking that they cooperate with me in every way possible in the distribution of food and clothing and work to those in need. I mention work because you might know of some one who has work to be done and can pay for same with produce. Mr. John Thompson advised me a few days ago that he had some light clearing for which he would pay ten bushels of corn per acre. Possibly there are others who can furnish work.

"I am expecting another shipment of Government flour within a few days, also a shipment of cloth and ready-made articles of clothing. I am anxious that those most in need get this help.

"I am taking the liberty of requesting those who seek help to bring a recommendation from one or more of the men whose names appear on the attached list. Will you please help with this work, not only by checking on those who may ask you for a recommendation, but to the extent of filling out the enclosed sheets on any families you may know who are in distress.

"There is a certain class of people who depend upon others all the time. During a time like this some of this class fare better than in normal times because they know how to take advantage of the situation and appeal to the emotion of those who are able to help. While this is all true, we have lots of people now who have never asked for help before but due to the fact that they are unable to find work are in real needy circumstances. Some of this class will suffer beyond our realization before they will ask for help."

Baptists Will Load A Car At The Clanton Tracks On December 9th

To all the Baptists of the Unity and Chilton County Associations please take notice that on Friday, December the 9th, 1932, the members of the two associations will load a car at Clanton, Alabama with provisions for the Baptist Orphans at Troy.

We realize it is a needy time with us all but let us all do our little bit and thereby help those who have no one to look to but the Baptists of the State. They need just the ordinary things to sustain life. What you use at home they can use just send them a small bit of it. Be sure you get it to Clanton on the 9th of December. Some brethren will be at the car to assist you in placing it in the car.

Remember, "It is more blessed to give than to receive."

Anyone even though they are not Baptist feeling disposed to contribute their gifts will be greatly appreciated.

PRISON AT SPEIGNER IS DESTROYED

Loss Estimated At $100,00.00 From Blaze Early Last Monday Morning

Fire destroyed the frame cell building at the prison at Speigner, Ala., last Monday morning, making it a total loss. The 815 prisoners housed in this building were carried to safety, however in the athletic field, south of the building.

Press reports stated that it is the belief of officials that the fire was set by prisoners, as other attempts had been made to do so, since more rigid visiting rules had gone into effect at the prison.

The flames were reported discovered about nine o'clock Monday morning. One hundred prisoners were selected to aid guards in fighting the flames, that had already gained considerable headway.

Officials at the prison said the convicts were orderly and none escaped during the excitement incident to the fire.

The prison was the scene of an attempted breach recently, during which one prisoner was killed and 28 wounded.

Damage to the building was estimated by state convict authorities at approximately $100,000, but this was said to be covered by insurance.

The fire broke out about 9 a.m., the prison authorities said, and roared thru the tier of cells, which are located in what is known as the "main building", as the more than 800 prisoners stepped into line at the command of guards and marched orderly out of the blazing building.

The prison cotton mill was undamaged.

This group of prisoners was said to comprise the night shift and most of them were asleep at the time the alarm was sounded. Both day and night shifts were being worked in the cotton mill.

FOUR JUDGES SELECTED TO COUNT VOTES

All Prizes Will Be Given Immediately After The Judges Decision

When the clock strikes eight Saturday night, who will it be? This is the burning question of the hour and the one BIG QUESTION everybody is wondering about as the CHILTON COUNTY NEW'S Big Circulation Campaign hovers around closing time.

This news cannot be imparted at this time, as there are still TWO days to go and much can be accomplished in that length of time. But it is safe to state here that the winner of the automobile will be the one who has a little grit and nerve and the ability to overcome all opposition. The race is so close between the leaders that the outcome is very much in doubt Grit and nerve are the two paramount factors in the race now, and the one to put forth the best efforts and turn in the biggest report will be the one who carries off the GRAND PRIZE!

All candidates are now on the final dash to victory and the one who DIGS IN NOW and works the hardest will WIN. Our advice to all of them is to make the final REPORT of this week a sure big winner by hard work—FOR IT'S BETTER TO BE SAFE THAN TO BE SORRY.

The Judges Selected

The following prominent business men of Chilton County will have charge of the counting of the ballots in the Chilton County News Big Automobile and Prize Campaign Saturday night.

Mr. W. Louie Smith, Peoples Savings Bank, Clanton.

Mr. Earl Parrish, First National Bank, Clanton

Mr. John Maples, Bank of Maplesville, Maplesville.

Mr. C. R. Foss, Thorsby, Ala.

The Campaign Manager and the Publisher will be present and will act only in an advisory capacity.

The judges will take charge of the ballot box immediately after the clock strikes EIGHT Saturday night and will proceed at once to count the votes. As soon as the count has been checked and verified the winners of the various prizes will be announced and the prizes will be AWARDED THE WINNERS.

The Final Count

The final count will take place at the CHILTON COUNTY NEWS office, Clanton, Alabama. All candidates must have their BALLOTS, SUBSCRIPTIONS, and MONEY in the BALLOT BOJ BY 8:00 O'CLOCK Saturday night. The ballot box, locked and sealed and the keys in the hands of the judges will be at the NEWS office all during the day.

ALL CANDIDATES and their FRIENDS are cordially invited to be present at the NEWS office where the prizes will be given away. It is believed that the final count, and the outcome of this great race will be known and the prizes awarded by 9:30 or 10:30 P.M. Saturday night.

MORAL ECHOES

D. W. Haskew

I was standing on the line watching the two teams struggling for advantage on the football field. Each member of each team seemed to be doing his best and they were surely playing ball. Not much was said about any one player, until one of the boys got the ball in his posession and dashed by all interference and ran the length of the field for a touchdown. While the boy was running voices were lifted, hats went into the air and the crowd surged forward in one roaring cheer. It must have been thrilling to run the full length of the field before a cheering multitude. Any man can do his best when there are no interferences and when the grand stands are filled with shouting cheers. After that run the youngster became the hero of the game and all lauded him as winner. Others played as hard and as well as he did, but their names were never mentioned. Some how we shout when the runner has the ball, but we say nothing when there is a heavy thud and no gains. Oh! to be a runner with the ball in the game of life just for one touchdown. For once we would be glad to hear shouts of approval.

I had two neighbors and each one was the proud owner of a rooster. Things would go well on the fowl yard until those two roosters came near each other. As soon as they saw each other, each made a dash for the other and a full fledged fight was on. While I was in a home the man of the house said, referring to two dogs snarling near by, "Those hounds never see each other without wanting to fight." Not long since I heard a good lady say, "I get along with every body in this town but Mrs. 'Snarlcup.' I do not know why it is but every time we see each other, our bristles go up and we are snapping and snarling like pesky pups." Wish that somebody would tell us why it is that some folks naturally like us more than others. Some men get their bristles up at the very sight of each other. Some women go to snarling as soon as they are in each other's presence. "Those two hounds never see each other without wanting to right."

I dreamed that all the preachers of all the churches came together in one great audience and discussed moral conditions and church loyalty for days. It was the unanimous conclusion that men and women everywhere were sold to a self standard of living, and that they no longer cared for the old standards of clean living and Sabbath observance. It was brought out that legislatures were repealing prohibition laws and opening all avenues for unrestricted pleasure, while the general public had become wild in its persuit of the things known to destroy civilization. The assembled preachers then passed resolutions to go out of business and leave the world to itself. They ordered that every church be closed and that no more appeals be made for the world to live right. Never shall I forget the groan that went up to the Almighty when the ministry decided to quit its effort to make men better. The echo of that groan roused me from my sleep and found myself saying, "If all the preachers in the world shall quit, yet I will lift my voice on and on until the judgment day. I sometimes wonder why preachers do not quit when everything that has power concentrates its power to oppose the appeals of the gospel.

Late one fall the army worm found its way into a growing hay field. The farmer was very much disturbed and wondered how he would save his hay. His neighbors gathered in and together they discussed methods of driving out the army worm. While they were talking the clouds grew dark in the north and in a few moments the wind was blowing and the atmosphere changed. The army worm became numb and fell to the groud. It did not freeze that night, but the change in the temperature killed the enemies of his hay crop. When you discover that there is an army of civil influences gathering into your life, into the life of your home, into the life of your community, the best way to drive out these enemies is to change the climate.

I saw where a hold-up man at Hot Springs Arkansas decided to end it all by committing suicide. He had robbed banks and pedestrians and was being closed in by the officers of the law. He saw court trials and conviction and thinking to end it all he let a bullet into his heart. Did that end it all? He had made a terrible blunder by going into the highwayman's life, and now he was making another blunder by thinking that death would end it all. Almost every day we read about some one who is so foolish as to think that death ends it all. A bullet may crash through the brain and leave the body lifeless, but that does not end trouble. That is a sure method of jumping into the midst of trouble that will never end. There is but one way to end trouble and that is to live for Jesus, and then finally go home to Him. Death is the end of trouble only to those who are able to read their titles clear to mansions in the sky. We can end our troubles but not by the suicide way.

JACKSON ASKS FOR MORE INFORMATION FROM WRITER

—o—

Editor, Chilton County News:

Will you please give me a small space in your good paper for a short reply to what the "Man In The Moon" said about my article that appeared in the News of November the 17th? The article referred to what the "Man in the Moon" said about the lady who spoke on the streets in Clanton on November 5th. Here is what "The Man in the Moon" said:

"And now I'll let you in on a little secret. A flock of polecats have denned up in a place I know of and I can't think of anything better to clear them out with than to get someone who was able to listen to All of that speech to go in on them and drive them out. Anyone who could stand all of that stuff she had to say, and get a kick out of it wouldn't mind a little trick like cleaning out a polecat den. That would be pie for them."

Now Mr. Man in the Moon, you come right along in your next article in answer to what I said about you and say the article you wrote about the woman and all who heard her was never meant to cast any reflection on anyone, and that it was misconstrued by me. You have failed to quote a single word the lady said; and also failed to tell your readers what you meant by the article, and how it was misconstrued by me.

Why not be a game sport and come right out and tell what the lady said and what the article was meant for: and in what way I misconstrued it.

Should you fail to make the explanation it appears to me that it would place you with the crayfish family and you would have to step down and out of the moon and take up your abode in a mudhole somewhere and that would get us so far apart that our articles could never reach each other any more.

Respectfully,
A. A. JACKSON.

SANDERS' OPINION ABOUT THE ELECTION OF SUPERINTENDENT

—o—

Editor, Chilton County News:

In regard to the recent election of county superintendent I wish to state my views and my vote. In the first place I don't believe the superintendent should be appointed by the county board of education. Thirty-nine of the sixty-seven counties in the state don't believe in the superintendent being appointed by the board.

In the legislative session of 1931 there were twenty-two counties decided that it was wrong for the county board of education to appoint the county superintendent and they repealed that law, making the superintendent elective by the people. This law would have been passed for Chilton county if it could have had just representation in the State Senate. Senator Duncan of this district said in action that it was right for the people of his home county to elect their superintendent of education, but that Chilton county citizens did not deserve this right, so the bill was killed in the senate.

There are many reasons why I'm against the county board appointing the county superintendent, but will not take the space at this time to explain them.

It looks like the three members of the board that elected the superintendent wanted to be fair with the people they would have let them know at least one month before the election was to be held.

I want to say to those that expected to become a candidate for the office of superintendent that I'm sorry that you didn't have any notice of the election of this official, much less a chance to qualify.

I'm sure you didn't think the board would be so hasty in electing this official as we had until next May. I would have let you know about this election, but I didn't know it myself until the minute they were ready to take the vote.

I cannot see how the three members that elected the county superintendent can feel justified in their action and can meet the people with a clear conscience after electing an official whom the people must pay without letting them know, or even the members whom the people elected, know about the election.

The motion to elect the county superintendent was as follows:

Mr. Webb moved that the board appoint Mr. B. Lawrence as county superintendent for four years, which term shall begin July 1st, 1933. Mr. Yates seconded the motion. Mr. Webb, Mr. Yates and Mr. Conway voted in the affirmative. Mr. Wilkins and I, W. L. Sanders, voted in the negative.

I want the citizens of Chilton county to know that I am standing behind my campaign promises and when I get to where I cannot be a servant of the people I will try to be big enough to resign to someone that will.

I hope to see the time when every citizen in Chilton county can go to the polls and cast their vote for the county superintendent of education, which will mean a greater cooperation of the people towards the schools.

This letter may be the means of killing the future cooperation that I might get with the board, but it's my conviction, and must go to the people.

Respectfully,
W. L. SANDERS.

REPRESENTATION WITH TAXATION SAYS DR. V. J. GRAGG

—o—

Editor, Chilton County News:

Well, Thanksgiving day is over, is past, and to tell the truth, I just wonder who that eleven millions unemployed, hungry and poorly clad Americans who are tramping the highways and by-ways of our great country thanked for their condition.

In fact, I am wondering about several things, amongst them I am wondering about representation with taxation. In one way I am like Will Rogers. All I know is what I read in the papers and sometimes a little I hear over the radio. But I do wonder where we are going and how long it will take to get there.

It is tax, tax, tax, no matter whether you buy a box of matches or an automobile, it is tax right on, and before the last raise in tax, the gasoline shipped into Clanton cost more than the entire cotton crop of Chilton County, and I am reliably informed the same condition exists in the entire state, that is, the entire cotton crop of Alabama will not pay the gas bill expended in the state. Again the papers tell us that the entire cotton crop would not run the state government if it was turned over for that purpose "lock, stock and barrel." That being the case and cotton being practically our only money crop how can we hope to have food, clothing, money to meet medical and hospital bills, or to expend on schools, churches, improvement of our homes, farms and many other such needs too numerous to mention?

Just as concrete examples, I will say that I heard a man who has heretofore been a prosperous farmer say that in the last two years he had bought only one pair of overalls and one pair of brogan shoes for himself and that all his family were without shoes on their feet; that he waited last year till the last day to pay his tax and further that he had no hopes of being able to pay tax this year. Another erstwhile prosperous farmer told me that he sold a milk cow three years ago to get tax money and sold two milk cows two years ago and three last year for the same purpose, but that he had no cows to sell and no money for tax this year.

Well, they tell us that it costs the state above 60 cents per pound to raise cotton and above $3.00 per bushel to produce corn with convict labor; but our law makers seem to think our farmers should be able to pay more tax and better tax while raising 5 or 6 cent cotton and corn at 25 or 30 cents.

And speaking of our law makers, I am sure we have some good men in the legislature. Please don't think I am in the attitude of discrediting anyone individually, far be it from me to do that. But collectively don't you think they were the most complete failure you ever heard of in your whole life. Four or five good business men from any "hick town" in the state could have done more sound constructive legislation in one week than they have done in both sessions covering a considerable part of the entire year.

Poor old E. D. Jordan got caught for talking about accepting $250.00 "expense" money while others walked off with the thousands, yea hundreds of thousands of the unpaid teachers money, still unpaid.

A newspaper account of a Montgomery grand jury's finding says that they report that the legislature was not worth the money. Surely there is no argument to that. I suspect most of them would themselves admit it without argument. Just think of two pieces of days per week with pay for seven full days per week for themselves, hundreds of clerks, messengers, pages, servants, and door-keepers—How does it strike you—fourteen door-keepers at $4.00 per day for seven days in the week to keep one door for a few hours, and they themselves getting $8.00 per day or $56.00 per week. True they cut this to $7.00 per day near the end of the session and after wrangling over the cut long enough to more than add enough time to make up more expense than the reduction saved.

Another lttle secret right here, you just watch these boys, that's more money than most of them ever captured in such a short time, $56.00 for say about 6 or 8 hours. I say you watch these boys when their money gives out they will be gathering themselves together at Montgomery to have a good time and draw some more easy money that is being bled from the poor half-naked and haf-starved tax-payer and withheld from the equally unfortunate and unpaid school teachers and others to whom it is justly due.

During the campaign when these boys were elected you heard lots about "old economy" "saving millions" and "kluxing the people's money." Well I suppose this is new economy, and they are saving the millions for themselves all right, and the peoples money must be kluxed now, at least it has disappeared, diverted, and pay-rolled out of sight—And speaking of the legislative pay roll; folks you just ought to see whose names appear on that—I am told that many of these people never spent a day in the legislature and that some of them were even living out of the state while drawing this easy money.

While it was, it seems, so impossible for the legisature to do anything to pay the teachers and keep the schools going; it was no trouble for them to borrow $250,000.00 and soon go back for more, to pay themselves and their families, friends, relatives, etc. every week as time rolled on and the teachers and old confederate soldiers and their widows waited or took warrants that did not mean 100 cents in the dollar.

You know I sometimes wonder how these boys hold up their heads when they meet these hard worked, unpaid teachers, and look on these boys and girls that are going to be forced out of school because they received no consideration at their hands, whatever, while they were taking care of themselves and their bunch on a most extravagant and wasteful cash basis.

Now, it is not necessary for me to call your attention to the fact that I am not writing this for political reasons for first, an election is two years off and second the republicans are skinning us up at Washington while the Democrats are skinning us down at Montgomery. Just as long as they can keep us fussing among ourselves about high tariff on one side and free trade on the other, or the good features of prohibition on one side and the merit of free liquor on the other, or any other such question that will keep us from realizing that we are being bled to death by taxation, our homes gradualy taken away, our schools closed, our teachers going unpaid, and our children allowed to grow up without education, while their pockets are running over from easy pay-roll, made so easy by this legalized robbery.

Now, I want to again say that I am not criticising any special individual. I believe our representatve and senator are as good as, or above the average legislator, but I am constrained to say God help the average to see where he is forcing wholesale destruction on us before it is too late.

Again I ask where are we going and how long will it take to get there; when every article, comparatively, that we buy carries with it a tax that is sapping away our very existence, yet brings no returns to the common people who pays it? Voter! tax-payer! your vote is what they want, your tax is their burning desire, as long as you give them these you are a fine fellow—Just how much longer are you going to slumber?

V. J. GRAGG.

Gov. Miller Endorses Universal Bibl Sunday

Montgomery, Dec. 1.—Governor B. M. Miller urges the observance of Universal Bible Sunday on next Sunday, December 4, by the churches of Alabama.

The American Bible Society, an international and interdenominational agency engaged in the circulating of the Scriptures, and which last year put into distribution nearly ten million volumes of Scripture in fifty different countries and in upwards of 200 languages, has promoted Universal Bible Sunday for over a decade. Many churches in America and in foreign lands will unite in the observance of Universal Bible Sunday in order to emphasize the important place the Bible holds in the development of Christian life and character.

In commending Universal Bible Sunday Governor Miller says, "I think that the American Bible Society is doing a very commendable work in bringing the Bible to the attention of the American people. We can build a much better citizenship if our people will study the Bible. I count it a privilege to voice approval of the observance of Universal Bible Sunday."

Work Weary "NERVES"

Do they make you Restless, Cranky, Tired, Sleepless, Dyspeptic, Headachy? Do they spoil your pleasure and interfere with your work?

Tens of thousands have found a way to get relief from overworked nerves—a way so simple, so pleasant, so low in cost, that we are constantly receiving letters that say, "If I had only found Effervescent Nervine Tablets sooner." Simon Brandt writes:

"I was very nervous from over-work. I couldn't sleep well, appetite was poor, and I felt weak for a long time.

"Used Dr. Miles' Nervine and now feel fifteen years younger and I am working the same as I did before—fourteen to fifteen hours daily.

"Sorry I did not learn about this wonderful medicine sooner as I had tried everything I could hear of, without results, until Dr. Miles' Nervine put me back on my feet."

When you are nervous, try this—put a Dr. Miles' Effervescent Nervine Tablet into a glass of water. Watch it bubble up like sparkling spring water—drink it—enjoy the feeling of calm and relaxation that follows.

In Dr. Miles' Effervescent Nervine Tablets a splendid formula for soothing overwrought nerves is combined with bicarbonate of soda and citric acid which tend to correct hyper-acidity—a frequent cause of nervousness.

IN MEMORY OF MRS. J. D. SANDERS

On Saturday morning, November 12, the death angel visited the home of Mr. J. D. Sanders of Fairview community and bore away his beautiful spirit of a loving wife and mother. Her health had been failing for several months, and all that loving hands could do was done. God in His love and wisdom saw fit to release her from her sufferings.

Those who knew her longest loved her best. She smiled all through her sufferings. She has from us forever gone, although we will never forget her smiles and pleasant face. So weep not, dear ones, for her who is at rest in that beautiful beyond.

She leaves to mourn her loss a husband, four sons, two daughters, as follows: Charlie Sanders of Louisiana, Walter Sanders of Sylacauga, Hugh, Otis and Gladys, all at home, Mrs. Houston Coggins of Fairview community.

The remains were laid to rest at Shiloh church Sunday morning at eleven o'clock with Rev. A. C. Nelson officiating. Mr. E. J. Brand of Spigener Funeral Home was in charge.

We miss her, oh, we miss her,
For our Saviour called her away,
But we are praying to meet her
In the better world some day.
We know that she is resting
In Paradise above;
We hope some day to meet her
In joy, peace and love.
No more on earth we see her face,
Her sweet voice we hear no more;
But only let us live to meet her
On that bright and sunny shore.
How we loved her
No human tongue can tell.
We said good-bye to Aunt Mamie,
But we never said farewell.

It was only a few days ago; we can never forget that sad day when God called her away to live with Him above. Oh! how brave and tender she was every day. Aunt Mamie is not dead, but sleeping 'neath the silent clay.

In the old graveyard not far away, she's sleeping in Jesus' arms forevermore; and if we live as Jesus taught us we'll meet Aunt Mamie on that bright and golden shore.

—A Niece who loved her, Lonnie Ruth Ray.

INFLUENZA

The season is near at hand when you will begin to hear folks say they have "a touch of flu". Generally this is all nonsense. Influenza is a severe, communicable disease that is not inclined to act by "touches." The harm that people do by magnifying every cold into "flu" is that they minimize its importance and when genuine influenza comes its victims are inclined to underestimate its gravity.

The Alabama Tuberculosis Association warns you that the only place to fight influenza is in bed. It is as serious a disease as typhoid fever or the pneumonia that so often follows. Keep away from coughing, sneezing people whether the "flu" is the real thing or not. But when you really suspect influenza go right to bed and send for the doctor if you value health and life.

Helped By Cardui

Here's the true story of how Cardui helped Mrs. H. E. Dunaway, of McComb, Miss., as written by herself:

"I was sick and rather discouraged. I was so weak and thin, I was not able to do my work as it should be done. This made me fret a good deal, and did not help my condition.

"I had pains across my back and lower part of my body. My nights were spent in rolling from one side of the bed to the other, hoping I would soon go to sleep. Then when morning would come, I would be just as tired as when I went to bed. A neighbor, seeing how badly I felt, told me to try Cardui. After I had taken one bottle, I was much better. I kept on taking Cardui, and I was stronger and slept much better at night."

"I decided to take Thedford's Black-Draught, as I had been having bilious spells," writes Mr. Charles E. Stevens, of Columbus, Ind. "When I get bilious, I feel sleepy and tired and do not feel like doing my work. It is hard to tell how I feel, but I do not feel good. I get awfully dizzy. I know then that I had better take something. After I found how good Black-Draught is, that is what I have used. I guess it rids me of the bile, for I feel better—don't feel like I am dropping off to sleep every time I sit down. That, to me, is a very bad feeling."

At Your Own Risk --- Why Travel That Way?

(Editorial appearing in "The Chicago American" November 10th.)

When you travel your safety depends chiefly upon the responsibility of the concern that operates your conveyance.

If there is no responsibility, there is no safety.

Railroads, bus lines, air line and steamboat lines are responsible. Organization and regulation have made them so.

They are careful to employ only honest and competent operators, and they are financially prepared to reimburse you, if, nothwthstanding their precautions, you suffer injury or loss en route.

It is a rash traveler who discards those safeguards, yet there are some who do it. They patronize a certain type of "travel club" or "travel bureau" that in most cases is NOT responsible

Usually the "travel club" of this type is simply an individual acting as a broker to bring the prospective passenger and the automobile driver together.

He collects a fee for the service, but ordinarily he has no financial interest in the automobile operator and assumes no financial responsibility for him.

The passenger travels, literally, at his own risk.

And the risk is considerable

Instances are recorded in which drivers have turned highway robber, thrusting their passengers out along the road without baggage or money, and in which wrecks have resulted from careless driving or breakdowns, and in which honest drivers have been unable to deliver passengess at their destinations because they lacked money to buy tires or make necessary repairs on the way.

Such travel clubs" and "travel bureaus" get most of their business by advertising in the classified sections of newspapers.

They will NOT get any business through the classified columns of the Chicago American.

This newspaper will not accept any advertising of that kind.

Back To Work

The tumult and the shouting have died. The speeches have all been made. The votes have been counted.

The campaign is history, and it's time to go back to work.

The great problems of today are not political problems. They are economic, financial, social. They are completely nonpartisan. All any President can do to solve them is to give his very best efforts, according to his lights, to assist the people with the power of government. Legislation will be passed, official suggestions will be offered—but no matter how good they are, they will be worthless unless the people stand shoulder to shoulder and work for their own salvation.

Almost all observers agree that the bottom of depression has been touched. The work of restoration has begun. It will be a long, an arduous work, requiring the utmost each of us can give. Partisanship must be forgotten. Labels must be forgotten. Never in the history of the country has nonpolitical leadership, and nonpolitical thought, been so essential to the future.

So—back to work!

The Farmers' Conference

We don't know, because nobody knows, just how much will be accomplished by the Farmers' National Relief Conference which is to meet in Washington on December 7th, but we don't see how any harm can come from it, and there is a possibility that a great deal of good may come.

We will feel a lot more confident about the possible good, however, when we find out just who is going to represent the farmers. If the plan is carried out of having only real "dirt farmers," really representative of the farming communities of all parts of the country, we think a great deal of good can be done. We will be very distrustful if there are politicians and offce seekers pretending to represent the farmers at this conference. We have no confidence at all in a great many of the persons who have in the past been spokesmen for agriculture in Washington.

We think it will be of the greatest value to have the actual farmers who know precisely what they are talking about right there in the national capital to tell their own story directly to members of Congress and administrative officials.

One caravan of farmers is already enroute from the Pacific Coast for Washington. We understand that there will be farmer delegations from about thirty states arriving in Washington in six marching delegations. So far as their program has been formulated we understand that they want to get assurances against evictions from their farms, a moratorium on debts which they cannot pay and cash relief to relieve hunger. Those are reasonable proposals, although we are not at all sure that it is necessary for the farmers to march in a body to Washington to get them.

We are glad to learn that the police officials of the District of Columbia are preparing to cooperate in every way with the farmer delegates and we hope, and confidently believe, that there will be no repetition of the disorder of last summer.

If out of this demonstration comes a sound, intelligent, practical plan for helping farmers who need help without wasting money on impractical schemes or throwing it away for the benefit of those who do not need it, this farmers' convention ought to be a success.

"ROUND TOWN"
---by Doug

According to C. G. N. this week there were thirty-three marriage licenses issued in Chilton County during the month of November. I say there were thirty-five. There were two up there, marked "Please do not publish." Seems as tho my timely suggestion last week about the electrically heated bed sheets came too late or something.

Did you know there are a lot of things that are kept out of the newspapers? Yes sir, a lot of them. I heard a discussion the other night about that subject. Of course there were some newspapermen present, two of 'em, and they naturally defended the newspapers.

Of course it's true that all newspapers do not print the facts in many cases. You want to know why, I guess. Well newspapers can be uplifting or can degrade a person or anything. In other words there is no use in ruining someone's life in the future by publishing in detail a story about something some of their relatives did that was not good. The best solution to a question of that kind is to just place yourself in the other fellow's position.

If you want to learn something interesting, you should talk to an experienced newspaperman who has had to go up against the hard knocks of life in a newspaper office. There, a person learns to keep a level head, learns that humans are funny things, that they have queer ideas. There a person learns the good things and the bad things about people, the pleasant side of life and the unpleasant side—a taste of life as it comes from all directions.

A newspaper reporter or editor dabbles into almost everything, seeking facts and truth. Many times he is forced to use his imagination, because someone refuses to give facts about a story to go into the paper. The readers want to know something about it. Another reason why you should always try to see that a newspaper gets the truth. It's a darn sight safer to do that, than to leave him with his imagination.

I talk like an old, experienced newspaperman, or something. But there is one thing I've learned—I know why newspapermen and women get gray-haired and are all going to heaven.

Two newly married couples in our midst again already or something. Congratulations to Otto Jones and his attractive little bride. Both of them made splendid selections, and have good taste. Now Otto won't be giving the other fellows round town so much competition, or something. Anyway, best wishes to you both.

The other couple, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Sims. They live in Thorsby, but Mrs. Sims spends her days in Clanton. Aw shucks! I just can't call Mabel Howard "Mrs. Sims." Seems like she is still Mabel to the people in Clanton who all like her so well, and patronize her fine little beauty and art shop. I think it will be all right with Mrs. Sims if the people in Clanton still think of her as Mabel Howard. To them I send congratulations and best wishes.

Now that Otto has made the jump, I'm looking for another certain young man of Clanton to take a leap into the sea of matrimony. Well, old boy, here's luck to you, too. You all certainly know how to pick 'em.

I see by C. G. N. this week that it is going to give a big banquet for the contestants, judges, employees and guests at Dief's Cafe tomorrow night. Now ain't that something or other. Nope, I won't be there. I got a heavy engagement, appointment, date or whatever you wish to call it, elsewhere for that night. There is a little unfinished business I have to attend to or something. But I'll bet they have a good time. I know they will have something good to eat, because it's to be a Dief's Special and I understand the cafe will be turned over to them.

It's ten o'clock at night right now. This time Saturday night some lady will be the proud possessor of a brand new Chevrolet, given by the News. Five other ladies will receive a valuable prize. There's $150 in cash, a living room suite, a kitchen range, a diamond ring and a wrist watch to be given somebody Saturday night. The public is invited to be present at the award.

The News big campaign closes with a bang and a complete success in every way. That means that Sam J. Feaster, that likable young fellow who has been in charge of the campaign will leave our town. His work will be completed so far as the campaign is concerned, but I've an idea there will be some pleasant memories of him left in Chilton County. He has made many friends while working with the News during this campaign, and personally I can't blame those for liking him. I regret that he is leaving, because it is seldom you find a fellow like him. The News was extremely fortunate in getting him to manage this campaign.

There was something I had in mind to tell you folks about this week, but a woman proposed marriage to me the other night and I've been rattled and upset since. I forgot that this is still Leap Year and came very near being nabbed. I was a little off my guard at the time and just playing around. But there is only one more month in this Leap Year, so it won't be long until 1933 and safety.

I wonder how many of you young ladies have thought of that. Only one more month and Leap Year is gone for four more years. Well, there are some fellows who can say they were married during Leap Year. You see, that kind of places the blame on the member of the fairer sex, or something.

* * *

Clanton is in a most advantageous spot to make a fine impression on the outside world. Christmas is coming, the spirit should soon be in the air. I wonder if our progressive city officials are going to allow this opportunity to pass to show the outside world that Clanton is awake. How about some Christmas decorations for the streets of Clanton?

To My Father

O. L. Ray, R.F.D. 3, Clanton, Ala.

In loving memory of my dear father, who died February 9, 1932:

When we saw you in the casket, lying so still and quiet
You seemed to be an angel, Daddy, with snowy wings of white.
We loved you, oh, so dearly;
You were so kind and good.
Why you had to leave us
We have not understood.
The family circle has been broken, and time can never mend,
But we can put our trust in Jesus and on Him we can depend.
The flowers we laid on your grave may wither and decay,
But the love we have for Daddy will never fade away.

GATIE RAY, a Daughter.

IN MEMORY OF MRS. WEBB

On the evening of October 31, 1932, a gentle voice crept softly into the home of Mr. S. J. M. Webb and silently said, "Well done thou good and faithful servant, enter now into the joys of thy Lord," thus ending the long period of suffering so patiently borne by his devoted companion, Mrs. Laura Webb.

Mrs. Laura Webb was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Manning. She was born in Coosa County, Alabama September 10, 188., joined the church at Corinth in Coosa County in 1898 and lived a devoted Christian life since that time. She has served faithfully as Sunday School teacher for several years during her Christian life and has devoted much time to W. M. U. work as well as other Christian duties.

She was married to Mr. S. J. M. Webb December 17, 1905, to which union two children were born, Ocie and Avoleene. She was a Christian wife and mother. She taught her children to do the right.

The many friends of Mrs. Webb were saddened at her passing away, but "Thy will not mine be done."

Wonderful things of folks are said
When they have passed away,
Roses adorn the narrow bed,
Over the sleeping clay.

Praises are not heard by the dead,
Roses they cannot see,
Let us not wait till souls have fled,
Generous friends to be.

Give them the rose while they live,
Trying to cheer them on,
Useless the flowers that you give
After the soul has gone.

Besides a husband and two children she leaves behind an aged mother, Mrs. M. B. Manning, six brothers, two sisters and a host of friends to mourn her loss, with the assurance that our loss is heaven's gain.

A Friend, Mrs. A. J. Lecroy.

SATURDAY

THE DAY OF DAYS

All Eyes are forced on the closing day of The Chilton County News' Campaign as the final efforts of the candidates will determine their right to A Fortune in Prizes

Who Will Win It?

Read These Closing Rules And Instructions Carefully

As a matter of caution, and to guard against the final possibility of loss to candidates, through misunderstanding during these last days of the campaign, final instructions are herewith appended. All candidates should read and weigh every line carefully.

FIRST—Be sure that your name is on every envelope before being deposited in the ballot box.

SECOND—Under no condition will votes be transferred from one candidate to another. This is an absolute rule and will be strictly enforced.

THIRD—Second payments must be marked as such on the subscription stub; also put down the amount of first payment so that the proper votes may be given.

FOURTH—Candidates may send in their remittances and subscriptions any time before 8:00 P. M. SATURDAY. The ballot box will be locked and sealed Thursday evening and the keys placed in the hands of the Judges. The ballot box will not be open except by the judges for the final counting.

FIFTH—It is very important that on the last few days of the campaign all remittances sent in by candidates or friends to be deposited in the ballot box should be made out in form of POSTOFFICE EXPRESS MONEY ORDERS, CERTIFIED CHECKS OR CURRENCY. No personal checks will be accepted. Absolutely no money will be refunded on subscriptions paid in during the campaign.

SIXTH—For each $5.00 worth of subscription payments to the CHILTON COUNTY NEWS found in the ballot box, 100,000 extra votes will be allowed by the judges.

SEVENTH—The final count of ballots will take place at the Chilton County News Office immediately after 8:00 o'clock P. M. Saturday, December 3, and will continue until completed. It is impossible to say at just what hour the final results will be known, but speed and accuracy will be combined until the finish of the count.

EIGHTH—Candidates and their friends who can and desire are invited to be present at the Chilton County News Office while the Judges are completing the final count. Your final report must be delivered Saturday, December 3, before 8:00 o'clock P. M.

NINTH—Enclose proper amount of money with each report. Center receipt stubs must accompany the final report.

TENTH—Every candidate who remains active in the campaign, making a cash report each week from the time of entering, and who fails to win one of the prizes, will be paid a cash commission of 20 per cent on all subscriptions turned in to this office to his or her credit. This means that each must have a final cash report in the Ballot Box to qualify for a prize or commission.

ELEVENTH—Be sure to supply yourself with sufficient receipt books. Tell your friends that you need all the support they can possibly give, and don't forget that long-term subscriptions count wonderfully just now.

TWELFTH—All ballots issued to the candidates on subscriptions since the campaign started must be deposited in the ballot box before 8:00 o'clock P. M. Saturday.

A Fortune In Prizes Is Now Ready -- Are You?

In just two more days one of the greatest battle of ballots ever staged in Chilton County will come to an end; and one candidate will be made happy with a new Chevrolet. While others will come into possession of elegant rewards for their efforts during the Chilton County News' Big Subscription Drive. Two days, all too short, will roll rapidly by and at 8:00 o'clock P. M. Saturday, this great campaign will be declared closed.

And the candidates, working with every ounce of energy at their command are going to surprise even themselves at the results they obtain. This campaign has been so widely advertised that the American instinct, that desires to help the person who shows a disposition to help herself is sure to assert itself and many who failed to subscribe earlier in the campaign or who promised to subscribe at a later date are now in that enthusiastic state of mind when they are not only willing, but anxious to get into the game and support their favorite by taking a subscription which may bring him or her the very votes needed to win a bigger prize.

The goal that these busy workers have been striving for is about to be reached. People who desire to assist them to win a prize before the end comes, are asked to leave their remittance at The News Office.

The race will end, as stated, at 8:00 o'clock P. M. SATURDAY. The wide-awake candidates will not waste one minute of the intervening time. As a well-known paragrapher has said, "It's never too late to do your level best. Hope isn't worth a hurrah without some personal assistance. WHEN IN DOUBT—DARE."

The closing of this campaign marks one of the most sensational races ever pulled off by any newspaper. All candidates are now on the final dash to victory and when the final count is registered it will probably reveal some big surprises.

PAY YOUR CENTRAL FEE NOW

Everybody says, "Yes, we cannot do without our telephone." but when it comes time to pay off, people do not consider the thing so urgent. Or is it that they want the service right on but want to wait as long as possible to pay off?

The Board of Directors would like to give service and not have to bore people with the need of paying fees, but these two things are inseparable. No pay, no service. Mr. and Mrs. Copelan must have some money if they stay in Clanton and operate the business. They have agreed to take some fees in various kinds of produce that people have, but some money is absolutely necessary. And it will not do any good after the operators have been forced to go elsewhere to make them something to eat and wear.

So, the Board of Directors are compelled to urge the payment of fees just as hastily as possible. Pay up your central fees now and get rid of it; the operators need the money.

SECOND MOTORIST: "Not for me! I buy new tires in the Fall."

IF your tires are pretty smooth right now, the slippery roads of fall and winter make the full grip of new Goodyears a sensible precaution. And new treads last about TWICE as long on cool roads as on hot summer roads. So Goodyears put on now still will be practically as good as new for next spring and summer. You'll be protected from skids and free from the expense or worry of tire trouble all winter. Better buy now!

SEE how Goodyear puts TRACTION in the center—big husky blocks of rubber—keen-edged—deep-slotted—to dig in, grip and hold. More stop! The All-Weather Tread is a big reason why millions more people ride on Goodyear Tires. Come in—we'll demonstrate!

Mr. Stapp wishes to call the attention of the public to the fact that after December 10th he will not be able to give much time to the relief work, and that during the first ten days of December he will not have time to make any visits or make any investigations of cases. He wil lissue flour and clothing only upon the recmmendation of one or more of the above named committeemen. The help of the public in administering this relief is sought and earnestly solicited by Mr. Stapp.

He says: "If you know of a family that can not get by without help from charity, please advise the head of such family to see one of the above named committeemen and get a written statement addressed to Mr. Stapp, relative to the needs and conditions of the family." This is important, because it is upon such statements from the members of the relief committee that Mr. Stapp wil act in extending help to the families.

Mr. Stapp further calls attention to the fact that lots of people who are really in need themselves have contributed of their means for the relief and comfort of those who are in worse conditions; and that these contributors want their contributions to go only to people who are in worse condition than they are. Mr. Stapp appeals to the honest and conscientious people of the county to help him carry out the wishes of such contributors by recommending only such families for help as can not get by without help from charity.

W. B. Corley Writes About West End

Editor, Chilton County News:

Looks like you don't come out our way often, I never see any mention of us all in the News. Man, you don't know what you are missing. You can't find a single sign of the famous and well known Depression. Hard times may be down there, but these good people don't seem to recognize him at all.

For instance, there is that pioneer merchant, Joe Grooms, who has been merchandising in one building here for a long number of years, who has just completed a splendid and larger store building one block east of his former location on Second Avenue and has just moved into it with a splendid and well assorted stock of family and fancy groceries. You can get anything you want to eat, drink or chew at his place and the prices are right and the attention courteous and accommodating.

Then, near his new store, he has had erected a little home that is a picture of daintiness and comfort. How is that for a "Depression."

Now listen. No sooner had Joe vacated his old store than Mr. John Best filled up the vacancy caused by Joe's evacuation, with a new stock of general merchandise and no sign of "depression" marks the place.

On the opposite side of the street from Best, in the new store building formerl occupied by Mr. Cooper, Mr. C. R. Glenn is putting in a most complete, new and well selected stock of general merchandise, with Mr. Sam Collins, the newly elected J. P., as his head salesman.

The Broadhead store and market is doing a fine business in feeding the people and his mill and feed crusher are giving the live stock a chance to live and grow fat. Their service to the public and the business they do would make one forget the "depression."

Then Chief of Police Hardy has a store, market, grist mill and feed crusher out there that look less like what we thought a depression was than you can imagine.

So, Mr. Editor, you better come out and look around, for, believe me, the half has not been told.

WILL MAKE QUILTS TO HELP FOR REASONABLE PRICES

The local Chapter of the Red Cross advises the News they have a lady, Mrs. Era Moore, of Plantersville, Ala., who is fine at making quilts. She stated she was in need of help but would make quilts and sell them instead of appealing to the Red Cross.

This is very noble indeed. Mrs. Moore will furnish the new cloth and cotton. The price of the quilts will be three dollars, or if several women place an order for eight or more they will be $2.50 apiece.

Miss Leila Bell Smith Wins New Chevrolet

HUNDREDS OF NEW NAMES ARE ADDED TO LIST

Response Of County Was Overwhelming Throughout The Campaign

The Chilton County News Profit Sharing Circulation Campaign which has held the interest of the people of Chilton County for the last few weeks, closed Saturday night in a burst of enthusiasm and a success in every respect.

The final count by the Judges was made in good time, considering the number of subscriptions and votes turned in during the last few hours of the campaign. Every vote cast during the campaign was counted, added and then carefully rechecked so that an error was practically impossible. The Grand Prize was won by Miss Leila Belle Smith of Pletcher. Miss Cleo Broadhead of Clanton was winner of the second prize, $150.00 in cash. The other awards were given in the order shown in the report of the Judges published elsewhere.

Was Splendid Campaign

To say that the Chilton County News subscription drive was by all odds the greatest ever put over in this section would be putting it mildly. The prizes were very generous and the awards were greater in proportion. There developed a very ambitious lot of workers and they obtained huge results.

From every point of view the campaign was a wonderful success. The race forged ahead each day to a remarkable finish with the best feeling between all contestants and the management. Not one worker has been heard to express dissatisfaction with the manner in which the campaign was conducted, nor charge the publisher or the campaign manager with unfairness

CHANGE MADE IN AGENCY OF OIL COMPANY

M. Z. Atchison Takes Over Shell Gas, Oil Agency In This Section

A change of interest in the gasoline and motor oil business of Chilton county took place Monday, when M. Z. Atchison took over the wholesale distributing agency of the Shell products from J. T. Rockett.

This change includes the modern Shell Service Station located across the street from the Ford Building on the Birmingham highway. In the future, this station will be operated by Messrs. Guthrie Johnson and Foster Miller, according to Mr. Atchison.

Mr. Atchison has been in the gasoline and oil business for eight years, seven of which have been in Clanton and Chilton county. He is well known over this section, having been connected with other oil distributors of the county. Mr. Atchison stated to a representative of the News that he would operate his own delivery truck, calling on his stations and customers in person. We predict success for Mr. Atchison in his new undertaking.

MARTIN'S WOCO-PEP STATION VISITED BY BURGLAR AGAIN

For the second time in two weeks, or rather two weeks to the night, the Martin's Woco-Pep Station of Clanton, was visited by a burglar.

The recent visit took place last Friday night. Entrance was gained into the building the same way as before, through a window. Not as much was taken Friday night as before. The station is operated by Mrs. Mary Martin.

Mrs. Hugh Kennedy and children returned to their home the first of last week after spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Pipes.

Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Gerald spent last Tuesday in Montgomery.

Solution Of An Age-Old Problem Is Believed Found By Local Man, Mr. R. L. Huffman

An age-old problem, one that has baffled hundreds of mathematicians, is believed solved by Mr. R. L. Huffman, who has recently arrived in Clanton where he fills the pulpit of the Church of Christ.

The problem of tri-secting any given angle solely by means of geometric principles has been a puzzle to mathematicians through ages immemorial. Mr. Huffman states that nearly a year ago his attenton was drawn to this problem and attempting to solve it he studied about three months and was almost persuaded to give up the attempt when he discovered his scheme for solution. When he had tested it out to the best of his ability he secured copyright on his drawing. Then he began to formulate his theoretical proof in the light of plane geometry and made several blunders and corrections before he was able to compile the principles of geometry to his satisfaction as he now has them.

Since reaching his final conclusion he has presented his solution and proof to a number of mathematicians. All who have examined his present proof expressed no adverse criticism and offered no proof to offset it, but several said the proof seemed good. One said that he would hate to undertake to disprove it.

Mr. Huffman has a statement from a prominent architect connected with the State who says this about the solution: "Following the method described and a copy of which is hereto attached, I have mechanically tri-sected a number of different angles, using various sized circles, and in each instances the problem worked out accurately so far as mechanical means will permit." Mr. Huffman has reached his final conclusion to publish his drawing, solution and proof, and states that one striking feature of it all is that the whole thing is simple.

NEW PLANS ARE MADE FOR THE NEEDY RELIEF

Committeemen Asked Not To Issue Any Statements At Present Time

C. E. Stapp, chairman of the local Red Cross Chapter, had the following to say about relief work this week:

"Last week I gave the papers a list of committeemen in each beat who had been asked to help in making distribution to those who were unable to help themselves. The plan was all right, but just wouldn't work. Soon after the distribution began Friday some of the committeemen were in a way forced to recommend persons for help who could get by without it. I am not blaming any committeeman because I was put in the same position. When I saw how the distribution was going I had to call a halt.

"For the relief of the committeemen who are being sought day and night for recommendation, this is to advise that those who were serving as committeemen are relieved of their responsibilities and asked not to give any more written statements to those seeking help.

"We are making plans now to handle the distribution in a different way and hope to be able to help all of the actually distressed cases and cut out all cases that can get by without help."

Cream Station Will Be Reopened Soon

Mr. Stapp has arranged for the reopening of the cream station in Clanton on Saturday, December 17th. He states that the cream price is still low, but a good many people have indicated a desire to get a market for small amounts of cream.

Mr. Stapp advises that the number of people who bring in cream will determine whether or not the station will be able to continue operating after it is reopened.

RAILROAD PAYS LARGE AMOUNT OF TAXES HERE

Railroads Serving County Paid $42,558.36 Tax In One Year

Decreased earning power and tax-paying ability of the railroads, resulting from the use of the State's highways by commercial transportation agencies, now widely discussed, is given pointed emphasis in a statement by Lauren Foreman, of Atlanta, public relations representative of the Southern Railway System, which shows that in 1931 the railroads paid $42,558.36 in taxes on property located in Chilton County. This figure includes approximately $6,300.00 of special school district taxes but does not include any municipal taxes.

"These figures show," says Mr. Foreman's statement, "that the railroads serving Chilton County paid taxes on their property located in this county for 1931 amounting to $42,558.36, not a dollar of which was expended to provide or maintain a roadway for their trains or for their special benefit in any way. It all went into the public treasuries to support the schools and other institutions operated for the benefit of the people of Chilton County.

"The property of the railroads lo-

PRODUCE CAR FOR ORPHANS TO LOAD HERE

Baptists Will Load A Car At The Clanton Tracks On December 9th

To all the Baptists of the Unity and Chilton County Associations please take notice that on Friday, December the 9th, 1932, the members of the two associations will load a car at Clanton, Alabama with provisions for the Baptist Orphans at Troy.

We realize it is a needy time with us all but let us all do our little bit and thereby help those who have no one to look to but the Baptists of the State. They need just the ordinary things to sustain life. What you use at home they can use, just send them a small bit of it. Be sure you get it to Clanton on the 9th of December. Some brethren will be at the car to assist you in placing it in the car.

Remember, "It is more blessed to give than to receive."

Anyone even though they are not Baptists, feeling disposed to contribute their gifts will be greatly appreciated.

Yours in the work.
J. Z. MIMS,
Moderator, Unity Association.
J. W. JONES,
Moderator, Chilton Co. Association.

CHILTON MAN STARTS NEW RELIEF IDEA

Jackson Chapel Citizens Use Own Method Of Aiding Needy People

Sometime ago Mr. W. L. Sanders in conference with Mr. Stapp and others, presented a plan for community relief that is believed to be good.

Mr. Sanders went to work in his community on the proposed plan. The following which was turned in to Mr. Stapp by Mr. Sanders, will give you an idea of its possibilities:

We, the undersigned farmers of and in the vicinity of the Jackson Chapel district, feel that it is our duty to help in every way possible to relieve those in a destitute condition. We also feel that every man who is physically able should work for himself and family, therefore, we will create jobs for those whose families will otherwise suffer

E. C. Traywick will give 4 days work and will pay in syrup or sweet potatoes, two gallons of syrup or two bushels of sweet potatoes per day.

T. J. Little will pay reasonable wages in produce for four days ditching.

Grover Jones will give four days

MR. PARTRIDGE BRINGS IN BIGGEST GOURD OF SEASON

Some have brought big potatoes to the News office, other tall stalks of sorghum and various other items extreme in size, or different in other ways from the ordinary article. Just the other day in came a gentleman with what we at first glance took to be the prize pumpkin of the year, but the bearer and grower, Mr. Partridge of near Cooper, Ala., informed us it was just a gourd—but what a gourd! It measured 57 inches in circumference, and Mr. Partridge said he thought it would hold a bushel when cleaned out. We have no doubt it will—But we wonder who can beat that, and how many martins could build their nests in it.

JOINT MEET WITH BOARD ON NEXT SAT.

Funds Needed To Continue Schools In County This Year

Will the Commissioners Court of Chilton county appropriate money to the county board of education so that schools may continue in this county. That is the question that is hoped to be settled right away. There has been much talk about this, but up to now, very little action taken

Last Friday afternoon there was a meeting at the courthouse of a few school teachers, and interested citizens before Judge L. H. Reynolds. They requested Judge Reynolds to call the commissioners court together so that an appeal could be made to them to appropriate funds from the county's money to pay the school teachers of the county, which is lawful, if the court wishes to do so.

A call was issued to the members of the court and they met at the courthouse Monday afternoon of this week, with school trustees, teachers and other interested citizens. There was considerable discussion of many matters at this meeting, the outcome of which brought no action, except a call for another meeting.

A resolution was drawn up and passed requesting the county board of education to hold a joint meeting with the commissioners court on next Saturday afternoon at two o'clock, for the purpose of working together on this matter, and trying to arrange details for presenting to the people an opportunity to vote their approval or disapproval on the question of the commissioners court appropriating county funds to keep the schools of this county running.

Think These Over

Here are a few short para[illegible] author unknown, that are worthy of pasting in your scrap book and putting into daily practice

I buy at home because my interests are here.

Because the community which is good enough for me to live in is good enough for me to buy in.

Because I want to see the goods

Because I want to get what I buy when I pay for it.

Because my home dealer carries me when I run short.

Because the men I buy from stand back of the goods.

Because I sell what I produce here at home and here I buy.

Because the man I buy from helps support the schools, my church, my lodge, and my home.

Because when ill luck, misfortune or bereavement comes, the man I buy from is here with his kindly greeting, his word of cheer and his pocketbook if need be.

Here I live and here I buy.

I buy at home.

Banquet Given By News Last Friday Night At Dief's Cafe Enjoyed By Many Guests

Thirty-one persons were guests of the Chilton County News last Friday night at a banquet given at the popular Dief's Cafe in Clanton at seven o'clock

The banquet was given in honor of the eight contestants and judges in the News circulation campaign which came to a close last Saturday night with the awarding of the prizes.

Two long tables, attractively decorated with carnations and other fresh flowers, were arranged by the cafe. A banquet plate consisting of delicious and well prepared food was served each guest. Also included in the guest list were employees of the News, and each employee, contestant and judge had another person as his or her guest.

With Billy Smith, editor of the News as toastmaster, the judges were called on for talks. Among the guests from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Luther Fowler and Miss Carroll of Columbiana. Mr. Fowler is publisher of the Shelby County Reporter, and made a splendid talk.

Following these talks an address was made by the editor of the News who expressed his appreciation for the cooperation and efforts of the contestants and the people of the county. He was followed by a talk by Sam J. Feaster, who has been with the News as manager of the campaign. Each contestant was then called on.

Farm Economic Facts

By J. D. Pope, Auburn

Cotton acreage in the South was reduced 20 per cent from 1929 to 1932.

The peanut acreage in 1932 was the largest on record an dthe production was the second largest.

Prices of horses and mules have not declined as drastically in recent years as has the price of cotton.

In 1931 Alabama ranked third from the lowest of all the states in average production of milk per cow, the average being 3,030 pounds per year, or about one gallon per day.

According to the October 1, 1932, intentions-to-plant report the growers of commercial Irish potatoes in the early and intermediate states intend to decrease acreage by about 14 per cent.

Of the total production of milk in Alabama 86 per cent is used on the farm, mostly in making butter; 6 per cent is sold by producers at retail; 8 per cent is sold at wholesale.

The world carryover of American cotton, as of August 1, 1932, at 13,000,000 bales, was 4,100,000 bales larger than a year ago, and 3,600,000 bales larger than the previous record carryover of 1921-22.

Retail prices of fertilizer declined about 25 per cent from 1929 to 1932; prices of farm products declined 58 per cent during the same period.

According to estimates of the United States Forest Service nearly four-fifths of the remaining stand of saw timber, and nearly nine-tenths of the nation's softwood saw timber is in the Rocky Mountain and Pacific Coast States.

It appears that the upkeep of a pretty face is just about as expensive as that of a homely one.

Perhaps the recent change in contract bridge rules is an early manifestation of the new deal.

Solomon Nichinsky of London, arrested for spitting in his partner's eye, was bound over in the sum of one penny to keep the peace and be of good behavior for one day.

D. W. Haskew

I was sitting in a swing in the back yard eating a slice of cake. A crumb fell from my hand and rested on a plank at my feet. I saw an ant that was in a hurry. I knew that it was dashing here and there in search of food for itself and family. I blocked the path of the little runner with my finger and would turn it in its course. I did this time and again, trying all the time to direct the ant to the crumb of cake. After many efforts I succeeded in directing the ant to the food supply that I knew about. The ant became impatient with me because I was seemingly hindering it in its search, but when it found the crumb of cake, it lifted it in its arms and started on a wild run for its home. I could almost hear the words of gratitude coming from the ant as it thanked me for guiding it to its food supply. God is guiding us. He drops his finger before us and turns our course and oft times we become impatient. We cry out and return empty because we do not seem to have our own way. Above us is our God and He knows. Some day we will understand, and with happy hearts we will thank Him for guiding us to the place where the cake could be found.

Two Irishmen were digging a well. When the hole in the ground was fifty-five feet deep Pat and Mike got on a big drunk and ceased to dig for a week. After sobering up the two men returned to complete the well. Before going down to dig they put a lighted candle into a bucket and let it down to the bottom of the well. The candle went out. "Ah, Pat," said Mike, "There is fire damp in that hole and that means that it is a place of death." They got busy and swished it out with pine brush, and then the candle would burn to the bottom. If you want to know if certain conduct is safe for you suppose that you let your Bible down into that form of living and if its light will shine to the bottom, you can afford to enter. If the Christian light of your pastor will not shine in the dance hall, playing Sunday golf, attending Sunday picture shows, conducting a mercantile business on Sunday, etc. you had better be careful how you let yourself into that way of living for there is death in that hole. When the light of your Bible and the Christian light of your pastor will shine to the end of the way, you may then know that all is well. Too many jump in places where the Christian religion will not shine, and to their sorrow they find out that there is death in that hole. It is a good policy to test before you risk your eternal life.

Many years ago I went fishing on a sail boat. The breezes carried us to the fishing waters, and we cast anchor and fished for the rest of the day. Late in the afternoon we lifted the anchor and started back to camp fifteen miles away. A strong breeze carried us with speed for two miles and then it ceased to blow. There was a dead calm on the waters, and the boat stopped in its path. For four hours we did not travel. Darkness came on but the boat refused to move. About ten o'clock at night the wind set up and we moved off to camp. When people act on feelings they are just like that sail boat. If they get up on Sunday morning and their feelings blow toward the church they will likely make it to worship, but if they do not feel like it, they come to a dead stop. There is no dependence to be put in folks who are creatures of feeling. A ship that sails by the power of steam and machinery will make fifteen miles an hour facing a gale. It is best to do things whether you feel like it or not.

A wife was suffering from malaria infection and she sent to the drug store for quinine. By mistake morphine was sent and the woman measured out an overdose. No sooner had she swallowed it than she realized that a mistake had been made. The doctor was called. The physician administered an antidote and then informed the distressed family that the only hope was in keeping the wife and the mother awake. When stupor set in the family would pick her up and walk her against her will, they had to even lash her with leather straps, pull her hair unmercifully and pinch her flesh blue, but they kept her awake. All the time she cried under the punishment and begged them to just let her sleep one moment. For her to go to sleep for one moment meant death. People wonder why I am eternally after them to attend church and Sunday school. It is because I know that when they take an overdose of indifference, they are likely to go to sleep never to awake again. Your salvation depends on staying awake and sticking to your Christian duty. Some folks have already gone to sleep under the influence of an overdose of the devil's narcotics.

We returned to camp from a day of fishing. One man among us brought with him a long string of fish. He had no comments to make, but silently turned over his fish to the cook. This fellow was criticised because he did not have up to date tackle, and because he used bait that was not used by the other men. The noisy men in the camp were the fellows who had caught nothing. They seemed to know how all fishing should be done, but they had nothing to exhibit. The man who caught the fish had no suggestions to make, but he had results to show after his effort. Lots of folks know how to run the world, but they have nothing to show that they have done. I like the man who can catch the fish. I care but little for his tackle. Before you talk about running the world, show your string of fish.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

by Charles E. Dunn

The Christian's Use of Leisure
Lesson for Dec. 11th. Mark 6:30-32.
Golden Text: 1st Corinthians 10:31

One of the greatest needs of the American people is to know how best to use their abundant leisure. With a reduction in the number of hours of work, this problem has become of vast importance. To its solution the Church must resolutely address itself.

There are certain phases of the present situation that are not reassuring. The motion picture largely operates in the direction of undermining the taste and thought of the nation. The automobile makes us a vast company of speeding gadabouts in restless motion. And the radio places us at the mercy of jazz bands, crooners, and similar vulgarities of high-pressure salesmanship.

On the other hand, there are undoubted possibilities for good in these machine-made sources of recreation. The movie theatre is certainly preferable to the saloon, and there are pictures beyond criticism both from the standpoint of art and character building. The automobile has revived the old-fashioned family outings, promoting shared recreation in the out-of-doors. And the radio enables us to listen to symphony concerts, addresses, and inspiring church services.

The problem, then, becomes one of choice. We must learn to discriminate between the wholesome and the unwholesome. One is always on safe ground if he keeps Jesus and the Christian ideal in sight. The Golden Text urges us to do all we do "to the glory of God." If we follow this admonition, we can never wander far.

Instead of high-powered, exhausting amusement, we shall choose simple, restful, health giving fun. Like our Master, we shall seek contact with nature as often as possible, and cultivate a few kindred spirits, whose friendship can heal and restore our jaded selves. Moreover, we shall seek recreation that demands personal participation rather than passive inspection.

"Come away, all of you," said the Master, "to a quiet place, and rest awhile." We all need to escape from the strain of life. God help us to choose those forms of merry-making that will enrich and beautify our days!

Three Proposals For Farm Relief

Auburn, Ala.—The old subject of farm relief has jumped into limelight again. President-elect Roosevelt is committed to definite legislation of some kind and leading business men and bankers have joined with farmers in insisting that something concrete be done for agriculture.

At present three proposals are being advocated. They are an allotment plan of some kind; the equalization fee; and the debenture. Each of these is advocated for the good of business as well as agriculture.

The allotment proposal is yet indefinite. Each one advocating it has his own ideas concerning it. The intention, however, is to pay an allotment in the form of treasury certificates to farmers upon that portion of their crop which is consumed within the United States, thereby applying the American protective system to agriculture. It has been suggested that this allotment to wheat growers be 42 cents per bushel, and to cotton growers 5 cents per pound.

The equalization fee proposes to remove the surplus of each crop from the market and collect an equalization fee from the remaining portion for financing the surplus removal. Advocates of this insist that it will not burden the public treasury and that it will also regulate production because the amount of the equalization fee will be increased as surpluses are increased.

The debenture proposal would be the tariff in reverse gear,—that is, it would place a bonus upon exports of farm products whereas the tariff places a penalty upon imports. The national grange has endeavored to make this a part of tariff legislation.

5,000,000 Pounds Of Legume Seed Used

Auburn, Ala.—Despite unfavorable economic conditions and limited cash a remarkable record has been made by farmers of Alabama in planting seed of winter legumes—Austrian peas , hairy vetch—this fall. They have planted 5,000,000 pounds, or more than 2,000,000 pounds in excess of the 1931 record of 2,809,025 pounds.

These figures were released by J. C Lowery, extension agronomist at Auburn, after summarizing reports received from county demonstration agents who have been leaders in advocating this method of increasing the fertility of land, thus improving agriculture.

Two hundred thousand acres of land have been planted to winter legumes this fall. The little legume plants on this land should pull down from the air and store in the soil nitrogen equivalent to that in 40,000 tons of nitrate of soda worth at current prices about $1,200,000.

This nitrogen will be consumed by corn, cotton, and other crops next year. It will be sufficient to increase the production of corn by 4,000,000 bushels and the production of cotton by 50,000 bales.

Mr. Lowery said that Dallas County is away in the lead this year, as in former years. County Agent John Blake has records on 730,000 pound these seed having been planted on Dallas County farms in the fall of 1932. Several purchases of seed were made without having been reported to him.

Cullman was second on the list 261,900 pounds. Next came Perry with 224,000 pounds, Etowah with 200,000 pounds, Calhoun with 154,000 pounds, Chilton with 153,000 pounds.

Dallas County plantings this were almost equivalent to all Alabama in 1927, the state total that year being 790,649. The grand total for the for the fourteen years from 191 1931, inclusive, was 10,581,529 pound little more than twice the amount planted in 1932 alone.

Mrs. Clara Paulauskas of Chi was ordered by a judge to pay her band $35 a month from her incom the garage and rooming house busi

Thorsby Institute News

On Saturday afternoon Miss Phillips' music pupils who were well enough to be present gave a recital in the auditorium. Marjorie Bentley, who is only eight years old and has been taking lessons only two months played the opening piece. Not many are able to appear in a recital after so short a time of taking lessons. The last piece was a duet played by Miss Phillips and Miss Ekblad and was played very well.

A week from Saturday night the Helen Keller Literary Society will have a Christmas play and Christmas carols will be sung.

Dr. Wm. T. Morgan's talks to the student body of Thorsby Institute have been very helpful. Many have had personal conferences with him.

Arbor Day was celebrated at the Thorsby Institute last Friday with a program presented by the Senior class and the planting of two cedar trees where the roads enter the campus.

THANKS

We of the Chilton County News are deeply grateful to the hundreds of friends throughout the county who gave a renewed expression of their confidence in the paper, and of their loyalty to it, by subscribing during the Circulation Campaign that came to a close Saturday night.

The campaign was a wonderful success in every way. As a result of it, the Chilton County News will now go into more homes every week than ever before in its history. From now on, the paper may be said, truly to "cover the county."

Our lasting gratitude goes to Mr. S. J. Feaster of the National Service Syndicate who organized and conducted the circulation campaign. It was his responsibility to make all plans, to organize the workers and to maintain the organization right up to the close of the campaign. All these responsibilities he met in a wonderful way. In the very beginning the campaign was pitched on the very highest plane. Workers who entered the campaign were given assurance that only work, hard work, would count. The campaign was carried through to the end on the same high plane on which it was launched. The same fair, courteous and sympathetic co-operation was given to all the workers alike. Everyone who had the privilege of getting to know Mr. Feaster was impressed with his genuine sincerity, his kindly consideration and his determination to have only a clean and fair campaign.

Our deepest gratitude goes to the workers themselves. They put their best efforts into the work and the results speak for their efforts. Of course they had as an incentive a keen desire to win one of the prizes. That is but natural. But they had more than that in the campaign. They had a fine loyalty to the paper. At the close they could say, and some of them did say, that they had enjoyed the work and that they were working "for the News" as well as for the prizes they hoped to win. We shall always remember every one of them by name with a deep sense of gratitude.

We want to thank again the judges, Mr. C. R. Foss, Thorsby; Mr. John Maples, Maplesville, Mr. C. E. Stapp, Clanton, and Mr. Louie Smith, Clanton. These gentlemen were certainly most kind and considerate. Had they been counting dollars in their respective places of business they could not have been more careful and more painstaking than they were in counting votes to determine the winners. The manner in which they handled the count assures everyone that absolute fairness in awarding the prizes. The contestants who were awarded prizes received just what their votes entitled them to receive. Those who followed the rules but did not receive prizes, received their commissions.

We deeply appreciate too, the fine interest in the outcome of the campaign as manifested by so many of our friends who gathered at the News office Saturday evening and waited until a late hour to hear the final results and applaud the winners.

Once more we would thank the people of Chilton county, whom it has been our privilege to serve for nearly SIX YEARS, for their splendid, wholehearted cooperation. It was their willingness to subscribe for the Chilton County News that made it all possible. From all parts of the community in all parts of the county subscriptions, both new and renewals, came in. A newspaper lives by the friends it has—just as any other business lives. From now on it will be a great satisfaction to realize that the News is able to number its friends in the thousands.

In return for this manifestation of loyal support of our friends, both workers and subscribers alike, we are glad to renew the promise, made many times before, to do our best to make the News good enough to represent the best and the highest things that make up the life of the people of Chilton county.

Chilton is a fine county—some day it will be recognized for what it is, one of the very best in Alabama. There are no better people in the world than the people of Chilton county. Realizing these things, we start anew this week to do our best adequately to serve Chilton county and her people. Again we thank you, everyone.

BILLY SMITH, Editor and Owner

Letter Of Thanks From Mrs. Christ

Editor, the News:

It is a privilege and pleasure to again thank those who gave me loyal support in the recent Chilton County Contest; and while I did not get the prize for which I worked, yet I value these friends' cooperation and good wishes just as much as tho I had; and to those who wanted to help and could not, I warmly thank you.

I enjoyed the work and the contacts for I met many people and gained an insight into local conditions, which I never should have had otherwise.

I also wish to express my appreciation for the courtesies of the management in tendering to the contestants the lovely banquet, which I thoroughly enjoyed.

And now in conclusion these words of Madeline Bridges:

"There are loyal hearts, there are spirits brave,
There are souls that are pure and true;
Then give to the world the best you have,
And the best will come back to you.

Give love, and love to your life will flow,
A strength in your utmost need;
Have faith, and a score of hearts will show
Their faith in your word and deed.

For life is the mirror of kings and slave;
'Tis just what we are and do;
Then give to the world the best you have,
And the best will come back to you."

Gratefully and loyally,
EVELYN W. CHRIST.

Auto Death Rate Declines

The best news we have heard in a long time is the report that fewer people have been killed in automobile accidents this year than last. At first glance it might seem that that is merely because not so many people are driving cars, but the Travelers Insurance Company keeps close track of the figures of automobile accidents, since it is in the business of writing accident insurance, says that while fewer cars are registered and less gasoline is being bought the decrease in fatal accidents is even more marked than those facts will account for.

In seventeen states there has ben a falling off of 20 per cent in the number of automobile deaths. Only three states show an increase in the number of fatalities. For the country as a whole the number of automobile deaths for the first ten months of this year shows a decline of 1[illegible] per cent. At the present rate fewer than thirty thousand people will have been killed in or by automobiles in [illegible]

[illegible] mighty good news. It indicates that we are learning how to handle the most dangerous deadly weapon that has ever been placed without restraint in the hands of children, irresponsible adults and drunkards. Far more people are killed by the careless or incompetent handling of automobiles every year than are killed by carelessness with firearms. Most parents would hesitate before giving their boys and girls revolvers to play with. But these same parents will give automobiles to the most irresponsible children to play with and to kill people with. Nobody would trust a notorious and irresponsible drunkard with a gun, but the operation of automobiles is entrusted to anyone who can keep sober long enough to get his driving license.

The strictest of strict regulations in order to obtain a driver's license is of course one way to curb the evils of recklessness.

Let No Man Lose Habit To Work

Over in England, where they have had hard times much longer than we have been experiencing them, in fact, ever since the war, they have been having riots and demonstrations by mobs of unemployed who recently have even attempted to storm the House of Parliament. There have been bloody clashes with the police in the city of London and other parts of England. And the disturbances have all come about because of changes in the system of supporting the unemployed at public expense.

There are nearly five million men and women in England who have been for years subsisting on the so-called dole. They have come to a state of mind where they regard it the duty of the nation to support them, whether they work or not—at least a great many of them have. So when a law was enacted providing for the examination of the actual means and resources of those who were receiving the dole, and reducing the amount paid them out of public funds in cases where it was found that they had other income or resources, it was looked upon by these spongers upon the taxpayers as an infringement of their rights! They, or many of them, marched on London to protest against being compelled to live by their own efforts or upon their own reserves.

That is a condition which is inevitably bred by any long continued distribution of money to people who perform no work in return for it. That is a danger which we in America have faced and are still facing, although on a smaller scale. It is something that happens whenever there is a considerable number of unemployed who have been accustomed to being taken care of out of public funds or private charity. In the beginning they want to work for what they get, but as soon as they find out that there is a possible way of getting something for nothing the inclination of the majority is to take money as their right and to protest when they are asked to give something in seturn.

We understand that there are many evidences that this state of mind is becoming prevalent in the larger American cities. We hope that the end of the depression will not leave us with an army of bums, tramps and beggars, who have lost the habit of work. We are afraid, however, that that is a condition which we shall have to face.

"ROUND TOWN"

---by Doug

Who got the car? That is a question that has been on the lips of many a person in this section for the past few days. I'd tell you, but C. G. N. has it all over the front page, and that lets met out. But anyway, Leila Bell Smith is the proud possessor of a brand spanking new Chevrolet automobile now, and tickled pink. I hate to tell off on her, but the other day over in Pletcher, she ran the car off in a ditch. Now that's some way to treat a new car.

I can imagine the outcome of that contest was a surprise to many persons. Personally there is one thing I regret about the contest being over, and I believe I speak for all the employees of C. G. N. It is because that Sam Feaster has gone. You see, Sam stayed around with us just long enough for us to get to liking him. You just couldn't keep from liking him. He is that kind of a fellow. Things don't seem the same since he left.

Before he left, he came to me and said, "I hope you will tell the people of Clanton and the county that I regret to have to leave them. My stay in Clanton has been most pleasant, and the people have certainly treated me fine. Just tell them that I will always remember them, whereever I go." Now Sam really means that too. He says he will be back down in this section sometime after January first. He left here to go to his home to spend Christmas.

Don't you folks forget about the car that is to be loaded here on December 9th with goods to go to the Orphans Home. It is a Baptist car, but that don't make no difference. If you are not a Baptist, you can bring in something anyway.

The Ed told me that some fellow asked him, that another person asked him what I meant by referring to C. G. N. Seems to me that anybody would know what that means. It simply means Clanton's Greatest Newspaper. You've heard of The South's Greatest Newspaper, which is The Birmingham News, haven't you? Well, you can get an idea from that.

I 'spect I'd better sort of talk to the new readers of the News a little bit this week, in case they don't understand me and my writngs and ramblings. The Ed told me that I would have hundreds of new readers now. You people who ain't accustomed to my writings, just don't get worried about anything I say, because I've been accused of writing nonsense or something, all the time. The Ed don't agree with me all the time, and gets kind of sore about some of the things I write. Anyway, I'm mighty glad to have you new readers to read this column. It kind of makes me feel good all the time now.

Folks, here's something for you; and for me too. It's been a long time since anyone wrote a letter to this column, until the other day. I got a letter, looks like it was written by a member of the fair and warmer sex, asking me how come I thought about it being Leap Year and saying she didn't believe that any woman proposed to me, or something.

Well, I ain't denying that it is Leap Year, and most anybody might think about it being Leap Year. Maybe I ain't exactly responsible for that. It's just that time, that's all I know, and I just happened to think about it. Now as far as being proposed to, I ain't denying that and I ain't confirming it, cause I came near getting into trouble about that last week.

I've been sitting and wondering a lot lately, and it is a mystery to me why some people talk out loud in a picture show.

And why some certain people are always sticking their noses into other people's business.

How come that cat Harrison Taylor has, has only two legs.

If the Commissioners Court is going to help out our schools.

How much was spent for road work during the past three months in this county.

What ever became of that accusation that there was graft in the road business of Chilton county.

When some people are going to get it into their heads that the election is over.

Why a bald headed man's head is so shiny.

Why women don't ever get bald headed.

Who has been breaking in the Martin Woco-Pep Station.

How Charlie Bell keeps in such good spirits all the time.

If the city officials are going to have out some Christmas decorations this time.

How many business men read the editorial column of this newspaper.

If the merchants of Clanton and other towns in the county are as wide-awake for business as they think they are.

If Shelby county ever found out who put that "grave" on the courthouse grounds.

Why I wasn't invited to the News banquet last Friday [illegible]

When Leila Bell is going to take me to ride in that New Chevrolet she won.

Now that my wonderings are over for a spell, I write a little about Santa Claus. Now you want to say there ain't no Santa Claus. Well, you can't fool me. I know there is a Santa Claus, because I've seen too many little girls and boys writing letters to him, and in almost every case, their letters were attended to. But I just want to tell these little girls and boys that they shouldn't ask for too much from old Santa this year. You know, times are kind of tough right now, and while Santa is a good old sport, he is striking it hard too. So be easy with him and don't ask for too much this Christmas.

Now that advice goes to you older folks too. Especially you young ladies who haven't yet stepped into the sea of matrimony or something, and are expecting that "steady" of yours to hand you a nice big beautiful Christmas present. Be sensible about this thing this time, and maybe your Santa Claus will do better next year. Nope there hasn't been any young fellows approached me to say that. I know from my own experience along such lines. I think all older folks should just have a sensible talk about this matter of Christmas presents. Give something, but give sensibly. The stores of Clanton are packed with goods, marked way down in price. Buy your gifts at home. Your home merchant needs the business.

TWENTY-FOURTH ANNUAL REPORT OF THE SOCIAL SERVICE COMMISSION OF THE SOUTHERN BAPTIST CONVENTION — 1932

Following will be found a part of the Twenty-Fourth Annual Report of the Social Service Commission of The Southern Baptist Convention, 1932. The News is indebted to Mr. S. J. M. Webb for a copy of this report. Mr. Webb is clerk of the local Baptist Association.

As is our custom we limit our report to a comparatively few of the many things that might appropriately and profitably be discussed in a report on Social Service. It must be understood also that we deal with social service not as related to and including hospitals, orphanages and other benevolent enterprises which are frequently referred to as phases of social service. We deal with social service in the sense that it involves public morality, civic righteousness and the public good. Even in this field we discuss from year to year only a few of the many things that might be discussed. This limitation is necessary that the report may come within reasonable compass. Moreover it is not at all necessary that all matters should be included which might be. Our pastors and people are coming more and more to realize their obligations and privileges touching all matters of citizenship and more and more will express their convictions and their will for the public good and will influence the course of organized society.

The Present Depression

For two years now our people in common with all the world have been passing through a period of unusual depression in economic, industrial and commercial affairs. As is well known to all students of economics these times of depression come in cycles with great regularity. The present depression, which is worldwide in its scope, is one of unusual stress and duration. It is a time of testing. Many explanations have been put forward as to the cause or causes. There are doubtless many contributing causes, perhaps too many for even the best informed authority to be able clearly and certainly to name all of them. Your commission makes no profession of superior wisdom. But to us it appears certain that the major causes of our present situation may be named as follows:

1. Destructive War—For many years prior to the World War the energy, strength and resources of the several nations were devoted to preparation for war, to building up and maintaining colossal war machines. The war broke and for four years the energy, strength and resources of the whole world were given without stint or reserve to the destruction of human life and property. The result was inevitable. It would be humanly impossible that the peoples of the earth could give themselves for such a period to the destruction of the very foundation of economic prosperity without paying the price in worldwide and blighting depression.

2. The Hysteria of Inflation—While war destroys the normal sources of wealth and prosperity it creates fictitious money values, inflates currency and gives the appearance of gain. This in turn inflames the public mind with visions of great and rapidly accumulated wealth. Production is stimulated, buying becomes rampant and credit overreaches itself. Such a condition can go only so far. The collapse is bound to come and when it does come the trough of the sea becomes as deep as the wave was high. In our economic affairs we are simply paying the price of overreaching and speculation which we indulged in the vain hope of sudden wealth.

3. The Providence of God—Christian men look upon all the world conditions in the light of the sacred Scriptures. Whatever others may think, and however the natural causes just cited have operated to bring about the present conditions, it is not too much for people who believe in God to interpret these conditions as some way related to God and his Providential dealings with the nations. The nations that forget God shall not prosper. May we not hear in the present conditions the voice of God calling us all back to a deeper devotion to him and his cause and teaching us that the only sure basis of prosperity is to do justly, love mercy and walk humbly with God.

MR. AND MRS. CLAUD BAKER ADOPT BABY OF NEEDY FAM'Y

There is a fine little baby girl whose mother died not so long ago in Clanton, and who comes from a needy family and who now has a fine home. Mr. and Mrs. Claud Baker of Clanton have adopted the child.

It was being taken care of temporarily by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Davis. An infant boy, born shortly before the mothers death, is being taken care of by Mr. and Mrs. Joe Mims. These are certainly noble deeds by these people, and their reward will come to them.

THE TAX MENACE A GROWING CRISIS

By FRANCIS H. SISSON

President American Bankers Association

NO danger, economic or social, more seriously menaces our life, happiness and prosperity than the rising tide of taxes which threaten to engulf us. This is not simply a problem of the depression. It has been developing for many years, growing more serious all the time. The depression merely brought it to a climax. Unless drastic steps are taken to reverse this trend the problem will not end with the depression. It will continue to weigh down and retard progress for an indefinite period.

F. H. SISSON

In city, county, state and nation the orgy of spending has run on. It is estimated that in the United States the total cost of all government is nearly five times what it was before the World War. Many localities have been brought to the verge of bankruptcy by their expenditures, while many have saddled their citizens with a debt burden that will darken their lives and hamper their progress for years to come.

The total cost of Federal, state and local government in the United States is estimated at forty-six million dollars a day. Based on national income in 1930, this represents about one-fifth the total income of our people, or about $110 for every individual in the nation. Total taxes in 1931 are estimated to have taken more than 22 per cent of the national income. It is occasion for serious thought on the part of everyone when one day's income out of every four or five must be contributed to the maintenance of government machinery.

Reductions Possible

United States Government expenditures were reduced one hundred and forty million dollars during the first quarter of the current fiscal year. The recent action of bankers in calling a halt to unnecessary expenditures of New York City as prerequisite to loans will reduce the cost of government in the country's metropolis, which is second in its expenditures to only the Federal Government. No state in the Union, in fact, no other government on this hemisphere, spends half as much as this one city. These savings in Federal and municipal costs are only the beginning of a movement needed throughout the country, if we are to be led out of depression into prosperity.

Unless the people can be made to realize that money for governmental expenditure can come only from their own pockets as taxpayers, casting depressing effects on both individual effort and general business, there is an imminent threat that we may be forced to meet economic difficulties similar to those that have so seriously handicapped other countries. The question is not primarily one of merely paring government salaries or shaving budgets, but rather of curtailing government activities for which we cannot afford to pay.

The idea that money for these mounting extravagances can be raised by following the slogan "Soak the Rich" is utterly fallacious, for such a policy will simply exterminate "the rich" and eliminate sources of revenue. It is also important to realize that corporate business in this country is in no position to withstand the effects of indefinite advances in tax rates. Current earning reports reveal that fact beyond shadow of doubt. The tax base must be broadened, and it therefore seems likely that Congress will be called upon to reconsider the sales tax, at least as a temporary measure to help meet a critical condition in the nation's finance.

Deposit 'Guarantee' Fails of Purpose

LOS ANGELES.—While the idea of the guarantee of bank deposits by some legally enforced plan seems to appeal to many people who give it casual thought, the fact is that it has not only failed in every instance in the eight states where the experiment was tried, but actually produced unsound banking and increased the number of failures, it was declared by the recent convention of the American Bankers Association held here.

"Guaranty of bank deposits carries an idea that naturally appeals to people in general on casual consideration," the declaration said. "However, in principle it is unsound and in practice it is unworkable. It has been tried in eight States and it has not only failed in every case, but it has resulted in increasing the number of bank failures. Taxing properly managed banks to make up losses of failed banks is not only unfair and unreasonable, but it weakens the whole banking structure. Again, guaranty of deposits places the incompetent and reckless banker on an equal footing with the able and conservative banker, which encourages bad banking at the expense of sound banking. We are therefore opposed to the passage of any law carrying a guaranty of bank deposits and believe that it is against the interest of the people of the United States to develop any such system."

A Country Editor Looks at Banking

THE editor of the Norwalk, Ohio, Herald takes a somewhat different view of the banking situation from a good many people. His idea is as follows:

"With rents falling and unpaid, real estate does not present a happy picture. Nor does the owner of carefully selected bonds feel any happier, with a bunch of them going wrong. A lot of folks very carefully invested in preferred and common stocks in the finest companies in the world and have seen them fall to perhaps a tenth of what they paid for them, and no dividends at all. Some folks kept their money in savings accounts in banks, and some banks have closed and left them high and dry. But the situation is worth looking at very carefully.

"On government authority, most banks that closed were really solvent but for frozen assets and popular timidity. Gradually the closed banks are coming out from under and depositors in even bad cases will get at least 50 per cent of their savings. That's tough of course; nobody likes to lose half of what they had scrimped and sacrificed and saved. But when you hoard and stick the roll of bills in a coffee pot or under a mattress, some plug-ugly comes along and burns your feet till you tell him to take it and welcome.

"And what about the great majority of banks that weathered the storm, met all comers and are doing business as usual, carefully and conservatively, but safely? What about the savings in those banks? They are a full 100 per cent today—and they are the only thing we know of at 100 per cent anywhere. After all is said and done, a good, well managed bank is still the best place in all the world for money or savings. Right now in Ohio the banks pay the taxes on all savings and pay their depositors net interest on their savings. We can't think, just now, of many other investments that are a tenth as safe as a savings account in a solid bank. Why, even a savings account in a closed bank is actually worth more today than most stocks."

NATION'S LAW MAKERS SEEN AS HARD WORKERS

Banker Tells of Labor Put in by Members of Congress on Mass of Technical Measures

OUTLINING legislative procedure, Robert V. Fleming, President Riggs National Bank, Washington, D. C., gave the recent convention of the American Bankers Association a description of the difficulties and problems confronting the law-makers. Mr. Fleming said in part:

"The most important part of organization of the two branches of congress is election of standing committees. There are 34 standing committees in the Senate and 46 in the House. These are the workshops of Congress and the real work of lawmaking is done in Committee Rooms.

"The task of legislating for 124,000,000 people is a tremendous one. Of recent years approximately 20,000 bills are introduced annually in the two Houses. Only a small percentage become law, but they must be weighed in committee, accepted or rejected, perhaps amended, reported out, and then considered on the floor.

"Lawmaking involves about 99% of hard and unspectacular work and about 1% of oratory. Few tasks appear so easy and are so difficult as enactment of sound and satisfactory legislation. Few individuals in any line of activity work harder or longer hours than the chairmen of the important committees during a session. I have great sympathy for the members of Congress whose constituents expect undivided attention to every piece of legislation in which they may be interested. From my personal observation, they earnestly and conscientiously endeavor to do all that is humanly possible.

Public Hearings

"When a bill is introduced, referred to committee and printed the next step, if it is a measure of considerable importance, is to conduct a public hearing. The committee makes an effort to listen to anyone who cares to be heard either for or against a measure, although witnesses are frequently limited as to time. Members of the Cabinet and other officials of the administrative departments of the Government usually testify on measures in which they are interested and furnish the committee information in executive session or otherwise. In this way the Administration takes a prominent part in shaping legislation.

"Due to pressure of work and the fact that it is impossible for members of Congress to be technical experts on every subject of legislation, the committees are inclined to give consideration to the merits of arguments presented in testimony and the recommendations of the Cabinet and other officials. It is therefore highly desirable, both from the standpoint of Congress as well as those affected by proposed legislation, that the latter have an opportunity to discuss frankly the effects of such legislation.

"We sometimes complain about the technicalities of legislation, but when we observe organized minorities endeavoring to force class legislation through one House it is a comfort to know such measures may be caught in the meshes of technical procedure in the other and there suffer what is termed automatic asphyxiation."

"Bob Taylor's Dream Of Heaven"

"What heaven is, I know not; but I long have dreamed of its purple hills and its fields of light blossoming with immortal beauty; of its brooks of laughter, and its rivers of song and its palace of eternal love. I long have dreamed that every bird which sings its life here, may sing forever there in that tree of life and every consecrated soul that suffers here may rest among its flowers and live and love forever. I long have dreamed of opal towers and burnished domes; but what care I for gates of pearl or streets of gold, if I can meet the loved ones who blessed me here, and see the glorified faces of father and mother and the boy brother who died among the bursting buds of hope; and take in my arms again my baby who fell asleep ere her little tongue had learned to lisp, 'Our Father who art in heaven.' What care I for crown of stars and harp of gold if I can love and laugh and sing with them forever in the smile of my Saviour and my God."

DE E. BRADSHAW, NEWLY ELECTED HEAD OF W. O. W., IS NATIONALLY KNOWN

As General Attorney He Was Active Legally in Nearly Every State

De Emmet E. Bradshaw, who was elected president of the Woodmen of the World Life Insurance Association at a special meeting of the Sovereign Camp in Omaha, Nebraska, on November 30, was formerly general attorney of the organization for 16 years.

De E. Bradshaw

Mr. Bradshaw fills the unexpired term of the late W. A. Fraser, who died while in Europe. Mr. Fraser was buried in Dallas, and special memorial services were held in his memory at national headquarters.

The newly elected president was born in a log cabin in Arkansas. He taught school as a youngster and then attended LaCrosse collegiate Institute. Later he was graduated from National Normal University at Lebanon, Ohio. He attended the night law school of the University of Arkansas and started his practice in Little Rock.

Mr. Bradshaw was very active in politics and business in Little Rock. He became associated with Woodmen of the World as Head Consul for the states of Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi before being elected to the Board of Directors while J. C. Root was first president of W. O. W.

Mr. Bradshaw came to Omaha in 1916 as General Attorney and with Mr. Fraser reorganized the Association into the strongest fraternal insurance company in the world. He engaged in litigation on behalf of W. O. W. in nearly every state of the Union and in federal courts with a very large degree of success.

Members of the Board of Directors regard Mr. Bradshaw as one of the outstanding legal minds in the fraternal insurance field. His profound knowledge of insurance law and his natural leadership are his chief assets.

"No man was ever more fortunate than I in his mother," said Mr. Bradshaw. "Her loving prayers follow me all the days of my life, and I owe all of my success to the early training and care she gave me. I am glad to say that though she is 96 years old, she is still able to get around the house, taking care of her duties, making quilts, knitting laces."

Mr. Bradshaw is a past president of the Fraternal Society Law Association and also of the Legal Section of the National Fraternal Congress. As general attorney, Mr. Bradshaw approved more than $200,000,000 of bonds purchased for the organization, and is largely responsible for the excellent securities it has in its portfolio.

W. O. W. has had a steady consistent growth during the 42 years of its existence. It has approximately 400,000 members throughout the United States. Its net assets on December 1 of this year totaled more than $110,000,000, which is an increase in net assets of $4,500,000 during one year.

Among the features of W. O. W. are Radio Station WOW in Omaha and the World Memorial Hospital at San Antonio, Texas, for members afflicted with tuberculosis.

WHY CAN'T THEY PAY?

It is just a bit difficult for the ordinary man—who isn't an economist, or psychologist, or diplomat, or fool—to understand the logic of all this poor-mouth our oversea debtors are putting up over war debts.

Here are some figures, vouched for by indisputable authorities, which even an conomist ought to be able to understand:

Great Britain says she can't pay the United States 159 million a year on her debt, yet she can spend 461 million a year for military purposes in time of peace.

France's case is far more ridiculous. She says she can't pay us 50 million, yet she is spending 541 million on her military establishment—more than 10 times as much for arms as it would take to pay her debt to us.

Then there is Italy, which was given an absurdly easy debt settlement, spending 331 million for arms but unable to pay us less than 15 million. Poland and Belgium show a similar situation.

The United States has already given these nations very lenient terms and low interest rates in connection with their war debts, with 60 years in which to pay. We have even intimated that we might further reduce these debts if these nations would make an honest effort to reduce their armaments. This they are too stubborn to do.

Combined European debtor nations are due to pay the United States about 147 million a year. Combined they are spending 2,250 million a year for war preparations. Why can't they cut their military expenditures one-ninth and thereby save enough to pay these honest debts?

Gertie Mae Fiquette Writes Her Thanks

To My Friends:

"I want to thank everyone for the support you gave me during the Circulation Campaign sponsored by the Chilton County News. The Home Paper, in which I was the winner of fourth prize, a Majestic radio or Washington range.

"This being my first experience in a contest of its kind, I did not go about my work as I shall, if I ever have this wonderful opportunity again.

"I know that Billy Smith, our editor, has given to Chilton County one of the cleanest and best papers ever published. Without Billy the Chilton County News would be a complete failure.

"I think that this campaign has put the Chilton County News in almost every home in Chilton County and adjoining counties and was received with a hearty welcome.

"The banquet given at Dief's Cafe by the editor and Mr. Feaster for the contestants, judges and employes last Friday night was certainly a treat and I'm just sure everyone enjoyed it as much as I. I think it would add much to the town if it were possible to have things like that more often.

"I truly hope everyone will enjoy their paper."

Yours truly,
GERTIE M. FIQUETTE.

Miss Smith Expresses Her Appreciation

Dear Editor:

Please permit me to express through your paper my appreciation of the Chilton County News Big Circulation Campaign and the cooperation I received from the pubic.

Mr. Feaster, I wish to say that mere words can not express my appreciation to you for coming to Chilton county and putting on this campaign. It has meant very much to me. I have thoroughly enjoyed this campaign from the beginning unto the end. During the contest I have covered much of Chilton county and the adjoining counties. I have seen friends whom I hadn't seen in years. Perhaps it would have been many years yet, before I saw them, if I had not entered the campaign. I feel that I have even met and made many friends over the territory I have covered. I have a wider range of acquaintance in Chilton county and even in my own home town of Clanton. Mr. Feaster, I deeply appreciate your coming to Clanton, and when you come back in the future, I sincerely hope you will put on another campaign, and I will be just as eager to be a contestant then as I was in this past campaign.

I sincerely hope none of your contestants envy me as the winner of the Grand Prize. For my fight during this campaign has certainly been a clean one from the beginning unto the end. I haven't said one word or done a single deed to harm any of you contestants. I fully realize that victory for me in winning the first prize has meant disappointment to many of you, though I shall not forget to sympathize with you who were defeated and can not rejoice with me.

To my host of friends in Clanton, Chilton county, the adjoining counties and the entire state of Alabama, I wish to say that words are inadequate to express my appreciation to you for your support during this campaign. Though I want you to know that I sincerely appreciate every subscription, vote or coupon that was given me. Many have sent me subscriptions and votes that I don't even know or have never seen. Though I hope to know you in the future.

To you who were not able to give me a subscription, but said that your prayers were for me, I wish to say that they also were very much appreciated. For we know that God above is our Great Giver of all things, and I feel that your many prayers helped me to win also.

I feel very grateful to you. Mr. R. L. Ousley, of Plantersville, who was very generous in lending your car for me to tour the counties. Also to you, Bruce, for your kind assistance and willingness at any time to drive the car for me. Mr. G. W. Willis of Clanton, I sincerely appreciate every effort you put forth.

To everyone who assisted me in any way I wish to say that sometime in the future I hope to render some service to you of equal value or more.

I must say again and again, I thank you all.

Gratefully yours,
LEILA BELLE SMITH.

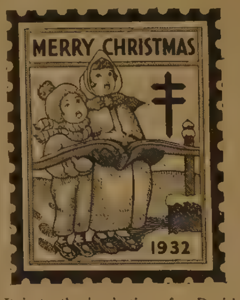
HISTORY OF CHRISTMAS SEAL



It is to the inspiration of a Danish postal clerk, Einar Holboell, that we owe the Christmas Seal idea. In 1903 he interested his government in the idea of a sale of stamps at Christmas time to build a hospital for tuberculous children.

In 1907 a story written by Jacob Riis about the Danish seal appeared in the "Outlook." One of the magazine's readers, Miss Emily P. Bissell, of Wilmington, Delaware, was interested in a small tuberculosis hospital which was in sore need of funds. Miss Bissell promptly adopted the idea and in that year raised $3,000. From then on the Christmas Seal rapidly became a nation-wide enterprise, and since 1910 has been under the management of the National Tuberculosis Association. Since 1919 the stamp, in addition to an attractive design appropriate to the Christmas season, has always borne the double-barred cross, which is the emblem of the tuberculosis movement.

Splendid co-operation has been afforded the National Tuberculosis Association and the 2084 affiliated state, city and local associations and committees by such organizations as women's clubs, luncheon clubs, parent-teacher associations, labor unions, and lodges, as well as by hundreds of magazines and newspapers. In addition, extensive use is made of posters, circulars, leaflets, car cards, motion picture trailers, window displays and exhibits.

The sale is conducted largely through the mails, supplemented by booths, coin boxes and personal solicitation. The enormous number of individual givers is shown by the fact that over sixty per cent of the total sum comes in thru the mail sale and, for the most part, in small contribtuions of one or two dollars.

What Seals Do

These tiny seals, sold for one cent each, have made possible an organized campaign against tuberculosis that has been carried on with ever increasing emphasis year after year. But they stand for something more, for they are truly health seals, since whatever helps to prevent tubreculosis makes for health. The accumulated pennies provide tubreculosis nurses for a vast number of communities, clinics supervised by specialists in chest diseases, and promote open-air schools and preventoria. Aid is provided for sanatoria lacking sufficient funds where official health organizations so recommend.

Most important of all, a widespread educational campaign has been prosecuted vigorously through schools, clubs, and many other channels, while the National Association maintains two magazines devoted to the subject of tuberculosis. To thousands of afflicted people there has been borne the news that the disease is curable if recognized early enough and given adequate treatment.

Large Packing House Will Move To South

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 22.—Special—Announcement has been made here by President John E. Sanford of Armour Fertilizer Works, that the general offices of the Armour Fertilizer Works will be moved from Chicago to Atlanta, Ga., between now and the 1st of the year.

Adequate office space has been leased in the Walton Building and as soon as it is made ready for occupancy, the general office staff will be transferred from Chicago to Atlanta.

The Armour Fertilizer Works is one of the largest fertilizer manufacturing concerns in the United States, operating from New England down the Atlantic Coast through the Middle West into Texas.

President Sanford, who is in Atlanta, in speaking of this move said. "The bulk of the business enjoyed by the Armour Fertilizer Works is in the South, and in view of the highly competitive conditions now confronting the industry ad likely to confront it for some years to come, it seems desirable to have the executive officers near the Company's customers, so that they may keep in close touch with their problems and be in position to render the best possible service. The fact that most of the Company's plants are in the South and fairly close to Atlanta is another reason for the move, and it is expected that supervision of operations will prove more economical and at the same time more efficient, because contacts between operating heads and executive heads will be more frequent.

Much of the wholesaling of fertilizer materials takes place in the South, and Atlanta has always been regarded as the center of the fertilizer business. It seems very proper, therefore, that the Armour Fertilizer Works, one of the largest companies in the field, should have its headquarters in Atlanta.

Most of the Armour Fertilizer Works executives are Southern men, and they are very happy over the Company's decision to move South. All of them, with their families, will be brought to Atlanta, and clerical and stenographic help will be recruited locally as required."

RUSSIA'S HANDICAPS

Why the industrial ambitions of Russia are doomed to frustration is told rather convincingly by Isaac Don Levine, former foreign news editor of the New York Tribune, in his book "Red Smoke." Some of the points made by Mr. Levine are these:

Russia has less coal deposits than the state of Wyoming, and seven-eighths of Russia's coal reserves are almost inaccessible and thousands of miles from existing or planned industrial centers.

The main timber zones are likewise located in remote and almost uninhabitable areas, which the Soviets themselves admit are handicapped by "lack of labor and are separated from consumers of firewood by great distances accentuated by extremely poor communications."

Russia has important oil deposits, but these are also unfavorably located. Being a flat country, its waterpower possibilities are limited. Its silver and gold ore are scanty. Because of the great distances to be traversed the transportation problem seems insurmountable. There is not one first-class harbor on the Russian seacoast.

Even agriculturally, Mr. Levine declares, Russia's resources are inadequate for the immense population. The soils of the north are unfit for farming and the climate is too cold, while the southern zone is subject to drouths

Taken all in all, it appears that Russia's economic threat to the "capitalistic" world is mostly a bluff, or so it will prove to be for many years to come.

Chilton County People Urged To Report All Births And Deaths To Local Registrars

The benefits of registering births and deaths must be obvious to all forward-looking citizens and to business and professional groups generally. The first aim of government is to safeguard the rights of citizens. Birth registration is essential for establishing proof of citizenship and of identity, for settling definitely puestions of right to enjoy civil and property rights, where puestions of age and descent are involved, the right to attend school, to enter employment, to marry, to receive pasports, to serve in the civil and military arms of government, to enjoy bepuests and the proceeds of insurance. All of these are more or less dependent upon adepuate proof of birth and parentage.

Death certificates have an equally important bearing upon the civil rights of dependents and descendants of the deceased. Possibily the most important use of birth and death certificates is that made by public health officials. Birth records tell them how fast the population is increasing and where to concentrate their efforts to save infant life and to control preventable diseases. The information on death certificates has been used to suggest ways and means of combating epidemics, of controlling tuberculosis and other misfortunes of our population which can be controlled. The reports dealing with automobile fatalities and deaths due to fires are particularly helpful in showing national as well as local trends.

Alabama was admitted to the Death Registration Area in 1925 and the Birth Registration Area in 1927. This means that in the State, taken as a whole, 90 per cent of the births and deaths are reported. This percentage is not registered in all counties. While the doctor or midwife is responsible for reporting a birth, in the case of deaths, in case no undertaker has charge of the funeral, the family becomes responsible for the report. There is a local registrar in every beat. It is the duty of the family to see that a report of the death is made to the local registrar and a burial permit secured before burial. The fact that this is not generally understood has resulted in the failure of many deaths to be reported. The Bureau of Vital Statistics requests that the people of Chilton county co-operate with the local registrars in seeing that every birth and every death occurring in Chilton County is reported. The following Chilton County citizens are registrars for Chilton County:

Beat 1. Mrs. Delbert Brand, Clanton, Route 5.
Beat 2. Mr. B. L. Cobb, Jemison.

Mt. Pleasant Jr. High School News

Our P.-T. A. organization held its second meeting on Tuesday, November 29. Three committees were drafted by the President, Mrs. Frank Mastin, who was unanimously elected the first session. The committees were, namely: Program committee, composed of Miss Celia Baldwin, Chm., Mrs. J. W. Gandy and Mrs. Clifford Wells. The Hospitality committee, composed of Miss Lera Bean, Chm., Mr. M. A. Wright and Mrs. R. E. Scott. The Membership committee composed of R. B. Johnson, Chm., Carl Glasscock and Mrs. Katie Eiland.

Twenty-one members have joined thus far, and we hope to raise this to thirty-five by our next meeting which will be held on Tuesday, December 13, at 2:00 o'clock. The school body again sends forth a hearty welcome to all parents who possibly can to align themselves with our P.-T. A. A little program is being prepared and will be rendered in a most fitting way when the P.-T. A. holds its next meeting. Set up your plans now to share in the pleasures and services of this splendid little organization.

Several of our school and classmates are being detained this week from their school activities on account of severe colds. Among them are Delphin and Dolphin Popwell, and Leonard Burnett, all popular members of the Junior III Class. Their teachers and schoolmates all send their best wishes for a speedy recovery.

Miss Edna Gore spent the week end with Miss Kathleen Smith.

Mr. Robert Franklin, who has been serving with the U. S. Navy in China, has returned to spend a few days with his mother, who lives in the Mulberry community. He made a real nice talk to the third and fourth grades last Monday.

Our school again trims the fast-stepping quintet from Calera. On last Wednesday Coach Glasscock rounded up his players and drove up to Calera, where they plastered a 21 to 14 defeat on the Calera boys. Sweeping into a large lead the first quarter, the Mt. Pleasant lads coasted to their fourth straight victory against no defeats. It was without question the swiftest game the writer has witnessed between Junior high school teams. The visiting team unraveled some uncanny pass-work which the Calera boys seemed unable to cope with, for every point they made was either crip or foul shots.

The game was played before a large and vociferous crowd of supporters, who were packed into the auditorium pulling and cheering for their favorite team. A large truck and seevral private cars from Mt. Pleasant, Clanton, Thursby and Jemison conveyed the enthusiastic fans who pulled for the Chilton county lads to come through with victory. The Mt. Pleasant team, adorned in their new flashy red suits, leaped into an 8 to 0 lead by the end of the first quarter and at the half they were leading 19 to 8, but the last half found the Calera boys settled down to an almost air-tight defense, coupled with a sudden outburst of long range shooting which pulled the count closer, yet they were never closer than 6 points of tying the score. Curtis Traywick, as usual, was high point man with 13, while Burnett, his running teammate, registered 6 and Collins, the lanky center, rounded out the 21 with a beautiful crip shot for 2 points. The writer failed to get the names of the Calera players, but all of them were outstanding in teamwork, especially during that last half. Their inability to shoot proved their downfall, for those chaps can really handle a ball nicely and can pass a ball in rapid-fire order. We plan to meet these clever little players at Clanton at an early date. Watch for further announcements to that effect. A fifth victory was added also on last Friday night when Coach Glasscock carried the team over to Maplesville where they set the Maplesville high school team back 34 to 26. The game was tied, 26 to 26, when the game ended. An extra 5 minutes was played and the Mt. Pleasant boys rung up 4 field goals for the 34 to 26 win.

The following spent a delightful Sunday afternoon with Miss Gertice Riggins: Misses Jewel and Myrtice Cost, Gladys Turner and Mrs. Hiram Littlejohn.

A Christmas Tree exercise will be held on the afternoon school adjourns for the holidays. The faculty members are arranging a short interesting program, which will add joy and delight to the Christmas season. O, yes! "Old Santa" will be there, too, in all his pomp and splendor. We hope he remembers all the little boys and girls even if living conditions are far below normal.

Miss Zella Mae Bell attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Bel, won 3rd prize in the subscription contest sponsored recently by the Chilton County News.

Miss Nellie Rollins was a Sunday evening guest of Misses Myrtice and Jewel Cost.

Our attendance was rated higher th second month than the first, it being 93.89% for November.

The faculty and Junior 2 class plan to give a reception in honor of the Junior 3 class just before the Christmas holidays. Several new contests and games will be introduced, also prizes will be awarded to those who win.

Little Edith Jackson, who is a member of the third grade class, was carried to a Birmingham hospital last week. She is in a very serious condition which resulted from a broken blood vessel. We hope for her a rapid recovery with no serious effects.

Miss Eula Mae Riggins, a former member of our school, is visiting [illegible] father, Mr. B. B. Riggins. S[illegible] our school a visit last Fri[illegible]

Mr. Johnson and Coach Glasscock attended the school meeting at Clanton last Monday evening. We all sincerely trust that our Court of Commissioners and Hon. Probate Judge can [illegible] some plan whereby our county schools can extend on to at least a term where we can make a full grade.

A large group of young people enjoyed a very pleasant evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs C. O. Bell last Thursday, when they sprung a surprise party on their daughter, Miss Zella Mae Bell.

Our school has recently installed twenty dollars worth of new shades in Mr. Glasscock's room; also a drain pipe leading away from our water cooler, which carries the water out of the building without inconvenience.

Our first, second and third Honor Roll will be published next week.

Everybody who is desirous of seeing a real snappy and peppy basketball game should come to Mt. Pleasant next Friday evening at 2:30, when the crack dribblers from Maplesville will appear to cross-fire with the home team. This is the same team our boys won over last Friday night and they will be tuned up for reversing the order. This may be our last game here before Christmas, so see the rivals [illegible] skill." "Tiger Shark" Filmed Where Tiger Sharks L.

The spirit of adventure is not dead nor dying. Only a few weeks ago a dozen men faced death in far places to provide amusement for a thrill hungry public. A fisherman stepped calmly overboard from the side of a Tuna boat daring death and a terror that is worse than death, for the benefit of a battery of grinding cameras. They were working in the South Pacific, capturing realism for "Tiger Shark," the First National picture starring Edward G. Robinson, which comes to the Wadesonian Theatre Friday and Saturday, December 9 and 10.

Ugly, shadowy monsters, man-eating sharks, with white bellies and striped backs lay in wait for him. Protected only by a thin curtain of steel nosed bullets from high powered rifles in the hands of half a dozen men stationed aloft in the ship's rigging, Grey L. Silva dove into the infested tropical waters. Cameras ground, rifles barked and directors and technicians shouted orders and directions.

Father Stood Ready

Captain Guy Silva, owner of the boat and father of the boy, stood, rifle to his shoulder, almost directly above the swimmer. He did not shout, he did not shoot, but grim and eagle-eyed, he watched the water where the boy was struggling. He knew, better than any one else in the party, the horrible possibilities of the scene.

Of such stuff are motion pictures sometimes made. Whoever says there is no spirit o fadventure left in the world should have followed that daring crew of actors and technicians which left Los Angeles harbor to photograph the spectacular sequences of "Tiger Shark" in the South Pacific, where Tuna fish and Tiger Sharks abound.

Fishermen, wise in the ways of the sea, claim that the Tiger Shark and the Killer Whale are the two most ferocious creatures that have ever lived.

Letter To Voters From Mr. Webb

To the Editor:

I wish to take this opportunity to thank all those who voted for me in the recent election for member of the Chilton County Board of Education. I assure you that to the best of my abilty I will try to serve the entire county and invite you to counsel with me at any time to the end that we may be able to do that which is best for our schools. I am only one of five members of the Board but in as far as my ability goes, I will be found doing the best that I can.

I am sorry that I was unable to get out and canvass any. Because of the illness and death of my wife, I was unable to canvass a single day and I feel that the vote of confidence given me in the face of such circumstances is something to be proud of.

Again expressing my thanks for the support given me, I am

Faithfully yours,
S. J. M. WEBB.

HURRAH FOR W. L. SANDERS

Editor, Chiton County News:

Dear Readers, now, in regard to the election of the County Superintendent I say hurrah to Mr. W. L. Sanders and Mr. Wilkins. My opinion is if we get our rights we will have to contend for them. I think taxpayers should be free moral agents and if the board is not willing for the people of the county to have opinions and rights to elect the superintendent it looks like to me the voices of the people are being abolished and our rights taken away. Boys, hold for rights till things change and when the members of board election comes off again, when we go to the polls again, we will know how to vote and again I say hurrah boys, let's stand for our rights.

Respectfully yours,
C. J. MOATS,

FROM J. C. EDWARDS

Ransom Provided

Editor, Chilton County News:

In God's due time death will be destroyed and then no more will die. He will swallow up death in victory (Isa. 25:8 Rev. 21:4).

These, are promises of God and all of God's promises are certain to be fulfilled in due time (Isa. 46:11 and 55:11). Another promise is this: I will ransom them from the power of the grave; I will redeem them from death. O death I will be thy plagues; O grave, I will be thy destruction (Hosea 13:14). These promises of God would be of no avail if anyone who has died were in eternal torment.

Be it noted that the foregoing promise is not to redeem man from purgatory or eternal torture, but the promise is to redeem from death and from the power of the grave. It follows conclusively therefore that the present condition of the dead is that they are in the tomb and not in any place or condition of consciousness. Since God has made provision for the redemption of man, death is often spoken of as sleep. In due time then the Lord will bring the dead out of that condition back to life. Jesus said no man hath ascended up to heaven, but he that came down from heaven (even) the son of man which is in heaven (John 3:13). For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten son that whosoever believeth in him should not perish but have everlasting life (verse 16. Therefore love is the fulfilling of the law.

Love means the complete expression of unselfishness. Jesus also said that he came that man might have life. Jesus died and was raised from the dead. He died as a man and he must forever remain dead as a man. He was resurrected by Jehovah as a divine creature and he then ascended into heaven and presented the value of the perfect human life that he laid down as a ransom or redemption price for man.

He died not only for one but for all and in due time all mankind must be given a knowledge of these facts in order that each one may have the opportunity to accept the Lord and obey Him and live. It is written for this is good and acceptable in the sight of God our saviour who will have all men to be saved and to come unto the knowledge of the Truth for there is one God and one meditator between God and men. The man Christ Jesus, who gave hmself a ransom for all to be testified in due time (1 Tim. 2:3-6).

Flesh and blood does not enter into the Kingdom of God. There is a wonderful picture about Elijah.

DEPRESSION MUST BE OVER

I saw as they marched up to sign to get relief from the depression I saw they went puffing their pipe, just the same as if the tax had not been raised. Hard times do not have any effect on the snuff and tobacco. I saw some march up to get cloth to keep the body warm and to get flour to kill hunger with about 1-4 box of snuff on their lips. People criticise the paint and powder, but I don't know anything that looks any worse than men and women snuffing and puffig and begging for bread.

I was talking to a friend the other day about killing hogs and he said he had no hogs to kill this time and he would have to eat Hoover hogs this time. I asked him what Hoover hogs were and he said rabbits. A new name for them.

S. Y. DORMINEY WRITES ON PROHIBITION

Jemison, Ala., Rt. 1.

Editor, Chilton County News:

I hope you will be patient with me, for it seems that I cannot refrain from writing a few lines this week. I read Mr. W. L. Sanders' letter with much interest. It no doubt taxed Mr. Sanders almost to his limit to take the stand in which he did. I must say that the very able spirit and principle in which he took his stand will no doubt strive and grow. It will have plenty of cultivation no doubt. So don't worry. And furthermore, believe 75 per cent of the teachers and people are with him.

I am thinking now of Dr. V. J. Gragg's letter. I read his letter over very carefully and then read it over again. Will say that some parts of it impressed me very much. One thing especially, when he said, "I wonder where we are going and how long it will take to get there."

I believe we will all have to admit that Dr. Gragg has been doing some good sound thinking, and that he was not inspired by any selfish cause whatsoever, but was writing from a deep sense of feeling for sufferng humanity.

Now, folks, we all are beginning to realize that we are being taxed beyond any common reason. Everyone of you will no doubt agree with me on that. Now, there must undoubtedly be some cause for all this round about tax and revenue on practically everything we buy.

Now, honest to goodness, I want to be fair with everybody, but I must say, I honestly believe that prohibition has played a big part in our tax trouble. I claim this is a big national issue. And must have the attention of our best thinkers. There just simply ain't no way around it. If you have a road around it don't tell me, but tell the big boys up in Washington for I'm sure some of them would like to find this road.

Now, Mr. Editor, I believe you and every other somewhat informed will agree with me on at least some of the things I'm about to say. You know ever since they wrote the 18th Amendment and Volstead Act into our Constitution we have had 12 years of what I call civil warfare going on among our people. And looking from another angle or point of view, if you please, you will no doubt see in prohibition—like it has been going on all these years—"A raving wolf dressed in sheep's clothing, roving this country seeking whom it may devour." Now, take it from me, with all due regard to our churches which I deem the foundation of our civilization, it is going to take a long time to heal up all the scars and wounds inflicted by this wolf.

Friends and readers, can we afford the cost of this thing much longer? I want to be brief as possible. Let's get down to facts and figures. Last year it cost our government $51,000,000 for Federal enforcement. We only collected $5,000,000 in fines. In other words, we spent $10.00 to make one, and please bear in mind this has been going on for 12 long years. While we have been spending millions on one end for enforcement we have been losing billions on the other end in the way of revenue license taxes, etc. To make this more plain, just imagine an individual in business spending ten dollars to make one. No wonder Congress has had to tax everything in every nook and corner in these United States. If you are about to lose your home, you can charge about 50 or 60 per cent of the cause to prohibition. Mr. Hoover said somewhere something during his campaign that what this country needed was a "good poem". Mr. Roosevelt said something during his campaign that what this country needed was some "good sound thinking."

I ask you which one of these gentlemen do you think were right?

I know, Mr. Editor, that Prohibition used to be a "high explosive" subject but I don't think it is very dangerous now.

Yours very truly,
S. Y. DORMINEY,

Old Fashioned Corn Husking Held At The Home Of T. F. Patterson November 21

On Monday evening, November 21 [illegible] of Mr. T. F. Patterson around a large half circle of corn estimated at 300 bushels. Lanterns were lighted and they made a beautiful sight, the corn flying one way and the shucks another.

Charlie Patterson has the honor of finding the first red ear of corn, but he failed to get the "jug" first though, as no jugs or bottles were present.

He and all the others were rewarded for their work at the supper table. Mrs. Patterson assisted by her cook and daughters-in-law had prepared a most delicious supper of vegetables, chicken, steak, roast, cakes, pies and everything that goes to make a good meal.

The table was arranged to seat 14 at once and there were six tables full. More time was spent eating than in shucking corn. Some deserve special mention for high speed and long endurance and are marked thus *. Here they are just as they were served: Table No. 1: C. H. Patterson, C. D. IN MEMORY OF MY DEAR MOTHER, MRS. MAMIE SANDERS

It was on Saturday morning, November 12, at 6:30 o'clock, the death angel came and took our dear mother from us. Nobody knows how sad it was to see our dear mother leave us, but God saw best. She leaves many friends to mourn her loss. She leaves a husband and six children. She has four brothers, four sisters, Mrs. Ada Mims, Clanton; Mrs. Zora Dobbs of Coopers; Mrs. Ruth Higgins of Sylacauga; Ida Henson of Clanton. Her brothers are Will Ray of Dadeville, Horace Ray of Birmingham, Joe Ray of Clanton and Lonnie Ray, who has gone to rest.

We wish to thank the good people around Pleasant Grove and Mt. Nebo for their good kindness toward the illness and death of our dear mother. No tongue can tell how much pain my dear mother did suffer, but her suffering is all over and I want to be ready and meet her in heaven.

She taught her children to do what was right and just and in Jesus to always trust. I was always there ready and willing to help wait on her and I know she has gone to prepare a place for me. She sure did love flowers and she never was without a bunch of flowers while she was sick. I have had many sweet dreams of my dear mother since she has gone to that resting place where I hope to meet her in that sweet bye and bye.

My mother is gone to prepare me a home
In that sweet land of peace and rest where no more
Pain or sorrow comes.
My mother loved the Bible—
She taught us to watch and pray,
And taught us to be prepared to meet her some day.
I thank her for all she did for me
All my precious days, for I think of her—always.

—Her Daughter, Mrs. Nora Coggins.

A QUESTIONABLE PLAN

Considerable discussion is going on concerning the St. Lawrence waterway project, on which it is proposed to spend several hundred million dollars from the United States treasury to assist Canada in building a canal, much of it through that country's territory.

Thoughtful students of the situation are coming to look upon this plan as one which is against the best interests of the people of the United States, for several reasons.

First of all, there is no need for it at the present time. Besides, if our government has money to spend for such developments it had better be spent entirely in our own country, rather than on a ditch which would be closed to traffic half the year because of ice.

Another reason for opposing the plan is that it would tend to further cripple our railroads and our own seaports, by diverting traffic which they sorely need. As M. E. Tracy of the Scripps-Howard newspapers recently, wrote:

"As a canal which runs through the territory of a foreign government, but for which we are to pay one-half the cost, it involves a certain degree of risk. As a means of diverting trade from old established centers, it threatens to become more of a liability than an asset. As an experiment calling for the outlay of many millions of dollars, it should not be undertaken at this time. Under existing conditions we have no money to spare for enterprises which threaten to injure our hard-pressed commercial centers and struggling railroads."

But, in spite of the sound arguments against it, an effort will be made to saddle the expense of this undertaking on the taxpayers of the United States. Only an aroused public sentiment, vigorously expressed, will avert this further waste of public funds.

Nagging Pains

are WARNING SIGNALS

TEMPORARY pain relief remedies may save you much suffering at the moment, but putting a mask over a warning signal does not clear up the condition it was telling you to avoid.

When periodic pains, due to a weak, run-down condition, distress you, treatment for the cause of the trouble should be started without delay.

Take Cardui to build up against the nagging symptoms of ordinary womanly ailments. It has been in use for over 50 years. So many women praise CARDUI, it must be good to have the widespread use that it has today. Sold at drug stores.

Schools Ask For Aid From Commissioners

The resolution as passed is as follows:

In conformity with a resolution adopted by a meeting of citizens before us Monday requesting a joint meeting of the County Commissioners and County Board of Education next Saturday, December 10, to devise means of submitting to the people of Chilton County the question of voting upon the proposition of the Commissioners appropriating money out of the county funds to pay salaries of school teachers, we, the Commissioners Court of Chilton County, hereby declare that we will be glad to meet with the County Board of Education at that time to consider the proposition.

Further, the Commissioners Court would also like for the citizens of Chilton County to have an opportunity to attend said meeting and express themselves upon any question relating to the proposition.

We recognize the fact that the proposal for the Commissioners to appropriate county funds to pay teachers is a new departure, and something we have never been called upon to do before. We feel that it is a question in which the full and free expression of the wishes of the people of the county should be heard.

At this time the Commisisoners Court is confronted with a pressing problem of taking care of the destitute people of our county. We feel that we must carefully plan our public road work and use our road funds in order to meet the relief needs of the many people who must have work to earn money with which to buy food and clothing for their families.

Therefore, we feel that it would be well to have all interests represented in the meeting next Saturday. Not only the needs of the schools, but every obligation of our county must be considered and safeguarded. We would like to have every interest of our county heard in all our considerations of public questions, and we stand firmly upon the proposition of discharging our duty in conformity with the wishes of the people.

Therefore, so far as we are concerned, we would ask that all who are interested in schools, relief work, road work, or any other phase of our county's interest, come to the meeting of the County Commissioners and County Board of Education at the courthouse in Clanton next Saturday, December 10, at two o'clock P. .

Respectfully,

—L. H. Reynolds, Judge of Probate, J. E. Cobb, J. L. Burnett, A. P. Vinson, J. M. Mims, Commissioners.

Copy of the above resolution handed to Prof. Lawrence this morning. Tuesday, December 6, 1932.

Railroad Pays Large Amount For Taxes

cated in Chilton County had in 1931 an assessed taxable valuation of $22,550.95 and the taxes paid by the railroads were determined by applying to this valuation the same rates paid by all other tax payers. This valuation is to a great extent dependent on the earning capacity of the railroads. If traffic is taken away from them, their earnings will shrink. Their value for taxation must, of necessity, also be diminished and the taxes paid in Chilton County will decrease in like proportion.

Maintenance of the earning power and tax-paying ability of the railroads is consequently a matter of personal and vital interest to the citizens of Chilton County. Every passenger or ton of freight moved across Chilton County, into it or out of it by the railroads contributes something to the County in the shape of taxes paid by the railroads and helps also to furnish employment to local people. If the amount of these taxes be reduced thru the diversion to other channels of traffic previously handled by the railroads, either school facilities and other local governmental services must be curtailed or the tax payers will have to dig deeper into their own pockets to make up the deficit.

"If the railroads, as the result of unregulated competition on the highways provided by the State, are reduced to a condition where they can no longer pay these taxes, to what source will Chilton County look for revenues to fill the vacuum?"

JOE B. DOWNS DOING BARBER WORK AT HOME NEAR HERE

Joe Ben Downs, was in the News office this week and left an ad which stated he was doing barber work now at his home, located south of Clanton on the Montgomery highway.

B. LAWRENCE IS REELECTED COUNTY SUPT.

Two Board Members Oppose Action In Electing Superintendent

Buford Lawrence, superintendent of education of Chilton county was re-elected to that office at the regular monthly meeting of the board of education held recently, and will start on his new term of office for four more years, beginning July 1, 1933.

Mr. Lawrence has served continuously as county superintendent of education of this county since 1925, and at the expiration of the term to which he was re-elected, he will have completed 12 years of service in that office.

C. C. Conway of Jemison, was re-elected chairman of the board, with S. J. M. Webb as vice-chairman.

One new board member, as the result of the recent general election took his place on the board at the recent meeting. This was C. L. Wilkins. He succeeds W. J. Billingsley.

Acting on the question of the present school term, the board adopted a half term for all schools in the county, which means the elementary schools and junior high schools will operate for a term of three and one-half months; the senior high schools for four and one-half months.

Two members of the board opposed the re-election of the superintendent. These were C. L. Wilkins and W. L. Sanders, who stated their reason was based on the grounds that they believed in submitting the question to the people by votes.

Miss Bell Writes About Campaign

"I wish to express my sincere thanks and gratitude for the loyal support given me by my friends over Chilton County during the Big Campaign that just ended. I was the winner of the third prize, a beautiful living room suite, purchased from Tiffin-Klinner Furniture Company, Clanton.

"Words fail me when I begin to try to describe the enjoyment and benefit I got from being a contestant. I thoroughly enjoyed it and can truthfully say I had lots and lots of fun. I learned to know many people I would have not known any other way. I covered Chilton County thoroughly, and also the adjoining counties. I will say being in the campaign was a pleasure far greater than I expected. I can say that the campaign was conducted absolutely fair and square from every standpoint and I have no criticism whatever. I went into the campaign to get what I could out of it and to be a good winner as well as a good loser. I fought right up to the last minute and am satisfied with the prize I won.

"I am a staunch booster of the Chilton County News and am more so now than ever, and will always remain so. It is one of the finest, cleanest, weekly newspapers in the South as far as I know. Mr. Billy Smith, Editor, is an exceptional young man and has many friends as I found and everyone speaks very highly of his paper.

"I wish to thank the News for the fine banquet given last Friday night in honor of the contestants. The meeting of all the contestants and their guests was a great pleasure and will always be remembered. Again I will attempt to thank all who made it possible for me to be a winner in this great campaign, and for the good time I had from it. Hoping that everyone enjoys their paper to the utmost.

"I remain a staunch supporter of the CHILTON COUNTY NEWS."

ZELLA MAE BELL.

Miss Broadhead Thanks Friends

"I wish to express my appreciation to my friends for their loyal support in the Chilton County News contest which recently closed, and in which I was winner of second prize, $150.00 cash. I am unable to find words to express my appreciation to those who contributed in any way to make it possible for me to win this prize.

"I enjoyed working in the contest, because it enabled me to come in contact with old friends and make new ones. It was a pleasure to work under the direction of the managers of this campaign, as they always seemed eager to assist the contestants in every way possible.

"I feel that the banquet on Friday night, sponsored by the News, was thoroughly enjoyed by the contestants, and their guests, for whom it was given."

TEACHERS MAY GET CHANCE TO MAKE UP DAYS

J. A. Peterson Gives Statem't To Teachers About School Term

To the School Teachers of Chilton County:

The County Board of Education desires to allow the teachers an opportunity to make up the Thanksgiving holidays and any other days that may be declared holidays in the future. The situation is as follows: The schools in Chilton County should run a half-term; otherwise they should never have been started because the pupils cannot receive credit for less than a half term's work. The County funds lack a few days of being sufficient to run a full half term. For this reason it was necessary to declare two holidays for Thanksgiving without pay for the teachers and with the present financial status an opportunity cannot be given to make up these two days, however, the County Board wants every teacher in the county to know that if funds become available, the teachers will have an opportunity to make up the holidays. The County Board wants the teachers to know that every dollar available for paying teachers will be used that way and it is the earnest desire of the County Board of Education to run the schools every day that is practical.

Pres. Co. Teachers Associaton.

The Object Achieved

When the magnitude of the campaign is considered and the splendid results that have been achieved are taken into account, this paper is indeed satisfied We stood with but one object in view—to build up quickly the largest circulation of any publication of this section. In that we are confident we have succeeded. Very few publications if any, have a list that more completely covers their territory served.

Our object was to make THE CHILTON COUNTY NEWS so valued an advertising medium to the business men of Chilton County that they would find space in this paper highly profitable. To have secured these same additional subscriptions by regular hired solicitors would have taken months, and would have cost fully as much and possibly more. It is not only a record in circulation building, but easily gives THE CHILTON COUNTY NEWS a strong lead in this territory.

"Special Thanks to All"

"In the splendid co-operative manner in which all contestants participated in the campaign, we are grateful and appreciative. And as manager of the Campaign, I (S. J. Feaster) desire therefore, to voice my special thanks to each participant in the campaign, and the judges and the public at large, who so generously helped to make the campaign a wonderful success, and wish all a continuance of the splendid success which marked their efforts in this campaign."

MORE ARGUING DONE TOWARD SCHOOL HELP

Meeting Last Saturday Ends With Very Little Done Toward Solution

The third move in two weeks toward helping the school situation in Chilton county took place last Saturday afternoon at the courthouse with nothing definite to look forward to yet.

The auditorium of the courthouse was packed to standing room only, by school teachers of the county and other interested citizens. It was understood this meeting was to be held jointly by the members of the commissioners court and members of the county school board. Two members of the court were not present, due to illness in their families, it was stated.

Several talks were made, followed by loud applauding by the large number filling the auditorium. S. J. Ezell was selected to serve as chairman of the meeting. Following the talks and suggestions made by different citizens, the question "shall this meeting request the commissioners court of Chilton county to appropriate monies to the school fund of the county to aid the situation?" was placed before the house.

Time wore on, and finally after several others were heard to express their opinions, some for and some against, the meeting voted unanimously to "request the court to appropriate funds to the schools, in an amount not to exceed $48,940.51, which was said by Supt. Lawrence to be the amount needed to carry the schools through a full term in this county.

Judge Reynolds, in his statements, appeared to state that he was afraid the county could not afford to appropriate this amount, due to considerable monies being spent on the roads thruout the county. He stated that there was practically no money in this particular fund, which at that time was overdrawn. He also stated that he recently borrowed $10,000 from the Peoples Savings Bank here, for a short time, and that he did not know whether this county would be successful in receiving the $50,000 from the government for relief work.

The reason for the shortage in funds

Kiwanians Will Meet At Night Hereafter

At a meeting of members of the Kiwanis Club of Clanton held Tuesday night, it was decided to have the regular club meeting on Thursday night each week instead of Thursday at noon.

This is being done, due to many members finding it difficult to get away from their places of business during the day. It is also believed that more interest will be manifested in the activities of the club, by meeting at night.

The first night meeting is set for tonight, in place of today at noon.

HILL GROCERY STORE UNDER NEW MANAGER

Ernest Arant Of Clanton Assumes The New Place Last Monday

What might be said to be one of those famous stories about "Local Boy Makes Good" is the change in the management of the Hill Grocery Store of Clanton. Ernest Arant, of Clanton, is now manager of the Hill store here, as successor to Mr. J. W. McEathern, who has been manager of the store for several years.

Ernest, who is well known and liked over the county, is a graduate of the local high school, and has made his home in Clanton for a number of years. He has been connected with the Hill store here for sometime as a clerk.

His stickability and knowledge of the business was recognized by the operators of the famous Hill Grocery Stores in Alabama, and he was rewarded for his interest in the business by being made manager in Clanton, where he has made many friends through his connection with the store.

The change in management here took place Monday. Mr. McEathern will become operator of another business place in Clanton, which he recently purchased, and will make further announcements to the people in the very near future.

Ernest told a representative of the News that he had a good supply of salt that he is offering at special prices this week.

Associated with Ernest as clerk will be Clebert (Jack) Jones, who has considerable experience in the grocery store business in Clanton.

Mr. Arant calls attention to the Hill's Food Order, good for one dollar, which they now have on sale.

In the near future, Mr. Parrish expects to give the people some real service at his stand, and invites the people to stop by.

"Just Going To See Santa Claus"

Children's anxiety to get a glimpse of Santa Claus, is well told by an experience of little Fannie Jo Broadhead, four year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Durwood Broadhead of Clanton.

Fannie Jo's father had gone from the home to get in his car, going to town. Undoubtedly Fannie Jo had been giving quite a bit of thought to dear old Santa and decided to take advantage of this opportunity to see Santa, having heard he was at a well known store in Clanton.

So Fannie Jo boards the car on the running board without her father knowing it, and enjoys this open air drive. Her mother, glancing from a window sees this and becoming upset with fear for the little girl, telephones down town to a friend asking that he meet Mr. Broadhead on the way.

When Fannie Jo was returned home and questioned as to where she was going, her calm reply was "I was jest going down town to see Santa Claus."

Services at Church of Christ Sunday, December 18th:

10 A. M. Bible Study. Classes for all.
11 A. M. Preaching.
11:45 Communion and Fellowship.

Sunday night at seven o'clock there will be preaching. Subject: "Three States of Man." This is a special subject which the speaker has diligently studied. The Scriptures answer the following questions: (1) Where are the righteous between death and resurrection? (2) Where are the wicked in death? (3) Do their bodies and souls both sleep in the grave, or just their bodies? (4) Are the spirits of the dead conscious? (5) Do people go to their final reward at death? (6) Why does God save some and not others?

I am sure you will be interested and profited if you will come and listen for yourself. This subject will be illustrated by chart.

Church of Christ

In the Bible the word "Church" is translated from the Greek word "Ecclesia" which means an "assembly," or "called out" or "called together." The word "crowd" expresses in English about the same meaning as the word "Church" in its original meaning in the Bible. So the expresison "Church of Christ" means those called together by Christ or "The People of the Lord," called out from the service of sin unto the service of righteousness.

Christ died for the church "that He might sanctify and cleanse it with the washing of water by the word." Eph. 5:25-26. He is "the author of eternal salvation unto all them that obey Him," Heb. 5:9. They are "this body," Eph. 1:22-23; Eph. 5:23. There are various expressions in the New Testament that refer to the church, such as the "Kingdom of Heaven," "Church of the first born," Heb. 12:23; "Church of God," I Cor. 1:1; "Church of the living God," "The house of God," I Tim. 3:15; "All the members of that one body, being many, are one body; so also is Christ," I Cor. 12:12. There are other Bible expressions that refer to the same "one body," over which Christ is the head, and of which He is the bridegroom.

In the eyes of God there are only two classes of people on earth so far as salvation is concerned, and they are the saved and the unsaved. The saved of the responsible class of humanity the Lord counts as His church, His body, His bride and they should gladly asknowledge His name.

Now of course what the Lord requires us to do to be saved, He requires us to do the same thing to be members of "His body" and the same process He requires of us to do to be saved will make us members of "His church." The Lord adds "to the church" such as should be saved, Acts. 2:47. They are those who obey Him.

Sincerely,
R. L. HUFFMAN.

Relieves Women's Pains

Here is an example of how Cardui has helped thousands of women:

"I was very thin and pale," writes Mrs. F. H. Scott, of Roanoke, Va. "I suffered from weakness and a severe pain in my back. This pain unnerved me, and I did not feel like doing my work. I did not care to go places, and felt worn, tired, day after day.

"My mother had taken Cardui, and on seeing my condition she advised me to try it. I have never regretted doing so. I took three bottles and it built me up. I gained in weight, my color was better and the pain left my back. I am stronger than I had been in some time."

Cardui, the purely vegetable medicine which so many women take and recommend, is sold by local druggists.

for ELECTRICITY
go a long ways!

The average cost of electricity in the homes served by Alabama Power Company has declined 38 percent since 1926. Today it has reached 4.8 cents per kilowatt hour, and is 15 percent below the National Average.

1c "I'll light a 40-watt lamp all evening—help your eyes, decorate the room with a cheerful glow of color. (A few years ago it would cost almost twice as much, and the old carbon lamps you used to use gave only half the light.)"

1c "A few of us pennies will protect your food and health all day. (I didn't exist a few years ago, but already my low priced help is one of the most valuable.)"

1c "I'll run your vacuum cleaner for half a week of ordinary going over the house. (My penny's worth of electricity whizzes around over almost twice as much space as it did several years ago—cleans better, too.)"

1c "A couple of us are enough for a big batch of family ironing. (As for electricity, the ironing costs about half what it would for the same work a few years ago.)"

1c "For a penny a person (that's all I average), I'll cook you one of the finest electric meals you ever tasted—and do I make women proud of their cooking! To the delight of the family pocketbook, I am way ahead of those 'good old days'."

1c "Say, these other pennies have nothing on me. I may be just a penny but hitch me up to electricity and do I work. I'll brew you a pot of coffee; or make a stack of toast or batch of waffles; mix, chop, beat batter or the like; stitch and sew yards and yards, cool you with a fan; give you a dozen 'sunlight baths' . . . and . . .

And that isn't all, but it is a sample of how big a few pennies can be when it comes to electric service—how much more you can do with electricity today—and how much cheaper it is in today's home.

THE KITCHEN

By Mary Frank Wells
Junior III Class, Jemison High School

The Junior III Home Economics class of the Jemison High School has been studying the kitchen.

Since the longest hours and the most important work take place in the kitchen, it should be the most pleasant and convenient room in the house.

The kitchen is usually located at the rear of the house. It should be located next to the back porch. Its connection to the dining room is of special importance.

No definite size can be given to the kitchen, as its size is usually determined by the number of activities carried on there, and the kind of fuel used in cooking. Rooms between 8'x12' and 10'x12' are convenient sizes. A small kitchen is more convenient than a large one. The equipment is brought closer together and the worker saves many unnecessary steps. An oblong kitchen is much better than a square one because fewer steps are required in crossing the room from one work center to another and the equipment may be more conveniently arranged.

The doors and windows should be carefully placed in the kitchen. There should always be an outside door and one entering conveniently into the dining room. The doors, if possible, should be kept away from the work centers, and should be few as possible.

There should be windows in two outside walls to secure a cross ventilation. When placing the windows, thought should be given to the placing of the stove. At least two windows should be in the room. They should furnish light and good ventilation, and should be so placed that they can be lowered from the top. They should be at least 34" from the floor and 6" from the ceiling, and high enough for equipment to be placed under them.

The walls should be finished in materials cheerful, pleasing, and sanitary. Wall covers that will not loosen, easily cleaned, easily renewed and inexpensive, are most desirable for the kitchen. Oil paint makes a very satisfactory wall finish because it may be secured in any color, is easily cleaned and may be easily renewed.

Tile makes a very sanitary and pleasing wall finish but is generally used in elaborate kitchens. Plain or printed oil cloth may be used as it is easily cleaned, though expensive.

Kitchen floors should be durable, easy to stand on, non-absorbent, easily cleaned, and not injured by grease or water; level and tight with no grooves to catch dust. Floors may be painted, oiled, covered with linoleum, tile, or cement. Plain wood floors are hard to keep clean, requiring much time and energy spent on them.

Linoleum that is properly laid and cemented to the floor makes a lasting and easily cleaned floor covering. Tile is often used in the kitchen, but is expensive, hard to walk on, and cold. It is easily cleaned, sanitary, and non-absorbent. Oiled floors are sanitary, easily cleaned, inexpensive, and preserve wood.

The colors in the kitchen should be suited to the location and the lighting of the room. The floor should be darkest, the walls lighter, and the ceiling lightest. Light colors are better than dark ones because they reflect light, and the dirt is more easily seen. Intense colors should not be used. Light or cool colors are preferable where exposures are to the south, and warm colors in case of north exposures. The colors in the room should be repeated, and these should be not less than three. Of course they should harmonize. The pupils in our class had several ideas as to color schemes. Two color schemes suggested were pink, green, and cream; and orchid, pink and cream.

The three most important pieces of equipment in the kitchen are the stove, work table, and sink. Other equipment is grouped around these according to the needs. No more equipment should be placed in the kitchen than is necessary, as a crowded kitchen results in confusion. The height of the equipment should be suited to the height of the worker. To determine the correct height in each case, let the worker stand erect, place hands close to body and turn hands up. The length from top of hands to floor is height for working surfaces.

The equipment may be finished in enamel or painted, and should harmonize with the other colors in the room.

Since there are three main centers in the kitchen (preparation cooking, serving, and cleaning up) the utensils should be conveniently arranged around each of these centers so that the worker can go from one work center to another without confusion.

The equipment should be closely and conveniently arranged, simple, and sized in proportion to the kitchen. If built-in cabinets are used, they should reach to the ceiling so that the top will not catch dust. The work table, or sink, should be placed under the window to furnish a pleasant view to the tired worker.

Every kitchen should have a kitchen stool, which may be made at home or bought at a low price. One advantage of the stool is that it may be pushed under the table when not in use.

The stove should not be placed between two windows. A wood-box on legs stood by the stove will save the worker unnecessary stooping.

Oil cloth is often used on the work table; but if a piece of linoleum, cut the size of the top of table and properly laid, is used, this will prove more satisfactory. It will be found to last longer and to be easier cleaned.

All equipment should be kept where it is most often used, and at a convenient height.

If the kitchen is large, space can usually be found for a comfortable chair and a small table for magazines.

ISABELLA VOCATIONAL BLDG.

History Of Vocational Education At Isabella High School

In 1923 Vocational Agriculture was added to the Junior High School at Isabella, and for four years the agricultural department functioned before the other wing of the work was added, Vocational Home Economics.

The first instructor was Dr. H. W. Caldwell and he was a valuable man to the community as he was not only an ag. man but was also a graduate in veterinary medicine at Auburn, and rendered valuable service both in Agriculture and Veterinary Medicine. When the department was established in the school, the people had quit trying to grow cotton because of the boll weevil and wilt, but Dr. Caldwell soon had the people growing this crop and many more that they thought could not be grown.

Vocational education received opposition at first and it was a bit hard to get into the homes and spread the gospel of Agriculture to the much needed farmers who were carrying a heavy load after the war.

After Dr. Caldwell had given two years of hard and faithful service, he was called to other fields and Mr. Earl Thomas took his place in the community. Although it was hard to give up Dr. Caldwell, Mr. Thomas has been carrying on the valuable work that was started under his leadership.

Many improved practices have been started and are still being used in the community since the department of Vocational Agriculture was established here. Cover crops such as vetch and winter peas have grown from the zero mark until they are receiving large places on the Isabella farms as well as the surrounding communities. Terracing has reached all farms; and these are being improved all along. Screens have reached 100% of the homes in the immediate community. Improved lawns and shrubs are being placed around the homes to improve the beauty and comforts of the progressive farmers of the community. There are numbers and numbers of things that have been taking place on the farms since the coming of Vocational Education: Balancing fertilizers and feeds, caring for orchards in pruning and spraying, culling and feeding poultry, building brooder houses and furnaces, selection of better livestock, as cows, hogs, chickens, mules and horses, and their care and management.

Improvement in the methods of farming has kept pace with the other improved methods. Riding cultivators are on every two-horse farm in the community with only one or two exceptions. Tractors, tractor plows, and other such implements for better farming have been rapidly falling in line since vocational agriculture has been taught in this school.

The school grounds have been landscaped and shrubs are growing to improve the appearance of our much-appreciated Vocational Building, and new school building. Our school has been put on the accredited list of high schools since the new department has been put on. The woods and stumps have been cleared away and the grounds are being converted into a beautiful campus with walks and drives which will add to the beauty of the landscape.

The department has done much toward the improvement of the school. It has equipped itself with lockers, tables and benches by putting our hands and brains to work and building them, and then painting and concreting our shop. It has been a help to other departments by saving them about $100. (This was done in the construction of tables for the grammar school, and in building tables, framing mirrors, arranging kitchen units, and screening the department for the Home Economics department. This meant a great saving to them and at the same time it gave us a good bit of training.), We have also constructed a running water system for the school.

Through the untiring services of our teacher we have been able to organize one of the strongest F. F. A. Chapters in the state. Isabella had one of the first State officers and every year we have had boys taking the highest degree that the organization can confer upon a boy—that of Master Farmer. This organization is of national importance.

Besides the awards that our boys have been receiving, our instructor has been awarded the honorary degree of State Farmer awarded him for his service which he has given to this organization. He has also been honored by being elected to the chairmanship of his group of Teachers of Vocational Agriculture of the State.

It can truthfully be said that the Vocational Department has been of economical value to our community.

Having harvested their crops, Conecuh County farmers are giving much time to terracing land and removing stumps, said P. R. Pettis, county agent, who is the leading advocate of such work and is giving instructions as to how it should be done. Terracing, said he, is essential to protect the land, and the removal of stumps makes cultivation much easier—especially where machinery is used.

Efficiency --- Economy --- Service

In boom times extravagant government is a luxury we can't afford.

In normal times it is a drag on industry and the individual, acting as a barrier to progress that would otherwise be achieved.

In depressed times, it is one of the greatest obstacles we must hurdle in the work of recovery — an obstacle creating more unemployment, more mortgage foreclosures, more business failures, a deeper depression.

Congress has convened. It has before it many bills, most of which will deal with the problems of depression. It has as its duty the advancement of a recovery which has already started. There is no way it could be of greater service to us all than to reduce the cost of government.

It can do that without in the least harming the real, the necessary functions of government. It can eliminate useless and duplicating bureaus, archaic commissions, purposeless departments within departments. It can cut millions from the budget. Doing that would not only help relieve the tax burden—it would set a sorely needed example to states and municipalities, which cost us a great deal more than does the government at Washington.

Efficiency, economy, service—those are the watchwords of progressive businesses now. They must likewise be the watchwords of government, in all its branches.

Are Power Costs Ruinous

The Chicago Tribune recently did a neat job of dispeling the belief that the cost of power is a major item in operating a business, by describing its own experience.

The Tribune has a factory for producing pulp paper. Less than nine per cent of the total producing cost is represented by power and this could be reduced to 6.6 per cent by the introduction of new and more efficient machinery.

It operates an ink factory. Power represents 2.1 per cent of the cost of producing ink.

It has an office building, in which the cost of power for operating elevators, lights, etc., is about 1.5 per cent of the total revenue.

It maintains a garage where its fleet of trucks and cars are housed and serviced. Electricity consumed amounts to ¼ of one per cent of the cost of operating the garage.

It has a warehouse and dock where much electricity is consumed. But the electric bill is less than 7-10 of one per cent of the cost of operation.

It naturally uses tremendous amounts of electric power in running its main business—newspaper production. But the combined cost of all the electric power used in printing, distributing, advertising, editing and managing the paper runs to about one thirtieth of one cent per copy.

Chicago electric rates are about the same as in the rest of the country, and the Tribune's experience is typical. Practically any other item in the cost of operating a business is of greater moment than power costs—rent, taxes, postage, etc. The electrical dollar goes a long way, whether in industry or in the home.

Two Attitudes

The transport problem is usually viewed from two distinct attitudes. One is that the railroads are being unfairly treated and that all common carriers should be regulated as much alike as is feasible. The other is that the railroads are a dying industry and that there is no point in cramping the style of progress by extending strict regulation to their competitors.

To many uninformed or unthinking persons, this last argument is a persuasive one. We see trucks carrying merchandise and freight where, a few years ago, the rails were supreme. We see buses ply the highways loaded with passengers that once traveled by railroad. It's easy to believe the "dying industry" argument.

The figures, however, paint a different story. The railroads still carry almost all the heave tonnag of the country. They still move about 75 per cent of all freight tonnage. No other medium has arisen that shows any sign of being able to take their place, particularly on long hauls.

The problem, then, resolves into this: We must have a transport policy that recognizes conditions as they are —not as the were or may be. There is a place for trucks, for pipe lines, for airplanes, for waterways— but that doesn't mean that the railroads have been replaced. The rails are and will continue to be the backbone of the nation's transport. That being true, any sound program must guarantee them a fair deal and allocate to each carrier its most useful place in the transport scheme.

Think Of It

According to B. C. Forbes, writing in Cosmopolitan, we have to pay the tax gatherers $26,636 every minute of every day, including holidays.

We have to pay them $5,611,379 every hour of a 48-hour working week.

We have to pay them $44,871,794 every business day.

"ROUND TOWN"
---by Doug

People say that it is bad taste to begin the first paragraph of a letter with the letter "I". But you know it is very difficult or something, to begin a letter without that letter I. Anyway, is the letter "I" a word or letter, or both. Some of you school marms, proffessors or something might straighten me out about that.

Was down at the News office Saturday and Edith Johnson, who kind of runs things down there was all quiet as a mouse or something, just digging away at some papers with a lot of names on them. Inquiring as to what she was doing, she quickly and sharply told me that she was seeing that all these new subscribers of the News were on the mailing list and getting their paper. Now if some of you folks ain't getting your paper, don't exactly blame it on Edith, because she is doing the best she can. And too, I know the Ed would appreciate it if you will tell the News if you are not getting your paper or that the date of your subscription expiration is wrong.

There's to be two great events in Clanton this week. Polk Brothers Motor Co., are displaying the new 1933 Model Chevrolet at their showrooms, and Tiffin-Klinner are opening their big furniture sale. Heard Mr. Polk say the other day that the new Chevrolet is a knock-out or something. He went to Birmingham to see one up there and seems to be all up in the air about the new car. Personally, I'm kind of anxious to see one myself. Now, don't any of you Chevrolet salesmen misunderstand me. I'm not in the market for one just yet. Mr. Tiffin, the manager of the furniture store states that they are really offering some outstanding bargain in this sale of theirs. You will kindly note in this issue of the News that Polk Brothers invite you down to see the new car, and that Tiffin-Klinner are telling you about their sale.

Here's Why About Charlie Bell

Tallulah, La., Dec. 11th, 1932.

Mr. Doug, Clanton, Ala.,
Dear Sir:

On reading my Chilton County News I read where you wonder how Charlie Bell always keeps in good spirits and I having lived a neighbor to him for six years have found out why and you may put it under your hat that I know what I am talking about and That Is:

He always treats everybody right. Has a large family and treats them right. Has a fine wife and treats her right. Has eight fine children and they treat him right. Deals square with everybody and himself too. He works hard, so does all his family, that's right. He farms right. He raises more than he eats and always has plenty and always something to sell, that's right. He is honest, that's right. His word is as good as his dollar, that's right. And if you go looking for a better man or better family than Charlie Bell's you're wasting your time. You can't find them on this earth and that is taking in a large territory, but I am right on this subject and I talk from experience.

Well, Dear Doug: I am always looking for my C. C. News and enjoy reading it. Things are little better here so far as I can see, and I hope it will get better there. I must close this time with regards to you all at the News office and of course I can't pass up J. B. Atkinson, for he is a good fellow. Well, for that matter, I don't pass up no one there, as a whole you were all good neighbors and friends to me in Clanton and I am glad to hear from there any time.

Respectfully yours,
FRANK LOWCI.
Tallulah, La.

Have you ever thought of the person who might take your place after you are gone? Of course that will not apply to some of the don juans, well known round town here, but to the business men here that question will apply. Here's a little toast;

A TOAST TO A FELLOW I'LL NEVER KNOW

Here is a toast I want to drink to a fellow I'll never know—
To the fellow who's going to take my place when it's time for me to go.
I've wondered what kind of a chap he'll be and I've wished I could take his hand,
Just to whisper, "I wish you well, old man," in a way that he'd understand.
I'd like to give him the cheering word that I've longed at times to hear;
I'd like to give him the warm hand-clasp, whenever a friend seems near.
I've learned my knowledge by sheer hard work, and I wish I could pass it on
To the fellow who'll come to take my place some day when I am gone.

Will he see all the sad mistakes I've made and note all the battles lost?
Will he ever guess of the tears they caused or the heart-aches which they cost?
Will he gaze through the failures and fruitless toil to the underlying plan?
And catch a glimpse of the real intent and the heart of the vanquished man?
I dare to hope he may pause some day as he toils as I have wrought,
And gain some strength for his weary task from the battles which I have fought.
But I've only the task itself to leave with the cares for him to face;
And never a cheering word may speak to the fellow who'll take my place.

Then here's to your health, old chap, I drink as a bride-groom to his bride—
I leave an unfinished task for you, but God knows how I tried.
I've dreamed my dreams as all men do, but never a one came true.
And my prayer today is that all the dreams may be realized by you,
And we'll meet some day in the great unknown—out in the realms of space,
You'll know my clasp as I take your hand and gaze in your tired face.
Then all our failures will be success in the light of the new found dawn—
So I'm drinking your health, old chap, who'll take my place when I'm gone.

—Edward Collins in the Gateway

MORAL ECHOES
D. W. Haskew

Little Mary listened to a gathering of grown up people discuss the times. To the best of her knowledge she gathered the idea that the old ship of state was headed for the rocks. Before getting into her bed that night she kneeled and prayed this prayer, "Dear God, please take good care of yourself. If anything should go wrong with You, we are ruined." That child like faith is the faith that should control every life. Just now it seems to us that the ship of state is really headed for the crags, but we must not forget that there is a God in the heavens. That God is abundantly able to take care of Himself, and believe me, He is going to do it. Men may put their hands deep into the purse of the nation and wet politicians may howl for the return of whiskey, but the God over all will defend and lead to victory the forces of right. We would really be ruined if "God did not take good care of Himself."

Mike and Pat had never seen a dog and yet they were anxious to look upon one and learn first hand about them. They were traveling a path through a swamp and on seeing a full grown coon in a tree by the roadside, they decided that they had found the dog about which they had heard so much. Mike said to Pat, "Pat, you go up the tree and bring the pup down that we may see him at close range." Pat started the climb and as he swung from limb to limb he and Mike discussed freely the wonderful qualities of the pup, and how much they were going to enjoy having one all their own. High up in the tree the limbs started to shaking and breaking and Mike shouted, "Pat, bring the pup down." He had no response and amid the increased confusion in the tree top Mike shouted his orders louder. "Hell," shouted Pat, "Hurry up the tree and help me turn this pup loose." Pat had caught more than he could handle. The present generation may go up to Washington after the "Nice pup of whiskey," and they may lay hands upon him in the tree top, but they will find that they have locked strength with a tiger. There will be the shaking of civic righteousness and the breaking of homes and hearts. Then a loud lamentation—calling to the church, "Send men to Washington who will help us to manage this pup." The very day we lay hands upon whiskey we will grapple with something that is beyond our abiilty to handle. May God forbid the breaking of the 18th amendment.

A woman who had just married her fourth husband was in conversation with an aged spinster. The old maid addressed her friend, "Why, my dear, God has been good to you. He has given you four husbands, and here I am without even one?" You are wrong," replied the newly wed, "God never gave me my husbands, I went out and got them." Then she gave this advice to the timid woman, "If you wait for God to give you a husband, you never will have one. If you want a husband, there are plenty of them and don't wait for God to give you one, get out and get him." Lots of folks have peculiar ideas about God. They seem to think that they are to sit with folded hands and wait for God to give them something. You will help God tremendously if you will get up and hustle for the things that you want and need.

I knew a woman who had a burning passion for a nice home. She dreamed of a mansion in which to live, one that she could call her own. She came into the possession of thirty thousand dollars, and then she thought that her dreams would come true. She was left a widow with that money, and at once she built her a very fine home. It took every penny that she had to build the house. She had nothing left to furnish her home, no money to pay tax and no income to meet living expenses. In two years she had lost the home that she had craved for many years. She made the mistake of spending everything she had preparing to live. After the preparation was made she had nothing on which to live. It is far better to live on little, than it is to be cramped trying to live beyond our ability. If you are not able to run a car why cramp yourself and family with the expense of one? A few days ago I saw a man who kept two cars—one for himself, one for his wife and then he kept a Shetland pony for the children, and that man had not paid his rent in six months.

I was riding along the highway parallel with the railroad track. A grade was just ahead and a freight train was pulling it. The train had come with tremendous speed until it started the climb of the grade, then it slowed down. There were a dozen men located on that grade and when the trained slowed down the men hopped the train. They did not dare hop it while moving with speed. They waited until it slowed down. When the old gospel train is making speed toward heaven, the hobos of the world will not hop it, but when the church slows down, then it is that the trash of life try to hop the old train for a free ride into the kingdom. It is the folks who hop the church between stations, who are giving to us the dead weight over the road of salvation. We have but little trouble with the folks who pay their fare and get on at the right station. God deliver us from those hobos who hop the church between the stations of salvation. If the church did not slow down in her life, not half so many hobos would hop her for a free ride.

Several people in this community have the flu. We hope they will soon be well again.

Mrs. Tommy Culp has again been called to the bedside of her sister in Birmingham. It is said that her sister can't live. The many friends of Mrs. Culp extend their heartfelt sympathy to her in her sorrow.

Mrs. A. B. Culp and little daughter, Gertie Mae, and Mrs. D. T. Smith, and daughter Euell, spent Sunday afternoon with Mrs. R. G. Culp.

Mrs. J. D. Williams and little daughter, Betty Joe, spent Saturday night with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cox. of Fairview community.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cox and family of Fairview community spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Williams.

The Epworth League gave a social at the church on Wednesday night of last week. Many interesting games were played after which refreshments were served to the following: Messrs. Mt. Pleasant School News

Our school will dismiss on Friday, December 23, for the Christmas holidays. On that day we plan to have our little Christmas program in connection with a Christmas tree exercise. The Liberty Hill Quartet we hope can be with us.

Hon. Percy M. Pitts, representative to our state legislature from this county, has promised to visit our school and make a talk to the Jr. 3 Class on State Government.

The Honor Roll for November will be found in another column of this newspaper.

Mrs. M. A. Wright, our girls' athletic director, has received the volley ball equipment, and is now drilling the girls in the technique of that fascinating little game.

Coach Glasscock is busy this week practicing his first-team boys for several grilling battles which will be played within the next six weeks. Each day he is sending them through a more rigid drill, in preparation for these contests. Several teams he has scheduled to meet are Calera, Wilsonville, Clanton, Jemison and Helena. Plenty of competition is afforded by the above teams, hence, Coach Glasscock is keenly anxious to keep his record of six wins and no losses against Jr. High teams from falling. The team's success thus far is due to his knowledge of the game and his natural ability to instill confidence in the players, making them hustle for their position on the team. Practically all his drilling thus far has been building up a strong offensive, but this week he is centering his activities toward a strong defensive play.

The faculty and student-body are very busy preparing for the Christmas program to be given at the school building on Friday evening, December 23. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

Several new members have promised to join our P.-T. A. when it meets on Tuesday, December 13.

We are glad to see the familiar face of our school and class mate, Leonard Burnett, back in school. An attack of flu kept him from his work recently.

Prof. L. H. Ellis, former principal of Chilton County High School, was a recent visitor to our school. Prof. Ellis is now affiliated with the Alabama School Supply Co., of Montgomery.

Miss Celia Baldwin spent the week end with her parents at Mt. Creek.

The Mt. Pleasant basket ball team rung up its sixth straight victory last Friday evening when they defeated Maplesville 29 to 11 on the home court. A large crowd of supporters were present to see the locals in action. The first-string boys piled up a huge lead the first half and Coach Glasscock rushed in the second team which continued the scoring spree, but their defense was not so well formed and the visitors netted several field goals for their count. A light drizzle of rain fell but did not conflict with the game.

Coach Glasscock was detained from his school work last Monday. Mr. J. G. Johnson filled his place during the absence. The school wishes him a speedy recovery.

J. P. Culp, a popular member of last year's Jr. 3 Class, was a visitor to our school last Friday.

If plans materialize our boys basket ball team will meet the Shelby County Jr. High School champions from Wilsonville next Saturday night, December 17, at Calera.

On Saturday night, December 24th, the Jr. 2 Class and faculty will give a reception honoring the Jr. 3 Class. This is one of our annual events and we are all anticipating a great time.

We all regret the loss of our beloved school and class mate, Miss Eulene Scott. She is moving to Autauga county this week.

Miss Everee Smith, member of our Jr. 1 Class, spent a pleasant week end with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Smith.

Miss Eula Deason spent the past week end visiting Miss Ruby Wells of Mt. Pisgah community.

Our P.-T. A. meeting will meet on Thursday, December 15th, instead of on Tuesday the 13th. Inclement weather was given as the reason. Don't forget the date and hour—2:00 P.M.

Eastview News

There will be a play here Thursday night, December 15, presented by the Ladies Aid. The name of the play is "First Aid from the Ladies Aid." There will be string music. Admission only 10 cents. Proceeds to go for the church. It is a worthwhile play and there will be lots of fun.

Many new families have moved into our community. We welcome them into our midst, and invite them to attend church and worship with us.

Miss Gulma Traywick spent last week in Montgomery visiting her sister, Mrs. Harrison Williams.

Mr. Lee Nelson, who has moved to Elmore county, was visiting here this week.

The year 1932 will soon be gone and much needed work for the Master still undone because of neglect and hard times. However, we have the faithful few who may be depended on for everything. We have a band of women who are doing a wonderful work for the church. They are constantly doing things for the church and the Kingdom. They gave $22 to mssions in 1932. They are planning a new piano for the church in 1933. We also have the faithful few among the men who never give up. Even a depression can't stop them. They built a new parsonage for the pastor in 1932. Let your light so shine that the world may see your good works.

Pleasant Valley News

New Chevrolet Is Most Outstanding

Nearly 100,000 people are back at work as the result of the introduction of the new Chevrolet which goes on display here Saturday at the salesroom of Polk Bros. Motor Co., Inc., Mr. Polk announced today. This force finds employment in domestic Chevrolet plants, and in the Fisher Body Plants which manufacture bodies for the Chevrolet line, Mr. Polk stated.

For four of the past six years Chevrolet has led in building and selling more automobiles than any manufacturer and this year they offer a car which is in keeping with their position of first place in the automobile industry. The extensve improvements made in the new car, Mr. Polk continued, are possible because in Chevrolet's position of leadership the company enjoys the tremendous advantage of bulk purchasing power which means the ability to buy the finest materials at the lowest cost and, in turn pass this saving on to the automobile buyer.

According to Mr. Polk this new car incorporates 192 improvements. A longer wheelbase, a more powerful six-cylinder engine, an entirely new body styling which reflects the master craftsmanship of bodies by Fisher, and new skirted fenders which conceal all the under parts of the car are just a few of these many improvements. Mr. Polk was very emphatic in pointing out that in spite of the greater power of the engine and the increased size of the car the 1933 Chevrolet is more economical. The new Chevrolet also incorporates what is probably the greatest advancement in driving comfort since the advent of the closed body,—the new Fisher No-Draft Ventilation.

Mr. Polk has made special arrangements to accommodate the large crowd which he is confident will visit the salesroom at Clanton Saturday.

Fishermen at Charleston, S. C., caught an 11-foot shark and found in its stomach ham bones, beef, and a seaman's coat.

Xmas gifts of all kinds, for every member of the family at Upchurch Drug Co.

Give them the Gift of Communication
...A TELEPHONE

As a Christmas gift, a telephone is unusual, and most useful. When you give your family a telephone, you give a service that will run errands anywhere, any time, in all kinds of weather.

You give your family ready access to friends, which means many pleasant social gatherings that might otherwise be missed.

You give a certain protection in emergencies, for who knows when it will be necessary to call the doctor—the police—the fire department?

You give your family a priceless gift—quick, easy, two-way voice communication for every day of the year.

Think how much it means to have that familiar instrument—the telephone—forming a link between your home and the outside world, and you will agree that the telephone has all the essential qualities of the ideal Christmas gift.

And the cost is so small that it doesn't begin to compare with the value. It is wise to order now, so that Christmas day will find your telephone in place, ready to serve.

Baker School News

The P. T. A. meeting will be postponed until Friday, December 23. Our school will render a Christmas program.

The Jr. II and Jr. III girls are working very hard on the school hope chest.

The Jr. III Class Club met Tuesday, December 13, and elected new officers. They were as follows: President, Margaret Maddox; vice president, Savenign Dickey; secretary and treasurer, Pauline Sisk.

The Jr. III Class is glad to have Margaret Maddox, former student of Autauga County High School, back with them for the remainder of the term.

The Jr. high girls are very proud to have up their new basket ball goals and are getting their suits ready for use.

We are very sorry to learn of the illness of one of our bus drivers, Mr. T. J. Headley, but are glad to know that he is better at this writing.

Our basket ball team went to Coopers last Friday afternoon and played the boys of that school. The game was unusually interesting, especially the first half. At the end of the first period the score was 0 to 0; at the end of the first half the score was 1 to 0 for Baker. In the last half the Baker boys made eight more points, while their opponents were still unable to score. The game ended 9 to 0 in favor of Baker.

Next Friday we are expecting both the boys and girls of Coopers as our guests. We feel sure that there will be two good games played then. We also feel that both teams (boys and girls) will put up a tough fight.

The proverb says a man diligent in his business shall stand before kings. But he is more likely to stand before the Federal Trade Commission.

L. P. Duncan Buried In Maplesville Tues.

L. P. Duncan, age 32, of Spartanburg, S. C., and son-in-law of John W. Foshee, of Maplesville, was laid to rest in the Maplesville cemetery Tuesday afternoon. He died at his home in Spartanburg last Saturday, December 10th, following illness of pneumonia.

The funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Paul Oden of Maplesville, and attended by a large crowd of friends who came to pay their last respects to this Christian man. Interment was in charge of Martin & Sons of Clanton.

Mrs. Duncan, who died following an automobile accident, was buried in Maplesville November, 1931, just thirteen months ago, and Mrs. John Foshee, mother of Mrs. Duncan, died June 6th last year, making three deaths to sadden this fine family within a short time. Many and beautiful floral offerings were in evidence also.

Mr. Duncan occupied a high place in the business of South Carolina, being superintendent of several cotton mills there. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Jennie Duncan, and two daughters, Vivian and Virginia, twins, eight years old.

Pallbearers were M. C. Broadhead, Emmett Shanks, Dr. H. M. Nix, John Maples, J. E. Dennis and J. P. Payne.

Enterprise News

The pupils of the Jr. III Class have organized a class club. They expect to put on an interesting program every Monday afternoon. The club rendered its first program Monday afternoon and it was enjoyed by all.

The Jr. II and III Classes are planning to put on a Christmas program on Friday afternoon before the closing of school for the Christmas holidays. They also are going to have a Christmas Box and some music.

The Enterprise basket ball team played a very interesting game with the Thomas Jr. team Friday afternoon, December 9th, on Thomas Jr.'s court. Both teams did some splendid playing. The final score was 17 to 10 in favor of Enterprise.

The girls of the basket ball team are making a quilt which they hope to finish n the near future. They expect to sell the quilt and buy basket ball suits.

The Tragedy

The beautiful pavement stretches before us in unending view,
But the motorists who travel them are far apart and few.
Our cars are getting too old and the gas taxed too high,
Every blessed thing we own is taxed to the sky.

The convicts idle their time away on the road;
But make a full hand at the state festal board.
On Thanksgiving and Christmas they have turkey with dressing I'm told,
While the people, ragged and penniless, go hungry and cold.

Now, because our roads and convicts have used all the cash
Our schools have all closed and civilization gone to smash.
While our children throughout the livelong day
With nothing else to do, idle their time away.

Mrs. J. R. Hardy Died In Clanton Sunday

Clanton was saddened last Sunday afternoon late by the death of Mrs. Maggie M. Hardy, wife of J. R. Hardy, chief of police of Clanton. Her death followed a stroke of paralysis last Thursday.

Mrs. Hardy, a Christian woman and loved by those who knew her, was fifty-two years old. Born in Coosa county, she was Miss Maggie Harris, daughter of A. C. and Josephine Harris, and had lived in Clanton for approximately four years. She was well known in the county in which she was born, Mr. Hardy at one time being sheriff of that county.

Funeral services were held at the Baptist church in Clanton Tuesday morning at eleven o'clock, with Dr. S. J. Ezell, pastor of the church, officiating. Attended by a large number of people who loved and respected the deceased, the funeral services were most impressive. Interment followed in the Fishpond community cemetery, in Coosa county, with Spigener of Clanton, in charge of arrangements.

Surviving are two daughters, Marilyn of Clanton and Mrs. P. N. Davis of Rockford. Three sons, Marshall, Harris and John. Her husband, one sister and six brothers.

More Arguing Done Regarding Schools Closing

of the schools was related as being due to the fact that the State of Alabama has not paid its part to this county. It was also stated that if the state would meet this obligation, there would be no trouble in carrying the schools on.

Considerable argument was given on the living conditions of many families over the county, those being in destitute condition and needing help and work. The final standing of the result of this prolonged meeting Saturday afternoon was that the commissoners court place before the people an opportunity to express their wishes by voting, whether the county should make this appropriation or not.

When asked for a statement in regard to the request from the meeting Saturday, Judge Reynolds gave out a statement in regard to this county borrowing $50,000 from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

He stated that in his opinion, the county would not have to pay this money back. He furnished the News with a lengthy article concerning the action of the Commissioners Court on this loan, which stated that two commissioners, J. M. Mims and J. E. Cobb, voted against the proposition, and that commissioners A. P. Vinson and J. L. Burnett voted in favor of the loan. Judge Reynolds untied the vote casting his in approval, with Vinson and Burnett.

The two commissioners who voted for the loan will go out of office in January. A copy of the contract that the county would have to sign was also furnished the News, but due to lack of space, it is not published this week.

The question "How much money was spent on roads last year in Chilton county?" was put to Judge Reynolds during the meeting Saturday, but no definite reply was given to this. The question was repeated, and Judge Reynolds stated he did not have the figures handy.

RULING GIVEN ON CONDUCTING PRIVATE SCH'LS

ttorney General Says Public Buildings May Be Used For Private Schools

Due to several questions coming up the county regarding the use of pub- school buildings for conducting pri- te schools, a ruling on this was re- ived by Supt. B. Lawrence, which ted that public school buildings may used for conducting private schools. Since the outlook for schools con- uing the remainder of their term is very bright, and indications are t they will not, several persons have ecome interested in conducting pri- ately supported schools in the county, understood. Following is a quo- tion from the office of the Attorney eneral in regard to this:

"In answer to your inquiry I am of e opinion that public school buildings ay be used for private school pur- ses provided that the same does not terfere with the principal use of the id school building, viz: the regular nning of public schools.

"This may be done under and by vir- e of authority of Section 187, School de of 1927 which provides in part as llows:

" '187. LABAMA FARMERS ARE USING BARTER METHOD

Alabama farmers are rapidly adopt- the method of bartering their farm ducts for needed machinery, live- ck and labor necessary in their rming operations.

This is reported by the Alabama De- rtment of Agriculture which is pub- ing the "Alabama Farmers' For le, Want and Epchange Bulletin" to farmers in trading one farm product another and in marketing their mis- llaneous products.

At present over 13,000 farmers and siness men of the state are using the lletin in exchanging and marketing illions of dollars worth of products hich would otherwise go to waste, re- rts Seth P. Storrs, commissioner of riculture.

Any farmer or business man in any unty of the state may obtain the bul- tin free by writing the Department of riculture in Montgomery," he said.

CLANTON MERCHANTS EXTEND GREETINGS

Now comes Christmas, Sunday, and the time for everyone to say, "Merry Christmas."

Throughout this issue of the News there will be found numerous spaces taken by merchants and business houses of Clanton, extending to their friends and customers the greetings of the season.

Do not pass over a single one of these spaces. Read them as they are messages from these business men to you and yours.

Christmas

. . . . the time when old friendships are renewed . . . family ties strengthened . . . past acquaintances remembered and memories recounted.

It brings a feeling of "Peace on Earth, Good Will Toward Men." The time when the throng is homeward bound to loved ones to share in their joy and happiness.

Christmas* --- the time when the Chilton County News says again . . . gratefully . . . sincerely . . . thank you, and a Merry Christmas to all of you. It is the time when the News and its staff of workers would like to grasp the hands of its thousands of readers . . . warmly . . . friendly and repeat that old greeting, time worn and yet just as sincere as at its origin.

As we come to this Christmas Day, we sincerely hope that it may bring to our subscribers, friends and all mankind much joy and happiness. May we all observe this Christmas by contemplating over the glorious works of the Creator and in keeping in our minds the high significance of the words that came from the Heavenly host near two thousand years ago, when they sang, "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men."

Large Number Attend Banquet Given By Men's Sunday School Class At Baptist Church Here

The banquet (or oyster supper as you wish) given at the Baptist church Wednesday night of last week by the Men's Sunday School Class, was declared a success by those who were fortunate in being able to attend.

Invitations were mailed to a large number of men and young men in town and there was something like one hundred present.

Four long tables were arranged in the basement of the church for this affair, and members of the young ladies Sunday School class served well prepared dishes of oysters in three courses with coffee.

Dr. S. J. Ezell, pastor, acted as toastmaster and kept a very interesting and amusing program going all during the banquet. Picking several for talks unawares, with humorous subjects, furnished no end of laughter and merriment. This is an annual affair given by the church and the Sunday School classes.

Mrs. J. M. Shepherd and daughter, Ruth, of Birmingham, Mrs. Bell and daughter, Sarah Joy, of Tuscaloosa and Miss Virginia Ehlert of Birmingham, were week end guests of Mrs. J. C. Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Reed Mullins.

Copper Still Outfit Nabbed By Officers

One of the best copper still outfits found in sometime in this county was captured last Monday afternoon by county officers, according to the sheriff's office.

The still was of twenty-gallon capacity, and said to have been well arranged, made completely of copper. There were two men working at the still at the time of the raid. One was caught, while the other escaped into Bibb county. The still was in full operation and something like four or five gallons of whiskey had been run off, the officers stated. The still was located in the Six Mile community, in the north western part of the county.

Officers making this raid were Deputies James and Louis Gillespie and Loss Robinson. Another arrest reported by the sheriff's office was for carnal knowledge. At the time of this report, Tuesday morning, there were seventeen prisoners confined in the county jail.

Funeral Services For Mrs. G.M. Wyatt Held

Funeral services for Mrs. Balzoa Wyatt, wife of G. M. (Mon) Wyatt were held last Thursday at Concord church, with Dr. S. J. Ezell, officiating.

Mrs. Wyatt died at the hospital here following an operation. Her death came as a saddening blow to Clanton. Before her marriage, she was Miss Balzoa Patterson, daughter of John Patterson. She had been a member of the Baptist church since she was thirteen years of age, becoming a member of the Concord church, later moving her membership to Clanton.

Mrs. Wyatt has made her home in Clanton for a number of years, where Mr. Wyatt has been engaged in the garage and filling station business. The large number of persons attending her funeral, and the many beautiful floral offerings attested to the love for this Christian woman.

Surviving Mrs. Wyatt is her husband, one son, Morris, and several other relatives. Interment took place in the Concord cemetery with Martin & Sons in charge.

Aubrey Taylor from Auburn arrived in Clanton Friday night to spend the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Taylor.

CHILD WELFARE WORK RESUMED HERE RECENTLY

Miss Virginia Denton Takes Place As Superintendent Throughout County

A long needed service to the people of Chilton county has been resumed by an order of the Commissioners Court this week. This is the Child Welfare Department, which was discontinued here sometime ago by the court.

Considerable emphasis on the urgent need of this department in the county at this time has been placed before the Commissioners Court, and due to present conditions in the county, necessitating one person's time the department was resumed.

Miss Virginia Denton of Montgomery arrived in Clanton a few days ago to assume the office as superintendent of Child Welfare here. She has been connected with the State Child Welfare Department for some time. Miss Denton is already known to many people in the county, having stayed in Clanton for several days, assisting the Red Cross in their work during the relief work following the storms last March.

Miss Denton will have charge of the distribution of the Red Cross flour and cloth in this county, and being well trained in this work, a thorough investigation of all cases will be made, before aid is given. The office of the Child Welfare Superintendent is located in the courthouse, on the second floor.

In a statement to the News from the Court, it was not shown whether this department would continue all time in the county or not.

Flu Epidemic Shows Signs Of Waning

During the past several weeks, many cases of flu have been reported thruout the county, while no deaths have been reported so far from this epidemic in this county.

Indications over the state and in Chilton county show that the epidemic is about to stop and the number of cases has started to dropping off. However, a person can not be too careful even at this time and physicians warn against overheated rooms and over exposure to cold weather.

42,000 MOVE BACK TO FARM TO LIVE

Rather than stand in city breadlines, 42,000 Alabama persons have moved from cities back to the farm within the past three years, reports F. W. Gist, statistician for the Department of Agriculture.

The movement back to the farm from urban centers made a start in Alabama in 1930 when 2,000 persons returned. The following year 10,000 persons found places on farms and during the past year 30,000 persons or 6,000 families of five members each, left the city for the farm, Gist said.

The result is that practically all farm houses are occupied with many other families wanting places on farms.

Work Weary "NERVES"

Do they make you Restless, Cranky, Tired, Sleepless, Dyspeptic, Headachy? Do they spoil your pleasure and interfere with your work?

Tens of thousands have found a way to get relief from overworked nerves—a way so simple, so pleasant, so low in cost, that we are constantly receiving letters that say, "If I had only found Effervescent Nervine Tablets sooner." Simon Brandt writes:

"I was very nervous from over-work. I couldn't sleep well, appetite was poor, and I felt weak for a long time.

"Used Dr. Miles' Nervine and now feel fifteen years younger and I am working the same as I did before—fourteen to fifteen hours daily.

"Sorry I did not learn about this wonderful medicine sooner as I had tried everything I could hear of, without results, until Dr. Miles' Nervine put me back on my feet."

Simon Brandt

In Dr. Miles' Effervescent Nervine Tablets a splendid formula for soothing overwrought nerves is combined with bicarbonate of soda and citric acid which tend to correct hyper-acidity—a frequent cause of nervousness.

The Burning Pit

The 130,000,000 citizens of the United States, on a stated day, gather together in one place. A line of trucks, bearing $500,000,000 in United States currency, carry their load to the edge of a great pit and dump it in. It is saturated with gasoline, and a match applied. As this fortune goes up in smoke, 10,000 persons are shoved into the burning pit.

After this holycaust is over it is found that thousands of factories, homes, farms, hospitals and public buildings no longer exist and thus an army of men are thrown out of work. Cities and states are forced to raise their tax rates to compensate for the property which no longer pays its share of the cost of government.

If such a thing as the above happened, every newspaper in the civilized world would carry scareheads. It would become the main topic of conversation in a hundred nations. It would be denounced as the greatest crime in history.

Yet, in effect, this result actually occurs annually in the United States. Very few people give it any particular thought because it doesn't happen at a given moment on a given day—it happens throughout the year. It represents our national fire bill.

Waste of life and economic resources are no worse when they occur over a period of time than when they occur within the hour. The effect is identical. The loss is as complete—the disaster as astounding. Perhaps the illustration given above may help to focus the public mind on the magnitude the tragedy, and the irrevocableness of fire

Auto Driver -- Look At Yourself

It is time the automobile driver took a good look at himself.

Personal traits and characteristics are as much to blame for our appalling highway death rate as are incompetence and ignorance. The driver who passes on hills and curves, who operates his car at excessive speeds, who hogs the road and drives on the wrong side of the highway, who "weaves" and cuts in and out, is the driver who, no matter how great his skill, causes a large share of the 35,000 deaths each year.

The most encouraging sign at present is the wide public interest in highway safety—an interest which has grown amazingly the last year or two. Traffic laws are being studied. Surveys of accident statistics are being made. There is less theorizing and more dealing with honest facts.

Every state should have laws in accord with modern conditions. One of the most necessary steps is more drastic supervision of youthful drivers—it has been found that drivers under 20 have a 39 per cent worse record than the average, while those between 40 and 50 have a record 29 per cent better than the average. Automobile should be periodically inspected in the matter of brakes, steering, lights, etc. Examinations of applicants for drivers' licenses should be conducted with extreme care.

The automobile death rate can and must be lowered. There is no place for the reckless, the incompetent, and the mentally or physically defective on our streets and highways. Sixty-five thousand deaths in two years is mute testimony to the need for quick and decisive action.

Toward Economic Normalcy

How long can you keep a losing business going?

That is the problem faced by the railroads—and a problem that is not the result of depression, but of twelve years of comparative poverty. They have kept the machine going only by the most stringent economy. Salaries and wages have been drastically reduced and personnel decreased; expenditures for materials and supplies have been halved; maintenance work has been postponed, and for two years no important equipment purchases have been made. Now the lines have reached the point where further reductions in the cost of operation are manifestly impossible, and only a new transport policy can save them from ruin.

In 1920 the railroads were returned to their owners after 26 months of government management brought on by the exigencies of war. In the law restoring them to their owners was a provision allowing only a moderate return on their investment, fixed by the Interstate Commerce Commission at 7.75 per cent. Yet, in not a single year since then have their earnings been that high. Today, with many lines passing dividends and being unable even to meet fixed charges out of income, earnings have almost reached the vanishing point. Depression or no depression, no other fundamental industry has been so restricted by law and regulation, in its operation.

The railroads ask for nothing except a governmental policy that will treat all carriers as much alike as possible, and allow them to compete on fair terms. It is essential to the public interest that such a policy be conceived and applied. It would put hundreds of thousands of men to work, pay reasonable dividends to the multitude of railroad shareholders, aid savings banks, insurance companies, endowed institutions and similar heavy railroad investors. In other words, it would be a step toward economic normalcy.

There Must Be Some Taxpayers

Uncle Sam may print envelopes in competition with local printers, do dental work in competition with dentists, he can loan money, run banks, conduct commercial shipping, handle railroads, buy wheat, sell groceries, and operate mills, but there is one thing he cannot do. . . . cannot pay any dividends in conducting all this business.—The Lind, Washington, Leader.

"ROUND TOWN"
---by Doug

* * *

My wish for you all is the happiness of holidays and a realization of cherished hopes during brighter days to come.

But of all Christmas greetings that have been said and written there is none so sincere, coming from the heart's depth as "Merry Christmas to you and yours."

Christmas this year, I realize, is not going to be what many would like for it to be. It is not going to be a Christmas when all the little children are going to get a few apples, a few oranges and a little candy.

This Christmas will pass with many mothers and fathers going to bed the night before Christmas, wondering if there is any way they can give their children just a little something for Christmas—any little thing, to keep the faith their children have in them. Maybe there will be tears in the mother's eyes because her little children will be deprived of a little fruit, or even bread on Christmas day.

Yes, these very things are going to happen right at our doors next week. Little children, cold, hungry, believing in Santa Claus just like you did when you were a child, and just like your children are doing now. Santa Claus will probably visit your children, but what about the others?

You can do your part to make Santa Claus remain in the minds of these poor little tikes. On Christmas Eve night, gather together some fruits and candies, and maybe a little toy or two, find two or three families and visit them. Tell the parents they should have no embarrassment about it, and that you want their children to have a little Christmas, just like your children are going to have. Keep the spirit of Christmas in your heart. Your reward, if you want one, will come later. Don't let this Christmas pass unless you have helped all you can.

Personally, I have two families I am going to see about. In one family there are three children. One is eight months old, one two years old and the other nine years old. Their mother is in bed with a severe case of flu, the father is without money. That family is going to get some fruit, candy and bread for their Christmas.

The other family has only two children, but there is no father. These two children are going to get some warm underclothing, a toy or two some fruit and candy for their Christmas. I'm going to make two families as happy as I can at a small cost to me. Just exchange places with these people for a few minutes.

I'll tell you, since I've been thinking about the unfortunatt people in our community and about Christmas, I just can't get my mind on anything else much. I just wish I was financially able to visit the home of every unfortunate family in the county, leave them a basket of fruit and food for Christmas. The truth of the business is, I'm just worried about these little children.

* * *

I have in mind some citizens of Clanton who are well fixed financially, have big automobiles, good homes and children. These men could do some of their best work this Christmas by spending some money and seeing that Christmas Day is a happy one for many families. In fact they should do it. They have made their money right here in Chilton county and it won't hurt them.

That will be about all about Christmas this time. While perhaps I should fill this column with something all about Christmas, because it comes only once a year. I wonder how many people stop to think "Why Christmas."

I've heard a lot of discussion about the use of the word Reverend, when referring to a preacher. In many cases, and I might say 99 out of a hundred, the word, or the abbreviation is used wrong. I ran upon some authority on this the other day. I have an idea that a lot of clergymen (preachers) suffer intensely or something from the wrong use of this word or abbreviation. However, persons who are not preachers are not the only one guilty of the misuse of this. I am guilty, and so is the Editor of the News guilty of this misuse. Anyway here's the authority about the word "Reverend." It was clipped from an unknown place:

"Actually, "reverend" is not a title. It is a term of respect, and as an adjective should always be preceded by the article "the." Moreover, it should be followed by either the full name or initials or the title "Mister" or "Doctor."

"It is wrong to say or write "Rev. Hurst." It is equally wrong to say or write "the Rev. Hurst." It is wrong to use the form "Rev. Henry M. Hurst" or "Rev. Mr. Hurst."

"It is rightly used when written "the Rev. Henry M. Hurst" or "the Rev. Mr. Hurst." In the case of a minister who has the degree of doctor of divinity, it is proper to write it "the Rev. Dr. Smith."

"No minister should be addressed as "Rev. Jones." It should be simply "Mr. Jones," or, if he is a doctor of divinity, "Dr. Jones."

Must Force Tax Reduction

One of the most encouraging phases of the late campaign was the attitude taken by the majority of candidates for public office toward the cost of government and the need for tax reduction. President-elect Roosevelt has stated that a 25 per cent cut is essential and has pledged his efforts toward achieving that. Those elected with him have echoed his views.

If such a reduction is made it will have an amazingly fine effect on the country—not only in the money that will be saved, but in psychological result. There is no question but what the specter of still higher taxes frightens thousands of investors and shoves money into safe-deposit vaults and tea pots; that it prevents business from going ahead and expanding; that it discourages home building and savings; that, in this time of unemployment, it creates more unemployment, more hardship, more distress.

Every citizen should demand a sound program to lower taxes. We can do this by not asking for expenditures that touch only a small part of the country at the expense of the whole; by taking the broad, rather than the local, view. We can follow up federal reductions by forcing state, county and municipal governments—which are the most expensive of all—and public officials, to observe the example. In short, the time and the opportunity for tax reduction are here—and it must be had.

MORAL ECHOES

D. W. Haskew

The country community had gathered at the Cross Road store on Saturday afternoon. The community wag had just related an Irish story and there was much merriment. Two little barefooted brothers sitting near in a wagon looked and saw their father bent double in laughter. The oldest nudged the younger saying, "Look Tom, let go and ask Dad for a nickel and that will stop him from laughing." Together they crawled down out of the wagon and approached their father. When they stood before him the older motioned to his little brother and the little fellow chimed in, "Dad, won't you give us a nickel?" The old man stood erect and a frown covered his face. The older brother turned away saying, "I told you so." If you want to turn a smile into a frown and merriment into "hard time" just ask for a donation to some worthy cause. Smiles are rare when the collection plate is being passed, and yet Jesus said that he loved a cheerful giver.

By the side of my church stood a cherry tree. All of its branches were hanging with nice, ripe cherries. From early morn until late afternoon the birds would come from near and far to enjoy the cherries. There were mocking birds, blue jays, wood chucks, cat birds, bee martins and a host of other birds. Each bird would come and dart in among the limbs and stay long enough to satisfy its own need, and then it would fly away. There were no signs of selfishness or greediness. All alike would gather what was needed and would leave behind more ripe cherires for hungry birds. All day long I watched the birds come and go. Each one was happy to receive his own supply, but showed no signs of waste, or greed. That was so different to by observations of men and women. When a human being finds a cherry tree loaded with ripe cherries, he sticks up his sign of ownership or he strips the tree of every ripe cherry and leaves none for other needy people. Men are both selfish and greedy. When we find a good thing we seize it for ourselves. If we find another man with a good thing we try to snatch it from him. If we leave a cherry tree it has no ripe cherries for other needy people.

I had completed my morning devotional reading and had placed my Bible on the desk for a moment of meditation. Along came a peaky mosquito and located himself on the cover of God's Word. I directed my attention toward that insect: I watched him with close inspection and readily saw that he intended to puncture that Book. He selected a choice place and then he drew his sword and placing the end of it on the book, he set his bracers in position, and would stand on that sword to press it in. He worked and pushed and schemed, but the sword would not enter the Word of God. After much effort he flew away in a fret because he had failed. I then examined the place where he had whittled with his sword and it had left no sign. There are a lot of folks—as well as a few mosquitoes—who think that they can riddle the Bible with their bills.

My car was slowly making its way over the pavement. Just ahead I saw a little sparrow sitting quietly in the path of the car. Thinking that it would know how to take care of itself, I let the car go on with its usual speed. The mother of that little bird was sitting near watching it, and when she saw that it was in danger she darted to where it was, seized it by the nape of the head and flew away with it into a myrtle bush. One day I saw a baby sparrow near the kitchen door. It found a nice piece of bread and it started a terrible fuss over it, but would not dare touch it. The mother hearing the sound of it call, came to it, picked up the bread and placed it in the mouth of her baby. Little birds are taught to never eat anything until it has been inspected by the parent bird and this little sparrow wanted to be obedient. It would save many doctor's bills and much suffering if children could be trained to be as obedient as little birds.

The "Dry As Dust" pastor had completed the scattering of chaff, and just before whining his benediction he announced, "I would like to meet all of the Board on the front steps of the church, after we have dismissed." The congregation had disbanded and a few distinguished men stood on the steps of the church, when a stranger approached them. They gave him the glad hand and asked if they could serve him in any way. He replied, "There is nothing that you can do for me. I heard your pastor requesting all the bored to meet here and as I have never been bored so much and so deep in all of my life, I thought surely that he wanted me to meet with you. No gentlemen, you can not serve me, but I would like to have the privilege of serving you." Nothing but the grace of God in the heart can keep a member loyal when the pulpit is not on fire with love and truth.

Thorsby Institute News

Thorsby Institute will close December 22 for the Christmas vacation and reopen January 4th.

On Tuesday night the Helen Keller Literary Society under the direction of Miss Phillips and Miss McKee gave its Christmas program of carols and a Christmas play "No Room at the Inn." The program was to have been given Saturday night, but was postponed on account of the weather.

The Institute library will not be open on Friday of this week.

We have been notified that a stranger in town has been selling advertisements for a pageant to be given at th Thorsby Institute on Thursday night of this week. The Institute knows nothing about this and wishes to warn the public against buying from strangers any ads or tickets to entertainments to be given at the Institute.

Patrons of the Thorsby Institute Library could save themselves the disappointment of finding the library closed if they would notice the library hours. On when they wanted to borrow books if school days the library hours are 9 to 12 a.m. and 2:30 to 5 p.m. It is often open between these hours but often it is not.

The holiday vacation begins December 23, and ends January 3. During this time the library will be open two days, Tuesday, December 27, and Friday, December 30, at the usual hours.

Several might be interested in knowing what the Thorsby Institute faculty is planning to do during the Christmas holidays:

Miss Onita Klingelhoefer is expecting to spend Christmas at her home in Beaver, Pennsylvania. Miss Lillian McKee will spend Christmas at the home of her parents at Lineville. Miss Marian Fairbank will remain in Thorsby during the holidays. Miss Lois Leach will spend part of the time of her vacation in Birmingham and part in Thorsby. IN MEMORY OF ISAIAH RICH

Mr. Isaiah Rich died at the home of his son, Grover C. Rich, Clanton, Ala., November 18th. He had been in declining health for several months before his death. He joined the Primitive Baptist church early in life, and lived a true and faithful member. We feel that another pillar from our church has been taken away from us. Yet, we feel sure his work on earth was fully completed, and his life is not ended; it is only beginning in all beauty and greatness

He was born at Fishpond in Coosa County in 1853, was married to Miss Fannie May in 1873, who preceded him to the grave thirty-three years ago. There were born to this union eight children, five of whom survive him: three sons, Grover C. Rich of Clanton, Julious and John; two daughters, Mrs James Forbus and Mrs. Green Trussell, all of Alexander City. Twenty-four grandchildren and three great-grandchildren, and two brothers, John of Elmore and Joe of Houston, Texas, also survive him.

Burial was in charge of Service Funeral home, Alexander City, at Fishpond church. The floral offerings were a beautiful token of the esteem that friends and neighbors held for this good man.

—A Loving Friend.

Alvin Johnson, local boy, was seriously injured by W. C. Thomas, driver of a Hudson car from Montgomery. Alvin, age about 21, was standing on the sidewalk at the intersection of First Avenue and Seventh Street, in front of the post office, leaning against a post when the Hudson car, going in the direction of Birmingham at a rapid speed in order to avoid a collision with Mr. Leonard Easterling, who was approaching from the west, swerved to the right striking Mr. Johnson and crushing the leg so badly that it was found necessary to immediately amputate same just below the knee.

Church Of Christ

Christ calls His people His Church, "which is His body," (Eph. 1:22-23), and he is the saviour of the body.

The prophet Daniel, by the wisdom of God, looked down through the stream of time and saw the days in which God would set up a Kingdom and pictured the time of the Roman Empire. Nebuchadnezzar, King of Babylon, had a wonderful dream which Daniel interpreted. From this dream Daniel foretold that God would set up a Kingdom "in the days of these Kings" which reigned in the Roman Empire. (Read 2nd chapter of Daniel). John the Baptist preached "Repent ye: for the Kingdom of heaven is at hand," Matt. 3:2. After John the Baptist was cast into prison (Matt. 4:12) Jesus began to preach "Repent: for the Kingdom of heaven is at hand," Matt. 4:17. After that he selected and taught his apostles, the twelve, both by precept and example, all the while demonstrating His divinity by wonders and signs, always accomplishings something good. Upon one occasion he asked his disciples saying, "Whom say ye that I am?" Peter said "Thou art the Christ the Son of the living God," Matt. 16:13-19. In reference to Peter's confession Christ said, "Upon this rock I will build my church and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it." Then He promised Peter the "Keys of the Kingdom of Heaven; and whatsoever thou shalt bind on earth shall be bound in heaven: and whatsoever thou shalt loose on earth shall be loosed in heaven." He likewise promised the same to all his apostles, Matt. 18:18. From this we see that Christ used the terms "My church" and the "Kingdom of heaven" in the same sense, showing that a short while before His death His church had not been built, for He says "I will build my church," and promised the keys to Peter and the other apostles, saying, "I will give unto thee the keys of the kingdom of heaven."

Now after the Saviour had been crucified, buried and resurrected, and just as he was about to return to heaven to God His Father, "to the ancient of days, Dan. 7:13-14, "with the clouds" to receive "a Kingdom," He commanded these apostles (except Judas) to wait at the City of Jerusalem for the power of the Holy Spirit. Lk. 24:46-49; Acts 1:4-5, 8.

On Pentecost after the resurrection of Christ the Holy Spirit brought from Heaven the "Law of the Spirit of Life," Rom. 8:1-2. As the law of the Kingdom of heaven, which the prophets Isaiah and Micah and Joel said should go forth from Jerusalem, Isa. 2:2-4; Micah 4:1-4; Joel 3:32. Peter said, "All things that pertain to life and godliness" had been given to them, the apostles, 2 Pet. 1:3. Peter taught that David foresaw that God would raise up Christ to sit on David's throne, which also is spoken of as the throne of God. Peter says, "Therefore, let all the house of Israel know assuredly that God hath made that same Jesus, whom ye crucified, both Lord and Christ," Acts. 2:36.

Thus we see that Christ is King over His church. He is King of Kings and Lord of Lords, Rev. 17:14; Col. 1:13.

Christ completely established his government and church on earth when the Holy Spirit delivered through the apostles the conditions of salvation, and the perfect law of liberty.

The Church of Christ began to function fifty days (which was Pentecost) after the resurrection of Christ, after Christ had ascended to heaven and sent the Holy Spirit for a guide to the apostles as agents to loose and bind the conditions of salvation, the government of His Church an dall things that pertain to life and godliness. No one can do better than to humbly believe and obey this "perfect law of liberty" as the law of the Kingdom of Heaven.

THE LEADER CAN ACCOMPLISH WHAT OTHERS DARE NOT TRY

CHEVROLET PRESENTS A NEW SIX

Longer • Larger • Faster • Smoother • New in Styling • More Economical • And Featuring Fisher No-Draft Ventilation

THIS is Chevrolet Week throughout America. And the new car that millions have been watching and waiting for—the latest product of the world's leading builder of automobiles—is now on display: the New Chevrolet Six—at a new scale of low prices. Front, side, rear—inside, outside—everything about this new car is advanced, improved, exciting. Longer wheelbase makes it the biggest automobile in today's low-price field. The latest principle of car design, "Aer-Stream" styling, gives it a totally different, ultra-modern appearance. The new Fisher bodies are larger, wider—faultlessly streamlined—swung lower to the road—and offer the first basic improvement in travel comfort in over ten years: Fisher No-Draft Ventilation. Chevrolet performance in every gear is faster, flashier, more brilliant. The time-proved six-cylinder engine is more powerful as well as more economical. Improved Free Wheeling is combined with a "silent second" Syncro-Mesh gear-shift. Chevrolet engineers have developed a remarkable new invention that wins a complete victory over vibration: The Cushion-Balanced Engine Mounting. And as far as prices are concerned, several models now sell at the lowest figures in Chevrolet history. Chevrolet is able to do all this because Chevrolet has the advantage of being the world's largest builder of cars for 4 out of the past 6 years. Chevrolet builds cars in greater volume—buys materials in greater quantities—does everything on a bigger, more economical scale. Hence, Chevrolet is in a position to provide a better car at a better price than could possibly issue from any other source. The leader can accomplish what others dare not try!

1933 Chevrolets Add Many New Workers

With the announcement of the new Chevrolet 1933 models, there was renewed employment for more than 85,000 workers in the plants and salesrooms of the Chevrolet Motor Company, it was stated by W. S. Knudsen, president and general manager.

This number represents a complete normal working force, Mr. Knudsen explained. About 30,000 are on direct Chevrolet payrolls in the company's 20 domestic plants, the central office group and factory sales forces in the field. An additional 21,000 are employed in the eight Fisher body plants that adjoin Chevrolet assembly plants—men who work exclusively on Chevrolet-Fisher bodies. To these are added 36,000 dealers and their salesmen, who got into full swing with the first public showing of the new cars, December 17.

Mr. Knudsen said that assembly operations had gotten under way in late November and early December and that all eight plants are now fully staffed and turning out the new line in gradually increasing volume. The program of manufacturing enough cars to furnish each of the company's 10,100 domestic dealers with representative display models was carried out very closely to schedule.

According to Mr. Knudsen, the full quota of people directly dependent on Chevrolet operations for a livelihood are assured of employment through the winter and spring, the number of work-hours naturally depending on the extent of the demand for the new cars. He added that, by following a sliding scale of weekly work-hours, a policy carried out by Chevrolet for several years, the company is able to adjust production to demand, with little variation in the number of workers actually employed. As an instance of this, he pointed out that though operations on the 1932 Chevrolet were discontinued in September the lowest number of employees throughout 1932 was reached in the week ended October 29, when the payrolls still carried 27,525 names, within 3,000 of the present total. This was accomplished by staggering inventory, regulating hours of work per week to meet demands on given manufacturing departments and by using workers on pattern, tool and die operations, and plant rearrangement.

It was emphasized by Mr. Knudsen that, while work on the new program had been under way since October, no formal announcements of the company's payrolls were made, in order to prevent an influx of excess labor. He stressed the fact that all the plants are now fully manned by regular Chevrolet workers, with no work available for outsiders.

Keep Our Schools Open

To the Chilton County News:

As a patron of the Chilton County schools I am very much interested in seeing them kept open for the remainder of the present school term. There is a movement on by which we hope to work out a plan whereby we may be able to keep them open and I do hope that anyone who may be inclined to object to these plans will study the whole proposition carefully, with an unprejudiced mind, before he comes to a definite conclusion in the matter. I do not believe there is a citizen in this county who is more interested in our schools than Judge Reynolds, and I feel sure he will do everything in his power to keep them open if we wish him to. Judge Reynolds has asked for a referendum on whether we wish him to divert sufficient money from the road funds to run the schools. We held a meeting and passed a resolution requesting the county commissioners and county board of education to devise some means of keeping our schools open and asked the commissioners to call an election for a referendum on the subject. Judge Reynolds has made it plain that he is not in favor of diverting any money for the schools until the people who are in need are first cared for with which I agree, but that he would be willing to use a little less on the roads so long as they were kept in a reasonably good state of repair. Judge Reynolds also told us that he had already made application for $50,000.00 of Federal relief money and will use it on the roads giving work to the needy, even though we may not vote for him to use any of the road money for the schools. Judge Reynolds also told us that he did not believe we would ever have to pay this money back, as it will be deducted from the Federal road money. One-fifth to be taken from our allotment each year for five years.

There is some difference of opinion as to paying the teachers the same salary as they are now getting, but I hope no one will vote against the proposition on that account, but leave that to the two boards and the teachers, if the county commissioners do not feel justified in spending the full amount asked for. Personally I would like to see them get their regular pay if we can manage to pay them full salary. They have certainly been imposed upon more than any other class of people in our times. The convicts are treated better than the teachers. Now if you agree with me so far that leaves it up to you how much you are interested in the education of our boys and girls, and I do not believe there are many of us who are not intensely interested in seeing our children get at least a fair education. If we have to close our schools it may be that many of our children will lose interest in school and it will be hard for us to revive that interest.

Education is the heart of our American tradition. The first thought of the framers of our constitution was the education of our children. It has been the bulwark of our nation. Education has been the heart of civilization from the earliest dawn of history. Every advance of civilization has been marked by the progress of education. Let us lay aside any prejudice we may have, do a little more individually to help the needy, and help in any way we can to make it possible for the schools to remain open. If we do the big thing, the thing our children have a right to expect of us, and keep the schools open in spite of Governor Miller and his crowd it will be a milestone in the history of our county to which our grandchildren will point to with pride.

LEGISLATURE TO BE CALLED BACK JANUARY

Governor Wants Income Tax And Bond Issue To Be Resubmitted

Call for an extraordinary session of the legislature to meet the financial emergency now facing the state of Alabama, was issued by Governor Miller Tuesday. It will convene at the capital at noon, Tuesday, January 31.

Submission to the people of an income tax amendment, and an amendment authorizing payment of the indebtedness of the state with interest-bearing bonds, warrants or notes; also adoption of a sales tax, are requested by the governor in his call, as necessary to cope with the existing situation.

He asks that the income tax amendment be so drawn as to levy such a tax for the calendar year 1933, and each year thereafter, the tax to become effective when the amendment is adopted. The sales tax is to be made effective upon its approval by the Governor. It will remain in effect until an income tax is adopted and yields sufficient revenue to make further collection of a sales tax unnecessary.

The governor has consistently opposed the principle of a general sales tax. He still does, but states in his call, that as a temporary measure to meet present needs, his personal opinion should be waived in order to meet the existing financial emergency.

Before setting out the legislation which he wishes adopted, the chief executive reviews briefly, details of the factors entering into the emergency which necessitates a special session. He recalls that current debts of the state have accumulated for years on account of appropriations exceeding revenue.

The depression is causing present revenues to decrease steadily he points out, so that it is impossible to meet the necessary expenses of government and retire any part of the current indebtedness which is placed at $20,000,000.

He points out also that the state is due to banks from which loans have been obtained a total of $4,305,731.05—most of it for educational needs, and is unable to pay these and other current debts and the expense of government from current revenues.

Conditions as they are, he states, are forcing the closing of schools; adding that Alabama debts should be paid and the schools kept open.

His inclusion in his call of the levy of a sales tax as an emergency measure is prefaced by the reminder that if now adopted, an income tax cannot become operative within a year, and that revenue for present emergencies is required at once.—Montgomery Advertiser.

COMMUNITY RELIEF PLAN IS URGED THROUGHOUT COUNTY

Citizens Of Chilton County Asked To Cooperate In Bringing About Help With Very Small Cost And Getting Needed Work Done

The community relief plan, suggested sometime ago by W. L. Sanders, is being urged throughout the county. County Agent Stapp has recently mailed letters and blanks to hundreds of men over the county outlining this plan, which will be of only a small cost to each one, and at the same time, giving them work in exchange for their help.

The citizens of the county are urged to cooperate to their best ability in this plan so that those many needy families in the county may get something to do. Following is published the letter and blank which was mailed out. In case you failed to receive one, you may use the newspaper clipping here, filling out the blank and mailing to Mr. Stapp:

The Letter

Dear Sir:

This is the season of the year when you are repairing fences, cleaning fence corners, ditch banks, digging stumps, ditching and cleaning up corners about your place. Some such work should be going on on every farm in the county during the months of January and February. Possibly you can use some extra help in this work. If you haven't the cash with which to pay for the work, maybe you have corn, meat, lard, syrup, peas, potatoes, and the like that you could give.

We are not asking you to give away what you have, but are only asking you in the name of suffering humanity to create a few jobs that the people may be self-sustaining and that we, to a great extent, may avoid the type of welfare work that breeds idleness and encourages many to sit down and wait for a helping hand.

If you can furnish any work, please fill out the enclosed sheet and return it to me in the enclosed envelope which requires no stamp.

Yours very truly,
C. E. STAPP,
County Agent.

One more milestone on the long road of Life will be reached soon by one of Chilton county's oldest and most loved citizens, the Rev. J. T. Nelson, who will observe his 100th birthday on January 4th at his home, about five miles north of Clanton near the highway.

If one should visit Rev. Nelson, one would find a most interesting man. Yes, he has reached his 100th year in life, but not all of these one hundred years show on the face of this highly esteemed man, nor do they show in his spry way of doing things. He is taking a great delight in celebrating his next birthday, next Wednesday.

On that day he is giving a real birthday party, one to continue all day. Friends and relatives of Rev. Nelson are invited to come to see him and spend the day. Lunch will be served at noon, and due to the large crowd that usually gathers at his home, those who will, may contribute toward the food supply for the dinner.

EZELL GIVES VIEWS ABOUT SCHOOL FUNDS

Thinks Commissioners Court Should Not Hesitate To Give Relief

In the sole interest of our children, the future citizens of our county, I am constrained to say some words to our citizens regarding our school situation in Chilton County. There are some things that should be said, and also remembered by our people.

For some three weeks past we have been led to believe and to hope that our Probate Judge and Commissioners Court were going to work out some way of keeping our schools open. But these hopes have come to naught so far, with the meeting of the Commissionrs Court last Friday and nothing done about this most important matter before our people. It seems then, with the schools now closed, they will not reopen after the holidays, unless the Commissioners Court meets again this week and does something about the situation.

There are a few facts I believe the public should know in connection with the consideration of this question of the Commissioners Court helping our schools to keep going.

First, that our teachers and patrons were led to believe and to hope that something could and would be done by the Commissioners Court to keep our schools open. Both our Probate

BANKHEAD IS APPOINTED TO PREPARE RELIEF

Alabama Senator Is Paid Tribute In Being On Committee

By Russell Kent
Manager The Birmingham News Washington Bureau, 1261 Nat'l Press Bldg.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 18, 1932.—Senators Smith of South Carolina, Wheeler of Montana and Bankhead of Alabama have been appointed a special committee of Senate Democrats to study and prepare legislation for relief of agriculture, in accordance with the action of the recent party caucus providing for such committees.

The appointments were made by Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, Democratic leader. Recognition of Senator Bankhead on this important committee is regarded as an exceptional tribute to be paid a first-term member of the Senate.

That there is lack of unanimity as to farm relief legislation is apparent by the action of Senator Smith in inviting a conference of Senators and representatives from cotton producing states to discuss legislation especially applicable to cotton after hearings had been started before the House committee on agriculture on a bill drafted by the principal farm organizations, based on the domestic allotment plan.

Much attention is being given Senator Bankhead's bill to control cotton and wheat production through a system of licensing for shipments in interstate and foreign commerce. When he spoke on this bill last week, there was an unusually large attendance of senators throughout the address, and he was interrupted by questions frequently. This is the only bill before Congress which seeks to increase the price of farm products by limiting the movement of commodities across state lines or for foreign shipment, thus, in effect, controlling production. Representative William B. Bankhead has introduced his senator brother's bill in the House.

The domestic allotment plan on which the major farm organizations have agreed—the only instance on record where they have presented a united front on a single plan of agricultural relief—seeks to increase prices through a tax upon processors, which would be passed on to consumers wherever possible."—From Birmingham News, December 18, 1932.

Who Will Pay?

Who will pay the taxes after all property has been confiscated and all capital has at last found its way into the coffers of the government?

The optimistic answer is that that will never happen. Probably it won't. But we are coming closer to it than we realize. In some middle western states more than 50 per cent of the farms have been foreclosed and are being worked by lessess, not owners. In some cities it is cheaper to tear a good building down than to allow it to stand—because taxes on the structure are greater than the income it produces. In other cases it is cheaper to close a factory—because, under present conditions, returns are not great enough to meet the tax bill and the other running expenses.

It is very easy to advocate soaking the rich to help the poor. But over-taxation of capital is the surest way to product distress, unemployment, depression. When people are afraid to invest their money in producing enterprises, because of fear of increasing taxation, the country faces a crisis from unemployment and actual confiscation of capital and jobs by taxation.

The Congress now in session must deal with an unbalanced budget. The next Congress will have the same identical problem. Unless expenditures are reduced, there will come a time when there will not be enough taxpayers to meet government's high cost.

Yes, You Can Invest Safely

Suppose you were offered this investment opportunity:

A company is formed by a number of the nation's most astute business men. It operates under stringent government regulations which seek to eliminate, so far as humanly possible, the chance of failure. It has a large cash reserve which is maintained solely for the protection of those who invest in it. It has, as well, millions of dollars in assets, represented by government bonds and the securities of the best, oldest and soundest American industries.

This company then offers shares to the phblic. These shares may be bought outright, or on time payments over a period of years. In any case, the full amount the investor has contracted for will be paid to his heirs in case of his death—even though the contrcat is for thousands of dollars and he has paid in almost nothing. If in an emergency he has to raise money, he may borrow in accordance with provisions in his contract, at a low rate of interest, from the company. If he finds himself unable to keep up his payments, he may turn back his contract for cash, in many cases.

You'll say this sounds like the apex of the investor's dream—a beautiful impossibility. But it isn't. Precisely such contracts are sold every day and all thrifty citizens own them. They are, in short, life insurance policies.

Advertising Analysis

When the people get tax conscious they turn to the newspapers.

When they want to know every 24 hours just exactly what the national political situation is they turn to the newspapers.

When they want to watch daily the turn in the tide of the stock market or the rise and fall in the price of eggs they turn to the newspapers.

When they want to be economical in household expenses they turn to the advertising columns of the newspapers

When they want to be truly informed on the actual daily fluctuations in the price of anything that they may have occasion to buy they turn to the newspapers.

When they have an urge to satisfy their craving as to the truth or falsity of a certain piece of gossip however large or small in importance they turn to the newspapers for the truth.

When they want to know who came into the world today, who got married, who ran away from his wife and five children, who came to the old home town to livee and who died they turn to the newspapers.

When they want to know what is going on in the great world outside, socially, politically, or in the general run of news. they turn to the newspapers.

When they want their fill of social news, sport news, features, funnies, telegraph ntws, continued stories, or what not, they turn to the newspapers.

When they want to read advertising without being bored by advertising, they turn to the newspapers.

When they want the latest on fashions, art, the theatres, music and other cultural subjects they turn to the newspapers.

When they want honest expression on the controversial subjects of the hour and a chance to give expression themselves to their own ideas they turn to the newspapers.

The American people live by and for the newspapers. They use them for their own information directly and provide much of the material that goes into them indirectly through their own private and public lives.

The American newspaper was never so important nor so interesting to the average person as it is today. It is today than ever before.

There is no advertising medium that is so close to the people in an intimate, social way as the newspaper. It is the only advertising medium that is paid for and welcomed daily through the front door.

And yet—there are people in business who never stop to make an analysis such as is set forth in this article and waste hundreds, and is some cases thousands, of dollar annually in useless and non-productive advertising.—Santa Cruz (Calif.) News.

And I sincerely hope that every one or two or more of you had a very Merry Christmas.

I know of several families in Clanton who were made happy last Sunday morning. I saw some members of the Kiwanis Club going their rounds real early Sunday morning with baskets of fruits, toys and clothes. That was real Christmas, if you ask me, or something.

This week I'd like to tell you readers something about the coming year of 1933, but just to tell the truth, I'm in no mood to do anything right now except go home and get in the bed. Yes, I believe that the flu is going to overtake me yet. But I've been giving it a good chase lately. It may be like Prosperity—"just around the corner."

"Water, water, everywhere, but not a drop to drink." Two weeks or more of rain is enough to get anyone "soaked" or something, and it's still raining while I'm writing this column.

Was on the verge of trading for a goat the other day. There are several in Clanton and I just thought I'd get me one. I looked at several, considered the atmosphere surrounding them, and while I didn't expect to find a goat that would remind one of a perfume store, I was astonished at some of them—those that appeared to be such gentlemen. However, after carefully considering the matter again, I decided against the trade because there are several things to be taken into consideration about keeping a goat. If someone should steal him, then people could say that "somebody got his goat," and then their strength of stomach would be too much for me. I might wake up some morning and find that the goat had chewed the fenders off my flivver, ate the wire fence round the garden, fell through the chimney, and maybe a dozen other things, or something. Nope, I don't believe I'll get a goat.

And I see by C. G. N. that Mr. Maurice Lande, proprietor of The Leader, is announcing a huge sale right away. Heard Mr. Lande say that he is really giving the people of the county some bargains in this sale. No knowing much about dry goods, I can't say, but in looking over that big ad in this issue, I believe he is not misrepresenting things at all.

Governor Miller is going to get "the boys" back in Montgomery again next month, so I see in the papers. I've got an idea that the boys had better just get ready to get down to some real business this time, because his Honor, the Governor has said time and again, what he believed was the best way out of the conditon of the State. They haven't been treating him right, and I hope the Legislature goes in session next month with something in mind, and quit playing around.

If you want to get an eye full and a couple of ears full of nonsense sometimes, just go down and listen in on that group of lawmakers for awhile. Yes, it is just like people say it is—they sit around, tell stories, laugh, and time flies on. Way back yonder, when we had some real statesmen gathering in Montgomery at the capitol, something was done. Now I ain't saying that some of these we have now are not statesmen. But at least I haven't heard of any great speech any of them have made while the Legislature was in session, unless it was that speech that Mr. Harman made in favor of education sometime ago. I think I'll go down to Montgomery one day while the Legislature is in session this time, and see if they have made any improvement in their conduct since the last time.

Oh, well, I guess I could cuss and discuss that matter from now on, and it wouldn't help any. It's still raining right now and I've just about had enough of it.

Reuben Lowe (that is I mean Mr. R. W. Lowe) down at South Clanton says that he is putting his business on a cash basis beginning right now, or maybe a few minutes or so ago. He has an ad in the News this week listing some bargains.

I ain't so full of news or anything except turkey and cake right now, and this column this week ain't going to be so good. Not that I think it is so good any other time, but I am having to cut it kind of short, or something.

* * *

Next week comes the beginning of the commencing of a New Year, and everybody all rigged up to turn over some new leaves or something and get a fresh start. I've been thinking of how many changes would take place in Clanton's business world on the first of the year. So far I've heard of only one, and that will be announced later, I understand. Well, I'll close this time, wishing you all a more prosperous New Year. I'll see you next year.

Cheaper Than Charity

This is addressed to the millions of Americans who have jobs and incomes and money to spend. Perhaps they haven't as much income as they did a few years ago—but the chances are that drops in the cost of living have compensated for their salary cuts and lowered dividends.

These millions owe an obligation to those other millions who are unemployed, and are facing a winter of distress and poverty. That obligation can be partially—but only partially—met by contributions to charity. Of greater moment is the obligation to give their less fortunate fellows jobs.

All over the country there are homes in need of repair. People have been holding back and refusing to spend—waiting for better times. And yet it's as obvious as the multiplication table that better times will never come until money again flows through the business arteries, and into the channels of trade. Today we can do some needed re-roofing, repair the bathroom, build a new room, repaint the home, fix the heating plant and a hundred other necessary improvements for a fraction of what they cost in the past—and a fraction of what they will cost in the future when better times actually do appear. By doing those things now, we are putting money into our own pockets—as well as into pockets that are empty.

Increased purchasing power is the vital need of the hour. More payrolls—more employed workers—more busy industries. Look around your property, see what improvements you need—and act, it's cheaper and better than charity.

MORAL ECHOES

D. W. Haskew

—o—

There was the cry of a new born babe in Bethlehem. The angels heard its voice in paradise and the windows being up they flew out upon wings of joy. The silent night gathering over hill and vale near unto the Holy City was disturbed with music such as human ears had never heard before. Shepherds listened to hear the heavenly choir singing, "Glory to God in the highest, on earth peace and good will to the children of men, for unto you is born this day in the city of David a babe who is Christ the Lord." When the final "Amen" had been sounded by the choir and silence reigned over the hills, the Shepherds made a wild rush to Bethlehem, and there they saw the babe clad in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger. They looked reverently and long, and then bowing their knees before the babe they worshiped Him and in a meditative manner found their way back to their waiting flocks. This was the beginning of joy nights for a waiting world. That was the night when God played "Santa Claus" to all the races of earth, and set the joy bells to ringing in every human heart.

I stood in the midst of a great manufacturing plant. The manager was showing me the workings of his machinery. He was turning out all kinds of plates and stamps, and these were being shipped to the local markets and also into the markets of foreign lands. He had me to examine the stamp before the wheels were set into motion and then to carefully examine the plate after the product had been pressed. The plate and the product were exactly the same. The stamp made from the plate was a perfect pattern of the plate itself. More than twenty centuries ago the wheels of God were revolving, and this earth was stamped with the Divine image. Jesus came out from God and He was a perfect image of God himself. That is why we claim for Christmas night the time of joy, and the time of giving gifts unto the children of men. Christmas is that time when we should linger long and reverently before the image of God stamped into human life.

It is related of a Wise Eastern ruler that he called his subjects before the palace when he was aged and addressed them thus, "Children, I am leaving you. My son, whom you have never seen will rule over you. True you have not seen him as my son, but I want you to judge his government by his acts." The people pledged their whole hearted allegiance. Years passed and no people ever had a wiser and a better ruler, but they never saw his face. They marveled, "We see him not, how does he understand our needs." One day his subjects stood at the palace gate saying to the keeper, "Sir, we would see the king." The king came forth to them in his royal robes and they saw him as king for the first time, but they recognized him as the humble peasant whom they had known for years as the one who had cared for the poor. Then they lifted a shout, "We see your royal robes, but we know that face." No wonder that they had a good ruler because the king lived with them and lifted them day by day in disguise. At this Christmas time may we not be Jesus in disguise, loving and lifting in His own blessed name. Jesus is none other than God in the world. He is Divinity in action. We recognize His face in every kind deed that is done. Without Him this would be a heartless, helpless, hopeless world.

In the days of childhood I saw two lads celebrate Christmas in two distinct ways. One boy was good. On Christmas morning he took his fruit and candy, for in those days fruit and candy were all that Santa put in the stockings, and carried it to a poor family where Santa had not been. This lad then spent the day visiting the sick and the shut-ins of the community. He fired no crackers during the day, but he set joy bells to ringing in the hearts of the poor and the sick. Later that lad became a messenger of God. The other boy was rude and ugly in his way of living. At the age of fifteen he would celebrate Christmas by getting drunk on cane beer and terrorizing the community. He carried a gun with him and old and young were afraid when they saw him coming. With that lad the wages of sin have long since been paid in death. "He died with his boots on." In your honest judgment, which lad celebrated Christmas in the most acceptable manner? Young folks, which lad had you rather be?

The celebration of Christmas should be distinctly Christian in its nature. First of all we should gather in our churches for an hour of devotion. Then we should spend the rest of the day in doing only those things that will magnify the Christ. The man, the woman who will drink and carouse on Christmas has the same spirit toward the Christ of that wicked boy who will plunge a knife into the heart of his own mother. If I were ever going to do wickedly, I would certainly make the date of guilt far away from Christmas as the calendar would allow. No higher insult can be thrust into the face of Jesus than for church members to celebrate with eggnogs and cocktails on Christmas morning. Rather suffer your right arm pulled from your body, than to suffer the Christ to be insulted by doing the wicked on His Holy birthday.

Letters To The Editor

"BIG BUSINESS" AND OUR ECONOMIC ILLS

Editor,
Chilton County News:

"I was in bed sick all last week and had nothing to do but ache and hurt and read the papers, and then ache and hurt and think and read the papers some more. I had the flu for some time before, but last week the flu had me.

"Well, I was just thinking when they had the near bill up in the legislature they ran themselves 'ragged' and went 'hog-wild' over the wonderful amount of revenue it was going to bring in. And they were going to have us believe that it was surrounded with more freedom and liberty than the entire constitution of the United States. It was going to ease up our taxes, keep our schools open and educate our boys and girls; but now, where are your schools going? Of course, you don't know where your taxes are going, at least they don't want you to know, else they would come forward with a sensible audit, showing where it goes.

"Well, now up at Washington, they are ranting and raising the same kind of cain over real beer. They can tell you just how many thousand men will be employed in its manufacture, and how many freight cars will be required to transport it; and oh, how many millions of dollars of revenue will flow into the treasury of the United States. That's all mighty fine on its face, but wait! Just who is going to pay all these millions? Not the rich, because there is such a few of them now that their part would be negligible. Is the brewer going to pay it? Oh no, he belongs to the rich bunch and thinks too much of us poor devils to deprive us of the pleasure of taxpaying. The consumer, the man who drinks the beer, no matter if his children are hungry and his poor wife shabbily clothed; he will pay the tax, just like the man who buys the gasoline pays the tax, be he ever so poor and needy.

"But that is enough about that. Have the beer if you want it, but don't be fool enough to think that you will not pay the revenue on it.

"But back to "Home Economics," let's call it that. I showed you in a former letter where your cotton crop would be consumed twice over without putting a mouthful of food in your mouth or a rag of clothing on your back, not to mention scores of other necessary expenditures.

"First, we are told that it would require the entire cotton crop to run the state government on the extravagant scale it is now being run. Second, it would take the entire cotton crop to pay our gas bill, and have nothing left to repair the old Ford nor to replace car or tires when worn out. So, with nothing else to consider (but many other things should be considered) I say where are we going and how long will it take to get there?

"However, for a moment, let us try to forget the present and look backward for a few years to see what has gone with the money that once floated around occasionally.

"They tell us that one certain automobile manufacturer is worth more than two billion dollars, and that a certain gasoline producer is worth nearly as much. Considering that to be true, just think how fast money has flown in that direction for the last twenty-five or thirty years.

"If Adam was created 6,000 years ago, and could have lived on down through the ages to the present day, he would have to have cleared, cleared mind you, more than $900 per day every day that he had lived, in other words ever since creation, to have equaled the wealth that this one automobile manufacturer has acquired in a few years. But let's go a little further. I don't know, I sure don't, but they tell us that there is about five billion dollars worth of gold in the whole world, and you know gold is the standard almost all over the world. If you loan to, borrow from, or trade with, a foreign country, it must be gold and you must hold the glittering yellow in reserve to take care of all certificates issued by our own treasury.

"Now, if the combined wealth of two men, one automobile manufacturer and one oil magnate is equal to four fifths of the gold of the entire world, not to mention Uncle Andy Mellon, J. P. Morgan and Co., the Rothchilds, Goulds, Vanderbilts and hundreds of other millionaires, you can readily see why we are in a suffering condition. The wealth, freedom, comfort and happiness of more than a hundred million people in our great country has gradually, but all too quickly, gravitated, yes gravitated, into the hands of a few.

"We cannot deny that millions are out of work and at starvation's door and we must admit that most of these millions would be glad to work for a living if they only had a chance. These are the conditions and we cannot get around it. Who is to fault and where is the trouble? Should we say "big business" or unsoundness economically? You may have voted for a president or a senator or some other high official not long ago. You may have won or you may have lost your vote. Your man may or may not have been elected. That matters little, but mark what I say, "Big business" was the most active factor in nominating that candidate and thereby and therefore said who you should vote for long before you had a chance to vote. In other words, you are free to vote for whom you please but you must vote for one of two that "big business" has already named on either side of the political question, and what difference does it make after they have selected the two for you to take your choice?

"This same sort of thing holds good in the various tax and revenue laws for no matter where the law is applied, they see to it that the burden is shifted on down and "George" pays the bill. For example, when another cent tax is put on gas, does the producer or dealer pay this extra tax? No! The price goes up one cent and you pay that cent. If a tariff is fixed on men's hats or ladies hose, the consumer pays the additional tax. The dealer is no worse off, the manufacturer is that much richer. If we have a general sales tax, who pays it, the manufacturer or the dealer? Certainly not, they pass it on down to the poor fool consumer, who is accustomed to paying it.

"Do you think that "Big business" would pay an income tax if imposed? With very few exceptions it could and would pass on down to the consumer

"Big business gets busy and keeps busy. "Money talks." It nominates practically all your higher officials and then graciously allows you to hold an election and take your choice of its nominees.

"The reckless waste of money in official Washington effects every person in the nation. So does the reckless extravagance in official Montgomery effect every man, woman and child in Alabama. When you buy a gallon of gas for your car or a match to light a fire, or a stamp to mail a letter, you help to pay for this frightful extravagance. Are you going to allow this condition to exist forever, or is it time to "set up" and take notice?"

A LETTER FROM J. C. EDWARDS

—o—

Editor, Chilton County News:

The Bible is a history of God's creation of things earthly and gives such information concerning His heavenly creation as the same relates to man and his home. It is God's revelation of himself to his intelligent earthly creatures. It is his expressed will and therefore is the statement of his law for the government of His intelligent earthly creatures. Most of the Bible is a record of things which have come to pass and which foreshadow greater things to take place. That part of the Bible which we call prophecy is the foretelling and recording of events that must occur before they come to pass. Prophecy is therefore the history of man written in advance. For this reason prophecy can not be understood by man until it is in the course of fulfillment or has been fulfilled.

The Bible discloses Jehovah as the Great Eternal One, the maker of heaven and earth, the very embodiment of wisdom, justice, love and power and the giver of every good and perfect gift. He is the complete expsession of unselfishness. Therefore it is written of Him in the word God is love. The Bible tells why man was created, why he turned to wickedness and was sentenced to death and makes known God's gracious provision for the redemption, recovery and restoration of mankind to life and to his perfect home.

Someone has said that the Bible contains a statement of philosophic rules. It completely and full contrasts good and wickedness. It shows why wrongdoing results in death and why good leads to life everlasting in happiness. It is God's law concerning man and therefore contains the perfect and complete code of rules of action by which man can be governed and walk in the way of righteousness. This code of rules also names the penalty for the violators of the law of righteousness. The Bible was written for the benefit of man and to the glory of God. It is exceedingly interesting to observe how God arranged for important facts to be transmitted from generation to generation from Adam to Moses, then to have Moses to write and thereafter other men to write that His expressed will might be put into proper form for the benefit of man.

Where the inspired writer in the New Testament places an interpretation upon that which is written in the Old Testament scriptures that interpretation must be taken as absolutely true and correct.

Black-Draught
Clears Up Sluggish, Dull Feeling

"I have used Thedford's Black-Draught for constipation for a long time, and find it gives relief for this trouble," writes Mrs. Frank Champion, of Wynne, Ark. "I think it is good for spells caused from gas on the stomach. If I get up in the morning feeling dull and sluggish, a dose of Black-Draught taken three times a day will cause the feeling to pass away, and in a day or two I feel like a new person. After many years of use we would not exchange Black-Draught for any medicine."

Alabama Boy Plays Lead In Picture Here

The Spaniards who built California's first homes must have expected to remain in them for centuries

Producers of "The Vanishing Frontier" a story of Old California, starring Johnny Mack Brown; and featuring Evalyn Knapp, ZaSu Pitts, Raymond Hatton and J. Farrell MacDonald which comes to the Wadesonian Theater December 30 and 31, came to that conclusion after taking several sequences on location in an old ranch house, built nearly a century ago by Spanish settlers.

The ranch house, in the picture the ancestral home of Brown, cast as a Spanish-American bandalero, is in reality nearly a century old. It is located near Santa Barbara.

And it is still in almost perfect condition, the producers found. Its thick walls shown no signs of crumbling, its woodwork, built of California redwood, shows no signs of decay, and the plaster on the inside walls is still in almost perfect condition

Generation after generation of the same family was probably intended to occupy the house, it was assumed.

"The Vanshing Frontier" is set in California in the period immediately after the state was acquired from Mexico by the United States. [illegible] the role of a native dis[illegible] the military gov[illegible] shows his [illegible] the [illegible]

Lady Took Cardui And Got Rid of Pain In Her Side

"Last summer, my health was bad, so I began taking Cardui," writes Mrs. H. E. Slaughter, of Norman, Okla. "My mother had given me Cardui in girlhood, so naturally I turned to it when I felt I needed it. I felt run-down and a general weakness. I had bad, dizzy headaches when everything would seem to dance before my eyes. My right side pained me so much, but since taking Cardui the pain has left me. I have taken several bottles of Cardui and have improved a great deal."

Cardui is sold at drug stores here.

STATE PRODUCED GOOD FOOD AND FEED CROPS

Alabama farmers again this year produced ample food and feed crops, if properly conserved, to carry their families and livestock through the winter, and in making a crop next spring, according to figures in the crop report released by F. W. Gist, state and federal statistician for the Department of Agriculture.

Production of most crops were smaller than last year, however, there was an increase in hay, sweet potatoes, sugar cane, peanuts, velvet beans, wheat and satsumas.

The acreage of all crops was about 170,000 larger this year than last.

Crop production in Alabama this year follows:

New Chevrolets Add Over 85,000 People to Payrolls of Nation

TOP: New 1933 Chevrolet roadster climbing hill at General Motors Proving Ground.
LEFT: New Fisher "No-Draft" Ventilation system illustrating how each passenger may have individually-controlled ventilation instead of being subjected to a sweep of air through the car, with resultant discomfort and danger to health.
RIGHT: New rear-end of all closed models screening all unsightly underparts of the car.

Chevrolet's public showing of its new 1933 line means a material spurt to national employment and materials consumption, since this company is the largest manufacturer in the largest industry in the world.

More than 85,000 people are back at work, 30,000 in the company's twenty domestic factories, 21,000 more in Fisher body plants working exclusively on Chevrolet-Fisher bodies, and more than 36,000 in dealerships throughout the nation. As many more are indirectly benefited by the announcement, through making their livelihood by building parts for the car which Chevrolet buys from independent suppliers.

Chevrolet's 1932 volume totals nearly 400,000 cars and trucks with a retail value in excess of $200,000,000. This is said to be one of the greatest contributions made by any company this year to the economic welfare of America.

In the new line, now on display at all dealers', is a variety of models featuring longer wheelbase, new Fisher "No-Draft" Ventilation and many other features which the company has designed to retain for it the leadership in the industry it has enjoyed for four years out of the past six.

Other features included in the new line are more power and speed in the engine, which is newly cushion-mounted; improved free wheeling, plus Syncro-Mesh transmission with Silent Second gear; a new "Starterator" that greatly simplifies starting; such safety elements as shatter-proof glass in the windshield; larger and lower bodies by Fisher, in the new "Aer-Stream" mode; three fewer controls, with really automatic features in some of those retained; an Octane Selector that insures the highest possible operating efficiency from all grades of gasoline, besides a uniform gasoline cost per mile; dash instruments of airplane type, for instant, easy reading; positive brakes; and still easier steering.

With all these, and many more, the price range continues to be mindful of the buyer's pocketbook. It has been found possible to equip the new Chevrolets with many fitments that used to be confined to cars selling at several times Chevrolet's base price.

Since October first, trained former employees have been going back to work in Chevrolet's widely distributed manufacturing and assembly plants, with welcome additions to the general purchasing power, made possible by more wage money in circulation. Throughout November, the increase in employment continued to a seasonal peak to the middle of December, when concentrated operations incident to prompt dealer stocking were in full swing. More than twenty million dollars worth of the new cars were in dealers' hands when the national introduction was made.

ABOUT THE COMING LEGISLATURE SESSION

Editor, Chilton County News:

Will you give me space in your paper for a few lines to the readers of your good and widely circulated paper?

I note that the State Legislature is to meet in its second special session on January 31st, 1933, for the purpose of adding more taxes to the already ruined taxpayers of Alabama. It looks like the yare determined to pass the sales tax which in my opinion is the worst thing that could be done to raise money fo rthe state. When the sales tax is passed people who are lucky enough to get hold of a dollar will order their merchandise from other states to avoid paying the sales tax, thus adding destruction to distraction.

Would the people of Alabama be within their rights to demand that the legislators make a 50% cut on all employes of county and state? Also let the school teachers of Alabama take a 50% cut in their salary. In my opinion some of the teachers of Alabama are saying from their lips out do not rob the poor little child of their education and at the same time these teachers are drawing a salary of from one hundred to twelve hundred dollars per month, and the highest paid teachers have a private secretary to do their work for them at a good salary.

Under the present school system parents cannot retain their homes and educate their children. Let all public officials, including school teachers, take a 50% cut in their salary and then we could say from our hearts we will not rob the children of Alabama of their education.

But we may write and make suggestions until dooms day and it will never amount to a hill of beans without some action. Let the people of Alabama resent any further increase in taxes. Meet with the extra session of the legislature the 31st day of January, 1933, one hundred thousand strong and demand that they put no more taxes on the taxpayers of Aabama.

Yours for action.
A. A. JACKSON.

Daily Cash Market

● Through 1932, as in former years, Swift & Company has maintained its nationwide cash market for farm produce.

More than 100 Swift & Company produce plants in the West and Central West have continued to buy daily the supplies offered. Everything they purchase has a market over a thousand miles wide and thousands of miles long. The supply goes wherever demand is best.

At no time, in the territories served by these plants, have producers of poultry, butterfat and eggs been without a daily cash market.

● Swift & Company has not had this year—has never had—any control over prices. The farmer's price is made by what the consumer can and will pay for the butter, eggs and poultry. This company's task is to cover the gap, quickly and economically between more than 200,000 farm patrons and nearly as many storekeepers.

Posting daily quotations at its buying plants, Swift & Company is really saying to the producer:

> "Consumers everywhere, through their retailers, offer so much for poultry, butterfat or eggs. Costs of preparation, transportation and selling are kept at a minimum. With these service costs deducted, the price paid here is about what retailers will pay at their doors hundreds of miles away."

● Volume holds down processing cost. Carload shipments reduce freight bills. The same salesmen who sell Swift's Premium Ham and Bacon and Brookfield Sausage also sell Swift's Premium Milk-Fed Chicken, Golden West Fowl and Swift's Brookfield Butter, Eggs and Cheese, thus benefiting livestock men and produce growers alike.

IN MEMORY OF AUNT SUSIE VINSON

On December 3rd, the death angel visited and called our loving wife and mother to a better home. All was done for her that loving hands could do, but all in vain, but understand, she is not dead in reality, but just passed over to that sweet home to await our coming, where there will be no parting nor sad farewell. We shall miss her to testify in loving remembrance to that place she held in our hearts. God wanted her and He called her to live with Him on high. We miss her, yes, we miss her.

She was gentle and kind. Her place can never be filled, but with joy and gladness in our hearts we will meet her some sweet day. We loved aunt Susie but Jesus loved her more, and He has called her to yonder shining shore where the golden gates were open and a gentle voice calling, come, and with the farewell unspoken she has calmly entered home.

She leaves to mourn her loss on this earth and gain in heaven her husband, Charlie Vinson, three daughters, Mrs. Josephine Billingsley, Mrs. Ethel Billingsley, Mrs. Alta Bell Vinson, and two brothers, two sisters, Mr. W. D. Burnett, Mr. Henry Burnett, Mrs. Babe Mims, Mrs. Lizzie Askins. Weep not, dear husband and children, for the Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away: to that home where no farewell tear will be shed. It is God's will that we must die to make us fit for that home on high, for when God calleth we must go, so let us look to Him who is able to soothe our sorrows and heartaches, our heavenly father is too wise to make any mistake, too great to be unkind, grant us the spirit of reconciliation and submission and enable us to say, Thy will be done.

Let us honor our blessed Saviour to the best of our ability, knowing our time is short, and we must go when our Father in heaven calleth.

It was such a shock to us all, but she was ready to go, for God calleth and we must go. And when His purpose is all completed then we shall meet God there to dwell with Jesus forever.

Aunt Susie set a good example for others to live by. We feel that we can truly say that all who knew her loved her. She let her light shine. So let the joy of our hearts return by trusting in the Lord. That is the only way. We will meet the precious one who has gone before us. She is peacefully sleeping now, in the silent city of the dead, awaiting the resurrection morning, when all loved ones and friends shall again be united to part no more.

Church Of Christ

Not only did the prophets look down the stream of time and see the place where the church, which Christ purchased with his blood, should begin to function, but these prophets saw the foundation of this Church. God said, "Behold, I lay in Zion for a foundation a stone, a tried stone, a precious corner stone, a sure foundation: he that believeth shall not make haste." Isa. 28:16. Peter and Paul say that Christ is that Corner Stone, a sure foundation. Acts. 4:11; 1 Cor. 3:10-11; Eph. 2:19-22. Christ himself had reference no doubt to this same foundation stone when he said to Peter "Upon this rock I will build my church."

Not only did the prophets see the place and foundation of the Church of Christ, but they saw the time that it began functioning as the Kingdom of Heaven. Isa. 2:1-3; Joel 2:28-29; Micah 4:1. They said that it should be in the "last days." Peter said of what happened on Pentecost that it was what the prophets said should come to pass in the "last days." Acts 2:16. The writer of the Hebrew letter said that God "Hath in these last days spoken to us by his Son." Heb. 1:1-2. Daniel said that God would set up his Kingdom in the days of "Kings". Dan. 2:44. But the times and days for Kings to rule to any noticeable extent has passed. Even the very few that now exist are fast falling away and giving place to republics. But the apostle Paul settled the matter permanently. He said by inspiration to the Collosians while speaking of what God had done, "Who hath delivered us from the power of darkness, and hath translated us into the Kingdom of His dear Son." Col. 1:13. This shows that Paul and the Collossians had been translated into God's Kingdom, which is the Kingdom of Christ, or the Kingdom of Heaven. The Kingdom of Christ shall never be destroyed. Dan. 2:44.

Again, not only the foundation of the Church of Christ, and place and time it began to function as an institution composed of people saved by the blood of Christ, but its features were described in various terms by holy men of old who were inspired of God.

The Old Testament pictures in types and shadows many characteristics of Christ as the supreme authority over His church, and the gospel of the New Testament as the law of His Church in which He delights. He is the Bridegroom and His Church is His bride. The prophets of old pictured the close relationship between Christ as bridegroom and His church as the bride of Christ and said, "And the Gentiles shall see thy righteousness and all kings thy glory: and thou shalt be called by a new name, which the mouth of the Lord shall name." Isa. 62:2. Paul was chosen, Christ said, "To bear my name before the Gentiles, and Kings, and the Children of Israel." Acts. 9:15. After Paul had preached to the Gentiles for some time and taught "much people" the "disciples were called Christians first in Antioch." Acts 11:26. Peter said "if any man suffer as a Christian let him not be ashamed; but let him glorify God on this behalf." 1 Peter 4:16. Again he said "neither is there salvation in any other: for there is none other name under heaven given among men whereby we must be saved." Acts 4:12. The name "Christ" means to the saved (which is the Church) what a husband's name means to his bride. "For the husband is the head of the wife, even as Christ is the head of the Church: and he is the Saviour of the body." Eph. 5:26.

COUNTY AGENTS MAKE OUT PROGRAM FOR 1933

Auburn, Ala.—A 1933 program of work similar to those of former years was adopted by county demonstration agents of Alabama at their mid-winter conference in Auburn, December 19-23. First on their program is the live-at-home feature of food and feed for the family and livestock. With farm products which go to market bringing very low prices home production of things to eat is absolutely necessary, they said.

Second is more livestock with plenty of home-grown feed for them. The feeding program includes good pasture, plenty of hay, and also grains or concentrates.

Dairying will be promoted for the home-supply o fmilk and for either milk or cream to sell, thus bringing a weekly income. Farmers having only a few cows will find dairying very helpful, even though prices of dairy products are low.

Poultry appears to be one of the brightest spots in the farm picture, although high prices for poultry and eggs are not expected. Farmers must produce at low cost, which means proper housing, good feeding, and intelligent management.

Farmers, of necessity, must operate their farms at low cost, making a dollar go as far as possible in spending. Unless this is done there will be little left for the operation of the farm.

Caution about truck crops was urged because of market uncertainties. Low-cost production will be emphasized.

FEEDING HELP IS OFFERED BY BURNS

Auburn, Ala.—Practical assistance to dairymen in working out their feeding problems is offered by F. W. Burns, extension livestock specialist at Auburn, through the county demonstration agents. A farmer who has different feeds but is not certain as to how to mix them for best results is invited to request the assistance of his county agent for working out a feeding plan for best results.

The primary aim is to use as far as feasible home-grown feeds, keeping in mind satisfactory results. "Correct feeding," said Mr. Burns, "is not a simple matter but it is essential to success in dairying or to success with any other livestock, in view of the fact that feed costs represent considerably more than half of the total in the production of livestock or livestock products."

DEPARTMENT OFFERS TO TEST SEEDS FREE OF ANY CHARGE

Seth P. Storrs, commissioner of agriculture, announced that the Department of Agriculture will test farm seed free of charge for Alabama farmers if the seed are sent in January.

He advised those with seed to test to send samplees to L. N. Allen, seed analyst, Montgomery, immediately so that the department will have ample time to make all tests before the rush of the season next spring. "It takes from a week to a month to make germination and purity tests therefore I wish to urge that farmers submit their samples immediately in order that the tests may be completed before any farmer desires to sell his farm seed next spring," he said.

The department will also test a limited number of samples free for seed dealers, he said.

In order that satisfactory tests may be made Mr. Allen advises that farmers send the following size samples:

Two pounds of cottonseed, corn, beans, peas and other seed of similar size.

One pound of smaller seed such as clovers and oats.

Last year the department tested approximately 800 samples free for farmers and dealers.

TO THE PHONEHOLDERS OF THE PEOPLES TELEPHONE

Wishing you all a happy and prosperous New Year, also hoping that all will strive to make 1933 the turning point for The Peoples Telephone Co. It is obliged to turn one way or the other, so why not let's all put our shoulders to the wheel and snap out of the old rut. Of course no one has any money, but those of you that remember when the Peoples Telephone Co. was built 35 years ago, there was not as much money in circulation as there is today. There were just fewer people to handle it and more people to work. Now they all want to handle the money and no one work. If everyone would go to work as they did 35 years ago there would not be as much hard times now as there is. Don't say there is nothing to do, for there is plenty of telephone wire and posts all over the country that need putting up and getting in working condition. About 75% of you say you will not get anything out of it. Well, don't be lazy, just try to get service as hard as we try to give service and there will be no kick coming. Deep down in your heart you know it is one of the greatest things a county could have. A home owned telephone business. Something that any man or woman of the county would be proud of. It improves rural property as much as any one thing that can be done to a rural district. The telephone is always a ready and willing servant when treated as one. No one has invented perpetual motion yet, so you cannot expect anything to run indefinitely without any cooperation of any kind. It seems that anything that has no taxation has no representation. You all squawk about taxes and when you have something that is not taxed beyond its value you want to throw it away, and that may be the reason we have so much tax. Everyone let it slip by until it was too late to help any by talking, just as the Peoples Telephone Co. will be if you don't wake up and get busy. It seems that everyone thinks the service is so cheap that it cannot be run on such small amount, but it can with the help of all concerned. I wonder how long it is going to take the people of Chilton county to wake up. You had better begin to think before it is too late. It seems that leaders and workers have become scarce in every line of work. We need at least one good leader on every line. So let's all wake up and go in the telephone business wholeheartedly and make 1933 a banner year for the Peoples Telephone Company.

Yours for service,
C. R. COPELAN.

AN EMPTY BOTTLE

When the cornerstone of the Robertson county court house at Springfield, Tennessee, was opened some time ago, due to a remodeling of the structure, many articles deposited in it a half century ago were brought to light.

One of the items known to have been placed therein was a bottle of whiskey and onlookers at the opening of the cornerstone may have had hopes of sampling the famous product. But if so, they were doomed to disappointment. The bottle was found, but it was empty, the contents having presumably disappeared by evaporation. On the bottle was the inscription:

"This whisky was made at the distillery of Wiley Woodard—and deposited by J. S. Brown, Sept. 26, 1879; whiskey was three years old when deposited."

Many other interesting relics were found in the stone, including newspapers, minutes of official proceedings, lists of fraternal society members, a history of the old Ku Klux Klan, a bank statement and other documents. There was also a coin which is now 191 years old, one $100 bill and two $20 bills.

The bills were no more valuable than the empty bottle, however, as they were Confederate currency.

Ezell Gives Views About School Funds

Judge and the Commissioners, in two or three meetings certainly held out such hopes to us.

Second, that out of one of these conferences with the Probate Judge and Commissioners Court it was agreed that the Commissioners Court and the School Board would get together and work out such a plan. But instead of this meeting of the Commissioners Court and the School Board, Judge Reynolds and the Commissioners Court called a mass meeting at the courthouse on Saturday, December 10th, to discuss the advisability of the Commissioners Court appropriating funds to the schools, and also about calling a referendum on the matter. After much discussion, and by unanimous vote the Probate Judge and Commissioners Court were requested to call an election on the matter to determine whether it was the wish of the people for the Commissioners Court to appropriate as much as $48,000 to keep our schools open for the rest of the term. This mass meeting adjourned after unanimous vote requesting the court to call an immediate election on the matter. The people left the meeting expecting an election to find out the wishes of the citizens concerning such use of their tax money. So far, nothing has been done about the referendum nor has any move been made by the Probate Judge and County Commissioners to re-open our schools next week.

Third, it should be known by our citizenship that our county is amply able to run our schools for the rest of a full term, and also carry on all its necessary functions at the same time. The Commissioners Court has an income in county taxes, road taxes, tag taxes, gas taxes, etc., of approximately $175,000 per year. Should the Court appropriate the full $48,000 to pay the teachers' salaries and thus keep our schools open for the same term as last year, the Court then would have left for the salaries of county officials, road work, jury fees, stationery and office supplies and care of the poor, approximately $125,000, plus the $20,000 now on deposit in the bank.

Fourth, We should bear in mind that the Red Cross is distributing flour, cloth, and work clothes to our needy, and that the matter of caring for them can be done largely in this way, and by carefully giving what road work is necessary to those who are in need of the work.

Fifth, we should bear in mind that the closing of our schools is due solely to the fact that our state government has failed to provide its part of the funds. Our county school board has been and is spending every cent of its county funds to keep our schools open. They have no other option open to them but to close the schools, unless either the state authorities or the County Commissioners provide the funds, at least in sufficient amount to pay the salaries of the teachers.

Sixth, let us bear in mind that the law does not make it mandatory upon our Probate Judge and Commissioners Court to appropriate money to keep our schools open. The law says they may appropriate county funds for the schools. It is, therefore, simply a matter as to whether we wish our County Commissioners to appropriate part of its ample funds to carry on this most important work of our county. With our roads in splendid condition, our culverts and bridges built, and with the Red Cross helping us care for our needy, we have plenty of funds to run our schools and also carry on every necessary function of our county government.

Seventh, and lastly, let us bear in mind that we could keep our schools open whether we get the $50,000 loan from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation or not. We could use it, no doubt, to relieve the needy, but perhaps we can relieve them sufficiently, whether we get it or not, and also keep our schools open.

Now, if we want our schools kept open, we had better say to our Commissioners Court: Give us a month at a time to pay teachers' salaries, as long as you can, and let us see if the legislature will not help us soon.—Yours for the Children.—S. J. EZELL, Clanton, Ala.

P.S.—I am informed since the above was written that the Court meets Friday at ten o'clock to give further consideration to school matters. Let us hope the problem may be solved.—S.J.E.

Jack Hayes Is The Name At Clanton Backed Up By Whole Police Force

FOUND HIS MEDICAL STUDIES INTERFERED WITH HIS BASEBALL.

FONSECA HELPED HIM TO BETTER HIS BATTING
Minter C. (Jack) Hayes

(Courtesy Montgomery Advertiser)

Popular Infielder of Chicago White Sox Has His Friends Trained Not To Listen to Folks Who Refer to Him as Minter, Is What Sam West Learns from Marshal

On his way home to Texas upon the conclusion of the 1931 season, Sam West, the Washington outfielder, motored through Clanton, Ala. Now, Clanton is not a very large town and Sam figured that when he asked the police force where Minter C. Hayes lived, the force should be able to direct him to the domicile of Minter C. Hayes.

"Minter C. Hayes," mused the police force as he scratched his head and stroked his goatee. "Stranger, I've been living in Clanton for more than fifty years and I never heard of any Minter C. Hayes."

"You must be mistaken" replied West. "I know he lives here."

"There is Doc Hayes," said the village marshall, "but his name is not Minter. He has a son, though, a likely young fellow about your age. But his name is not Minter Hayes. It's Jack Hayes and he plays baseball up North in the American League."

You see, it was this way. Before Minter Carney (Jack) Hayes was born, his mother decided his name would be Minter C. while his father was persistent he would be named Jack. So, they compromised upon Minter Carney but Dr. Hayes took an oath he never would call him anything but Jack and he never has. In fact, Mrs. Hayes now calls him Jack.

But if Dr. Hayes won out there, another of his plans went wrong. He decided Jack should follow in his footsteps and become a physician. As a result, Jack first prepped at Gulf Coast Academy and then went to the University of Alabama. He had played third base at the academy but was shifted to short at Alabama. Of course, he was not forgetting the fact he was to be a doctor but in his sophomore year he discovered laboratory work interfered considerably with baseball so he cut out the lab.

There came a day that Alabama was playing Georgia Tech at Atlanta. Jack had been hurt a few days previously and had a knee and ankle taped. After the game, Coach Wade said: "Jack, Coach Joe Engel, of Washington, was looking at you today."

"Hugh," retored Hayes. "He must have thought I was another Honus Wagner, me with a knee and ankle all bandaged up and scarcely able to get off a dime."

Nevertheless, Engel, now president of the Chattanooga Club, must have been impressed. It was shortly after Hayes's return to college, however, that Wade came to him again and said: "Jack, Birmingham wants you to sign a paper that you will sign a Birmingham contract two years from now when you 'graduate."

"What's the use of waiting two years?" was Jack's answer. "I'm quitting college now and on my way to Birmingham."

He made one road trip with Birmingham but merely worked out and warmed the bench. On subsequent trips of the club, he went fishing.

"And to think they are paying me for this," said Jack to himself one day when he was startled by Manager Dobbs saying:

"Jack, go out and practice at short. Be sure to throw overhanded for Clark Griffith and Joe Engel want a look at you."

Upon arriving at Washington, however, Jack continued to be a bench warmer until one day Ossie Bluege took pity on him and had an accident.

From then one, he was Washington's utility infielder. In fact, he played every position in 1930.

A year later, however, he was traded to Chicago and played 117 games in the White Sox's infield, ninety-seven at second, ten at short and ten at third. When it came to striking an average of chances accepted per game, no American League second sacker had anything on Jack. Took more than six chances to the contest. And, Appling was the only Chicago batter to drive in more runs than Hayes, who was finally playing regularly for the first time in the big show since he had left college in 1927.

Jack ascribes his timely hitting to the advice given him by Manager Lew Fonesca who changed his batting stance. Jack used to face the pitcher—somewhat like Tom Oliver, of the Boston Red Sox. He was a dead leftfied hitter. Fonesca had him keep his left shoulder toward the pitcher and stand further away from the plate with the result he hit far more balls to right field than he had formerly.

Oh, yes, Jack accepted thirty-four chances in two consecutive games last season.—Montgomery Advertiser.

TRAGEDY AS TEACHER

It seems that it often takes an appalling tragedy to impress mankind with the necessity for ordinary safety precautions, and even tragedy fails to teach its lesson in most cases.

The first systematic efforts to make theaters fireproof followed the Iroquois fire in Chicago in 1903, when 574 persons lost their lives, although 600 had died in a theater fire in Trenton, N. J., as far back as 1872, and 283 had met a similar fate in Brooklyn in 1876.

A new policy of constructing munitions depots in unsettled areas followed the explosion of the Lake Denmark arsenal in 1926. The sinking of the Vestris has brought about the adoption of a new code of safety at sea, just framed by representatives of 18 nations. The explosion of X-ray films in the Cleveland Clinic, causing the loss of more than 200 lives, has resulted in a survey of conditions in hospitals throughout the country in an effort to prevent similar disasters in future.

Thus great tragedies sometimes serve to teach their costly lessons. too late, however, to do their victims any good. greatest of all public enemies—the high cost of government—it, too, can be suppressed.

All over this country the voters and taxpayers are organizing to put a stop to the encroachments of this king of racketeers. Public officials who fail to heed the growing demand for economy in government are on the road to oblivion.

ALABAMA COTTON CROP SMALLEST IN 10 YEARS

Alabama's 1932 cotton crop was the smallest and the acre yield the lowest that has been recorded in ten years.

With a total of 930,000 bales, this state dropped to fifth place in the list of states in cotton production. Last year it was third with 1,420,000 bales. The per acre yield this year was 141 pounds.

These facts are disclosed in the December cotton report issued by F. W. Gist, statistician for the department of agriculture, who declares that boll weevil damage, smaller acreage and less fertilizer were responsible for the falling off in yield.

The United States crop is estimated at 12,727,000 bales. On December 1, 11,631,000 bales had been ginned.

The estimate of production this year by states follows:

Virginia, 28,000; North Carolina, 640,000; South Carolina, 695,000; Georgia, 845,000; Florida, 15,000; Missouri, 285,000; Tennessee, 450,000; Alabama 930,000; Mississippi 1,150,000; Louisiana, 610,000; Teras, 4,445,000; Oklahoma, 1,080,000; Arkansas, 1,260,000; New Mexico, 76,000; Arizona, 82,000; California, 126,000; all other states, 10,000; lower California and Old Mexico 13,000.

FALSE ECONOMY

True economy is entirely praiseworthy, particularly for those who have difficulty in making ends meet, but there is a petty sort of skimping which is not economy, and which is really wasteful in the long run.

Time and effort expended to effect the saving of a penny here and a nickel there often is a source of loss instead of gain. Shopping around for an hour in the hope of saving a few cents on a trivial purchase is one example of this. Another is to buy an inferior article when a good one would cost but a little more.

The same principle applies in business management. To deny oneself the use of a reasonable amount of up-to-date equipment in an effort to curtail expenditures is not economy because such equipment will usually pay for itself many times over in time and labor saving.

Spending money wisely is one of the surest means of making more money. Skimping is not always economy, and stinginess is not always thrift. Too many of us are "penny wise and pound foolish."
